It is told that in the days of long ago knights sang under the windows of the cells in which their ladies were imprisoned, and ladies stood for hours outside walls they were unable to scale just to permit their imprisoned knights to gaze on their charms. But no forlorn members of the softball teams called at the police station last night to lighten the hours of durance vile to which support of them had committed the two fans. And probably if any of the girls had sung under the cell window they would have been placed by heartless policemen in the newly decorate womens' cell.

If somebody says the age of chivalry is gone, blame it on the policeman.

WESTCLOX BEAT EXAMINER TEAM BY EIGHT RUNS

Ragged Game Played at Riverside in Mercantile League.

WOLFE WAS STAR

The Westclox easily defeated the Examiner in a Mercantile League game at Riverside Park, by a score of 14-5. The newspaper crew deserved the defeating for they gave a very bad exhibition of bonehead base-running and poor coaching. They were robbed out of five or six runs by bad coaching. This can easily be ascertained by the fact that Prosser had nine put-outs at home plate of men coming in.

There was a crowd of over four hundred at the game and they were treated to a poor exhibition of baseball. Lots of errors, poor pitching and fielding, and awful base-running, the latter on the part of the Examiner, featured. The pitchers all performed badly. The Westclox went right after the Examiner heavers, and they slammed Scates and Holyman for thirteen runs in 5 innings and nicked Bill Collins for only one in two innings. Scates started, but he lasted only 4 innings, then Holyman took up the burden and he lasted for only one. He was relieved by Collins, who finished the game.

The Examiner crew took a great liking to Wolfe's offerings and they hit him hard and often but poor base-running kept the score down. Wolfe hit four men and walked two.

The Westclox team worked well behind their heaver and gave him good support, only a couple of errors being chalked up against them. The Examiner team was away different. Their infield looked like a sieve and their outfield was worse. They put up a rotten exhibition of ball.

The Westclox scored two runs in the first, one in the second, two in the third, one in the fourth, seven in the fifth, one in the sixth and none in the seventh. Wolfe was their heavy hitter, getting four hits in five times, which included a triple, double and two singles. Hensley was their fielding star.

The Examiner scored one run in the first, none in the second, one in the third, two in the fourth, one in the fifth, and from then on they were a blank. Harry Dugan was the best performer for the newspaper crew. He caught up till the fourth innings when he injured his leg. He gave a stellar exhibition behind the bat, showing good judgment on the batters and catching a couple of men stealing. He went to short stop in the fifth inning and gave an even better fielding exhibition at that position. He made a couple of great catches, one on which he leaped high in the air to pull down a line drive, and making a nice bare-handed stab of a hot liner. He contributed a couple of hits. Franks at second also turned in a nice game. The hitting honors were well divided, practically every man on the team getting one or two hits.

The teams lined up as follows:

Examiner—Baker, 3b; Dugan, c, ss; Franks, 2b; Collins, ss, c, p; Taylor, 1b; Grey, lf; Clarke, rf; Holyman, cf, p; Scates, p, cf; Long, cf.

Score by innings:

Westclox	2 1 1 3 7 1 0	14
Examiner	1 1 2 1 0 0 0	5

Open Season Is Here For Playful Pranks Of The Canoe Sport

The canoeing season is with us again—the season when novices attempt to board the graceful but treacherous craft as they would jauntily step into an ocean liner; when courteous gentlemen offer to exchange seats with their fair companions and, abruptly changing their minds, suddenly depart from the canoe without even the formality of an apology; when young girls drop their paddles and impulsively reach out for water-lilies which they never pick. It is a season particularly lucrative for undertakers and men who are skilled in the use of grappling irons.

Above all, it is the season when serious advice is in order for those who, although inexperienced, intend to use the frail barks. But unfortunately every year whole bales of advice are handed out on the subject without any appreciable diminution in the list of fatalities. There is not a single case on record where an inexperienced canoeist lent an attentive ear to sensible suggestions. In fact no paddling tyro has ever felt the need of gratuitous advice until he found himself nosing around a lake or river bottom wondering how to breathe with ten feet of water above him.

In fact it is natural to conclude that what an aspiring canoeist wants is not advice on how to avoid accidents but on the best, quickets methods of transferring himself from canoe to water.

PETES HAVE TO WIN TO-MORROW

After having lost their last two starts by one run in each instance, thereby forfeiting their hold on first place, the Petes are in a fighting mood, and are determined to get back on the top of the heap by beating Belleville here to-morrow. The Trunks need the game too, and with Billy Mills back in harness again, they hope to turn the trick once once more. Oulette will do the gunning for the Railroaders, and Heckman is expected to get the nomination for Petes. It will be a real snappy affair and the result will have considerable to do with determining the winner of the first half of the league race.

The Petes, who before the season were dubbed by some of the local critics as "hitless wonders," have shown a surprisingly strong offensive, scoring an average of practically six runs in six games, and their fielding has been excellent on the whole—the Petes leading the league by a big margin in that department. The weakness so far has been in the pitching end of the game, where the greatest strength was expected. With the arrival of seasonable weather this difficulty should disappear, and the Petes will get the assistance from their twirling department that has been looked for. With the pitchers right the locals would be well out in front of the procession right now.

A win to-morrow will start them on their way and put them in nice shape to clash with Oshawa, who appear here next Wednesday at 5:15 o'clock, with the return game in Oshawa a week from to-morrow.

Saturday's game at Riverside Park will be called at 3 o'clock sharp.

The biggest crowd of the year will be there when the old rivals meet.

MIDLAND LEAGUE GAME

The C.G.E. and Raybestos will hook up for the second time in a scheduled Midland League game tomorrow afternoon. Since their last encounter both teams have strengthened up and the Brakemakers have pounded "Punch" Derry for 15 hits while the Electricians were only able to get two. Both teams can see nothing but victory ahead of them and a good game is ensured.

VETS WON GAME ON DYER'S GOAL IN LAST MINUTE

Best Soccer Game Played Here in Years—Two Different Styles.

TWO GOALS TO ONE

Vets Played Kick and Clear Against Thistles' Football.

The Vets gained two more full points last evening, in the Soccer League game at Nicholls Oval, over the Thistles. Thoughout the whole ninety minutes the Thistles were more prominent on the field of play but could not penetrate Griffin's goal where a brilliant display was given.

Candidly speaking the Vets indulged in a kick and clear policy which paved their way to victory while the Thistles played too much football that proved costly to them, in the loss of two points. It was one of the best games witnessed this season.

The Play Described

Richmond kicked off against the sun. Hotston robbed Wade of the ball whicha gave the left wing a chance to test Griffin. The Vets retaliated to get a fruitless corner. Burgess gained a corner off Crowe. The left wingers cross was perfect because Mann saved a sure goal as he kicked clear in the goal for another corner. A solo run down the wing by Sharman tested Curtiss severely.

Brilliant Wing Pair

The spectators were given an excellent exhibition of football combination by Hutton and Melville which ended in the latter testing Griffin. Even play was order of game until Burgess outwitted the Vet's right back easily and missed the upright narrowly. Lackadaisical play by the Thistle's half backs let Blowers have a twenty yard drive that Curtiss saved promptly. The Vets went right back again into the Thistles area, where their goal ran narrow escapes.

Dawson Gets His Goal

Working hard in defensive as well as offensive play Dawson let Burgess away on the left to gain a successful corner of the Vets' right full back. He placed the ball into the goal mouth where a scrimmage ensued until Dawson picked a vacant corner that put the Thistles ahead one goal. Encouraged by their success Richmond and Hutton shimmied the cross-bar with rocket shots and Griffin right there to save. Play ran from end to end without any further play of interest until half-time when the Thistles were one goal ahead.

The Second Half

On resuming, the Vets added pressure upon the Thistle's defence. Their forwards worked hard around goal where Curtiss was injured while saving.

A few minutes later they were rewarded through Clark who lifted the ball far out of reach of the Thistle's goalie. At this stage of the game Dawson was all over the field forcing the play into Vet's territory. Melville placed an accurate centre which Richmond headed into goal. Quick as a flash Griffin jumped upon the ball to prevent a score. Both teams played a clean and fast football.

Griffin's Unbeatable

Melville and Hutton along with Richmond tried hard to gain a goal, truth to tell the whole Thistle team was down in the goal-mouth, but found Griffin was unbeatable. A foul against Mann nearly brought disaster to the Vets when Richmond sent a stinging shot into the goal which showed Griffin at his best to concede a corner that caused some stir.

Last Minute Goal

Play was very interesting from now on. Wade on the right crossed quickly to let Clark test Curtiss. Sharman returned the ball across the goal where Dyer had no difficulty in scoring the landing goal only one minute before the final whistle sounded Vets 2, Thistle 1.

Goal-scorers: — Clark and Dyer. Thistles—Dawson.

The Teams

G.W.V.A. —Griffine goal; Crane and Wasson backs; Burrows, Mann and Blowers half backs, F. Wade, Clark, Dyer, Gash and Sharman forwards.

Thistles —Curtiss goal; Anderson and Rae, backs; Jackson, Dawson and Hotston half backs, Melville, Hutton, Richmond, Williams, and Burgess forwards.

Referee—A. Mitchell.

Not that it is terribly important, but what is Mr. Thaw's record for heaving the 16-pound rabbit, anyway.

CRACK SPRINTER MAY EQUAL RECORD

Loren Murchison Has Chance to Capture Four Olympic Events.

LOREN MURCHISON, AMERICAN SPRINT CHAMPION.

PHILADELPHIA, June 13—Back in 1900—lacking only a few months to make it 24 years—Alvin C. Kraenzlein startled the world by winning four events at the Olympic Games in Paris.

Kraenzlein, versatile track and field performer, finished first in the 50-meter dash in 7 seconds, and won the 110-meter hurdles in 15 2-5 seconds, and the running long jump with a mark of 13 feet 6 7-8 inches.

Since then six other Olympic classics have been held, but never has the record of Kraenzlein been equalled, according to Lawson Robertson, famous University of Pennsylvania track coach, who has been selected to tutor the American track and field stars for the Eighth Olympiad to be held at Paris this summer.

Several times has an Olympic performer won three events during one of these international meets, particularly Ray Ewry, who scored three victories in each of the 1900 and 1904 Olympics ;and two each in the Olympic games of 1906 and 1908.

"Not until this year has a track athlete appeared on the horizon with a chance of romping off with first place in four events and he is Loren Murchison, American sprint champion," declared Coach Robertson.

However, his chances to equal the once-brilliant feats of Kraenzlein are remote because to-day marks the epoch of specialised athletics, according to Coach Robertson.

Murchison, who wears the colours of the Newark Athletic Club, has been nominated for four places on an All-America track team—at 60, 100, 220, and 300 yards—and in the coming Olympic Games in Paris to be held in July, there is a chance for Murchison to sweep through to the four victories.

OLYMPIC RANKS SWELL.

Three New Men Join Training Camp of Canadian Contestants.

MONTREAL, June 11.—(Canadian Press).—Three new men joined the Canadian Olympic track training camp at the McGill Stadium yesterday, one Ontario representative and two Montrealers.

T. McKay, half miler, arrived in the city from Toronto, while G. McAvoy of University of Montreal, and R. H. Legg, of McGill University, swelled the ranks of the Olympic candidates.

All the men in camp were put through a stiff medical examination of Doctors A. S. Lamb and Harvey.

E. Rae, 5,000 and 10,000 metre runner from Hamilton, who was laid up with sore feet, was himself again yesterday after treatment and was working out on the cinder path.

The medical examiners reported all the athletes in splendid condition. Some naturally were in better shape than others, but all showed evidence of previous training.

All will undergo another examination within the course of the next few days.

SACRED HEART WIN FROM THE CURLERS

Grab an 11 to 9 Victory in Midget Game Last Night — Some Good Ball

In a Midget game lest evening between Sacred Heart and Curlers, the Sacred Heart boys grabbed an 11 to 0 victory. Both pitchers twirled good ball, but were given ragged support Masterson had the edge on Swanger, striking out 15, and allowing 5 hits while Swanger struck out 11 and allowed 8 hits. The Sacred Heart boys were leading 5-0 in the third but the Curlers showed fighting spirit and almost tied it up in the fifth when Bob Allin cleared the bases with a double and came home himself on errors. "Bim" Sturgeon of the Curlers and star of the Sacred Heart starred. "Chuck" Kenneally got the longest hit of the game, a triple to deep centre. The teams lined up as follows:

Billy Evans Says

Is a star pitcher more valuable to a ball club than a star infielder or brilliant outfielder, who can hit?

From a major league standpoint it would seem that this question has been answered by the careers of Babe Ruth and George Sisler—answered in the negative.

It is a rather interesting coincidence that these two of the outstanding stars of the game began their major league careers as pitchers.

Ruth won fame as a southpaw long before any one had the slightest idea that he was a great batsman. As a matter of fact, Ruth didn't show any marked ability as a slugger until long after he became a star pitcher.

He first won attention because of his habit of either hitting the ball a mile or striking out. He struck out a majority of times.

When Ed Barrows, then managing the Boston Red Sox, conceived the idea of converting Ruth, the star pitcher, into an outfielder, the thought was generally ridiculed. I rather question the merit of such a decision.

It seemed gambling with fate to spoil a pitcher capable of winning on an average of at least 20 games a year into an outfielder simply because he showed signs of being able to hit.

Barrows figured that Ruth playing every day would win more than 25 games a year through his slugging ability, which was a better record than could be expected of him as a pitcher.

For a time Ruth showed no great ability as an outfielder but he early proved that he could hit. His ability to hit the ball farther than any other human being soon caused him to be baseball's greatest favorite, the game's biggest attraction.

Later, George Sisler, starring as a pitcher but the possessor of great speed and the ability to hit, was converted into a first baseman. His success has been almost as sensational as that of Ruth.

At the start of this season the Chicago White Sox conceived the idea of working the Ruth and Sisler theory with a reverse english. Lack of pitching caused the club to switch Outfielder Falk back to pitching, his position as a college player.

Falk, a player of much natural ability, great hitting power, had given promise of developing into quite an outfielder. It was a known fact that he could hit.

Making a hard-hitting outfielder back into a pitcher was a bit different angle to the best accepted theories on player values.

After a month of pitching, largely confined to batting practice, it became necessary to press Falk into the game as an outfielder against the New York Yankees. He responded with two home-run drives on his first two appearances at the plate and made possible a Chicago victory over the Yankees.

Since that time he has appeared exclusively in the role of outfielder. It seems those two home runs have ended the decision to convert him into a pitcher.

Every major league season furnishes some outstanding feature—the big surprise.

The Philadelphia Athletics provided the greatest thrill of 1923. For the first two months of the season it furnished competition for the champion Yankees, then wilted.

The Boston Red Sox of 1924 have taken the place of the Athletics of 1923. Just at present Lee Fohl's team is the sensation of the majors.

Will the Red Sox shortly curl up and seek a restful place in the second division as did the Athletics last year? The Sox finished last in 1923.

I do not look for the Red Sox to fail so dismally as did the Athletics. The Boston club has a batting punch that the Mackmen lacked.

This is the big reason for my confidence in Fohl's club. Another is the fact that they came back after an early season slump that would have discouraged the ordinary club.

At the close of the first two weeks of the present season the Boston club was in seventh place, where most critics believed it belonged. In the next month of play it worked itself into a tie for first place. Some stepping.

No one expects the Red Sox to win a pennant and they probably won't.

Prior to the opening of the season Manager Lee Fohl refused to make any prediction for his club other that it wouldn't finish last. He is making good that prediction with some to spare.

A true test of a club's worth is its ability to come back after a protracted slump. Spring reverses are usually the hardest to recover from.

The Boston club, after winning three out of the first four games, lost six straight, four to the Yapkees, world champs. Then came a 2 to 2 tie, before the losing streak was broken with a 15 to 6 win over Washington.

Victory in that slugfest started the Sox on the right road, put them on a winning streak that has already lasted over a month.

After winning only three out of the first 10 games, the Sox showed their mettle by capturing 15 of the next 19, sending them from seventh to a tie for first place.

The last time a Boston club was in first place was in 1918, when the Red Sox won the American League pennant.

The Red Sox have set no goal, they simply play for every game. That is Lee Fohls' system, which has always been highly successful. He continues to insist his club won't finish last. The Boston fans believe him.

Do You Know Baseball?

By BILLY EVANS

QUESTIONS

1. How high must a foul fly ball that is caught by the catcher travel in the air, in order to have the batsman declared out? —E. M.

2. If a batter dodges a wildly pitched ball and in so doing swings his bat forward, is such an act ruled a strike?—E. M.

3. There is a large tree in the remote center field corner of the playing field. The batsman hits a ball that gets caught in the limb of the tree and stays there. On another occasion the ball, after striking several limbs, is caught by the fielder before it touches the ground. What would be the proper ruling in each play?—F. B.

ANSWERS

1. Any foul ball other than a direct tip, if caught by the catcher, retires the batsman. There is no fixed height that the ball must travel.

2. This play is a matter of judgment on the part of the umpire. It would be necessary to see such a play to give a definite answer. Offhand I would say that such an act would not be a strike. Rarely do batters strike at wildly pitched balls which they are attempting to dodge.

3. A ground rule on the tree would settle all disputes. Making a hit that struck the tree on the fly either a home run or three-base hit would do away with all arguments. Once the ball strikes the branches of the tree it is no longer possible to make an out on it by catching it before it strikes the ground.

ENOCH ARDEN'S FOLLOWER HAS NOT SAME IDEA

WIFE WILL FIGHT.

Mental Wreck, Loved in Other Days, Now Despised By Wife.

"Oh, God Almighty, aid me!
Give me strength not to tell her,
Never to let her know."

NEW YORK, June 14.—Justice Dike in Brooklyn yesterday criticised Robert H. Boyd severely for not following in the footsteps of the legendary Enoch.

Thirty years ago Boyd wandered off, abandoned his wife, and lived his own life. Then he returned. In the intervening years she believing him dead became the wife of Blanchard P. Atkinson. They lived happily.

Then Boyd came back and unlike Enoch Arden, made his presence known. So yesterday Justice Dike reluctantly granted a decree annuling marriage of Atkinson to Isabel Boyd.

The Justice said that the return of Boyd, a "mental wreck, destitute and despised, without the courage to do as Enoch Arden did and leave his wife in peace," was a tragedy indeed.

Found in Institution

Atkinson and the woman had married in Brooklyn in 1901. There were no children, but there was a deep and abiding affection. Of course, her first marriage had never been annulled or dissolved. She believed Boyd dead.

Justice Dike said:

"Upon the trial, Boyd appeared as a witness. He testified to the marrage in Jersey City and also to his abandoning the defendant here, his wife, and going to the Pacific Coast

"It appears that Boyd was found in a charitable institution in the Bronx. His reappearance after thirty years' absence without any news from him is the tragedy for all the parties in this matrimonial triangle.

Still Greater Wrong

"His return was a greater wrong, indeed, than the abandonment of his young wife in 1894. This is truly an Enoch Arden case, and it is, indeed unfortunate for this defendant that Boyd, a physical and mental wreck destitute and despised, could not have had the heroism of the original Enoch Arden, and, after the years of his cowardly absence, done the one thing which would have repaid his wife for those days of abandonment on his part.

Justice Dike said he gave the

RIOT HALTS TRIAL OF KU KLUX KLAN

Court Room Cleared When a Stampede Followed Klansman's Evidence.

EBENSBURG, Pa., June 14. — The first sensation in the trial of forty-four men on riot charges growing out of the Ku Klux Klan demonstration at Lilly last April came when Judge Finletter ordered tipstaffs to clear the room of the spectators following a tumultuous demonstration when George A. Marks, a witness, in replying to question, said he had been a Ku Klux Klansman all his life.

"Do you belong to the Ku Klux Klan?"

"Yes, sir," Marks replied, "I have been a Klansman since I was born."

Whistles and Cheers.

As though touched off by the pressing of an electric button, whistles and cheers, handclapping, and stamping of feet resounded in deafening echoes throughout the crowded Courtroom.

The Court pounded with his gavel for order, and instructed the bailiffs to clear the room of the demonstrators, adding:

"This is no theatre."

Describes Outbreak.

A visitor in Lilly the night of the outbreak, J .E. McBroom, said he fell in at the rear of a crowd of men, women, and children. The crowd was moving toward the railroad station in a disordered, excited manner, McBroom said. He testified that he heard a number of girls yell:

"Boys, get your guns and kill them."

At another point in his testimony, he declared he heard cries:

"Hurrah for the Klansmen."

Finally, noting that he was a stranger, he said, several men in the crowd attacked him. They struck him with clubs and one man placed a gun against his breast and threatened to kill him. In a tussle McBroom said he gained possession of the gun and tried to fire on his assailants, but the gun jammed.

B.C. DECLARES GOVERNMENT IS SHOWING FAVOR

Western Province is Dissatisfied With Program For British Squadron Calling There.

PREMIER CANNOT GO.

Fear Expressed That Halifax and Quebec Will Have Honor.

OTTAWA, June 14. — (Canadian Press).—Hon. E. E. Macdonald, Minister of National Defence, gave to the House of Commons yesterday afternoon a statement in regard to the visit of the British special service squadron to Canada. In opening he directed the attention of the House to a despatch appearing in the Vancouver morning papers, stating that there would be no member of the Dominion Government to welcome the ships at Vancouver, and that members of the Cabinet in Ottawa were too busy in the House of Commons to come to British Columbia and welcome the squadron. British Columbia people, said the despatch, were not quite satisfied with the situation, recalling the reception tendered at other ports. The despatch expressed disappointment in the grant given by the Dominion Government for entertainment at Victoria and Vancouver, and said that there was a growing feeling that the Dominion authorities were conserving their energies in this respect until the warships reached Halifax and Quebec.

No Discrimination.

"I desire to say that this statement is a very unfair one." Mr. Macdonald said. "The attitude of the Government towards the crews of this squadron and its visit to Canadian ports is one of the friendliest interest, and we are animated only by the desire to extend the fullest and most appreciative welcome to those representative ships of His Majesty's Navy."

Mr. Macdonald said the Government would entertain the officers of the squadron at a formal dinner on their arrival on the Pacific coast. Also, in conjunction with the Government of Alberta, the Dominion had arranged to take 25 officers and 250 other ratings through to Edmonton, visiting intermediate points, and from Edmonton to Calgary and back to Vancouver. The Dominion Government had asked the Lieutenant-Governor of British Columbia to welcome the officers of the squadron and to preside at the official dinner.

There was no desire to discriminate in regard to the expenditure of money as between the eastern and western ports, Mr. Macdonald said. As to the question of the Prime Minister going out to officially welcome the squadron, he felt that in the judgment of the House and of the country, it could hardly be expected that the leader of the Government should be absent at this stage of the session. The Dominion Government was looking forward to having representatives of the officers visit the capital in August, when an official welcome would be given to them.

BUSINESS GOOD ALL OVER CANADA

Report of Credit Men's Association Murmurs of Pessimism.

WINNIPEG, June 14 (Canadian Press). — The weekly trade report of the Canadian Credit Men's Trust Association, Limited, reads as follows:

St. John — Wholesale and retail trade report no change over last week. Collections good.

Montreal — Boot and shoe sales show a little improvement. Dry-goods sales satisfactory. Hardware report a fair volume of business. Grocery sales continue steady. Collections fair to good.

Toronto— Wholesale trade volume holding up well, though not rushing. Retailers continuing to purchase for immediate requirements. Retail trade still feeling effects of backward weather. Building quiet. Collections fair to good.

Winnipeg — No change reported in wholesale and retail trade. Weather conditions have improved during the past week.

Regina— Wholesalers report sales only fair. Retail trade quiet. Weather continues unsettled and cold, which is having a retarding effect on sales.

Saskatoon — No change reported in wholesale and retail trade. Crop prospects have improved in some disfricts due to recent rainfalls. Collections fair.

Calgary — Retail business averages slightly below normal owing to continued wet weather, which, however, will have the effect of considerably increasing future business. Wholesale trade holding steady. Collections just fair. Prospects are good for crops.

Tucked in For the Night Little Baby is Strangled

SARNIA, June 14 (Canadian Press). — The sixteen-months-old baby boy of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Hobin, Elgin Street, was strangled to death in an extraordinary accident in his bedroom on Thursday evening.

The little fellow, after being put to bed and tucked up for the night, must have climbed up in his bed and taken hold of the heavy iron bedstead lying against the wall.

When the mother came upstairs a few minutes after, she found her baby dead, the iron crossbar pinning him across the throat to his own bed.

Dr. MacDonald was summoned and declared the child died almost instantly without being able to move or cry out.

Dr. Logie, coroner, decided that no inquest was necessary, as it was purely an accident.

Much sympathy for the parents is expressed.

Mr. Hobin is an employee of the Imperial Oil Company.

PRIVY COUNCIL TO HEAR CASES

Several Canadian Appeals Include Home Bank, Sunday Trains and Divorce.

LONDON, June 14 (Canadian Press Cable). — Canadian business before the Privy Council will not be taken up before 2nd June.

The first case to be heard, it is expected, is the appeal against the award of the Toronto Railway Arbitration Board, which fixed the price the city was to pay the company for the railway.

Both the city and the company entered notice of appeal.

Sir John Simon, M.P., and N. W. Rowell, K.C., of Toronto, will appear for the company, and W. N. Tilley, K.C., for the city.

No date has yet been fixed for the hearing of the Home Bank appeal, in which the Attorney-General of Ontario seeks the right to enforce a jury trial of the indictments under the Bank Act standing against directors and officials of the Home Bank.

The case will probably not come on before July.

D. L. McCarthy and McGregor Young, of Toronto, will act for the appellants, and Messrs. Tilley and Rowell for the respondents.

Stop Sunday Trains.

Another case of constitutional importance and general interest involves the legality of operating Sunday trains in Manitoba. The Lord's Day Alliance is seeking to prevent the running of Sunday trains, more especially the service to the Lake Winnipeg Beach.

Attorney-General Craig of Manitoba will appear personally for the Province, N. W. Rowell and Theobald Matthew for the Alliance, and E. L. Newcombe, Deputy Minister of Justice, for the Dominion.

An interesting appeal concerns the divorce law as between Ontario and Alberta. A wife obtained a decree of judicial separation from the Alberta Court against her husband domiciled in Ontario, the wife afterwards being granted a divorce by the Alberta Courts. The question to be decided is whether the Alberta Court had the power to grant a divorce decree against the husband domiciled in Ontario.

The much-postponed appeal of the Hon. J. E. Caron as to whether his salary as a Quebec Provincial minister is lawfully subject to Dominion income tax, will be argued by Sir John Simon, M.P., as leading counsel for Caron.

The Irish Question.

These sittings of the Privy Council will be made noteworthy by the reference to that body by the Crown of a matter under the Irish Treaty, namely, whether the boundary commission can legally function without a commissioner representing Northern Ireland and also whether, since Northern Ireland refuses to appoint such commissioner the Imperial Government can appoint one.

This reference to the Privy Council is the first occasion on which the constitution as effecting these islands has come up for legal exposition in the present generation, and there is some speculation concerning the personnel of the Court for this hearing.

The judicial committee of the Council is a fairly large body, and the Lord Chancellor, if he thought fit, could summon the whole membership but he is not likely to do so.

It is probable that five members will be summoned, two of whom will likely be from the Dominions.

The opinion is generally held that the Privy Council will answer both questions affecting the Irish Treaty negatively.

OPEN EFFECT.

Double hemstitching wide enough to give a decidedly open effect is one of the most approved trimmings for crepe de chine or voile blouses and dresses.

MOB TORE DOOR OFF ITS FRAME TO HEAR TRIAL

Boy Killers Pleaded Not Guilty and Trial is Set For August 4.

BOTH UNABASHED.

CHICAGO, June 14.—"Not guilty, sir!"

First Richard Loeb, then Nathan Leopold, Jr., returned that formal answer to the indictments that accuse them of kidnaping and murdering Robert Franks, a wealthy neighbor's 13-year-old son.

They gave their answers clearly and promptly, unabashed by the curious hundreds packing the courtroom behind them, pushing and scrambling to catch sight of them as they stood before the bar.

Denies July 15 Trial.

Chief Justice Caverly of the Criminal court, who is to preside at their trial, then tentatively set the case for Aug. 4, over the appeal of State's Attorney Crowe for trial "by July 15 at the latest." The defense, pleading that popular excitement embarrasses their cause, accepted the setting with the stipulation that a further continuance will be asked if it seems necessary.

Although it was generally known that the formality of arraignment would require less than half an hour, hundreds more than Judge Caverly's big courtroom would hold stood out in the corridors and fought for a glimpse of the two boys who have confessed the murder.

Every possible perching space inside the courtroom was used by a mob that had torn the doors from their hinges in a rush for seats just a little earlier. Men and women stood in the aisles and on benches at the rear of the room, crawled up on window sills to see better or borrowed the chair arms of early comers. The crowd was reckoned the largest ever to assemble in the Criminal court building. Then deputy sheriffs had their hands full keeping order.

Loeb and Leopold had prepared themselves carefully for their appearance in court. Their clothes had been brushed and smoothed. They had shaved and their hair lay slick on their heads. They bore themselves confidently, too, though they entered court handcuffed to deputy sheriffs.

They were taken from the jail to the courthouse half an hour before the time set for arraignment, but the size and excitement of the crowd caused their guards to put them in the "bull pen," the temporary lockup, for the interval.

To Prove Insanity.

Apparently discarding all hope of combating the prosecution's array of evidence and witnesses to the guilt of the prisoners, parents and legal counsel of Nathan Leopold, Jr., and Richard Loeb began combing the United States for experts to prove the youths insane and thus save them from the gallows.

The first of the experts arrived from New York on Friday and went at once to the county jail to give both young men a complete physical examination.

This examination, the defense holds,

CANNOT INTEREFERE IN POSTAL SALARY

Premier Says Government Must Approve or Disapprove Civil Commission.

OTTAWA, June 14. — J. S.Woodsworth (Labor, Winnipeg Centre) asked at the opening of the House of Commons yesterday afternoon, whether in view of the very general dissatisfaction, the government was prepared to give frther consideration to the scheduie of postal workers salaries.

Premier Mackenzie King replied that there must be some final court of appeal. Parliament had given to the civil service commission the duty of determining the salaries of civil servants.

The government had taken particular care to see that the commission gave the matter full consideration, and as a matter of fact the report of the commission had been referred back on at least two occasions.

The government had either to disapprove or approve of scale recommended by the civil service commission. To disapprove would be to leave the salaries where they are at present.

Unless Parliament decided on some action in regard to the civil service commission he did not see how there could be further consideration given to the matter.

POSTIES WILL WALK OUT.

Fort William Branch Decides on Strike Against Decreases.

FORT WILLIAM, Ont., June 14. —By a 2 to 1 vote the Fort William Branch of the Postal Branch of the Amalgamated Civil Servants of Canada decided in favor of a walk out on account of the decreases made in the pay of postal workers at this point.

CABINET CRISIS COSTS HERRIOT 75 NEW FRANCS

From Poverty to World Power Makes Tale That Reads Like Fiction.

MAY BE PREMIER.

PARIS, June 14.—"The Cabinet crisis has already cost me 75 francs," is the smiling complaint of Edouard Herriot, radical leader, who last week declined to form a Cabinet while Millerand continued to occupy the Elysee Palace.

"When summoned to the Elysee," M. Herriot said, "I found I was not allowed to wear a soft felt hat so I went to my hatters to buy a derby. He offered me one for 60 francs and another for 75. As it was the first time I had ever been invited to form a Cabinet I didn't hesitate at the higher priced one."

Herriot is a man who came from behind through his inherent buoyancy and does not fear to speak of the dusty road he travelled.

He tramped into Lyons, then the second city of France, with fifty francs in his pocket, a frayed overcoat on his back and an invisible portmanteau jammed with dreams and aspirations. Most of the latter have come true; and if luck favors him he may be Premier of France.

That is Edouard Herriot, the Mayor of Lyons, Deputy from the Rhone, the litterateur, the golden speaker who heads the Radical-Socialists of the Republic of France.

"When I was young my parents were very poor. My father was an officer in the army and we lived on an officer's pay. My aunt was the cook for Maurice Barres, and one wet winter day she gave me an overcoat of Barres'. I wore it, for I had no other."

"Gets Things Done."

Edouard Herriot astonded one of the Paris faubourgs by telling this incident some years ago. The remarkable thing was the presence in that salon, listening to his recital, of Barres himself, a political opponent of Herriot.

That is an indication of the candor and utter lack of affectation of a man who is regarded as the mental superior of the brainy Caillaux —whom he followed in certain theories—and at least the equal of the Tiger himself in "getting things done."

A Learned Man.

Herriot is different. A graduate of the Ecole Normal, he was professor of philosophy in Lyons before he attained his thirtieth birthday—a teacher in one of the great-

GERMAN MINISTRY DOWNFALL CERTAIN

Leader of National Party Gives Government a Month to Live.

BERLIN, June 14.—"The Marx-Stresemann Government will be swept away within a month on account of the impending financial and economic breakdown in Germany."

That is the prediction of Dr. Oscar Hergt, leader of the National party, when asked regarding reports that the Nationalists are planning a putsch to overthrow the Government. He continued:

"The National party will have nothing to do with any putsch. The climax can be expected without any resort to force."

Dr. Hergt further said the Government will not be able to muster the two-thirds majority necessary to pass the laws to put the Dawes plan into effect.

Canadians are Returning From Across the Border

OTTAWA, June 14 (Canadian Press). — Evidence that many Canadians are returning from the United States is shown by statistics now being compiled by the Department of Immigration and Colonisation, the total for the last two months being nearly 9,000 who had been over six months across the line.

It was not until towards the end of last March that the immigration officials began to make an accurate check on the number of Canadians who were coming back after being in the United states for six months or longer.

In April, returns from 148 out of the 171 points along the international boundary at which there are Canadian immigration inspectors, showed that 4,084 Canadian citizens returned to their own country.

In May the number from 129 ports was 4,839, with 42 ports still to be heard from.

WEMBLEY MERRY EVEN AT NIGHT

Girl Who Falls From Bed When Bulls-eye is Hit, Sleeps Peacefully.

WISHING STOOL IN UNION.

LONDON, June 14.—Actually, Wembley never sleeps.

But, when the last visitor has been ushered out of the gates, it just dozes off a little and sleeps, as it were, with one eye open, until ten o'clock comes along next day.

It is when the last visitor has gone that the great night work at Wembley is started. The three million lights go out as if the man at the switch were really one of those pantomime magicians who turns kitchens into fairly palaces. The frail minarets of India lose all their rose light and might be ordinary factory chimneys for all you know. Canada looms out like a great ship and a gardener trails a hose along the path, like a swishing serpent.

In the Amusement Park, there is an army of men carrying spanners. They climb over every inch of the forest of scaffolding in the Great Racer and the Switchback and test and prove every bolt and screw. You can hear them climbing—tapping—and then climbing on again. The Felix man and the Skee Ball man who have nothing to do. They just put up their shutters and go home. The Firemen, all of whom knew the merry muddy days of France, sit around their barbaric scarlet and brass engine and tell tall tales of "other days." One remembers playing golf on "this very spot" forty years ago. Great heaps of orange skins, paper, cigarette packets and rubbish are swept from the paths . . sinister empty bottles are rudely dragged into the limelight, from beneath trees and seats. Down by the Palace of Arts, the 300,000,000 year-old wishing stool, a fossilised tree trunk from a Midland mine is the centre for a veal and ham pie supper party and the inevitable "George" sits on the wishing stool and wishes for a "dozen bottles of bubbly and a couple of turkeys."

But the Wishing Stool is in the union and it doesn't work after five o'clock. It is in the Amusement Park that the great work is done. During the day, Princes, butchers, bakers and candlestick makers are whirled this way and that on the scenic railways and racers and the bewhiskered mechanics must see that all is inspected and safe — a fact that is re-assuring to the confirmed "Switchbackist."

DOUMERGUE WAS CONGRATULATED BY M. PAINLEVE

Defeated Opponent For Presidency of France Was First to Wish Him Success.

STORM BLOWS OVER.

Radical Leader Herriot Invited To Form a New Ministry.

VERSAILLES, France, June 14 (Canadian Press). — Gaston Doumergue, president of the Senate, yesterday was elected president of the Republic of France, in succession to Alexandre Millerand, who resigned on Wednesday because of the opposition to him in Parliament.

The booming of a cannon at half-past four in the afternoon announced the solution by the Senate and the Chamber of Deputies, gathered together in national assembly, of one of the grave political crises arising from the May elections.

The choosing of M. Doumergue as Chief Executive occurred in the presence of the usual crush of invited notables, who bruised one another's ribs in the main galleries of the Versailles Chateau in order to gain vantage points from which to witness the historic ceremony, and a score of uninvited persons, who, as usual, had been admitted to the Chamber without formality in order to prove that the ceremony of electing a Chief Executive was really a public function.

Peret Withdrew.

Two candidates were in the field—M. Doumergue, who received 550 votes, and Paul Painleve, President of the Chamber of Deputies, who had 310 adherents.

Raoul Peret, former President of the Chamber, earlier in the day, announcel his candidacy for the post as the standard-bearer of the centre and right of the Chamber, but later withdrew from the contest.

The result of the balloting was not agreeable to everyone. Deputies of the new majority in the Chamber did not conceal their chagrin over the fact that, after having driven President Millerand from the Elysee Palace, they were unable to name a successor.

"But to-day, Friday the Thirteenth was bound to be unlucky for someone," declared M. Franklin-Bouillon, a member of the defeated coalition.

The resignation was accepted, but M. Doumergue requested the Premier to continue with routine business until a new Cabinet is formed.

Edouard Herriot, leader of the Radical Party, has been requested to form a new ministry, and undoubtedly will do so.

M. Painleve proved a good loser. He was the first of the statesmen to give his successful opponent congratulations on having been elected twelfth President of France.

WHEAT INCREASE WAS PREDICTED

Credit Men Hear That Price Will be $1.35 a Bushel by Christmas.

FORGET FARM TALK.

BUFFALO, N.Y., June 14 (Canadian Press). . Before election day wheat will sell in the United States for $1.25 a bushel, and before Christmas for $1.35, it was predicted by Dr. David Friday, Director of Research in the National Transportation Institute at Washington, speaking before the closing session of the National Association of Credit Men yesterday.

Reports on the United States and Canadian crop indicate a decline in production, Dr. Friday said. He predicted a general upwart trend of prices for all farm products, and declared an increase in the price of wheat would lessen discontent in the West, Agricultural content, he prophesied, will settle over the country next year.

Dr. Friday said that although the number of people on farms now is only 10 per cent. greater than twenty years ago, farm production has increased 40 per cent.

"Forget the back-to-the-farm movement," he continued. "It is not the solution of the problem."

JAPANESE SAY COOLIDGE IS LIKE FICKLE PILATE

Hostility to American Missionaries Over the Exclusion Bill Develops in Japan.

BOYCOTT U. S. GOODS.

Chance of Serious Rift Minimized by Fear of Retaliation.

TOKIO, Japan, June 14.—The strong opposition to American missionaries in Japan resulting from the exclusion clause in the new American immigration law is a surprising development of the outburst of indignation in this country. Although the agitators do not represent the better elements, their actions may possibly affect the future harmony of Christian efforts here.

A manifesto distributed by Japanese Christians compares President Collidge with Pontius Pilate, asks Christian churches in Japan to reject American financial support and requests American missionaries to become naturalized or leave the country.

Urge Boycott on U.S. Goods.

Youthful agitators visited Tokio department stores to-day and urged them to boycott American goods. Some of the managers agreed in principle, but it is believed that their agreement was merely a diplomatic move and that the demand for foreign goods will continue to be met.

It is significant that in the midst of the anti-American agitation the government railway department announces that it has decided to require employees on trains between Tokio and Kobe to have a conversational knowledge of English, indicating that the normal progress of the authorities in improving the accommodations for foreigners is proceeding.

Prince Greets New Cabinet.

The coalition cabinet headed by Viscount Kato, leader of the Kenseikai majority party in the lower house of the diet, was ushered into the presence of the prince regent at 2 o'clock this afternoon and received the imperial authority to succeed the Kiyoura cabinet.

The success of the new government depends upon the ability of the party leaders to co-operate in outling policies. Although the Kenseikai predominates, the failure of Premier Kato to concede certain points to his colleagues is liable ultimately to result in a fatal rift.

The three main principles in the new government's policy are extension of the franchise, reduction of governmental expenditures and improvement in the national morale.

The appointment of Baron Shidehara to the foreign portfolio is regarded as insuring a moderate and conciliatory policy toward the United States. Shidehara's long service in Washington has given him an excellent understanding of American affairs, whereas Baron Matsua, his predecessor, typified European diplomacy.

The Kato cabinet is expected to maintain the dignified attitude of the Kiyoura government in dealing with the immigration problem. It is significant that despite the public turmoil the government remains silent and seeks

BOAT HOUSE BURNS WITH TWO CANOES

Ira Dawson of Bailieboro and George Eagleson Were the Owners.

BAILIEBORO, Ont., June 14. — Mr. I. . Dawson of Bailieboro had the misfortune to have his boat-house and boats burned to the ground about nine o'clock on Wednesday evening.

The boat house contained two splendid canoes, one owned by Mr. Dawson, and the other by Mr. Geo. Eagleson. One of them was valued at sixty dollars.

The boat house was situated on Mr. Dawson's ranch, about two miles south of the village. There are no dwelling houses near where it is built.

The fire was first noticed by Walter Henry, a farmer residing about half a mile north of the building. He at once gave the alarm but by the time Mr. Dawson reached the ranch it had nearly completely burned, and nothing could be done to save anything within.

Insurance was carried on the boat house and boats.

FINAL ACTION EQUALIZATION

SOME OF CHANGES.

(By a Staff Reporter).

COBOURG, June 14. — Reeve Davidson of Campbellford was the first member to enter a protest when the report of the Equalization Committee was presented to the Council at Friday's session. He gave notice that if the report was adopted he would carry the matter on appeal to the County Judge. The Reeve from Campbellford declared that the increase last year was sufficient for some time to come.

This was a question in which the township and town members were array against each other. In the interests of harmony these compromises were suggested.

Warden Fowlds proposed an increase of 10 per cent. in the equalization of the towns and villages and five per cent. in that of the townships.

Reeve Wood of Millbrook, chairman of the Equalization Committee, said there never would be peace in the Council until this matter is finally disposed of. He suggested that the plan as proposed by the committee be adopted for this year and that at the January session arrangements be made to have the assessment of the two counties revised as provided in the statutes.

Reeves Robison of Cavan, McColl of Brighton Township, Elliott and Hartt of Murray, Holdsworth of Hamilton, McCubbin and Nelson of Percy, took a prominent part in supporting the report of the committee.

Reeves Holdaway of Port Hope and Corbett of Cobourg moved that the equalization of the townships be increased five and that of the towns and villages ten per cent.

Deputy Reeves Dorie of Campbellford and Nelson of Percy moved that the report of the committee be adopted.

The first motion was supported by the urban members, and when the latter was put the hands raised in the affirmative were as thick as the newly planted trees in the "Northumberland Forest."

Some of the Changes.

Campbellford's equalization last year was $787,584; this year it will be $796,780. Hastings' last year was $184,494; this year $191,604; and the other towns and villages are increased.

The equalization of Port Hope alone is less as that town for a number of years has been paying county taxes on the value of its exempted property.

County Rate 8 Mills.

The total amount added to the equalization of the two counties by the increase is about $250,000. There is more money to be raised for county purposes this year, but the increase in the equalization enables the Council to keep the rate down to eight mills, the same as last year.

The Total Required.

The total amount to be raised this year is $236,763. Campbellford will pay of this amount $6,390.24 in addition to the usual charges for school grants and debenture payments; Hastings, $1,532.83; Millbrook, $1,568.05; Cavan, $15,454.12; South Monaghan, $6,129.20; Percy, $9,816, and Seymour, $12,905.64.

South Monaghan is the highest assessed township in the two counties, the average assessed value of the farms in that municipality being $42 an acre.

Will Appeal.

Reeve Davidson says that the increase in the equalization will be carried on appeal to the County Judge.

A NEW BRIDGE CAMPBELLFORD

Matter Discussed at Meeting of County Council in Cobourg.

THE EQUALIZATION.

(By a Staff Reporter

COBOURG, June 13.—Campbellford's chances to secure a new bridge grow brighter. A special committee of the Counties' Council has been given power to act in the matter. Repairs will be made of the Government approves and failing this a new bridge will be put up. The proposition was saved from postponement for one year by the staff fight put up by Deputy Reeve Dorie at the meeting of the committee on roads and bridges last night.

A year ago the talk was all of a new bridge as it was understood at the time that no government grant would be made for repairs. At the last session of the Legislature, Major Belford, M.L.A. was given the promise of the Government that a grant of 40 per cent of the cost of repairing the old or putting up a new structure would be allowed. Since that time the special committee having the matter in charge have proceeded on the assumption that repairs would be sufficient.

Difference in Estimatse

Three estimates of the cost of repairs have been secured.

Engineer A. W. Connor of Toronto was of the opinion that the out lay required would be $9,250.

Arthur Sedgwick, bridge engineer for the Department of Highways, estimated the cost at $9,000.

The Ontario Bridge Company offered to put on a new cement floor and to add new stringers so as to reduce the space between these from four to three feet for $3,500.

If the latter offer were accepted the Government grant would be $1400, while the county would pay $1575 and the town $525 of the balance. The company, however, appear to believe that the present structure is safe and advised that all further action be deferred for the present.

Deputy Reeve Murphy of Cramahe Township moved, seconded by Reeve Honey of Alnwick, that the matter be postponed for one year.

This drew a vigorous protest from Deputy Reeve Dorie who claimed that the grant offered this year by the government might not be available in the future. He asserted that the present bridge is not safe for traffic and that something must be done. He moved in amendment, seconded by Reeve Van Volkenburg, that the matter be left in the hands of the special committee consisting of Warden Fowlds, Reeve Hartt, general chairman and Reeve Clarke Northumberland chairman of the roads and bridges committee. The offer of the Ontario Bridge Company will be submitted to the Department unless official approval of the repairs proposed is secured no grant will be made. If the Government does not approve of the proposed repairs it is likely a new bridge will be built as the members of the committee are opposed to spending $9,000 on repairs alone.

Increase in Equalization

The equalization committee will report to the Council in favor of increasng the equalization of the town and villages by 10 per cent. which with the 16 per cent. raise of last year means 26 per cent. altogether. Three motions were made altogether. Deputy Reeve Dorie, supported by Deputy Reeve Bedal of Brighton Township moved that no change be made in the equalization of last year.

An amendment by Deputy Reeve Robison of Cavan, and Reeve Anderson of South Monaghan, called for an increase of 15 per cent over the equalization of last year.

Deputy Reeve W. H. Nelson, of Percy and Deputy Reeve P. B. Nelson of Seymour favored a 10 per cent raise and this amendment to the amendment was carried by a large majority. Deputy Reeve Dorie refused to sign the report.

The increase of 26 per cent. will be based on the advance in the assessed value of the towns and villages for the 10 years from 1912 to 1922. In his amendment Deputy Reeve Robison was in favor of figuring the increase in equalization on the total assessment of the town and villages last year.

A Debate Certain

It is a foregone conclusion that the report of the committee will meet with strong opposition when presented to the council. One member by objecting can have the question referred to the County Judge who can order a speciol valuation of the entire two counties. This would entail an expense, it is estimated of $10,000 and it is doubtful if the township reeves and deputies would stand for this outlay. Such a valuation has not been made since 1904 and previous to last year there had been no readjustment of the equalization since 1912.

How Campbellford Will Fare

Campbellfords' assessed value has increased considerably in the 10 years referred to. When the equalization was set last year that town through error was charged with an excess of $113,550, the value of the school and church properties that are exempt from taxation. This error was discovered by Reeve Davidson of Campbellford and Reeve Wood of Millbrook who is chairman of the equalization committee.

If the increase of 26 per cent is adapted to Campbellford will this year be called upon for an addition al contribution to the country treasury of approximately $900.

Thursday Session

At Thursday's session John McVicar, engineer for the Department of Highways, addresses the Council on the recent enactment by which statute labor is to be abolished in all the municipalities next year, work on the highways to be under the supervision of a township superintendent, half of whose salary will be paid by the Government, all work to be subject to official approval. In addition to this the Government will pay 30 per cent of all other cash outlay on the roads. The speaker said that statute labor has been regarded as national holiday where very little work had been done. The cost of moving a load of gravel per mile averaged $109 when done by statute labor and 36 cents when the work was performed by contract. The new Act does not take effect until next year.

DYSPEPSIA WAS SO BAD

Could Hardly Eat Anything

Mrs. C. Stone, Nanticoke, Ont., writes:—"Some time ago I had a very serious attack of dyspepsia, and was also troubled with gas on my stomach. I could hardly eat anything, and very often had pains after meals. I had used different medicine, but they didn't seem to do me any good. At last I happened to run on the track of Burdock Blood Bitters, and after using it for a short time I felt a lot better. I continued its use until I was completely relieved and now I am ready to recommend it to anyone troubled as I was."

BANDIT'S LOOT MAY RUN TO LARGE SUM

CHICAGO, June 14 (Canadian Press). — The postal authorities last evening estimated that the loot obtained in the mail train robbery at Rondout, Ills., yesterday morning may run as high as $5,000,000.

The train was made up of mail cars from several New York Central trains, and was characterised as "the most important mail train on wheels."

It carried transcontinental registered mail pouches from New York and other eastern cities consigned to the Pacific North-West.

It is known that there was at least $100,000 in cash.

BENEFIT FUND FOR HALIFAX EMPLOYEES

TORONTO, June 14 (Canadian Press). — Meeting in the City Hall yesterday afternoon, the special committee on pensions considered and approved a by-law to establish a permanent benefit fund for civic employees.

It is provided in the by-law that all participants in the pension fund shall be permanent employees of the city, contributions of the employees shall be 5 per cent. of their salaries, and the contribution that the city will be expected to make will likely be about $30,600.

Japan Plans Wireless To Reach Whole World

TOKIO, June 14 (Associated Press). — A national radio system, affording communication with all parts of the Japanese Empire and the principal countries of Europe and America, will be completed by Japan in 1925, when the new $4,500,000 station near Aagoya for communication with Europe is finished.

The system will comprise four main divisions:

The Trans-Pacific division, for communication with America by the Iwaki wireless station, already in operation three years and co-operating with the Radio Corporation of America;

The Trans-Asiatic or European division, communicating with Nauen in Germany and the Eiffel Tower in Paris, by the new Nagoya station;

The inter-colonial division, through the Hirano station near Osaka, for messages to and from all parts of the Empire from Formosa to Korea and Saghalien.

The domestic division, employing a number of minor stations.

Improvement of the Trans-Pacific service by the installation of more powerful apparatus in the Iwaki station is promised.

TODAY I AM REAL WELL

So Writes Woman After Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Jamestown, N.Y.—"I was nervous, easily excited and discouraged and had no ambition. Part of the time I was not able to sit up as I suffered with pains in my back and with weakness. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, both the liquid and tablet forms, and used Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash for inflammation. Today I am real well and run a rooming house and do the work. I recommend your medicine to every woman who complains, and you may use my letter to help any one else. I am passing through the Change of Life now and I keep the Vegetable Compound in the house, ready to take when I feel the need of it."—Mrs. ALICE D. DAVIS, 208 W. Second St., Jamestown, N. Y.

Often some slight derangement may cause a general upset condition of the whole system, indicated by such symptoms as nervousness, backache, lack of ambition and general weakness. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will be found a splendid medicine for such troubles. In many cases it has removed the cause of the trouble.

Camouflage Sea Suit Creates a Sensation

DEAUVILLE, June 14.—Regine Flory, famous actress, created a sensation on the beach this morning in a novel "camouflage" one piece suit painted to resemble sea waves, with the result that when swimming she was practically invisible.

All the other beauties on the beach unanimously voted against the idea as entirely incompatible with the principal reason for wearing bathing suits.

GERMANS TIGHTEN BANRUPTCY LAW

Threat of Financial Difficulty Has Been Sufficient—Proof Wanted.

BERLIN, June 14.— The German Federal Council, in order to put a stop to widespread abuses in practice among German firms, which have a practice of going into a receivership when threatened by financial difficulties, has promulgated a decree tightening the existing lax provisions.

Up to the present time any German firm having difficulties in meeting its obligations applied for a receivership which cost nothing, which prevented accumulated stock and other movable assets from being disposed of, which tied up stockholders' money indefinitely without affording the latter an opportunity for control, and which prevented the liquidation of the business even though from a business viewpoint its continuance was not justified.

The unamended law merely provided that anybody can demand a receivership, "who because of war, or the results of war, is unable to meet payments if the majority of the creditors so demand. In any case the receivership must end within three months. Appropriate fees must be paid the government for a receivership grant. The appointed receiver must do all possible to dispose of the movable assets, such as wares and goods."

The Federal Council's new decree provides that proof must be furnished for reasonable prospects of solvency. It further requires that all receiverships must be published.

POSTAL WORKERS READY TO STRIKE

Promised Support from the Western Section of Union

TORONTO, June 14 (Canadian Press). — The postal workers east of the Great Lakes, who are now taking a strike vote on the wage award of the Civil Service Commission, were jubilant last night over the message received from the National Secretary of the Amalgamated Civil Servants, the governing body of the Dominion Government employees in the West.

The message was sent to Gordon R. Jackson, chairman of the Dominion Postal Federation here and promised active co-operation of the Western postal workers in any movement which may arise out of the wage award.

Chairman Jackson sent a reply, thanking the Western body for their sympathy and support, and promised to work together in the event of trouble.

Ever since the Winnipeg postal strike, when the Eastern postal workers refused to go out in sympathy, there has been a gulf between the two organisations. When the last strike vote was taken locally, this was a great factor in the hesitancy of the Eastern men to go on strike.

The message from Winnipeg yesterday was quite unexpected and unsolicited, and greatly heartened the postal workers in the East.

MONTREAL, June 14. — Members of the Letter Carriers' Association of Montreal, voted unanimously at a meeting here last night to go on strike if the government will not reconsider its word in connection with the postal workers salaries

GUN DEMONSTRATION RESULTED IN DEATH

SAN DIEGO, Calif., June 14. — While demonstrating how a revolver could have been used in a shooting case yesterday Judge D. Sotomayer of Tiajuana court, shot himself behind the left ear and died within an hour. He was under the impression that police officers had removed the cartridges from the revolver when he placed it to his head.

A COMPARISON

A Minnesota glass setter employed at 75 cents an hour set in metal frames an average of 150 lights per day. He went to Chicago at $1.30 per hour, but was refused admission to his union in that city. They did sell him a permit for $10 a week to work, but, owing to lack of co-operation on the part of his fellow union men, he was only able to set 95 lights a day. After a few days, he was informed by the union that he must not set over 40 lights per day in Chicago, and this was his fixed record thereafter until he returned to his 75-cent job in Minnesota, where he was a free man. Production which $6 in Minnesota cost the public in Chicago $40 per day under closed shop conditions.—Citizens' Alliance, St. Paul.

BRAVING THE FALLS.

Bobby Leach, who successfully negotiated the descent of Niagara Falls in a barrel and who was refused permission not long ago to attempt to pass safely over the cataract in a specially constructed rubber ball, is again seeking the sanction of the Queen Victoria Park Commission.

The authorities should waste no words in informing Leach that he will be arrested at once if he makes an attempt to perform this rash feat.

Many foolhardy "stunts" have had Niagara Falls as their locale, and a long toll of lives has been the result.

To officially sanction another attempt to brave the passage over the Falls would be a strange commentary upon modern civilization.

The object behind the proposed "stunt" is, of course, advertising for the company manufacturing the ball and some money for Leach—if he comes through safely.

The chances are that he would be killed—in which case the advertising would be secured at the expense of a human life.

That is too big a price to pay for publicity, and the authorities, who have had plenty of warning, should take precautions to see that Leach is given no chance to attempt the experiment.

If he persists in trying the feat it should not be difficult to have him housed in a place built for people of his mentality.

FACILITIES FOR BATHING.

The civic swimming beaches were thrown open to the public today, and the bathing season is officially under way—a few days later than usual.

The city fathers of the past three or four years are to be commended for the interest they have taken in this question, and for the provision made for suitable and safe bathing places for Peterborough.

For many years no attempt was made to take advantage of the opportunity offered by the beautiful river running through the city, and nothing was done to provide dressing-rooms or to have caretakers on duty as a protection against accidents.

The present system is a vast improvement over the old conditions, although not, of course, without its defects.

The experience of other cities has been that where adequate dressing-rooms and locker accommodation has been provided and provision made for renting towels and bathing suits sufficient revenue has been secured as a result to make the establishments self-sustaining, and in some instances to show a substantial surplus.

This aspect of the bathing question might well be investigated, with a view to more improved facilities in future years.

The present accommodation has justified the money expended upon it inasmuch as the number of local people capable of taking care of themselves in the water has been greatly increased during recent years.

In a community where so many people spent their holidays at river or lake resorts the ability to swim well is an asset of great value.

A TAX ON GASOLINE.

The Highway Committee of the Ontario Government is being urged by representatives of municipalities in the Hamilton district to recommend a tax on gasoline as a logical step toward making sure that those whom the Provincial highways chiefly benefit, the motor car owners, pay their fair share of the upkeep.

There is much to be said in favour of this form of raising revenue.

All in all, it appears to be the fairest method of providing for the maintenance of the system inasmuch as those who use the highways most would have to pay the most.

The oil companies, of course, would pass the tax on to the motoring public, and while the tax would not be a heavy burden upon the average motorist, the annual revenue collected would go a long way toward paying for highway maintenance and relieving the municipalities of a load that is pressing heavily upon them.

Moreover, a gasoline tax would compel tourists to contribute something toward the cost of the roads they are using.

The present method of taxation is not equitable, nor does it meet the needs of the situation, and while various other plans have been suggested, including a tax on tires, the gasoline tax offers the most advantages and has the fewest defects.

It is a logical contention that the people who get the most use out of the highways should make the biggest contribution toward their upkeep.

There are many people in Peterborough, for example, who have never driven over the Provincial highway to Port Hope.

It is not fair that such people should be taxed to keep up a road for more fortunate citizens.

GIVE THE BABY A CHANCE.

Most people seem to have the notion that a baby is just a stomach with arms and legs attached.

As long as baby's stomach behaves and its food is assimilated, the average parent is satisfied. Food gets chief attention. It can't get too much, but—

There is more to a baby than stomach, legs, arms.

A baby has a liver, heart, lungs, brain, nerves, thyroid, blood vessels. All these must grow, bud out into full blossom. They are just as important as the stomach, sometimes more so.

Food is all-absorbing topic with most young mothers. Each year, fewer mothers nurse their young. Each year, babies become more nervous—jumpy.

What's the reason? Doctors say the race is paying the price for something, they're not sure what. Fast living, too much nervous rush and hustle; these are at the roots of it all.

While watching baby's food, don't forget that his lungs are working, taking oxygen from the air and performing other duties. See that he gets plenty of oxygen—fresh air. He should have a room to himself, where he'll not be inhaling poisons from the lungs of his parents.

Watch his nerves. Give them a chance. Never startle him by yelling, "Boo!" It's cute, the way he jumps. But it's weakening to nerves that are just beginning to function.

Startling a baby quickens his pulse, throws a strain on his heart. He should always be addressed in a low tone. Keep him where it is as quiet as possible. Come into his line of vision slowly, never with startling suddenness.

Above all, never waken him from sleep to show him off to visitors. Sleep is what he needs, even as much as food. Plenty of sleep, quiet, fresh air and sunshine (with the glare never directly in his eyes or reflected)—give baby these, and in future years they'll be worth more to him than a legacy of money.

The lifetime health of most people is determined in the cradle.

AMERICAN POLITICS.

The Republican National Convention at Cleveland is expected to nominate President Coolidge as the Republican presidential candidate on the first ballot practically without opposition. The only men who have tried to prevent Coolidge from getting the nomination are Senator La Follette of Wisconsin, a Radical, who will have only the delegates from his own State—29 out of a total of 1,109—and Senator Hiram Johnson of California.

Senator Johnson's attempt to take the nomination away from Coolidge, launched with a blare of trumpets some months ago, turned to a complete debacle. He campaigned in State after State, but, counting his own stronghold of California, where his disruption of the Republicans once elected Woodrow Wilson, he will have fewer than 50 delegates at Cleveland. His failure to make headway, in spite of an active, well financed and well organized effort, especially at a time when restlessness is abroad, is a remarkable incident in American politics. Whether it reveals a revolt against radicalism, or an antagonism to party insurrectionists, or an uprising against complete United States isolation from world affairs, remains to be seen.

Coolidge is not a magnetic personality, but he has impressed the public mind as a man possessing honesty, courage and independence. He will get the Republican nomination largely because of the fact that he has captured the popular imagination by these qualities, and nobody else in the party looms large.

The Democratic convention, which meets in New York on June 24, will be of different character. Three major candidates will present themselves; there will be no fewer than ten subordinate candidates; and, in addition, hovering in the background, there will be several others who may emerge in the event of the contest becoming so prolonged or so bitter as to fail to give the prize to any of the leading contestants.

The most formidable contender for the Democratic nomination—the man with the largest number of delegates—is William G. McAdoo, who was Woodrow Wilson's son-in-law, and was Secretary of the Treasury during Wilson's administration. McAdoo, who left New York to get away from the taint of Wall Street, only to get tainted with Dohenyism instead, is conceded brains, courage and wide political experience. He is a "dry," which means that he is an ardent Prohibitionist; he is neither ultra-conservative nor ultra-radical; he wants railway reorganization without public ownership of railways; he stood for the soldiers' bonus; and he is reputed to have the support of the powerful Ku Klux Klan.

Next to McAdoo, the candidate with the largest present strength is Governor Smith of New York. Smith fought his way up from the bottom, has great natural ability, a magnetic personality, great powers of debate and a very fine record as an administrator in New York. One factor that operates against him, however, is his religion, which is Catholic. There is nothing in the constitution of the United States to prohibit a Catholic being President, but there is a great deal in the Democratic Party, especially in the South, to make it difficult. At the present time, too, the United States appears to be in one of its periodical waves of suspicion against the Church of Rome. This movement, which, in addition to being anti-Catholic, is also anti-negro, and anti-Jew, and anti-alien generally, takes the form of the secret and mostly notorious Ku Klux Klan society, which has grown to considerable proportions, and is a fotrce to be reckoned with in many States of the Union.

Next to Smith and McAdoo is Senator Oscar Underwood of Alabama. Underwood is a conservative, a sort of Sir Lomer Gouin Democrat, standing in well with business interests. He is a man of admitted ability, though neither brilliant nor showy, has had considerable political experience, and, although hailing from the South, is an outspoken and inveterate opponent of the Klan.

Finally, there is John W. Davis, former American Ambassador to London; able lawyer and orator; a man of the highest integrity and capacity and friendly with both conservatives and radicals because of his acknowledged freedom from prejudices and his clear grasp of realities. There is Senator Carter Glass of Virginia, one of the most acute minds in American politics, the author of the existing American banking law, a brilliant debater, and with a unique record of fidelity to his personal convictions. A Thought

THE JOB OF A MAN.

"It isn't the work we intended to do,
Nor the work we've just begun
That puts us right on the ledger sheet:
It's the work we've really done.
"Our credit is built on the things we do,
Our debit on things we shirk;
The man who totals the biggest plus
Is the one who completes his work.
"Good intentions do not pay bills,
It's easy enough to plan;
To wish is the play of an office boy,
To do is the job of a man."

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

TORONTO, June 14.—Receipts of cattle at the Union Stock Yards this week were only slightly over 6,000 head, and well within the buying power of the market. Monday's moderate run contained a larger proportion of finished cattle than usual, and asked prices were higher than the previous week. This was not generally conceded by the buyers, but the exporters paid about 10 to 15 cents a cwt. higher on the average, and the packers paid easily steady prices for anything choice taken by them. For export there were not as many cattle available, but as there were 800 head held from last week the supply was fully sufficient and some 400 are held for shipment next week.

The top of $8.65 a cwt. was paid for a choice heavy load of steers, but for other exporters no higher than $8.25 was received, and the large proportion did not realize $8 and some out of class were bought as low as $7.. There were not many heifers available, and these were bought from $7.25 to $7.75 a cwt. For a few bulls for overseas the market was $4.50 to $5.25. Packers were taking a limited number of heavy steers for domestic use, and in two cases paid $5.25 and $5.35 for small bunches. Handyweight butchers were well wanted, and none of these were had below $7.50, and those with extra finish brought $8 and a little over.

Good butchers also found a ready sale, with a range of $7 to $7.50, and buyers were not too easily accomodated. In the medium class the competition was not nearly as strong, and there was probably a little shading of prices in some cases, and the same might also be said of the common butchers. Good mediums brought up to $6.75 and sales were generally between this and $6.25. Common butchers sold as low as $5 in isolated instances. There was no perceptible change in butchers' cows. Choice ones sold from $6 and $6.50; good cows, $5 to $5.50; mediums, $4.50 to $4.85, and common cows $3.25 to $4.25. Not many bulls came in and prices were quite steady, here also, with real good bulls $6. Good heavy bulls were $4.50 to $5.25 and bologona bulls sold at $3.25 and $3.50.

The stacker and feeder trade was disappointing for the week. The specilists did very little nd only specialists did very little and only a few loads were sent out by commission houses. The offerings were mostly loads of Westerns, and the top for a load of feeders, 1,000 lbs. each was $6.50 a cwt. Two loads of light stockers were held at the week-end with a bid of $5 a cwt. A small number of milchers and springers were sold at steady prices, and average good cows were $75 to $80 each. For next week the exporters will be open to take all that come in. Packers are not expected to be too keen owing to the warmer weather, but against this is the almost certain shorters supply of stall fed cattle. There is, therefore, nothing in sight to warrant any material change in prices in either direction.

The calf market strengthened about 50 cents a cwt. during the week. The season of heavy runs is over and those wanting choice calves are willing to pay the price. These brought up to 11 cents this week. Good calves were 10 cents and good mediums in bunches brought 8 to 9 cents. Common calves did not improve and sales of these were made at 4 to 5 cents.

Lambs dropped a dollar a cwt. on Monday and held fairly steady the rest of the week. The top was $18.15 a cwt. but the major part of the good lambs sold from 17 to 17½ cents a pound. Light unfinished lambs around 50 lbs. each sold at 12 to 13 cents. Yearlings are scarce and sell around 12 cents. Choice handy weight sheep are the only really wanted ones and these bring up to 8 cents. Heavy sheep, good, are worth about 5 cents a pound.

Hogs held last week's advance and made about 25 cents a cwt. this week. Most of the reported sales were $7.75 f.o.b. and $8.65 off cars long haul. Packers bids are 25 cents a cwt. under this, but this is, of course, to be expected.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, June 14. — (Canadian Press).—High temperatures threatening to damage crops in the southwest did a good deal to lift wheat prices yesterday, but profit-taking sales led to a re-action later. Wheat closed nervous at the same as Thursday's finish to 3-8c higher; July $1.11 1-8 at ¼ to $1.11¼, and September $1.13 to $1.13 1-8, with corn unchanged to 3-8c up; oats unchanged to a shade higher, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 2c.

Before uneasiness developed concerning the hot wave, wheat traders here were largely guided by a decline in Liverpool quotations and then by an advance at Winnipeg, where foreigners were said to have been purchasing to a considerable extent early. Later, with the mercury registering above 100 in Oklahoma, and with Kansas also hot, the wheat market here climbed to a point equalling the highest prices hitherto reached on the present movement. It was asserted that if the heat continued, the wheat prospects would be seriously endangered, the more so as the change had been sudden from a long period of cold weather.

SUGAR MARKET.

NEW YORK, June 14.—(Canadian Press).—A firmer undertone prevailed in the raw sugar market yesterday, although no changes occurred in quotations from 5.02 for Cubans, duty paid. Sales were about 20,000 bags Cuban for June shipment.

Reports that the strike of stevedores in Cuba was interfering with shipments of sugar led to considerable covering and trade buying in raw sugar futures.

WINNIPEG LIVESTOCK.

WINNIPEG, June 14.—(Canadian Press). — Arrivals yesterday 294 cattle and calves, 604 hogs.

With light offerings trading on the cattle market was generally inactive with all better grades maintaining a fairly steady tone. Butcher cows, however, were practically 50 cents lower, compared with prices last week, while the stocker and feeder trade remains dull.

The hog market was unchanged at $7 for thick smooths and $7.70 for select bacons.

There was no trading on the sheep and lamb market owing to insufficient receipts.

COOKING BECOMES ONE OF LOST ARTS

If you like delicious things to eat, you certainly picked out the wrong generation in which to live. The cookery of centuries ago must have been exquisite, judging from the writings of some of the ecstatic eaters.

The king of Bithynia, Asia Minor, on one of his military expeditions, developed a volent craving for an ocean herring. The ocean was far away. So the king's cook took a big turnip ,cut it into the shape of a herring, fried it in oil, seasoned it with the powdered grains of a dozen black poppies.

The king swore it was the finest fish he ever ate.

While you've eaten many a fish that tasted as good, it illustrates the phenomenal skill of ancient cooks.

The most famous course at banquets of rich Romans of old was humming-bird tongues brought distances by relays of swift runners. Today they'd use refrigerator cars or airplanes.

Greek chefs of several thousand years ago were able to serve a whole pig, roasted on one side and boiled on the other, so skilfully prepared that the two parts were as distinct as if cooked separately. Tasty? Well, the stuffing was saturated with a dozen or more kinds of wine.

A race of gluttons was the natural development from this marvelous ancient cooking. A past-master of them, named Apicius, specialized at large shrimps .Hearing that the shrimps along the African coast were much larger, he actually bought a ship, made the trip, was disappointed, and returned in deep melancholy.

Philoxenus, asked what he wished most, promptly answered: "A crane's neck, so I would be longer in partaking of my meals."

Those good old days are gone. The last stronghold of eating as a ceremony was the banquet, now being made extinct by prohibition.

Even the traditional Sunday dinner is losing out, in the number of courses if not in taste.

People are beginning to eat scientifically, by calories—and getting the job finished as quickly as possible, gulping.

It's just as well that cookery is becoming a lost art, though, for fine cooks ruin more digestions than good cooks, by enticing to over-eating.

MONTREAL PRODUCE.

MONTREAL, June 14—(Canadian Press).—Trade in cash grain was slow yesterday. There was nothing new in the flour market. A fair trade was done in millfeed. The rolled oats market was firm. A fair business was passing in baled hay. An active trade is passing in eggs. Prices for potatoes are steady. Butter prices were marked up 5-8 to 7-8 cent per lb.

WEMBLEY WONDERS.

Tropical Trees Are Heated By Electricity Under the Ground.

The Coal Mine, in the Amusement Park, extending for a quarter of a mile, is a perfect replica of a coal mine, with miners and pit ponies actually working.

The Stadium is awe-inspiring even when nothing is happening within its vast amphitheatre. It is twice the size of the Coliseum and it holds 110,000 people.

Tropical trees, transplanted to the Wembley gardens, are heated by electricity beneath the earth to counteract the severe London climate.

The Aquarium in the Amusement Park uses 50,000 gallons of water brought specially from the Dogger Bank.

The Samoan House, to the right of New Zealand Pavilion, covers 1,700 square feet and is built by Samoan natives, without a nail. It comes from the island where Robert Louis Stevenson lived.

The Bermuda Pavilion is a replica of the house in which Tom Moore lived and worked.

Children Of Czechoslovakia Hold Session In Parliament

PRAGUE, June 14 (Associated Press). — While the deputies of the Prague Parliament recently were away on vacation, the school children of Czechoslovakia took possession of the chamber one afternoon, and held a parliamentary session of their own.

The school children throughout the Republic, numbering about 250,000, had appointed one delegate from each hundred schools to represent them at the session, which was held under the auspices of the Government.

In the presence of President of the Republic, Dr. Masaryk, Dr. Benes and all the other ministers, the children discussed questions of a moral or humanitarian order. They also made an incursion into the domain of current politics, for they appealed to their seniors present in the public galleries to do everything to preserve peace.

The general impression was that the success of the function and the excellence of the speeches made, bore a happy testimony to the good work done by Mlle. Masaryk in the popular education campaign she has undertaken.

CABINET CRISIS

est industrial cities of his country, which likewise has a most brilliant intellectual society.

Those who abhor the term "socialist" may be surprised to know that this Herriot was a distinguished man of letters before he entered politics. His sympathetic studies of two super-women, Mme. de Stael and Mme. Recamier, brought him to the attention of the highly civilized in all lands.

One may hear that big booming voice of his any day in Lyons that he is there. Go to the Hotel de Ville and the chances are that resounding through the corridors will be words like these:

"Monsieur Duquerand — Monsieur!"

Believes in Action.

It was marriage that gave him the chance to enter politics. His bride, of the upper bourgeois, brought him sufficient dowry to permit a bit of dabbling at the polls. The result was his election to the Mayor's chair at thirty-three —the youngest Mayor of all France. The staid citizens of that industrial centre liked his administration, though they may have differed with his higher political theories. He has been Mayor since that day.

At thirty-nine he was elected to the Senate—then the youngest member. Came war, and because of his genius he was chosen Minister of Food Supply and Transportation.

"Tell your compatriots to come over here. They need not be afraid —I will feed them all."

That was a message to America in January, 1917.

At war's end Herriot decided that he could be more useful as a Deputy than as one of the Senators in the customary lethargic body. He told his constituents:

"I shan't run for Senator again. Make me Deputy—there'll be action there."

Is Hard Worker.

During the last several years it has been nothing unusual for Herriot to make a dynamic speech in the Chamber at noon and early the next morning be back in Lyons deciding a purely industrial matter with a group of local manufacturers.

"Monsieur Herriot? The hardest worker I have ever known. He spends at least half of his sleeping time on the trains between Lyons and Paris. He is a bundle of energy—without nerves."

That characterization was made yesterday by M. Emile Garden, the official representative of the Lyons Fair and a close personal friend of Herriot. M. Garden explained that the Lyons Fair was established by Herriot, and told of the enormous revenues that have come to that city as a result of Herriot's foresight.

Never in Cafe.

Rather hard, perhaps, to conceive of a Radical-Socialist promising a plan by which the wealthy manufacturers of his own city may harvest more money—yet that is what Herriot has done. Those who define their terms understand well.

"I never saw M. Herriot in a cafe in Lyons in my life. He hasn't the time. He is writing books, making speeches, attending to business and politics."

That was another of M. Garden's comments. Those who know the part that the cafe plays in the life of the average normal Frenchman can appreciate this high tribute to the man.

"But the difficulty is that the law of the State of New York allows but one husband. At the present time the defendant here has two.

He Urged Marriage

"There is no evidence of any fraud by the plaintiff here. He (Atkinson) urged the marriage and said that she was free to marry him because her husband had been gone more than five years without her being able to know anything of his whereabouts and as to wether he was alive or dead.

"It seems to me that when two people marry, as did the parties in this litigation, they took a chance and when, as under the facts in this case, a former husband reappears, there is this serious matrimonial troubles."

Refuses Defeat

Atkinson is not ready to accept Justice Dike's decision annulling his marriage of twenty-three years that the woman he loves may be reclaimed by an inglorious Enoch Arden.

"It had been a bitter fight," the wife, who still claims the name of Atkinson, said in speaking of the strange case. She added confidently:

"Mr. Atkinson will fight on and on —as long as necessary. But in the end he is bound to win—we are bound to win because we are right.

Their First Defeat

"We have fought this thing for a year and this has been our first defeat. But we don't acknowledge it. Of course, we will appeal the decision, and if we fail there we will have to do something else. But we will win."

The Atkinsons live in a beautiful white stone house. They have no children, but they have the deep affection that has grown from a long life together.

MOB TORE POOR

will reveal physical defects with which to support the plea of mental and moral deficiency.

Dr. Carl Bowen is the specialist. He is a noted authority on ductless glands. Particular attention in his research will be paid to the life habits of Loeb and Leopold, with reference to the possible effect of their intense application to their studies.

Attorneys Clarence Darrow and Benjamin Bachrach, representing the youths, declined to comment on the defense plans. The former merely said:

"You can judge for yourself from the procedure as you see it."

Co-incidental with the departure of Dr. Hall, the defense began a checkup of the lives of Leopold and Loeb from the cradle up.

Every nurse, physician or teacher ever associated with them will be questioned for evidence of insanity. Their playmates also will be questioned.

Against this testimony, the State will offer that of a battery of alienists. Prosecutor Crowe said:

"All the prosecution will have to prove is that the accused knew the difference between right and wrong and had the power to refrain from doing wrong."

Loeb Is Affable.

Warden Westbrook says Loeb is standing the imprisonment much better than Leopold. He added:

"If either is broken, it will be Leopold—he frets."

Loeb appears happy. Often he sighs. He has a hearty appetite and usually saves part of his dinner to eat later at night.

Leopold was assigned a new cell mate who is under $40,000 highway robbery charges.

A big increase in mail received at the jail has been noted since Leopold and Loeb have been locked up there. Letters pour in from all parts of the United States, many of them "mash notes."

Loeb is an especial favorite and receives many communications expressing good wishes. Many of those sent Leopold recommend severest punishment for him.

The first play by defense counsel for delay in the trial of Leopold and Loeb will be made July 21, when Attorney Darrow will move to quash all indictments on the ground that the confession of the boys was read to the Grand Jury while the boys were under duress.

No success is anticipated for the motion. It will be a strategical move to gain time while "mob hysteria" subsides, it was said.

English Experts Labor To Improve Aluminum

LONDON, June 14. — In the confident belief that aluminum is to be the metal of the future, a big staff of research chemists is investigating the metal at the National Physical Laboratory at Teddington-on-the Thames. Several valuable discoveries have already been made. One of the chemists, J. D. Grogan, has this to say to a reporter:

"We have found how to make this metal, hitherto a somewhat poor conductor of electricity, of good conductivity. Aluminum has been slowly replacing copper in electrical undertakings, particularly for high-tension cables, and our discovery will help it to replace it much quicker. This alloy is both cheaper and of higher conductivity than copper, weight for weight."

Tortured for Three Years

Helpless from Rheumatism Until Relieved By "Fruit-a-tives"

No wonder people regard "Fruit-a-tives" as a faithful family friend and are so eager to tell what it has done for them.

After years of suffering, they appreciate the wonderful powers of this fruit treatment in relieving them of pain and misery and discouragement.

As Mr. P. R. Boissinot, of LaBroquerie, Man., wrote: "For three years, I had to give up work; my arms were so swollen and I was so sick. I felt I would never be able to work on the farm any more. But one day, a cousin came to see me and advised me to take "Fruit-a-tives". Now, I am in good health. I rest well and do all my work. I can recommend "Fruit-a-tives" for Rheumatism that made me suffer so much and I thank you for this good remedy".

"Fruit-a-tives" is the wonderful medicine made from the juices of apples, oranges, figs and prunes and tonics—and is the only complete treatment ever discovered for Rheumatism, Pain in the Back, Lumbago, Neuralgia, Headaches and other troubles due to the improper action of the stomach, bowels and kidneys.

JAPANESE SAY

to mitigate the situation through its calmness.

American Reply Is Awaited.

The official text of the American reply to the Hanihara note following the enactment of the exclusion law is awaited. In the meantime the foreign office is reticent regarding the issue. The retiring cabinet avoided further action with a view to leaving the negotiations to the Kato cabinet.

The diet is scheduled to meet June 25, and developments then may possibly distract the public mind from the immigration troubles. Foreign department officials believe that the climax in the anti-American agitation has been reached. They declare that only time is necessary to cause the public demonstrations to subside.

Little importance is attached to the boycott movements and other retaliatory efforts. Public leaders were much disturbed when the price of Japanese bonds fell after the Imperial Hotel disturbance. They point out that Japan cannot afford to cause resentment abroad. A boycott of Japanese goods in the United States, they say, would spell economic ruin for Japan.

The Coal Mine is dark and still and you know that, far down, the pit ponies are sleeping. The girl who falls out of bed if you hit the bull's eye above her head has gone home and one only hopes that her real bedtime is not disturbed by dreams of the eager youths who buy "four shots at the bullseye for sixpence" for the delight of seeing a girl fall out of bed.

Even at midnight, Wembley seems to be a merry place. Always, when the delicate breeze comes sailing majestically down the lake, you can hear the silver bells in the Burmese pagodas, spilling their Eastern music, delicately, into the western night.

Municipality Of Tsingtao In Bad Way Financially

TSINGTAO, China., June 14.—This city, pride of the former German leasehold, which was freed from Japanese control after the Washington conference, is now a sorry object lesson as to what a bankrupt administration can do for a municipality.

The new administration under Director-General Kao-En-Hung has a mighty task to face in the rehabilitation of the territory's finances. It is unable to pay its bills and has suffered a sudden termination of services of companies which furnished materials, fuel and light. To recoup its losses, due to the failure of the city to pay for street and building lighting, the electric light company has increased its rates to private consumers to excessive figures. The tele phone and other companies are threatening to do the same.

In spite of these depressing conditions, the community is looking forward to the coming summer and the arrival of thousands of guests who flock here to escape the heat of the interior of China.

"It was too late now, or was it not yet too late? He tried to raise himself, tried to speak or make some sign, but he could not move or utter a sound. Then the bells suddenly stopped, and in the following silence John Collinge died."

I.—OLD JOHN COLLINGE.

OLD John Collinge died one evening in June when the church bells were ringing and the village people, who had hated and feared him, were passing his massive iron gates on their way to Evensong.

The bells were cracked and out of tune, and they annoyed the ears of the dying man as he lay in the silent room with the windows wide open, reminding him painfully that only a few weeks ago he had refused to help the vicar raise a sum towards their cleaning and restoration. He was sorry now, wishing he had acceded to that request, for if he had done so the bells would have been silent instead of annoying him with their mornful reiteration of the hymn tune, "Abide with me."

John Collinge was sorry for many things as he lay there, looking back over the life which was rapidly slipping away from him; sorry that he had quarrelled so fiercely with his only son, sorry that a few days ago in a fit of temper he had cut his adopted daughter out of his will.

"Abide with me, fast falls the eventide . . ."

Over and over again the plaintive tune was born to him through the summer evening, as the last moments of a selfish brutal life ebbed away.

* * *

He could remember his mother singing that hymn in her thin, sweet little voice, as he stood beside her in the family pew years ago, bored and impatient with the service, hating the parson, hating even his mother who had brought him there; his mother who had shed tears enough over his wayward boyhood and reckless manhood.

And the thought came to him that nobody would shed a tear now when he was dead—not even Wanda. In his own rough way he had liked Wanda, liked her for her spirit and her defiance of him, liked her for her fearlessness and blunt honesty.

It was too late now, or was it not yet too late?

He tried to raise himself, tried to speak or make some sign, but he could not move or utter a sound. Then the bells suddenly stopped, and in the following silence John Collinge died.

The nurse who had been sitting beside the bed rose and looked across to the girl standing in the window.

"Mr. Collinge is dead," she said gently.

Wanda turned round. She had been standing at the window for the past hour staring with unseeing eyes at the beauty of the summer evening, listening to the bells, and to the laboured breathing from the bed behind her.

There was a startled, almost angry look in her eyes, and a nervous shrinking in her slim body, as she slowly crossed the room and looked down at the man who had been her benefactor.

"Are you sure—sure?" she asked in a shaken whisper.

"Quite sure," the nurse answered.

* * *

Wanda did not move. It seemed impossible to her that the fierce eyes of old John Collinge would never open again, or his thin lips say something brutal or sarcastic.

She put out a trembling hand and touched his hair, the thick iron grey hair which had helped to make him the handsome man he still was, and for the first time a wave of emotion crossed her face.

"Oh, I wish I had said good-bye to him, I wish I had," she said, with a catch in her voice.

"He would not have known you; he has been unconscious all day," the nurse told her.

She really believed what she said; she could not have credited it had she been told that, to the moment when those bells stopped, John Collinge's brain had been as keen and alive as it had always been and that he knew he was dying better than anyone else could have told him.

Wanda broke into nervous, overwrought weeping; the nurse put a capable arm round her and led her from the room.

Downstairs in the long, comfortless drawing-room, which always looked and felt as if nobody lived in it, Bertram Lindsay paced slowly to and fro.

Lindsay had been old Collinge's lawyer; the only man, so it was said, with whom he had never quarrelled.

When the nurse had taken Wanda to her room, she went downstairs to break the news.

"Mr. Collinge is dead."

Lindsay stopped pacing to and fro, and turned round.

He was a youngish looking man with grey hair and a thin kindly face, across which a wave of genuine pain and regret passed as the nurse gave him her news.

He had liked old Collinge in the same way that some men will like a savage dog which is friendly to them alone, and for a moment he was conscious of a very deep regret and sense of loss; then he rallied.

"And—Wanda?"

The nurse shook her head.

"She is crying. I think she is overwrought."

"I should like to see her before I go."

"I will tell her."

She went away and Lindsay resumed his restless pacing.

Dead! the handsome old martinet who had loved nobody, and whom nobody had loved.

Well, we must all die, but John Collinge had been a man with whom it was difficult to connect death and the ordinary passing out of like.

There was a step in the hall and Wanda pushed open the door.

There were traces of tears on her face, but her eyes were defiant and she held her head high.

"You sent for me?"

"Yes. Won't you sit down?"

"Thank you. I am not tried."

* * *

Lindsay flushed.

"I know, but I thought——"

She interrupted ruthlessly:—

"Don't let us pretend, Mr. Lindsay. Uncle John hated me; you know that. We fought like cat and dog, and if I've been crying, it's not because I'm sorry that he is dead, but——" she could not control her voice any longer, and she turned sharply away.

Mr. Lindsay cleared his throat, and then for a moment there was a silence, which Wanda broke.

"What do you want to say to me?"

"Only that I have heard from Paul Collinge, and that he is on his way home."

She gave a short little laugh.

"You sent for him then?"

"Three weeks ago, and by his father's wish."

"I see. When will he be here?"

"I had a wireless from the ship just after she sailed. He should arrive in a day or two."

"Is that all? All you want to tell me, I mean?"

"Except that, of course, this will be your home for the present."

She looked up, her eyes angry.

"What do you mean—for the present?"

Lindsay looked uncomfortable.

"Well, there is a will, naturally, and until that is read——"

"When will it be read?" she interrupted.

"When Paul Collinge arrives."

"Oh, Paul!" Her lip curled contemptuously. "I am afraid he will be disappointed if he expects to receive anything. Uncle John disliked me, I know; but he preferred me to his son."

Lindsay looked at her steadily.

"At any rate, the will is not to be read till he arrives."

"That is for you to say, of course," she said, with dignity.

Lindsay bowed and turned to the door.

"If there is anything I can do for you," he said tentatively.

"Nothing, thank you."

He bowed again and left the room.

II—WANDA IS REMORSEFUL.

"Abide with me, fast falls the eventide——" Over and over again the plaintive tune was borne to the dying ears of John Collinge. Then the bells were silent—and in the following silence he died.

He left behind him Wanda Griffin, his adopted daughter—as selfish and unpopular as he himself had been—and his son Paul, with whom he had quarrelled, and who was consequently abroad.

Wanda stood at the window and waired, and presently she saw him drive away. She was glad he had gone; she had never liked Bertram Lindsay; his honest eyes had always seemed to read her so well, and to understand just the passionate selfishness and waywardness of her heart.

She would certainly not allow him to administer the estate when she was its mistress, she decided; she could never understand why John Collinge had so implicitly trusted him.

She remembered afresh that John Collinge was dead, and with a humiliating sense of weakness she groped for a chair and dropped into it, closing her eyes.

Death! She had only seen it once before, and even now she could not realize that she had heard John Collinge's bullying voice for the last time, that she would never again hear the heavy, masterful tread about the house, the tread before which everyone except herself had flown in fear.

Strange that she had never been afraid of him! She could remember their first meeting when, as a child of eleven, she had first looked into his steely eyes.

There had been romance in the adoption of Wanda Griffin by John Collinge. She had been the daughter of a jockey who had once unsuccessfully ridden for Collinge, and who at a later date had broken his neck steeplechasing.

John Collinge had been present at the time, and when the man lay dying on a hurdle and hurriedly covered him with coats, they had brought Wanda to him to kiss him good-bye.

It had been a pathetic scene, for the child had loved her father and had clung to him passionately, weeping when she realized the tragedy that had befallen her, refusing to be taken away.

It was John Collinge who had at last forcibly lifted her up, and she had turned upon him like a young fury, hammering him with her fists and screaming out invectives like a street gamin.

"Damn it, she's got pluck!" Collinge had laughed, as he held her fast, and when later he heard that she was left penniless and alone he had, for some strange whim of his own, adopted her.

For three years he kept her at a boarding school, not once visiting her, and it was only after his bitter quarrel with his only son that he had thought of her existence.

He went himself to Brighton to fetch her away from the expensive school where she had been shockingly spoilt on account of her allowance, and he took her to live at Grey Chumley with him.

He had no affection for her, and it was entirely with the idea of spiting his son that he brought her there and made a will in her favor.

In many ways, she and John Collinge were temperamentally alike.

They were both headstrong, passionate, and selfish to a degree, though, whereas the man was incapable of real affection for anyone, Wanda was warm-hearted, and would have made a fine woman if anyone had troubled to take her in hand while she was still youug enough.

She was twenty-two when John Collinge died, and for her arrogance and intolerance she was hated by the people in the village and the servants in the house, as much as he had been.

"A beauty right enough, but a damned bad un," so old Laws, the most popular man in the village, rightly said of her.

Of her beauty there was no question. Slim and upright as a young poplar tree, with the suppleness of a boy and the grace of a water reed, wherever she went she was the centre of attraction.

Where she got her beauty from it was difficult to say, for her father had been undersized and insignificant, and very little was known of her mother. But Wanda's eyes were magnificent—brown and passionate, and she had the little straight nose of an aristocrat and a firm mouth and chin.

It was over her hair that she and John Collinge had had their last quarrel for, influenced by the prevailing fashion, Wanda had sacrificed it by having it bobbed, and Collinge had been furious.

At first a trifling disagreement, it had led to bitter words and mutual recrimination, culminating in a passionate quarrel which had only ended with death.

And Wanda thought of it now as she sat in the big lonely drawing-room, and for the first time in her spoilt life she knew the meaning of remorse.

It was too late to apologize, even in the half-hearted way which was all she could ever bring herself to do.

The man who had made her position in the world and who had ruined her disposition was lying upstairs with folded hands and a grim, secretive smile about his hard mouth.

And Wanda flung her head down on her arms and cried; tears of which she was angrily ashamed soaked the sleeves of her thin frock and left her sore and uncomforted.

"I wish I had been kinder to him—I wish I had." That was the thought in her heart, but she would sooner have died than admit it.

LIGHTSHIP MEN LOVE THEIR FLOATING HOMES

Despite the Isolation and the Roughness of Anchorage at Sea They Become Restless When Kept Long Ashore.

When the Fire Island lightship was damaged by collision with an erratic scow recently, her skipper turned the craft to the one place where repairs are to be had in such an emergency—the United States Lighthouse Service Station at St. George, S.I.

It is no new thing for lightships to come in for repairs. One would think that these permanently anchored and most conspicuous objects on the sea would be free from the dangers of collision, but as a matter of fact they are in a more dangerous position than a ship that is free, as absolute dependence must be placed on the watchfulness and skill of the "other fellow."

Not so long ago the Ambrose lightship received what almost proved to be its death blow; the colliding craft in this case also was one of the scows that are constantly putting out of New York Harbor. But for the fact that the sea was calm, the lightship would never have reached the dock at St. George. Lightship men generally have a superstition that if they are ever actually sent to the bottom it will not be under the prow of some great transatlantic liner, but because of an inglorious death blow received from one of the clumsy, unromantic, but necessary craft that carry away New York's wastage.

When their floating homes are laid up for repairs of one sort or another is about the only chance the crews on the lightships have of getting acquainted with life ashore. For months at a stretch the crews of the lightships pitch and toss on the restless waters outside of New York Harbor. "Join the lightship service and see the world" will never be borrowed from the familiar slogan of the navy, for these men must stay anchored in one spot. On account of this permanent anchorage their ships are much more subject to the tossing of the waves than a free ship would be. Consequently a man in the lightship service has to be double-proof against seasickness. So rough is the handling these ships are subject to that it is virtually impossible to keep pets aboard. The mascots which thrive so well on battleships, which craft, comparatively stable on account of their great weight, would soon sicken and die on a lightship. The "outside men" in the lighthouse service must depend for their amusement on such inanimate things as phonographs and the radio. Yet, in spite of these peculiar features of the life, which would go against the grain of lightship service are restless when they the average individual, the men in the are not anchored at their post of duty. Often when they get two or three days' shore leave, following a trip to the St. George station, they drift back to the ships after one day in the big town across the water. Many find nothing in New York to hold them for the full term of their shore leave, and sit around the dock uneasily until the ship puts out to sea again.

Must Be Something of a Scientist

The men get a chance at openings at the land service, such as taking care of lighthouses. But some of them stick to the lightships through preference. One has to be something of a scientist as well as a seaman to make good in the service, because a lightship is equipped with all sorts of signaling and warning devices, with which every man aboard must be familiar. Besides powerful lights, these ships have radio, fog signals and submarine bells.

The lightship men must not only keep watch and ward for the ordinary traffic of the sea, but often they are called upon to save small craft that are driven out of New York Harbor. Perhaps a motor boat, with a fishing party aboard, has had its machinery put out of commission. More than once aviators have descended in forced landings and have been rescued by the lightships near New York. During the war, when the German submarine menace was at its height, the lightships were in a peculiarly exposed position, and the waiting game at the outer edge of the harbor was something calculated to try the stoutest of nerves.

Repairing these lightships, with their costly and complicated equipment, is something that calls for the service of experts. Some of the lens makers and repairers have been working for the Government for years. So, also, have some of the men whose duty it is to bring in and repair the buoys of all descriptions, more than a thousand of which are planted in the waters adjacent to New York City. Those which carry lights fall under the general heads of intermittent, group flashing, occulting and group occulting. There are air sirens and reed horns and bells that are sounded by the action of the sea, or by human agency.

There is complicated machinery in many of these buoys. Yet so well protected is this machinery from the elements that a buoy, under average conditions of service, will work without attention for fourteen months. If the action of the waves were all the service had to contend with, the matter of repair work would be compartively simple. But buoys are being run down constantly by all sorts of craft.

When a buoy is reported as damaged, a tender is sent out from the service station and the silenced monster is hoisted aboard and brought in for repairs. This sounds simple, but hoisting in a buoy that weighs several tons is no small job, particularly if there is a rough sea and it is Winter weather Under such conditions a buoy thrashes around as if it were very much alive and very angry, and the men on the tender would be risking their lives if they did not know so well how to handle these giants. Besides the repair work there are regular jobs of repainting. There is nothing more destructive to paint than salt water. So painting is always going on at the St. George docks.

It is only by constant vigilance, down to the smallest detail, that the United States Lighthouse Service, which guards some 43,000 miles of coast line in all, is able to do its job.

FABLES ON HEALTH

BEDTIME HOURS.

Mr. Mann of Anytown soon found out that everyone or pretty nearly everyone has upon his hands a tough problem in getting the child to bed at a certain time.

The child will if he can get away with it try to stay up as long as his elders. And if encouraged this can become a dangerous and unhealthful habit. Don't encourage it in the first place.

Some resort to "get-to-bed" games. But the more efficient get the child in the habit of wanting to go to bed.

Children can be trained to go to sleep as soon as they go to bed. Disturbed sleep courts troublesome children.

Try and have a dark and reasonably quiet bedroom. Also the child should be made acquainted with house noises so that tip-toed walking and talking in reasonable tone of voice will not disturb it. Such normal noises should not disturb the healthy sleep of the child.

Try to avoid exciting play and romping before the child retires. This will leave the child too excited for sleep oftimes. Also parents now know that rocking and lullaby singing are not necessary.

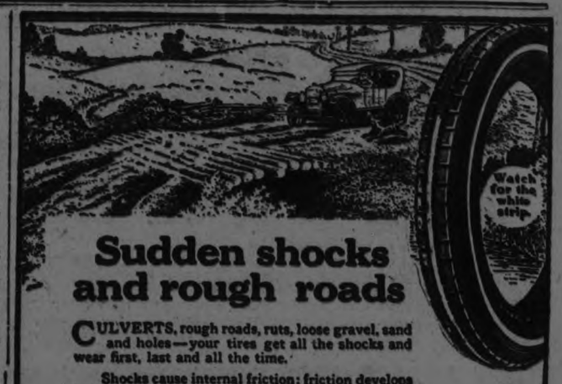
Don't resort to any artificial means if it is possible.

The healthy child will want to sleep and will enjoy it. Any tricks or devices merely get the child into other habits. AVOID THEM.

BACK.

Originally in our country the only purpose of taxation was to raise money to pay expenses of government.

In effect, taxation is beginning to have a secondary function: The redistribution of giant fortunes back to the public. The rich, naturally, don't "fawncy" it.



Sudden shocks and rough roads

CULVERTS, rough roads, ruts, loose gravel, sand and holes—your tires get all the shocks and wear first, last and all the time.

Shocks cause internal friction; friction develops heat and heat is the enemy of tire durability.

In Dominion Royal Cord and U-cord Tires, built exclusively in Canada by the Web Cord process, internal friction and heat caused by cross threads, are now eliminated.

Sprayed Rubber used in the walls and treads of Dominion Cord Tires gives the greatest elasticity, strength and resilience to the tire.

When you equip your car with Dominion Royal Cord or U-cord Tires you will have tires which will give greatest mileage under the punishment of rough roads.

These new, exclusive improvements in Dominion Cord Tires add nothing to your tire costs—they are added values for your money.

FINE PLEATS.

The dress that is composed entirely of fine pleats is no novelty, but the coat so treated is, and for that reason it is being rushed at the present time.

EVENING WRAPS.

Shimmering tissues beaded with rhinestones or colored beads are employed for the most gorgeous of summer evening wraps.

BROWN PUMPS

Brown pumps are very fashionable now, particularly in suede or in satin. The colonial or one-strap model is most desired.

VANITY.

Copper ornaments that were made between 6500 and 9000 years ago are dug up near Ur, city of ancient Babylonia. Made thousands of years before King Tut was born, these copper ornaments are among the earliest works of art. They express the infancy of the creative spirit that exists in every man, from the time he plays with blocks as a boy until he finishes his life's work.

The Babylonian copper objects represent men and oxen. In addition to being art, they were intended as a history of accomplishment—main motive of which is vaity.

TRAFFIC JAMS ARE COSTLY.

Traffic congestion on Manhattan Island of New York, it is estimated, costs the city and its industries $500,000 a day, and the cost of congestion in the Metropolitan area of New York and its environs is estimated at $1,000.000 daily.

This compares with a $200,000 daily loss in Chicago, $100,000 in Cincinnati and $35,000 in Worcester, Mass.

Death In Cosmetics No Help For Humans From Monkey Glands

CHICAGO, Ill., June 14.—(United Press).—If American girls want to be prettty and healthy they must shun rouge, lip-sticks and mascaro on their eye-lashes, declares Dr. H. N. Cole, Cleveland, to the American Medical Association here today.

That bit of advice was not the only woeful matter discussed at the radical convention today. "Monkey Gland" rejuvenation is a myth, like the fairy-tale fountain of youth, according to Dr. Clarence A. McWilliams, prominent New York surgeon.

"The use of cosmetics has become, unfortunately, more and more common,' Dr. Cole said. "What was once considered poor form has now become the mode with women. Most women paint, all women use powders of different types. The average woman uses at least some of the long list of cosmetics. Yet many of these women are unaware of the danger they are running by such habits."

Dr. Cole outlined the dangers.

"In the first place there is the pure mechanical obstruction by creams, powders and rouges used on the face. The pores in our skin were intended by nature to serve as lubricating and excretory ducts. If these are constantly closed off, it will injure any skin."

Lead in Cosmetics

"The most common offender in cosmetics is lead," he said. "It causes the well-known lead poisoning. This diseases result in swelling and inflamation of the affected parts. It brings severe internal pains, intoxication, and sometimes death. And there are many more harmful materials in the various popular cosmetics."

Not even the husband who dutifully rubs tonics into his hair to please his wife is safe, according to the doctor. The tonic may contain carbolic acid, he said, citing a case in which hair tonic containing carbolic acid caused a long illness.

"The American Medical Association reports that in their analysis of bleaches and freckle lotions they have found bichloride of mercury in solution as high as 1 to 200 and 28.2 to 1,000," he said.

The amounts of money American women spend on cosmetics are enormous, according to the doctor.

"In 1919 American women spent $205,000,000 in the useless and often harmful quest for beauty via the cosmetic path,' he pointed out. "In 1921 manufacturers put out $75,000,000 more of cosmetics than they did in 1919."

And grandpas are likely to get in trouble if they dye their whiskers, he added.

Decries Monkey Glands

Rejuvenation by monkey glands, or by any other kind of glands was officially branded as a myth by Dr. McWilliams.

He cited numerous instances in which such operations were tried and declared that the uniform result was disappearance of the grafted tissues.

"With all these isolated, multiple failures, a surgeon should not waste time or energy with organ grafts taken from another individual. Even between animals of the same species there are unknown differences that prevent the survival of the transplanted arteries."

Reported successes were ascribed to the fact that often the grafted organs "seemed to take." But they suddenly disappear, in a few weeks at most, he said.

"With it a hideous deformity may be transformed into a scarcely noticeable disfigurement," he declared.

The "secrets" of school girls and the wrestling bouts of little boys cause the spread of serious epidemics, Dr. William F. Resner, assistant commissioner of public health, Minneapolis, told the physicians.

"If two boys want to talk, they run to each other, and when only a foot apart, shout into each other's faces," he explained. "Girls of grammar school age have their arms around each other and their faces in close contact more often than otherwise. The girls tell their secrets in close-up whispers. And so the germs spread. Parents should teach their children at an early age to avoid the breath of others, as they would avoid a hot stove, or anything else that might kill them."

Work Saves Life.

Discussing methods of resuscitating persons seriouly shocked by electricity, Wills MacLachlan,, of the National Electric Light Association, Toronto, Ont., told the physicians of lives saved after three and one-halfs hours of artificial respiration.

"A rescuer shouldn't give up in such a case until he's worked at least four hours," he advised.

How ethylene gas, the new anaesthetic "which surpasess both ether and 'laughing gas' for surgical use" was found to be practical for man was told by Dr. Arno B. Luckhardt, Rush Medical college, Chicago. Dr. Luckhardt is credited with the research which led fifteen months ago to the use of ethylene in leading American and foreign hospitals. He found it poisoned carnations, but it worked successfully on the frog, the guinea pig, the dog, and finally on man.

"THEY ARE WEARING"—

Flannel suits are making their appearance in increasing numbers. The compose suits of flannel, posing a three-quarter coat over a straightline dress of matching fabric, is also seen. White fur collars of coney are frequently utilized, although the dyed pelts are much in evidence.

Several knitted costumes have been noted, an unusual model showing an elaborate use of leather appliques in collar, cuff and hip borders. Scroll embroideries in effective patterns trimmed a two-toned suit of brown and tan in mohair and fibre.

Red leather made an effective piping on a pale grey and white suit with scarf collar, also outlined in red, which was repeated in the close fitting straw hat.

A tan homespun suit was lined with a rose and tan striped woollen fabric, which also formed the notched collar and cuffs.

A striking topcoat followed the cape mode with an abbreviated capelet in tan and rose checked homespun combined with a straightline coat of solid rose.

Of the three-quarter order was a double rever coat designed in a sports fabric of broken plaid combining tan, orange and powder blue.

In the same theme was a striking coat of tan homespun lined with a Scotch plaid, which appeared again in the double rever facings.

Among the sports costumes seen at Long Island resorts, peach, yellow and red shades are said to be favored in a variety of knitted and woven sports textures.

Knitted costumes are said to be favored in white with trimmings, introducing a bright color note.

Jersey and kashaare said to be the favorite fabrics for sports frocks worn at French resorts.

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

By SISTER MARY

One cup clam broth, 4 tablespoons creamed spinach on toast with 1 poached egg, 4 button radishes, 6 ounces of fish in piquant sauce, 4 tablespoons beet greens ½ cup shredded cabbage 2 tablespoons pineapple ice, 2 macaroons, 1 pint skimmed milk, 3 toasted bread sticks, 1 whole wheat roll, 2 crisp pieces gluten toast.

The breakfast planned for this day is a hot skimmed milk and toast breakfast. If your calorie allowance is less than 1100 it's much better to begin your day with even as light a breakfast as this than to go foodless until noon.

Fish in Piquant Sauce.

Three pounds firm large fish, ¾ cup vinegar, 1 tablespoon minced onion, 2 tablespoon minced green pepper, 4 whole cloves, ½ teaspoon peppercorns, ¼ teaspoon celery seed, ½ teaspoon whole mustard seed, 2 tablespoons brown sugar, 1 teaspoon salt.

Choose any sort of large firm-fleshed fish. Cut in "chunky" pieces and drop in boiling salted water. Reduce heat and let simmer until the flesh flakes away from the bone, about 10 minutes. Drain and remove bone and skin. Tie cloves, celery seed, mustard seed and peppercorns in a small cheese-cloth bag. Add onion, pepper, sugar and spices to vinegar and bring to the boiling point. Cover and let stand without boiling for 10 minutes. Put pieces of fish in a casserole and pour over vinegar with spices removed. Cover casserole and put in a hot oven for 20 minutes. Serve from casserole.

Six ounces orange juice, 1 cup boiled rice with 3 steamed and chopped figs, 1 teaspoon sugar, ½ cup cream, 3 slices French toast, 1 tablespoon butter, 3 tablespoons maple syrup, 1 cup clam broth, 4 tablespoons creamed spinach on buttered toast with 1 poached egg, 4 button radishes, 2 peanut butter sandwiches, 6 ounces fish in piquant sauce, 2 heaping tablsepoons mashed potatoes, 4 tablespoons beet greens with 1 tablespoon orange butter, ½ cup shredded cabbage with 2 tablespoons cream dressing, 2 cheese dreams, 4 tablespoons pineapple ice with 2 tablespoons whipped cream, 4 macaroons, 1 toasted bran muffin, 3 toasted and buttered bread sticks, 1 whole wheat roll, 2 2-inch squares johnny cake, 3 tablespoons butter, 1 pint whole milk.

Plenty of eggs should be used for the batter of the French toast.

Season the mashed potatoes with cream instead of milk and lots of butter for the gaining diet.

You will like the "cheese dreams" with the cabbage salad. They are nothing but cheese sandwiches toasted in a very hot oven.

The toasted bran muffin is suggested for breakfast. It is only food served requiring much effort to eat. One food needing real "chewing" should be included in every meal.

The figs can be well washed and cooked with the rice or steamed separately and added when the rice is half cooked.

The cream sauce for the spinach for this diet should be made of cream or rich milk with plenty of butter.

I am 80 years of age and always keep them in the house, and when I feel any symptoms of my old trouble coming on all I have to do is to take a few doses. With the help of your Pills I expect to see many years yet. I always recommend them to any one who is suffering from heart trouble."

SIMPLE RADIO SET RANKED WITH BEST

By ISRAEL KLEIN.

If you hanker for distance, ease of control, selectivity and strength of reception, yet find it hard to buy the parts for a super-heterodyne or similar set, look over the little receiver to be described here.

It's just a simple regenerative circuit, with two stages of amplification. But it is so constructed as to reduce capacity losses to a minimum. It is non-radiating because of the untuned antenna circuit. It has only two controls and its construction is simple.

The parts for the set, excluding tubes, batteries, phones and loud speaker, should cost no more than $25, an may even be brought down to $20.

Here they are:

L1, L2 and L3, antenna, secondary and tickler coils.

C1, 23-plate variable condenser, .0005 mfd.

C2, grid leak, 1.5 megohms, and condenser, .0002 mfd.

R2, 6-ohm rheostat.

Three tube sockets, an open circuit jack, nine binding posts, bus wire for connections, a univernier dial for the condenser and a quarter-inch rod 8 inches long, complete the list of parts. The panel can be 7 by 13 inches.

Arrangement

The two binding posts for antenna and ground are mounted on a 3 by 3-inch panel in back left of the base, which may be 7 by 12 inches. The seven binding posts for A, B, and C battery connections are mounted on a panel, 6 by 2½ inches at the right side of the base.

The feature of this set is the coils and the low-loss condenser. The univernier control keeps the condenser finely tuned.

The antenna and secondary coil are actually one. It is basket-wound around 14 pegs on a 3½-inch circle, skipping every two pegs, as shown in the diagram. No. 18 or 20 wire is use, the heavier the wire, the lower the loss.

How to Wind

First wind 40 turns, then tap for ground, and complete the coil with six more turns, running this end to the antenna post, and the beginning of the coil to the grid. The grid side of the soil should face the tickler, which consists of 20 turns of the same wire, in the same direction with one end to the plate and the other to the high radio transformer.

The tickler is mounted on a hinged support, and the primary and secondary on a permanent support even with the tickler. The 8-inch rod is run through from the front to the rear panel and a hook arrangement soldered on so that a turn of the dial in front moves the tickler on the hinge, varying the inductance.

The coils may be kept intact by shoemaker's twine. The wiring should be as short and direct as possible, yet neatness need not be sacrificed for this.

The tubes for this set consist of one UV200 and two UV201-A amplifiers. A C-battery is shunted across the filament posts of the two transformers and the negative side of the filament.

NELLIE M'CLUNG ON THE LIQUOR SALE

Conditions Worse Than Under Old Bar.

Mrs. McClung, well known in Ontario as a lecturer and authoress, has been living in British Columbia, and has this to say of its much vaunted Government sale law:

"The liquor interests, even with all thir money, can never win a victory over the forces of intelligence and morality, if only the people know the truth about that vague thing called Government Control.

"Here in B. C. there is no 'control' about it. The Government acts as the distributors for the brewers and distillers. As one of the police commissions of this city (Victoria) puts it—The Government's policy is to alcoholize the people for profit. It is a policy of saturation, rather than control.

"In Government reports the business is called 'good,' when the sales are large. One member of the Liquor Control Board is advocating the dotting of this city with liquor stores, kept open all night. He says: 'Now that we are in the booze business, we might as well get in good and plenty; for that is the only way to compete with the bootlegger.' Bootleggers under Government control! Yes, indeed. According to the B. C. press, that is 'the Bootlegger's Paradise.' Hundreds of places in Vancouver sell liquor, openly and flagrantly, in defiance of the law."

"I have no hesitation in saying that Government control, as seen here, is worse than the old bar system. Dozens of people in Vancouver have told me they would welcome the return of the bar, in preference to what they have, and they give as reasons:

(1) "The women would not frequent the bars as they do the Government liquor stores.

(2) It would be easy to get convictions against the men who violate the law under a private sale system; for the Government would have no reason for sheltering them.

(3) There would be no more arrests for drunkenness. No business wants to penalize its own customers. The Government being the liquor seller, the town constable finds the dual capacity confusing.

"In brief—this new liquor system has not lowered the taxes. Vancouver citizens spend $8 on liquor, in order to get $1 back.

"It has not saved the homes. I hear weird and terrible tales of home drinking.

"It has not decreased the drug evil.

"Hand in hand with violations of the Drink Act, go violations of the Narcotic Drug Act—until our people can be aroused to the danger, the Anglo-Saxon race is doomed."

Let every Ontario woman spread the information she gathers amongst her friends. There are no neutrals in this war. One must be for, or against.

SIBERIA.

Gold—enough to give $100,000 apiece to 60,000 people—lies unmined in Siberia, waiting to be taken out of the ground. Six billion dollars is the total value. This is the estimate of American mining engineers who have been looking the country over.

And yet this gold is only a shadow of Siberia's greater natural resources—fabulous amounts of coal and oil, metal and farming soil that grows everything from tobacco and cotton to grapes and watermelons.

This treasure is at Japan's elbow. She knows it. Watch.

MACDONALD FAILS TO SOLVE GREAT ENGLISH PROBLEM

No Indication Exists That Labor Party Will be Successful at Next Election.

By J. W. T. MASON

NEW YORK, June 14.—(United Press).—The British Labor Government has failed to improve the position of labor and has demonstrated that it cannot make any unique contribution to national well-being by using methods of the older parties.

Only the adoption of socialism in the forms of government ownership and a capital levy on property can the laborites justify themselves in the future and to carry out so radical a program they must wait until they have obtained a clear majority in parliament.

No indication exists that the Labor Party will be successful at the next general election, which is now not far off. The MacDonald ministry has gained no prestige with its own follower in the country; but, on the contrary has created an impression that the responsibilities of office have tended to make the ministers more conservative than they can justify.

Unemployment the Issue.

There has been very little decline in unemployment under the Labor Government. The ministry has failed to find any new solution to this problem which is the most pressing confronting Great Britain. The older parties long ago reached the conclusion that the only solution is in the increase of foreign trade, which in turn depends on settlement of international troubles all around. Great Britain cannot compel such a settlement and so unemployment continues. The Laborites have had to accept this finding as their own, and have been no more successful in international adjustments than were their predecessors.

Especially the Labor Governments' negotiations with Russia have been disappointing. The communists in Moscow are not in sympathy with the British minstry, holding the Laborites to be traitors to the cause of the workingman, because they do not advocate the communistic cause as it is understood in Russia. The negotiations in London have hinged over the ability of Russia to raise a loan in the British money market British financiers are reluctant to offer money to Russia without adequate guarantees which have not been forthcoming. So, the hopes of the MacDonald ministry that trade could be reopened on a large scale with Russia and that unemployment would fall have not been realized.

The Labor Government has had to retire from several of its advanced positions, tentatively taken to test the resistance of the conservative and liberal opposition. Especially has this happened in the case of the proposal of Labor that no unemployed workingman shall be forced to vacate his house, however long his rent has been in arrears.

State Housing Aid.

This effort to make the landlord give house rent free has been abandoned and in its stead a new plan for erection of inexpensive houses with state aid has been adopted.

The most serious criticism of the Labor Government has not come from the conservative and liberal opposition, but from the radicals within the ranks of Labor. Especially severe has been the attitude toward the MacDonaldites of the Clyde group. The bitterness engendered in this quarter has been due to the inability of the Labor ministry to improve the housing conditions in Glasgow, where Clyde workers live in slums as bad as any in Europe.

The course steered by the Laborites between Clyde radicals and the middle class liberals and conservatives has been too placid to be pleasant for the workers. Criticism is being raised that there are too many intellectualists in the labor movement, with only an impersonal interest in reform.

It is probable that the result of the MacDonald ministry's experiments will be to dump the intellectuals overboard and get down to real principles of reform with workingmen in full charge. This will probably mean losing the next election; but winning the one to follow after.

GOOD THINGS TRAVEL

Chatham Inventor's Idea Now Being Tried Out in Peterborough.

Something new in a battery recharging service is now in operation at 547 Water Street, where Mr. H. Massey-Cooke has established a Broadfoot re-charging station. This remarkable outfit is the outcome of the invention of J. D. Broadfoot of Chatham, where the original station has been in operation for some months. The surprising thing about this re-charger is that a battery is fully charged in 30 to 40 minutes, if in good condition. That means that one can drive up and have their battery re-charged "while they wait." It is not even necessary to take the battery out of the car, this service charges it while in its place in the car as well as any other place. Radio owners, who find their batteries low, can pick it up, take it to this station, and in half an hour be back with their radio set again in good receiving condition.

OMEMEE CORRESPONDENCE

OMEMEE, June 13.—The price of bread took a drop of two cents per large loaf on Monday last, at the local bake shop and the retail price is now 16c. Mr. T. E. MacPherson, who purchased a new truck recently for quick delivery is now broadening out on his territory, making a daily trip to Lindsay, where he is supply several stores.

Mr. Ira Rehill has had the hay-pressers this week and succeeded in pressing several loads for shipment. The price is $15.00 per ton.

While the showers of Wednesday were passing around on either side, Omemee was enjoying the sunshine most of the time, and only in the evening did a slight shower fall, much to the disappointment of many as a rain is needed to promote growth.

Motorists through Omemee on the highway are being inconvenienced by the detour just west of the village where a new bridge is being put in and the road widened. The detour road is anything but good so the highway when re-opened will be appreciated.

The regular monthly meeting of the Women's Guild of the Anglican Church was held at the home of Mrs. George Fee on Tuesday afternoon. A large number of women were present, Mrs. Fee having invited the members of the Women's Auxiliary as guests.

At the business session it was decided to hold a Garden Party on Friday, June 27th. After the meeing Mrs Fee served tea on the lawn and a very pleasant time was enjoyed by all.

Mr. Morgan is an old Omemee boy and received a hearty welcome to his home town as was shown by the large audience present.

Before commencing his lecture Mr. Morgan related a number of incidents in his early boyhood days in Omemee, which were recalled by some of his hearers. The pictures dealt with the country lives and conditions of the people, the missionary's home, hospitals, etc., and lastly the work of the people—both male and female— all of which were explained by the speaker and thoroughly enjoyed.

"We've a story to tell to the Nations," was thrown on the screen and all joined heartily in the closing hymn after which the pastor, Rev. E. W. Rowland spoke a few word of gratitude to his old school chum.

THIEVERY EVIDENCE FACES BOY KILLERS

Leopold's Stolen Typewriter Brings Out Looting in Ann Arbor Frat.

CHICAGO, June 14—Nathan Leopold, Jr., and Richard Loeb may have gone in for petty thievery before they took up kidnaping, according to evidence that came to light today.

The typewriter on which they wrote the ransom letter in the Franks case was stolen from the Zeta Beta Tau fraternity house at the University of Michigan one night last fall, along with a handful of fountain pens, three watches and $100. Loeb is a member of Zeta Beta Tau. Both he and Leopold were in Ann Arbor at the time.

Pierce Bitker of Ann Arbor, original owner of the typewriter, told today how it was stolen from the fraternity house on the night after the Michigan-Marine corps football game last fall. He doesn't remember that Loeb was around at the time, but 'Dickie' was in Ann Arbor all last fall, and he and Leopold had the run of the Zeta Beta Tau house.

Loeb Sings in Cell.

Loeb and Leopold were back at the routine of jail life today, after the excitement of their arraignment yesterday. They seemed to have shaken off the gloom that fell on them after their confessions. Fellow prisoners told today how Loeb sang while getting a shave in the jail barber shop yesterday just before his appearance in court.

Aug. 4 was set as the date of the trial by Judge Caverly in spite of the protests of State's Attorney Crowe, who demanded an earlier date when the boys were formally arraigned yesterday.

Preliminary motions are to be disposed of July 21. At this time Attorneys Clarence S. Darrow and Benjamin Bachrach, for the defense, may ask a later date than Aug. 4 they said. The feel that a month or six weeks is not enough to prepare their case.

Defense Gets Alienist Adviser

Dr. James Whitney Hall, well-known local alienist, is to accept a novel position on the defense—that of "insanity expert"—it was reported today. Mr. Darrow and Mr. Bachrach are in need of a medical adviser to help them over some of the neuroses and psychoses in the case.

The grand jury was busy all day yesterday hearing testimony concerning the possible insanity of the boys. In order to forestall the insanity plea the state is putting on record every available person who saw or talked to either Loeb or Leopold near the time of the crime.

Yesterday was Loeb's nineteenth birthday. It was also the day when Leopold had planned to sail for Europe.

Sons Of Mexican Enemies Dwell Peacefully In American School

MEXICO CITY, June 14 (Associated Press). — Throughout the greater part of the recent revolution, the American School in Mexico City was a real neutral zone, for scions of many of the opposing political figures attended classes there in complete harmony.

Among them were sons of President Obregon, Adolfo de la Huerta, the revolutionary leader; Alberto Pani, secretary of the treasury; Aaron Saenz, foreign minister; General Francisco Serrano, secretary for war; and Dr. Jose Vasconcelos, the minister of public instruction.

Scotch Home Rule Will Be Discussed

By CLARENCE DUBOSE

LONDON, June 14.— (United Press).—"Oh, well, Scotland must have its little joke," most Englishmen say when the Scottish Home Rule Bill is mentioned.

"It takes the English a long time to realize that the Scotch always get what they go after—however much they have to wait for it," reply the Scottish supporters of the bill.

But the members of Parliament from Scotland are divided among themselves on the question, as are the people of Scotland. Quite a few Scottish members oppose the proposal and voted it recently when it was up in the House of Commons. The English do not take the Scotch home rule agitation very seriously, for the simple reason that many Scotsmen themselves oppose it.

Nevertheless the House of Commons has decided to set up a special committee to consider the proposals of Home Rule for Scotland and for Wales, and the Scottish members who support the bill insist that the fight will be maintained year in and year out until the object is accomplished.

Home Rule in Ireland was a thorn in the flesh of British government for a long time. Agitation for Indian Home Rule offers unending prospects for serious trouble. The South African situation may become difficult if the elements there who want a flat withdrawal of South Africa from the British Empire win in the elections June 17. The Scottish home rule question has not yet assumed such proportions.

PROHIBITION IN FINLAND

HELSINGFORS, June 14.—Several members of the Finnish Diet have jointly introduced a bill which, if adopted, would drastically revise the prohibition law which is alleged to have failed entirely in its purpose It is probable that the bill will be rejected, however, as the principle of prohibition is still officially adhered to by most of the political parties in spite of the measure's alleged disadvantages.

Plaintiff Allowed $40.

In the County Judge's Court here on Tuesday, before Judge Ward and a jury, judgment was given in favor of Wesley Jones, of Newcastle, a laborer, against Frank Bennett, Sr., farmer and teamster, for $240, less $200 wages that had been paid to the plaintiff, leaving a balance of $40, which he is to receive. W. F. Ward for plaintiff, D. B. Simpson, K.C., for the defendant.

This was the only civil action entered.

Fine Reduced to $200.

Judge Ward gave judgment on Friday in the appeal of Mr. Fred Bateman, brought by his counsel. Mr A. R. Willmott, against the decision of Magistrate W. H. Floyd, in giving him $1000 on a B.O.T.A. charge, accompanied by a jail sentence or three months, or six months if the fine be not paid.

By Judge Ward's judgment the fine is reduced to $200 and upon payment of this Mr. Bateman is to have his liberty at the end of three months.

The judge rules that in any event the defendant must pay the penalty of three months' imprisonment from the date of the conviction (May 13) for a second offence.

"It is urged," the judgment states, "that the defendant's family are in need of someone to look after his confectionery business, and that a moderate fine could be paid, and the defendant will in any event have to be imprisoned for the term of three months from the date of the conviction. Under these circumstances, and for these reasons, I reduce the fine to $200."

"I make no order as to the costs of the appeal."

TRACE JAZZ TO GERMANY

HEIDELBERG, Germany, June 14.—Jazz has become such a rage in Germany that musical students have been searching through the works of old masters with the hope of finding inspirations which might be modernized. They contend they have found traces of airs very suggestive of the jazz of to-day in some gypsy tunes of Robert Alexander Schurmann, one of Germany's best known composers of the old school.

CANADIAN CREDIT MEN IN SESSION

Delegates Claim That the Country is Over-Governed.

MONTREAL, Que., June 14.—(By Canadian Press).—Addressing the annual General Meeting of the Canadian Credit Men's Trust Association here last night, Thomas W. Learie, of Toronto, Dominion President of the association, announced that the year had successfully closed with a surplus of $6,676, bringing the accumulated Capital Surplus up to $69,981, with a contingency reserve of $65,474.

Turning to general business conditions, Mr. Learie asked the question: "Are we not too much governed? When business and our people had plenty of money and the nation was prosperous nobody objected—if anybody cared, but with a heavy war debt upon our shoulders, with stagnation of business everywhere, and with emigration more evident than immigration, is any good or necessary purpose served by having three sets of legislatures in the Maritime Provinces (New Brunswick and Nova Scotia having Upper and Lower Chambers) when the whole territory could be just as efficiently legislated for by one-fifth of the existing number of members? Is there any advantage to nation, or to business, or to the people resident in the Prairie Provinces in having three legislatures for the West when Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta could combine and save hundreds of thousands of dollars annually by the reduction of two-thirds the present number of representatives. I cannot see that 111 legislators are necessary to properly conduct the business of the Province of Ontario, of over 100 in Quebec, and nearly 50 in British Columbia.

"Not only are we over-governed, but practically every government in Canada today is over-staffed; with consequent loss to the nation at large. The burden of taxation is so heavy that it is actually grinding the life out of established business and it is preventing the creation of new businesses and the influx of new capital.

"Concommitant with the need for a lowered cost in government is the need for lowered taxation of our people, and if government costs could be lowered it is not an unfair guess to hazard that taxation could be lowered Positioned as we are alongside of the United States, it is important that as that country lowers is rate of income tax it is going to put Canada in a very difficult and unenviable position, and steps ought to be taken to so arrange our affairs that from time to time our income tax will be approximated upon the same basis as that of the country to the south of us. Every advantage is a factor today in respect of immigration, and the country with the lower income tax has a tremendous start in the race irrespective of any other condition.

"As an observer of the trend of business in Canada, as well as of our country's agricultural development, I have been convinced that we should found our national policy upon the basis of Canada First. Unless we can ourselves develop our own resources to the maximum by attracting money and people here, and making it worth while for both to stay here, I fear that we will not go far in progress and that we will never make good the statement that the '20th century is Canada's.' It is well that there should be a strong feeling favorable to all units of the British Empire, but that feeling should be at all times and in all circumstances subservient to the policy of 'Canada First'. Some will say that such a policy is selfish, is narrow, that it is insular; I don't care what they call it—I know that it is the policy that in a couple of hundreds of years has made the United States the envy of nations and the equal of empires.

"In my judgment, and on behalf of our membership, I think it is right to say that we stand for a national policy that will adequately protect industry and enhance the investment of the agriculturalist. Those two things are not widely separated though many free trade advocates would endeavor to create that impression. If industry is adequately protected, it will develop, attract people, and increase the demand for products of the farm. Unprotected it will stagnate and wither and die, and the food supplier will do likewise. The standard of life and living in Canada is much higher than many of our foreign competitors, so that to offset their advantages of low wages and low standards some compensatory measure must be invoked.

"Another problem vital to the vast interests of Canada as a whole is the problem of our import and export transportation. In the past we have had a tendency to route our merchandise over foreign lines through foreign ports. In this country we have as fine harbors in Halifax, St. John, Montreal, Vancouver, Victoria, and Prince Rupert, as are to be found on the continent of North America. The action of the government in putting a premium on imports coming through Canadian ports was a well-advised piece of legislation. We do not think that Canadians wilfully ship over foreign routes through foreign ports, but it has been a source of great loss to this country, and a sound business policy would be well advised to route our imports and our exports through our home ports.

"In many of the provinces of the Dominion, there have been enacted minimum wage laws. While the principle upon which the minimum wage laws is based is fair and one which the great body of business men will support, at the same time it is obviously unfair that it should be put into operation in one province and not in another, or if enacted in that province not observed or made effective. To cite a situation: there are manufacturers located in the city of Ottawa, who are compelled to pay girls of a defined age in their employ not less than $12.00 to $12.50 a week—while manufacturers of similar lines can cross the Ottawa River and manufacture the same kind of merchandise under the protection of another province with wages from a third to a half lower. Now, I am not supporting the low wage principle; I am condemning the inequality in the law.

"It is perturbing to those who are giving any thought to the well-being of the country to mark the scandals which have lately been so evident in Canada public life and it represents a phase in our development that it neither creditable to the nation nor to the standard of morals which have been set up as desirable for our people."

FRENCH HOTELMEN WANT U. S. GUESTS

The French Hotel Syndicate Denies Report That Hotels Are Overflowing.

By MINOTT SAUNDERS

PARIS, June 14.—(United Press).—As host for the Olympiad, Paris is ready to receive her guests, and she has ample accomodation, entertainment and recreation to offer. The problem of lodgings for visitors during the rush season has been solved, according to officials, and there need be no apprehension that comfortable rooms will be unavailable.

Reports circulated in foreign countries, chiefly the United States, that Paris hotels are already overcrowded and that the city will be unable to handle its guests are flatly denied by the hotel syndicate. The French envisage anoter example of German propaganda against her. The Matin said:

"The agents of Germany have spread the reports that Paris hotels are so full that tourists are obliged to sleep in the parks and that, to meet this crisis, the Municipal Council has asked the War Ministry to construct wooden barracks in the street."

These reports are, of course, absurd, and the mere suggestion that barracks are proposed was ridiculed by C. Michaut, president of the hotel syndicate. Regarding the report that exorbitant prices would be charged, he said that nothing could be more false.

"Our Anglo-Saxon friends commit a grave error when they believe that we base our prices on the course of the pound and the dollar," he said. "Never has the exchange served as a basis for raising our prices. It is true that certain prices have been augumented, but this augmentation took place last November and December.

"It is necessary that our American friends take one thing into account that Paris hotels have enormous taxes to pay, and the municipal taxes have multiplied six-fold. Salaries of employes have doubled since last year, and that in one year the cost of livelihood of a person has augumented twenty-five percent. Expenses of general maintenance have increased from thirty to forty per cent since 1923.

"These are logical and equitable reasons for raising our prices, not in an exorbitant manner, but in a manner normal and mathematical. The increase, I repeat, came several months ago, and decidedly has not been made to 'skin' the American clientel.

As to the difficulty to find lodgings in the large hotels, it is nothing uncommon this year, it comes annually between May 13 and June 30, the period which constitutes for us the "full season."

"Paris has taken measures to lodge all her visitors this summer. A ministerial despatch has been sent to all French consulates abroad confirming this officially. Albert Cointet, director of the bureau of lodgings of the Olympic Committee, tells me that at the moment he has at his disposition more than 20,000 rooms in Paris, including 4,000 very beautiful rooms in fashionable apartments. The hotels of Paris have put at the disposition of the Olympic Committee a certain percentage of their accomodations upon which the Committee has first call.

"Say to our American friends that they can come to Paris in all confidence. They will not be 'skinned.' They will be cordially and conveniently welcomed, following the old traditions of the hospitality of France."

TOO WEAK TO WALK

THE SAD CONDITION OF A BRANDON LADY—HOW RELIEF CAME.

"I owe my present good health to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills," says Mrs. Annie Treherne, Brandon, Man., who tells of her new found health as follows. "Some years ago I had an attack of pneumonia and it left me in a terribly weakened and rundown state. I was unable to walk for a long time as I had practically lost the use of my legs, and had to be carried upstairs for I had not the strength to go myself. I became despondent over my condition for I had tried many remedies which failed to help me. While in this wretched condition a lady friend urged me to give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a trial and I procured a supply. After taking these pills for a while I could see that I was growing stronger, and I gladly continued their use until I had fully regained my old time health and strength. Now if I feel at all run down at any time I at once take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and they never fail me. I can therefore warmly recommend them to others who may be run down."

There is no better tonic than Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to improve the blood and bring back strength after acute diseases such as fevers, pneumonia, influenza, etc. Given a fair trial they will not disappoint you. You can get the pills from your druggist or they will be sent by mail at 50c a box by the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Treasures Of Humble Plants Unlocked By Negro Scientist

TUSKEGEE, Ala., June 14.—With magic touch Dr. George W. Carver, negro scientist who for the past 30 years has been a memebr of the faculty of the Tuskegee Normal and Industrial Institute here, has opened a treasure trove of nature, hidden for centuries.

Concealed under the guise of a sweet potato, a peanut and a pecan, nature had hidden a myriad of useful products, and these have been disclosed by Dr. Carver, who was born in a slave home on a Missouri farm.

The record of this scientist today stands: More than 100 commercial products from the sweet potato, 200 from the peanut, and more than 60 from the pecan.

Not stopping with that, Dr. Carver has transformed a lump of southern clayinto beautiful colors, one of which is the Egyptian blue, the secret of which was believed to have died and been lost to the world with the ancients of the Nile valley.

This worker with the soil also has been given a Fellowship in the Royal Society of Great Britain, and in 1923 was awarded the Spingard medal which each year is given to the man or woman of African descent and American citizenship who shall have made the highest achievement in any field of human endeavor.

CITY HALIFAX TO CELEBRATE

HISTORIC EVENT

HALIFAX, N.S., June 14.—(By Canadian Press).—A reproduction in pageant of the historic event on June 21, 1799, when Colonel Cornwallis brought his fleet of warships and transports into what became the present city of Halifax, is promised as one of the features of the Land and Aquatic carnival to be held here during the first two weeks of August of this year. The carnival will be one of varied attractions, according to the tentative program now in hand, and will mark the visit here of the British world cruising squadron of warships and the finish of an international yacht race from New York to Halifax.

While there will be some form of amusement to suit practically every visitor's taste, it is anticipated that the pageant of Cornwallis' landing will be one that will appeal to all.

Colonel ,the Honorable Edward Cornwallis, as history named him on that day 175 years ago, flying his flag from His Majestys' Ship, "Sphinx" and followed by thirteen tall wooden warships with such picturesque names as "Merry Jacks", "Fair Lady", and "Brotherhood," dropped anchor inside McNab's Island, it is believed the citadel city of Halifax. It was a huge fleet for that age and had breasted the summer swells of the Atlantic for long weary weeks. On board were soldiers and sailors and settlers with their families to the number of twenty five hundred.

History describes that June as "beautiful beyond description" and the promoters of the carnival are hoping that August will bring a similar benevolence from the weather man. A liberty of nearly two months is being taken with the anniversary dates in order to make the pageant coincide with the carnival but otherwise it is planned to make the landing as realistic as reasonably possible.

While it will not be practicable to reproduce the entire fleet, at least there will be a replica of the Sphinx for the pageant. Where the Sphinx dropped anchor 175 years ago is now the scene of piers of a monster and rather odorous oil works, a miniature city in itself. But it is likely that the landing will be made on some spot along the shores of Point Pleasant Park, where the densely wooded slopes must bear the nearest likeness to the primeval wilderness that greeted Cornwallis and his hardy men.

Clad in the picturesque trappings of 1749, the founder of Halifax will step ashore with his entourage and proceed to some one of the many glades that are to be found in the park, or possibly to the ground of Dalhousie University, and there will go through the pantomine of laying the foundation of what proved to be a mighty fortress in the troublous days when Britain's dominions were being established in America.

Indians and French will be present in costumes of the old days and the various stages of the city's growth from that time to the present will probably be represened in costume and pageant at the scene of the "founding."

Throughout the carnival the spirit of commemoration of the city's natal day will be emphasized in the various entertainments and it is likely that the replica of the Sphinx will play a prominent part in all aquatic events. There will be yacht races, military tattoos, regattas athletic displays horse races and many other events, coupled with the celebration of Dartmouth's natal day and the unveiling of "The Cross of Sacrifice," a striking memorial placed on the headlands of Point Pleasant Park to honor Nova Scotians who died at sea during the World War.

A committee is now at work selecting those who will impersonate the historic figures in the pageant, raising funds for staging the spectacle and engaging in research work, and if their plans are carried out they will turn back the pages of history nearly two centuries in most ambitious effort that has been attempted in this city in many years.

CURTAIN FALLS TWO MORE PUGS

Two Frenchmen Wind Up Their Careers in the Ring.

NEW YORK, June 14. — (United Press).—The ring careers of the two best fighters France has developed came virtually to an end within 48 hours.

Two days later, Eugene Criqui, gallant featherweight who lost his title in that division to Johnny Dundee here last year, foreswore the ring forever after a knockout at the hands of Danny Frush.

Carpentier may go on fighting; probably he will win some more bouts before he finally passes out of the picture. But his last chance for real ring fame ended when he took a bad beating from Gibbons on Decoration Day.

Poor Gene Criqui is definitely through. No one who saw the brave fight he put up against Dundee in New York, staggering, blinded, about the ring and refusing to quit, can help but sympathize with the stout-hearted little Frenchman when he says:

"I'm through. You won't see me getting knocked out from ring to ring. A better man beat me (this was after the Frush fight in Paris) and I've no excuse. No broken hands—no broken heart.

"I've had my day, been champion of the world. Now I'm not good enough any more. I'd have gone back to the United States and had another trial for the title if I'd beaten Frush, but I couldn't."

Thus passes Criqui, a fighting Frenchman. Gene was a real fighter, maimed in the world war so that his whole jaw was shot away. Surgeons patched him up, putting a sheep's bone in place of the little fighter's jaw.

Criqui returned to the ring, fought his way to the top, despite his wounds, came to this country in 1923 and won the world's featherweight title by knocking out Johnny Kilbane. Then came the match with Dundee. Instead of returning to France to gather in plaudits and francs as world's champion, Criqui consented to meet the Scotch-Wop a few weeks after the Kilbane fight. He received a terrible beating, from which he never recovered.

* * * *

Criqui was probably the best "little man" developed in France. He showed himself equal to the gamest of any class in any country when he lost to Dundee. And when he went down, in the 8th round, after another merciless beating by Frush, Criqui never complained. He did say that it was the beating he took from Dundee which cost him this, his last fight.

Carpentier's record was somewhat similar to that of Criqui, although the "Gorgeous Georges" was always more spectacular, and the American public doubted his sincerity and many questioned his gameness.

Georges was a fighter in the world war, and a "blesse," as the French call their wounded. He had been a boxer from the age of 12. After the world war, Carpentier knocked out Joe Beckett and other fair heavies in record time, and coming to this country worked himself up to a match with Champion Jack Dempsey. He lasted nearly four rounds, breaking his right hand on the champion's jaw with a blow that nearly won the fight in the second round.

There has been some question about this breaking of Georges' hand, but there need not be. In his dressing room, immediately after the fight, Carpentier's hand was examined by myself and other newspaper men. It was swollen and the thumb either fractured or dislocated, a hand that was practically useless for fighting purposes.

Carpentier was never as good after that Dempsey fight. He was badly whipped by the Senegalese boxer, Battling Siki, than whom a more second-rate boxer never lived. Georges again knocked out Beckett in a round, and as he was still a drawing card in this country, the Gibbons' match was smoked up.

Now that's over, and the American public is right in saying "Never again."

If Georges wants to fight men of his class in ordinary matches, O.K., but no more gates of nearly a million for a fighter who proves 90 per cent. orchid bathrobe and secret training, and 10 per cent. right-hand punch. His career as a headliner is over.

RADIO EXPERTS STUDY STATIC BY AUTOMATIC RECORDING DEVICE

Just Before Dawn Static Diminishes Rapidly, Reaching Minimum Intensity Shortly After Sunrise—Records Show Most of Static Originates in South-West.

Static interference is the big problem radio engineers have been trying to solve since the invention of wireless. Much time and energy have been spent developing static tanks, elminators an traps; but the results have been unsuccessful. Engineers are now devoting their attention to the study of static with the view of learning about its intensity variations from minute to minute, day to day and season to season, as well as the direction from which it comes to different stations and relating these to other solar and terrestrial phenomena. When the engineers have learned these things much will have been done toward minimizing static interference if not its elimination. It is only after such phenomena are thoroughly understood that intelligent steps can be taken to develop a static eliminator.

Such a study is being made and, though the results already obtained are still limited, they disclose some very interesting information. The radio engineers of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, who are making this study, have developed special apparatus which automatically trails static every minute of the day, recording its every move. These data, it is hoped, will yield the necessary information to solve the problem.

In the past such studies have been made by an observer listening to the static and by comparison or otherwise expressing its magnitude in some unit of measure. Inasmuch as continuous records are desirable and, furthermore, as human perception is not at all times reliable, such observations are now being made automatically, thereby eliminating the personal equation. The automatic recorder, developed by the telephone engineers, requires only occasional attention. For hours at a time this faithful device quietly and accurately writes out on long strips of paper the information desired.

Pen Records Static Intensity

The radio noise is picked up on a loop aerial and is passed into a radio-frequency amplifier. These amplified noise signals next pass through a thermocouple, where the energy is transformed into a continuous current capable of operating an ordinary recording galvanometer. The recording galvanometer does not differ essentially from an ordinary sensitive ammeter, except that, instead of a pointer passing over a scale, an inked pen makes dots on a strip of paper, which is moved under it by a clock mechanism. This device provides a record of static intensity hour by hour and day by day for months or leven years at a time.

In order that the deflection on the record may be interpreted quantitatively it is necessary to obtain a known quantitative value which will correspond to a given deflection on the recorder. This is accomplished by introducing into the loop a comparison signal from a local oscillator of the same frequency as the noise component being recorded and measuring this input and recording the corresponding output. In order to make the records as free from error as possible, the engineers made this calibration automatic.

To accomplish this a motor operated by the recording mechanism at certain periods performs in a definite, prearranged schedule the several duties ordinarily done by an observer. By means of a rotary switch it closes the filament circuit of the local signal input oscillator, decreases the amplification, connects the galvanometer so that for three minutes it records the value of the local signal, and connects galvanometer back into normal position and measures the amplifier output. At the same time the motor slowly operates a variable condenser so as to change the frequency of the local oscillator, thereby insuring at some time that the local signal is exactly in tune with the loop. The record of this part of the calibration appears as a resonance curve on a chart under the heading of "output." It next short-circuits the input of the amplifier until a record of the zero correction of the galvanometer is made. This is indicated on the record as "set noise." Then the connections are restored to their original state, the motor stops and static recording is resumed.

Characteristics of Static

Some interesting characteristics of static have been observed. For instance, in the record for July 10, 1923, static was observed to be quite constant in its average intensity during the early hours of the morning, but just before daybreak it diminished rapidly, reaching a minimum shortly after sunrise.

This change in static occurs every morning regularly at sunrise and does not depend upon weather conditions. With the receiving loop placed in the east and west direction this change is most pronounced and probably the reason for this is the fact that some rather sudden change in transmission occurs between dark and daylight. As the earth revolves on its axis the sun is shining on one side, while the other is in complete darkness. This gives rise to a shadow wall that separates day and night.6 For radio waves and static this shadow wall appears to act as a giant reflector or refractor.

Apparently most of the static received on the eastern coast of the United States originates in the southwest, and as the shadow wall passes the station it appears to reflect or refract the static waves from the southwest and acts as a shield, greatly reducing their intensity.

Records thus far taken tell very little about the real origin of static, but they do give very interesting results regarding its magnitude, and from what localities it seems to come. Though these studies may not lead to a definite elimination of static they will provide information of static they will provide information as to the power required to maintain service through different hours of the day and different periods of the year.

The Food Value of Milk

Milk is an ideal food for all ages—not just a pleasant drink or food merely for children. It is liquid meat, sugar and fat, with mineral salts and life-giving vitamines added.

Milk is a complete food for the sustenance of the human body. The food elements in milk are present in such form that they are more digestible and more easily assimilated than the same food elements in other forms of food products.

A quart of our Pasteurized Milk contains the same "energy" value as 8 eggs, or 2 pounds of potatoes, or ¾ of a pound of lean beef.

Our Pasteurized Milk is SAFE milk—Clarified and clean—and keeps better in summer weather.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

By Olive Roberts Barton

MR. CROW HEARS FINE NEWS

His wife met him at the door.

"I don't care whether it's honest or not," declared Mister Crow sourly, "but just as soon as Farmer Jones' corn is up, I'm going to take my wife and children to the cornfield on a picnic and eat all the nice juicy young sprouts of corn I can hold. And I'm going to tell them to eat all they can hold, too. So now there!"

"Shame on you, Mister Crow," said Mister Bags, the fairy storekeeper. "Why, pickles and porcupines!, If all the birds felt the same as you do, there wouldn't be any corn left to grow up at all. And there wouldn't be any nice roasting ears next fall for the children to eat. And worst of all, there wouldn't be any corn to get dry and store away, so that the horses and cows and chickens and pigs and turkeys won't starve to death next winter."

"Humph! What do I care!" cried Mister Crow. "You sound exactly like a lecture, Mister Bags, and I don't like lectures. And the cows and chickens may as well starve as me."

"But you won't starve. There are lots and lots of things for you to eat, Mister Crow," said Nancy.

"You sound just like a lecture, too!" declared the big black bird. "And I didn't come in to be lectured. I came in to find out if Farmer Jones has bought his seed corn yet for planting."

"Yes, he has," snapped Mister Bags. "And if you take any of it, I hope the scarecrow gets after you."

"Ha, ha ha!" laughed Mister Crow, now in a very good humor because he'd found out what he came for.

"The scarecrow isn't anything but some old sticks dressed up and that old gun he carries isn't worth a beanshooter. It's only a stick, too. I'm a wise old crow, I am. You can't fool me. Ha, ha, ha!"

And he stumbled out of the door, still crying ha, ha, ha (which sounded like caw, caw, caw) and nearly knocked over Cutie Cottontail who had come in to buy a bag of candy.

"Oh, get out of my way," exclaimed Mister Crow, shoving him rudely. "Where are your manners?"

You can't blame Cutie for making a face at him behind his back, for the bad manners were all Mister Crow's—nobody else's in the world.

More good news awaited Mister Crow upon his arrival home. His wife met him at the door with the words, "What do you think, Christopher? Today as I was sitting on a fence beside the corn field, I thought I saw something green sticking up out of the mud. So I flew down and tasted it—and what do you s'pose it was! Corn! It's starting to sprout all over the field. By tomorrow it will be up as plain as day and we can take the children and have a picnic. I ate quite a few grains which came up easily, and they were the most delicious things I ever put into my mouth."

"Hooray!" cried Mister Crow, flapping his black wings and grinning until he nearly put his beak out of joint. "I'm going over this minute! It's not dark yet, and maybe I can get a bite or two. I'm nearly starved!"

Away he flew.

Painting Time

The brush brigade is busy and the paint is flyin' fast; the things around the house are lookin' bright. The parents in the household are the leaders of the cast that is puttin' on the show both day and night.

A grassy green is dwindling as a paint pot stands at ease while father dips the brush in perfect rhyme. He's touching up some wicker chairs, while ou his hands and knees, preparing for good old summer time.

And mother spreads some varnish till her bones are aching sore. She takes her time, for things must be just so. She brightens up the surface of the spacious hardwood floor. She soon will have the floor space all aglow.

Then little Jane and Willie, who are only in their teens, have begged to help their parents, goodness knows. And so we find them splashing blots of black upon the screens and also blots of black upon their clothes.

Yes, painting time is with us and it's quite the proper style to don your oldest clothes and join the fun. For fun you'll really make it if you'll work away and smile and know you'll have things brighter when you're done.

THE SCOTCH HAZARD.

Pat O'Malley and Robert Frazer, get much enjoyment out of telling stories at each other's expense.

O'Malley took the lead when he related a story about a Scotch friend who, after playing golf for more than thirty years, had given it up abruptly and completely.

"Why?" was Frazer's innocent query.

"Because he lost the ball," replied Pat.

RADIO HELPS THE MOTHER OF CHILD

Radio is taking the child off mother's lap and putting it to sleep with a bedtime story.

Throughout the country men and women, who love children and devote most of their time to entertainment and development of the youngsters, are being featured in the programs of the broadcasting stations.

Practically every station has its children's hour some time between 6 and 8 in the evening, when the little boy or girl is tired and cross and sleepy and the journey into dreamland is begun with a short fantastic tale.

Of these, some have won special fame among the little ones, through the men and women who have been broadcasting their bedtime stories.

Weekly Entertainer.

There is Georgene Faulkner of Chicago, the famous "story lady" of books, magazines, chautauquas and phonograph records. Now she has won fame as the story lady of radio. From WMAQ, Chicago, Miss Faulkner entertains boys and girls from 7 to 7.30 every Wednesday evening.

Peggy Albion of WRC, Washington, is another favorite. Her knowledge and love of children comes from her kindergaretn training. Besides telling of the adventures of Peter Rabbit, she encourages the children to write stories and poetry and the best are read on the air each week.

Children of the south never fail to tune in on WSB, Atlanta, when they know Bonnie Barnhardt is to begin Bonnie's Bedtime Corner with a story.

"Man in Moon."

One of the most famous men telling children bedtime stories by radio is the "Man in the Moon" or WOR, Newark, N.J. He is William F. B. McNeary, who has the moon gazing down upon his little listeners and hangs bright stars over the homes of the good children.

Uncle Wip of station WIP, Philadelphia, is another popular children's entertainer. He is Chris Graham in real life. He meets the children every Saturday morning at the studio with lollipops for all.

Other noted bedtime story tellers are Louise Seaman, the storybook lady of WJZ, New York; Jerry Wyman, who is Uncle Kaybee at WCAE, Pittsburg, and Walter Wilson, who is Uncle Bob at KYW, Chicago.

CHICAGO SLEUTHS ACCUSED BY PROFESSOR OF CRUELTY

Tie Man Up First—Caution First Essential Of Chicago Detective.

CHICAGO, June 14.—Walter L. Wilson, instructor in mathematics in the Harvard school, will file suit against the police department for heavy damages. He was submitted to the "goldfish degree" to induce him to confess he committed the Franks murder.

Lieutenant Michael Grady and his squad of four detectives are named as the torturers. Grady and his men are now under suspension on the charge of guarding the bootleggers in the theft of 8,000 cases of whisky from the Sibley warehouse. This is known as the $1,000,000 forged permit steal. Charles Wharton, attorney for Wilson, said:

"We are going after Lieutenant Michael Grady and his squad just as a matter of course. The detective bureau is notorious for its methods of assault and battery, and Mr. Wilson's suit probably will not change things much. But if he needs my advice he is going to file charge anyway.

"He was beaten with a rubber hose until it was a torture for him to breathe. Of course during this time he was bound. Caution is the first essential of a successful detective work.

"Twice he was assaulted by a lieutenant in person. But that also was done in perfectly regular detective bureau manner. Two policemen held the prisoner while another knocked him down with his fist. The point was, you see, to argue Mr. Wilson into confessing that he had kidnapped and killed Robert Franks. He persisted in saying that he hadn't done any such thing and it seems he was right about it.

"This happened at the Wabash avenue station instead of in the privacy of the 'goldfish room' at the detective bureau. That was a slight error, occasioned by the steadfast conviction of the police that they did not have to look further for a confession, but there were plenty of witness to the operation—quite a few of them civilians.

"The third degree was not what brought Mr. Wilson and his associate, Mott Kirk Mitchell, to the point of saying 'Yes' to a few more or less vile charges made by the strong-arm squad. It was conversation.

"The two prisoners got little or no sleep—that, too, is hardly worth mentioning. During the 18 or more hours of their inquisition at the police station the 'goldfish operators' would tell them stories about the horror of hanging.

"One of the favorite yarns was about how Carl Wanderer had gone to his death singing 'Pal of Mine.' They repeated that four or five times and then went around the room singing and whistling "Pal of Mine."

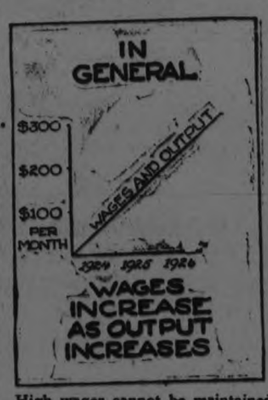
"And that seems to be a perfectly legal process. Mental torture may hurt a high-strung sensitive man more than a beating with a rubber hose, but that is due to the circumstances of his birth and training over which, obviously the police have no control."

IRISH EDGINGS.

Irish edgings, novelty buttons and ribbon are the most effective trimmings for lingerie frocks.

MAKING MONEY MAKE MONEY

Brief but Important Lessons in Finance, Markets, Stocks, Bonds and Investments.



High wages cannot be maintained unless there is a corresponding increase in output.

"Money at Work' has previously pointed out that real wages are not money; they are what can be purchased with that money, such as food clothing, shelter and luxuries.

If a man gets a higher wage in money without increasing his output, or whatever he produces for exchange, one of two things will happen. Either he is taking more than is share of the world's production, so that some one else goes without, or prices of all goods will rise, which would wipe out his wage increase.

In either case his raise cannot be maintained. It is not always easy to see how this economic law applies to each man, because the labor of the world is so divided and complicated in its relation to itself. However, when the results of all labor are viewed in one composite mass, the truth of this economic law is apparent. The only way for mankind to maintain a higher scale of wages is to produce more goods.

AUTO INDUSTRY IS LARGE USER OF THE FOREST

Millions of Feet of Canadian Lumber Goes Into Cars Each Year.

Next to agriculture, lumber is Canada's largest primary industry. As lumber furnishes the raw material for so many industries it is difficult to estimate the extent to which it effects national life and industry.

The pulp and paper industry represents a capital investment of over four hundred million dollars and the value of its exports each year amount to over one hundred million. Most of the pulpwood and paper that is exported goes to the United States, and if it were not for the Canadian products our neighbors across the line might find themselves without their morning and evening newspapers.

Important to Life.

The contribution of the lumber industry to the total of Canadian exports is great, but its importance to national life is even greater in the finished form of paper alone. Paper boxes and cartons are used in enormous quantities, particularly since "package goods" have become more popular than the old-fashioned "bulk goods" in food products. Then there is the lumber industry proper, wood products and by-products, furniture, etc.

The automobile industry is also a user of lumber to a much greater extent than is generally known. Canadian Government reports say that one million dollars worth was used annually by the manufacturer of motor cars in 1922, but that is a small proportion of the total amount used in construction of the bodies of passenger cars, trucks and trailers. There is a large consumption of lumber in the manufacture of wheels, chiefly hickory.

Variety of Woods.

One of Canada's small body manufacturing plants uses oak, maple, birch, elm, gum wood and yellow pine. For crating stock it uses hemlock, and spruce. Its total consumption is about five hundred thousand feet annually and it is just one of the many similar plants. The total used in that way amounts to millions of feet each year.

HOLE

The search for wealth continues never-endingly and takes strange forms. Now men seeking riches are going deeper into the earth and ever before. The supply of natural gas is swiftly dwindling. So a hole two miles deep, in hopes of gas at a new low level is being drilled near Terra Allta., W. Va.

A wildcatting oil well at Carnarvon, South Africa, has reached a depth of nearly a mile. Far away, in the San Juan Del Ray mine in Brazil, miners work 6726 feet underground.

We would be a race of Socrateses if we were a hundredth as industrious for knowledge as for riches.

A LITTE OF EVERTHING

MUSIC.

Nothing is lasting. Change is eternal and constant. The greatest mountain every second becomes smaller as rain washes it away to the sea. And the sea, in turn, is slowly filling up.

Just when a man thinks he has achieved something, he finds the forces of disintegration attacking him. Phonograph makers built up a giant industry, sold two and a quarter million machines and 107 million records in 1920. They felt secure.

Then came the radio craze. It has put half of the phonograph makers out of business, fewer than 100 surviving. The two industries are joining hands. What wil come along and crowd radio to the corner? Something, that's inevitable.

CHEAPER.

Edison put the incandescent electric light on the market in 1879. Four years later, rates became uniform at 20 cents a kilowatt hour. The price to-day for small consumers, averages eight cents—or less than half what it originally was.

The same is true of thousands of other articles. When people say cost of living has doubled, they refer to food, clothing, rent and other basic items. Ingenuity in manufacturing has lowered more other prices than any of us realize. Can't compare our cost of living with grandpa's, for he didn't have a hundredth of the things we use and consider indispensable.

HAT.

Cork hats are on the market. Lighter than straw. Easily cleaned. Shape themselves to the head.

Maybe you've noticed the increas number of articles made of rock. Behold the cork industry ingeniously turning its talents to new fields to compensate for business lost through prohibition.

An industry never admits failure. It merely shifts its tactics in another direction. So should individuals, foiled.

READING.

Heaven help us, several colleges have installed courses teaching book agents how to ply their trade. Fortunately, they specialize at selling from behind the counter in stores.

And that job requires education. More so steadily, say speakers at a convention of book dealers. They find people are "thinking more," increasingly buying volumes on serious subjects. And movies and radio have stimulated book sales instead of curtailing them as many once expected.

STEEL.

We still live in the Age of Steel. And this country of our last year made over three-fifths of the world's pig iron, from which steel is manufactured.

In one recent month Americans made almost as much pig iron as in the entire year 1881.

Pride in country begins with knowledge of its strength and power. In iron and steel, at least, we're more important than all the rest of the world combined.

FUTURE.

A bottle holds just so many drinks. The ground contains just so much iron ore, copper, coal, oil, gas and soil fertility.

We're using up these natural resources fast. They exist in such gigantic quantities that it'll be a thousand years or more before they're exhausted. But humanity has many thousands of years to live. Problem of making a living will become increasingly difficult.

BRAZIL.

Nothing will ever take the place of iron. The nation that dominates the iron and steel industry dominates the world. That's true now. It will continue so.

Our country is producing 62 per cent of the world's iron output, according to latest figures. That means we're exhausting our iron mines fast And we have, underground, only 20 per cent of the world's iron ore. The leader is Brazil, with 23 per cent. Watch her—destined to be one of the five greatest world powers, along with America, China, Australia and Russia.

HER EXPLANATION.

Teacher—I am greatly dissatisfied with your son. He couldn't tell me the date of the death of Louis XIV.

Mother—Well, you see, we don't ever read the newspapers.—Journal Amusant (Paris).

GEORGE H. MILLEN, EIGHTY-FIVE YEARS OLD, LOOKS AHEAD ON LIFE

Floyd S. Chalmers, in the Financial Post.

First, the mill workers get to their jobs at the big Eddy plant in Hull. A few minutes later the president arrives. The hour of 7.15 each morning sees him walking briskly through the plants. He talks to a workman here, orders an improvement there. He gets a keen grasp of every detail and sees that the ordered machinery of organization runs smoothly. He has been all through the plant and is sitting at his desk looking after his mail before the first of the office staff arrives.

That is the way George H. Millen starts a day's work at 85. There must be some magic fountain of youth concealed about old Chaudiere Falls. Perhaps the long sought elixir of life is nothing more than the mist of the Ottawa River. Two of the youngest old men in Canada work side by side below the Falls. John R. Booth, close to a hundred, bustles around putting his nose into every nook and corner of the big sawmill he built there. George H. Millen, his bosom pal, is not many years behind him, and he has no intention of quitting yet.

They Are Both Young.

J. R. Booth has a birthday every April—in fact, he has had a great many of them. Mr. Millen has a birthday every October. Last October Booth was not in Hull, but he wrote Mr. Millen a letter of congratulations from the woods up the Ottawa. Scrawled out in his own handwriting (for he never has used a typewriter and does not intend to start now), Mr. Booth's message read something like this: "I am having the time of my life. There is a steam dredge here deepening the channel and I am bossing the job." Mr. Millen wrote Mr. Booth a letter of congratulation this April, and the sum and substance of it was this: "I am still as young as I used to be."

Millen came to Canada in 1866. He told me the other day, "I have been here ever since." He came from Glen Falls, New York, which was one of the earliest pulp and paper towns in the States. He had been trained as a millwright and was working in one of the mills at Glen Falls.

Eddy Came Before Him.

Ezra Butler Eddy had come to Canada ten or twelve years before, and had started his general store at Ottawa with a little match factory alongside it. He intended to expand a bit and he rented a sawmill from the Wrights—who owned about all of Hull—and then he hunted around for a man to run the mill. He sent for Millen to come.

Millen wrote back offering to come for $3 a day—payable in gold. He had had plenty of experience with American greenbacks, which were selling at about 50 cents on the dollar, and he made up his mind to get real money for his work. Eddy wrote back that he would not pay any such sum; there wasn't a millwright in Canada who was getting $3 a day. But after he sent the letter Eddy thought better of the offer. He followed it up with a telegram asking Millen to come at his own price.

Millen packed up his bag and came to Hull. He started in virtually as Eddy's partner—together he and E. B. Eddy built up the big paper and match factory of the company at Hull.

He First Meets Eddy.

When Millen arrived in Hull he was directed to Eddy's store. He walked in and found the proprietor quarreling with a clerk. The air was a sulphurous as some of the matches that Eddy made. It was a rather unpromising impression that Millen got of the great pioneer. But when Eddy came out of the word-laden atmosphere to negotiate terms on the front porch Millen saw him in a different light. He struck the bargain right away that made his life work the building up of the Eddy business.

Eddy's business was pretty small then. He was making about 30 cases of matches a day. It was laborious work. The sticks for the matches had to be cut by hand and dipped the same way. The machinery available for any of the processes of manufacture was meagre in its extent. The women of Hull used to come to the mill to get jobs to do at home. They would carve the match sticks at night and bring in big bed ticks full of splints. Other women would get little pieces of rough paper which they would fold around a stock of wood and paste together to make a rough little container for the matches. At the mill the matches would be dipped in sulphur and put into the little wooden paper boxes.

Fifty Years Old Matches.

Someone ran across one of Eddy's first box of matches in an old shack near the Mattawa River not long ago. Mr. Millen showed it to me and struck one of the matches:

"These matches are over 50 years old," he told me. I found it hard to believe it when I saw the match strike up a clear flame. I tried to blow it out, but could not succeed. It was a sulphur match. Sulphur matches are not made much nowadays. They have been replaced by the more modern match.

It is an interesting sidelight in this connection that the Canadian Pacific Railways has never come around to wax matches. It makes the mills turn out sulphur matches expressly for its purpose. The chief reason for its liking for sulphur matches is the fact that the sulphur match does not burn out very easily. It burns steadily in a high wind.

Under Eddy and Millen and the late William H. Rowley, who was Eddy's first successor as president, the mills grew and grew. The development was steady. While the present position is rather striking, there was never anything phenomenal in the rate of growth. It was just a case of a pioneer in the field, turning out a good product and pushing its sales consistently. Expansion came in the natural course of things.

In a few years the company was incorporated. Millen became a director. A few years ago he became president and general manager. He was 77 when he took on the title—pardon me, not the title but the job. For George Millen is president and general manager of the E. B. Eddy Company in every sense of the word. Eddy himself was gone—he died in 1906—but there was almost as much Millen to the company as there was Eddy. The original policies of the founder were carried on.

Today the company under George H. Millen manufactures 120,000,000 matches a day, in addition to newsprint paper, tissue papers, wrapping papers, book and writing papers, towels, and a host of other things. Up to a few weeks ago the company made indurated fibreware, a sort of papier mache line of buckets, washboards, etc., when the line became unprofitable it was dropped. Eddy's motto in business was "It must be made to pay," and it is Millen's motto today.

A Mechanical Genius.

Millen is somewhat of a mechanical genius. He invented a number of match-making machines at one time, but these have been superseded by more modern inventions. He is keen and alert; rather broad in his attitude toward his employes, and eternally insistent upon a good product and honest selling. He has worked long hours and worked steadily, and tried to make other people see the advantage of doing the same thing. But he has used the method of setting an example rather than of coercion to bring his associates and workers around to his ideas, and has never grown impatient.

He is stubborn in some things, such as maintaining the company's products on a high plane of equality regardless of costs or competition. This factor alone is responsible for his success and the company's success to a greater degree than any other one thing.

He has also the quality of fairness. Millen was born in that corner of the United States that has turned out many Yankee traders. He has a good deal of Yankee shrewdness about him. But it never carries him around a sharp corner. No one puts it over George Millen; George Millen never puts anything over on anyone else—except in a fair, square battle of wits.

There was a man who made a contract to supply Eddy's with certain goods. The contract wasn't put in writing. "It's all right, your word is good enough for us," said Millen. There came along difficult conditions, and the man could not fulfil his contract except at great loss to himself. He told Millen the circumstances. "If that's the situation, we won't hold you to your contract," said Millen.

Another time a friend of the company came to Millen and advised against continuing the clause in the Eddy contract with its retailers that prevented the latter from selling any matches but Eddy's.

"That is no longer fair," said he adviser. "You have the merchants in your power, but you ought to abolish that system."

"We'll do whatever is right," said Millen. He stopped the exclusive representation plan. Truth to tell, Eddy's didn't lose. They sold more matches than ever to the same retailers.

In these last few paragraphs is told about all there is to Mr. Millen's success. I asked him for his philosophy of life and it was as simple and direct as the man himself.

He said: "Go to bed early; don't eat too much and work hard all day."

Always on the Job.

He works hard not only all day but every day. In the many years he has been associated with E. B. Eddy or running the Eddy plant he has never been away from business more than two weeks. He has never crossed the water and only took one long journey anywhere. Many years ago he crossed Canada and came home via the United States. He was away four weeks, but he was selling Eddy's goods nearly all the time.

He has no intention of retiring. He gets too much fun out of business There is something refreshing in Mr. Millen's attitude toward life. I asked him, "Have you given up many of your former activities?"

"Not YET," he replied.

"You've never gone in for directorates; never done much outside of this business," I suggested.

"No, not YET."

"What are your recreations? Have you ever taken up golf?"

"No, I haven't played golf, YET."

His insistence on that word "yet" indicated that Mr. Millen does not consider anything outside the realm of possibility for him. He looks ahead on life just as naturally as the average man past 60 looks back on it.

Hi Narrow Escapes.

Perhaps it is due to the fact that J. R. Booth is leading the way for him. Perhaps it is because he has come so near death and missed. He fought in the United States Civil War and a bullet grazed his skull. At Hull, he fell down the Devil's Hole, a black mysterious whirlpool near the mill, and was fished out alive. A horse and wagon once fell in the hole and no one ever saw either again.

Millen runs with the times. Just now he is busy rebuilding the big Eddy plants. In his office he has an aeroplane photograph of the works, set in a box with a lamp behind that he switches on or off when he wants to show a visitor the mill at a glance. He motors enthusiastically. And, after all, why shouldn't he keep up to the minute when by his own words he is "just as young as he used to be."

A THOUGHT

THINK TWICE.

What you think, you are. What you think you are, you may not be.

That little comma after the first "think" is a mighty important mark in the meaning of the above paragraph and should make any man think twice.

—The Silent Partner.

It is impossible to do a great piece of work unless one can form an image of it in advance, unless one can see it as it will finally appear. If one were limited in vision to the detail actually in hand, the whole would never be completed; that which makes the perfection of the whole possible is the ability of the worker to keep that whole before him while he deals with the detached parts. Without that power the worker is a mechanical drudge, whose work has no quality save that of dogged fidelity to the task.

LITTLE ANNOYANCE MORE SELECTIVITY

The Single Circuit Tuner Need Not Be Discharged Just Because It Annoys Your Neighbors.

By ISRAEL KLEIN.

The simple single circuit tuner need not be discarded just because it lacks selectivity and annoys your neighbors.

Both these difficulties can be corrected. First, by converting the tuner into a three-circuit set. Second, by making a slight change in the inductance.

Introduce an untuned antenna inductance and the matter of reradiation is practically eliminated. Tap the middle of your vario-coupler stator and you furnish yourself with a better range for DX stations.

This has been done with the simple receiver shown here. The set originally was a single circuit tuner, having an ordinary vario-coupler with 80 turns on the stator and about half that number on the rotor.

What was done was to take the aerial off the stator entirely and add a small antenna inductance of 15 turns of the same wire, about No. 22, close to the grid side of the stator—which now becomes the secondary inductance.

Untuned Antenna.

This antenna coil is wound on a cylinder slightly smaller in diameter than the stator. It is then slid off, connected between aerial and ground, and placed on the grid side, just within the stator coil. It can be held in place by tape.

The tickler, or rotor, is connected between the plate and phones, while the stator, now the secondary, is joined to the stator plates of the variable condenser.

The other ends of the stator, consisting of a tap at the 40th winding and one at the last of 80th winding, are run to two switch taps controlling the selectivity of the circuit.

For short wave lengths and greater selectivity, the centre tap will be found beneficial.

Otherwise the circuit is the same as any simple single circuit tuner. To it may be added two stages of audio frequency for listening in on the loud speaker.

For Builders.

For those who want to buit this set, the following parts are suggested:

Variocoupler, with antenna inductance, as described, consisting of 80 turns of No. 22 DCC wire, with a tap on the 40th turn, for the stator, and 40 turns of the same wire for tfhe rotor

Grid conderser, .00025 md, and leak, 2 megohms.

Rheostat, 6 ohms.

Switch lever, two switch taps and two switch stops.

Four binding posts, four length bus wire, and panel about 7 by 10 inches.

The B battery for this circuit can be of 22½ volts. The tube should be a UV-200, or a C-300. Dry cell tubes may also be used successfully on this set.

SLOW MINDS BEST FOR GOLF SUCCESS

Ohio Professional Argues That High-Geared Mental Works Destroy Concentration.

A MOOT QUESTION

BY JOE WILLIAMS.

Arthur Boggs, well-known Ohio professional, advances the unique theory that a high keyed-up mentality is a handicap in golf. It is Boggs' contention that an active, imaginative mind cannot be persuaded to simple concentration as easily as a slow, stolid mind, and for that reason is not conducive to uniformly brilliant golf.

Boggs' idea is base on the popular thought that uninterrupted concentration is the most important phase of golf success. Broadly interpreted his implication seems to be that only the dumbbells reach championship heights.

If you have been struggling for years to break 90 you may find the Boggs theory consoling. You are, perhaps, mentally too good for the darned game.

But let's see how the "slow, stolid mind" sizeup applies to some of the champions. Bobby Jones is the open champion of America and the best stroke player in the world. If Jones, graudate of Harvard, is a dumbbell Heifetz is a weight thrower.

Max Marston, amateur champion, is the exact opposite of the "slow" stolid mental type. His temperamental outbursts and manifestations of nervous energy at Flossmoor last summer clearly indicated a highly keyed-up mentality.

And Edith Cummings, the women's champion fits into the same classification, what with her aggressive fighting spirit, and eternal eagerness to be up and at 'em.

In these instances a natural golfing instinct probably offsets the handicap, if any, of a high-voltage imagination.

As a matter of fact, there have been few championship instances to the contrary. Vardon and Hagen, among the professionals, and Gulford among the amateurs, might be listed as golfers with placid, unruffled minds, easily adaptable, in their entirety, to the all importance of a single golf match.

Theirs is the type which can comfortably dismiss all extraneous subjects from thought—the type of which Boggs is pleased to call the ideal golfing mind.

LONG STATEMENT ON CHURCH UNON

Methodist Conference Resolved to Petition Dominion Parliament to Delete Duff Amendments.

TORONTO, June 14.—(Canadian Press).—Signed by D. J. Fraser, D. Murray and J. W. MacNamara on behalf of the Federal Executive of the Presbyterian Church Association, a lengthy statement on Church Union was handed to the press last evening. The statement reviews what has been done in Parliament on the question, contends that the amendments that have been made were just and that a vote by the majority of the Presbyterian members of the committees is an indication of sentiment of lay members of the Church. "If union proceeding is lawful," it is stated, "then its promoters ought not to fear scrutiny of law courts." The recent vote of the General Assembly at Owen Sound, it is contended, "does little to indicate the will of the Presbyterian Church."

Without a dissenting vote, and with all the members standing, the Toronto Methodist Conference yesterday afternoon resolved to petition the Dominion Parliament to delete the Duff amendment to the Church Union Bill, which would delay the final passage of the measure, and by so doing, hasten the final consummation of Church Union.

A RECITAL

Senior piano pupils of Miss Pearl Burford assisted by Miss Olive Haig, soprano soloist, pupil of Miss Florence Scott, gave a charming recital of music in the hall of the Conservatory of Music, last evening, with a good attendance.

The pupils played very well, showing the result of Miss Burford's careful, artistic training. Their interpretation of difficult music was exceptionally good. Two grand pianos occupied the stage, Miss Burford, in a lovely gown of cream lace and gold tissue, taking part in the final number with Miss Olga Fowler, playing Mendelssohn's Concerto in G minor, first movement. This composition was originally written for the organ, and its arrangement for the pianoforte was brilliantly executed by Miss Burford and her pupil.

The playing of Miss Margaret Widdess was well received. Her rendition of five of the Chopin Preludes was an exacting number, and a degree of poetic rendition marked the "Spozalizio" of Liszt, the musical composition for the piano which depicts the mystic espousals of the Virgin Mary and was written by Liszt from Raphael's masterpiece. A third selection by Miss Widdess was Sauer's "Murmure de Vent."

Other numbers in the programme, excellently rendered ,were D'Albert's Allemande, Gavotte and Musette, played by Miss Mary Harstone, who also played Nollet's "Elegie in C Sharp Minor," Chopin's Nocturne in F Minor and the Waltz in D flat, by the same composer; Lichner's "Pink," by Miss Thelma Strong, and several difficult well-played selections by Mis Olga Fowler, whose numbers included Sibelius' "Romance," and four numbers from the Peer Gynt Suite by Greig, "Morning" "Death of Ase," "Anitra's Dance," and "In the Hall of the Mountain King."

Miss Fowler also played "Le Minstrel," by Debussy, and Mendelssohn Concerto with Miss Pearl Burford.

Miss Olive Haig sang very prettily, her clear soprano being heard to advantage in Geehl's "My World," Landon Ronald's "When Butterflies Return," Chaminade's "Pourquoi?" and Sanderson's "When Swallows Fly Low."

THE GRENFELL LABRADOR MISSION HELD EXHIBIT

The Grenfell Labrador Mission yesterday held their regular annual exhibit of the contents of the bale which the members collect during the year and send to the Harrington Hospital in the Canadian Labrador. The exhibit was held as usual in the commodious quarters above Grafton & Company's store, and there was a good attendance during the afternoon when the goods were on view and afternoon tea was served.

The articles collected by the ladies made a splendid display. They included quantities of wearing apparel for men, women and children. An exceptionally large number of very good coats were noticed, and there was a large supply of fine new underwear. Nine pairs of grey socks knitted by a blind lady who annually does this good turn for the Mission, were on view, also many knitted garments, in caps, jerseys and sweaters. Shoes and hats were not forgotten and there were quilts and underwear for the children, with some of the little "Gertrude" petticoats for small girls, and a lot of fine new babies' wear.

The grocery shower showed a good deal of serviceable things received, and there were some heavy things for men, including a reinforced warm suit for a sailor, with padded coat and good cloth in the outfit.

In one corner were twenty five pairs of trousers for boys, that only lacked sweaters to make them excellent suits.

Anyone having sweaters on hand could do no better than donate them to fill out the need in this section. The trousers are of good quality and sweaters to finish them off would be very acceptable.

A quantity of fine new linen also rounded out a very satisfactory bale.

Afternoon tea was served to those attending. The big centre table and the little individual ones were decorated with a profusion of lilacs, provided by Mrs. S. D. Carver, who with Mrs. R. J. Devey and Mrs. F. M. Somerville, acted as assistants.

Tea was poured by Mrs. W. E. Conway.

Ladies in charge of the bale were the president, Mrs. W. R. Morris, Mrs. J. Trussler and Mrs. J. P. Cunningham.

WELLAND CANAL BEING EXAMINED

Herbert Hoover Secretary of Commerce in U.S. and 25 Members of Waterways Commission Are Doing Inspection Work.

ST. CATHARINES, June 14. — (Canadian Press).—The Welland Ship Canal, the first link in the proposed deep water highway from the Great Lakes to the sea, is being inspected by Herbert Hoover, Secretary of Commerce in the United States Government, and twenty-five members of the United States section of the Waterways Commission. At that portion of the work from the mountain to Lake Ontario is being visited. Complete amazement was expressed by the American chief of the twin concrete lakes at Thorold similar to Gatun Locks of Panama, but possessing many unique details of constructions. These locks are built to pass two boats at a time, one up and one down, and are 800 feet in length, 80 feet wide and with a lift of 47 feet.

After the inspection of the twin lakes and surrounding construction, the party boarded an observation train.

RUMOR OF MURDER.

Police Investigate the Story From the Quebec Hinterland.

OTTAWA, June 14.—(Canadian Press.)—Rumours of the murder of a man in the Quebec hinterland having reached the Provincial authorities, Coroner Dr. Joseph Isabelle, of Hull, accompanied by Dr. Wilfrid Derome, provincial medico-analyst, has, on instructions of the Attorney-General's Department, left to conduct an investigation and determine the circumstances of the death.

The scene of the alleged murder is about 175 miles north of Manitwaki in the northern extremity of Hull county, near the border line of Montcalm county. Provincial detectives are on the scene investigating.

Sheriff Isidore St. Pierre stated last night that he had received no word as yet regarding the results of the investigation and had been requested not to give information about the supposed murder until the probe had been completed.

CHARLES SEQUIRE GETS NINE MONTHS

COBOURG, June 13.—His Honor, Judge E. C. Huycke, was in town Wednesday and Thursday presiding at the Court of General Sessions in the absence of Judge Ward, who was confined to his home by illness.

Charles Seguire, of Codrington, who was charged with stealing furs from the premises of Grant Quick, of Brighton, and who was tried without a jury, was convicted and will serve an indeterminate sentence of nine months.

Walter Fowler, Seguire's brother-in-law, who was indicted with him, was allowed to go on suspended sentence. These men were defended by A. R. Willmott, of Cobourg and R. H. Greer, K.C., of Toronto.

Lindsay Gets Off.

James Lindsay, who resides on a farm near Hastings, charged with harboring Roy Lindsay, his nephew, a fugitive from justice, and with obstructing the Campbellford police in their attempts to arrest the latter, was discharged on both counts by release on suspended sentence on a legal technicality. The Judge, who disposed of the case without a jury, held that Lindsay had misled justice by lying to the police, telling them that he had seen nothing of his nephew for over a year, and this would be held against him in the event of his getting into trouble in the future. Hence the suspended sentence.

Lindsay was defended by A. D. Hall, of Colborne.

The trial of the two Campbellford boys charged with the theft of liquor, has been postponed until the next session of court.

Campbellford Witnesses.

The administration of justice, including the maintenance of the jail, coast the counties of Northumberland and Durham over $20,000 last year. Chief Duncalfe, Constable Seaborn and R. H. Cole, of Campbellford, who were here to testify in the trial of James Lindsay, are willing to make affidavit that the counties are not given to extravagance in the matter of paying witnesses. They were here three days altogether. Chief Duncalfe and Constable Seaborn were allowed $10 each. The railway fare from Campbellford to Cobourg and return is $4 and their hotel bill was $9. Each out of the officers is out $3.

Mr. Cole, being a private citizen, was allowed only $8.50. His expenses were the same as that of the others, so that his deficit is $4.50.

ST. ANDREW'S LADIES HAD BUSINESS MEET

The Ladies' Aid Society of St. Andrew's Church held their last regular business meeting for the summer yesterday afternoon, with a good attendance of members. The president, Mrs. F. L. Robinson, was in the chair. A very fine address on "National Unity" was given by Mrs. Howard Fallis, who emphasized the need for co-operation among the people and nations of the world, and the necessity for women taking an active part in all things that make for betterment of general conditions. Mrs. Fallis expressed the hope that women would soon have an equal voice in the management of municipal affairs.

The ladies made arrangements for the holding of a tea and sale of children's wear next week, and for a booth for the sale of refreshments. The six months of the year just finished leave a record of much good work done by the Ladies' Aid Society of St. Andrew's, with excellent proceeds financially from their endeavors.

At the conclusion of the business session, light refreshments were served by Mrs. C. McClelland and Mrs. M. Wilgar.

LARGER DEMAND FOR RELIEF IN THE CITY

Mr. Finch Miller, City Relief Officer, reports that there is a large amount of sickness in the city. More relief has been dispensed by the city this summer than any summer hertofore, and the most of it has been to large families, whose breadwinners are temporarily incapacitated through illness. There are a large number out of work, said Mr. Miller, but they manage to get along on small jobs now and then, and "I have only had one or two at a time on the relief list this summer as a result of unemployment," he said.

Home Bank Depositors Had Meeting Yesterday

TORONTO, June 14 (Canadian Press). — Meetings of Home Bank depositors in the city branches took place last night in preparation for the move on Ottawa when the Banking and Commerce Committee of the House of Commons takes up the report of Mr. Justice McKeown, Royal Commissioner.

At the present time action upon the report in the hands of a subcommittee, which will likely be ready to report by Tuesday.

The deputation, it sent, will number 150, but it is possible the Banking Committee at Ottawa may decide to proceed without any representations by the committee of the depositors.

Strong pressure is being brought to bear upon individual members of the House of Commons to support the claims of the depositors for compensation.

NEWS FROM CAVAN AND THE DISTRICT

CAVAN, June 14. —The Cavan Ladies Aid met Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Albert Elliott. A goodly number of members and many visitors were present.

Rorke, former minister of this circuit, who is expected home on furlough from her missionary work for a year. She is expected sometime in July. Other business was discussed and the meeting was closed. Mrs. Elliott then served dainty refreshments.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Hatherly.

FAST SERVICE GIVEN BY A PETERBORO FIRM

From Port Hope Guide: About three o'clock on Tuesday afternoon, we saw the J. J. Turner & Co.'s truck down town. We mentioned that The Guide awning needed renewing, and asked for the pleasure of a call. Before we could get back to the office the truck was at the front door and our awning off and out on the four o'clock train for Peterborough.

The next evening the awning was back in place, new sign painted on it and all. Great work for the 24 hours. That is service!

NEW FRUITS ARE ON SALE IN CITY

Strawberries Still Lead The Market With Prices Firm.

New fruits from California are this week's arrivals in the local fruit stores. Apricots and plums, neatly packed, are 20 cents a dozen, and peaches are 30 cents. Strawberries are much lower in price, 35 cents being the quart box quotation this week. Cherries are down to 60 and 75 cents a pound.

New potatoes are still selling at 20 and 25 cents a measure, with the old brand very scarce and going up. It is rumored that many farmers are themselves buying potatoes for seed, their stocks being so low. Radishes are plentiful and seem to be of good quality this year.

There is little change in prices of dairy products. Cheese is firming up. Prices on live and dressed hogs show a slight advance over last week's prices.

The sugar market is still unsettled. A price war on the other side and an over-production over last year's total make for a variable market.

Frogs' legs are a fresh dainty in the delicatessen line. Their purchase seems to be limited, however, to a select few who appreciate the flavor of the commodity.

Auto Sense — THE CRICKET ON THE HEARTH — By Williamson

After a car has been driven for a few hundred miles it is likely to develop a number of "chirps," but one of the most objectionable of these is caused by the hood chafing against the flange upon which it rests. A majority of cars have a strip of heavy fabric riveted on the flange to eliminate this, but you should give some attention to these strips as well as to the springs and other parts of the car which get noisy.

A few drops of oil should be applied to this fabric to keep it soft. Without oil, the fabric hardens, and under the constant friction caused by weaving over rough spots will harden and become glossy. Then the "chirping" begins and soon destroys the fabric.

Some drivers do not put oil on these strips at it works out in hot weather, gets on the finish of the car, and catches dust. Leather thongs make excellent silencers. The holes should be bored about two inches apart and the thong laced in and out of them.

Another effective way of getting rid of these noises is to drill a little larger holes in the flange and drive cork into them. The corks should be cut off about an eighth of an inch above the surface of the metal.

NURSING SOWS REQUIRE MOST LIBERAL FEEDING DROPPING FOR WEANING

Thousands of Sows Affect Offspring Through Improperly Balanced Ration—Care Needed in Weaning Not To Stop Milk Flow Quickly.

TURN OUT ON PASTURE

By CHARLES W. BURKETT.

At this season of the year a million or more brood sows are giving birth to offspring. It is safe to say that one-half of them are not properly fed. Some of these mothers are overfed, some are thin and undernourished and the pigs will be, or are already, influenced. The brood sow largely fed corn may be fat, but her supply of milk will likely be insufficient for her family of little pigs. Who so many young spring pigs die is usually to be answered from the wrong way the mother has been fed.

Every sow, while nursing, requires liberal feeding, as the rearing of a large litter is a severe drain on her system. Skim milk, buttermilk, bran, shorts, wheat middlings, ground oats are feeds that satisfactorily meet the situation. Provide enough of these to give variety and the sow will go on doing her part. As soon as pasture is available turn the sow and pigs on grass.

The young pigs should be early allowed to eat some food in addition to what the mother supplies as milk. A good method is to place a shallow, flat-bottomed trough in a small inclosure in one corner of the lot where the sow is fed, allowing the young pigs access to this at will, but where the sow cannot reach it.

For the first day or two a little fresh milk can be used; afterward give sweet, skim milk, properly warmed. If skim milk is not available, then wheat middlings or shorts mixed in a thin slop are a good substitute. This can be fed twice a day. If the sow is not on grass, a rack containing clover or alfalfa will supply her with a food-stuff she will greatly relish. Everybody knows how valuable both clover and alfalfa are for dairy cows; they are equally so for brood sows. And the sows will eat a great deal if either is available.

Young pigs should never be abruptly weaned of their mother's milk, because of the injury that would result to the sow. There is a large flow of milk if the sow is a good mother and has been properly fed. This flow of milk should be dried up slowly. It is not a good plan, either, to remove some of the pigs, allowing the remainder to stay with the mother a week or two longer. This is admissible only in case a part of the litter has profited at the expense of other members. In case this is so, the larger ones can be removed after they have become satisfied with their slop ration, and the less thrifty ones kept back to dry off the sow.

If the sow is fed a spare diet, consisting of a little dry grain or given the run of an old pasture, the secretion of milk will be arrested, and both sow and pigs will adjust themselves to the new order. The best time to wean pigs is from seven to ten weeks after birth. After being weaned, give the pigs access to good pasture and a grain slop of middlings, shorts and corn-meal twice daily. If skim milk is available so much the better. Young clover or alfalfa is ideal for pigs, but any good grass will do.

DISCOVER NEW SCIENCE.

Wonders Will Never Cease So Long as a Hen Remains Above Ground.

In the rapid progress of civilization we are apt to become lost in a maze of new ideas, new doctrines and phenominal formulæ for all human requirements. We have Coueism, the doctrine of a French wizard, by which we can obtain whatever we desire if we only keep on saying so. Then the ancient art of palmistry, it has been demonstrated, will disclose the past, present and future history of a human being and will unfold the character of a man from its innermost depths.

Science has already solved the character of the human being in many different ways. But, since attention has been directed to other paths, a new and startling science has been discovered. By this astounding doctrine all the tendencies of a hen can be determined from her head. Every turn and angle discloses some pecularity in her make-up. Her laying qualities, constitutional vigour and intelligence are all obvious by the head, according to this new science, known as "Hen Phrenology." Mr. James Ellis must be credited with labelling this new discovery with the above name, but aside from the humorous touch in the above phrase, the head of a hen is the thermometer of her producing ability, according to Mr. J. W. Clark, eminent poultry specialist, who addressed the Peterboro Poultry Association the other evening.

VALUABLE HORSE DIED.

FARMERS ACTIVE NEAR MILLBROOK

Fall Wheat Promises a Good Crop—Fruit and Produce Are Good.

MILLBROOK, June 14.—Fall wheat continues to promise a good yield throughout this district, and clover also is looking well, some claiming that it is doing better than timothy. Fields of peas are fairly numerous and all show satisfactory growth. The continued cold weather is seriously retarding the hay crop and the general opinion is that the harvest will be light, and this gives rise to a gloomy outlook as all feed supplies are depleted owing to the late season when the stock could be turned out to pasture.

Pastures, too, have been held back by the unfavorable weather, and are soft from so much rain; the opinion has been more than once expressed that considerable damage has been done since they were put into use.

There is a profuse bloom on both garden and wild strawberries which, given suitable weather, should mature into an abundant crop. Local stores had fresh berries in for the first time last week, offering them at 20 cents for a small box. These were brought in from outside and were large, fine fruit with a fair flavor. Home grown berries are not yet on the market, F. McMahon, who has a large market garden just north of the village, reporting lots of blossom but warm sunshine, wth occasional showers, being necessary before fruit will form and ripen.

Home grown asparagus from Mr. McMahon's garden is in the stores at 20 cents per bunch, while many during the past two weeks have been enjoying this delicious vegetable from their own gardens.

Fresh radishes also made their appearance this week for the first time, in the local stores, not however of the home grown variety, at least not in the immediate neighborhood.

Large shipments of tomato, cabbage, and cauliflower plants by the local stores have apparently found a ready sale lately most of the gardens in village having these plants now set out. The necessity of protection with shingles or overturned flower pots has been evident because of the cool nights, the temperature coming dangerously near the frost line on several occasions lately.

Newly-set plants are specially relished by pests, cabbage and tomatoes requiring special attention at this time. Coat the tomato plants well with Bordeaux mixture shortly before transplanting to prevent injury from flea-beetles.

For the early cabbages and cauliflowers make a solution of corrosive sublimate in the proportion of one ounce to ten gallons, and using from one-quarter to one-half cupful per plant. Apply with a cup and from a wooden pail, making the first application four days after transplanting, soaking the stems and roots, to destroy the cabbage maggots which burrow into the roots. Keep the solution in glass or wooden containers as it corrodes metal, and exercise great care in its use as it is deadly poison.

Potato pests include flea-beetles, early blight, late blight, and rot. When the plants are five or six inches in height spray with Bordeaux mixture to which has been added one-half pound of arsenate of lime, or two pounds of arsenate of lead to each forty gallons. Make subsequent applications at intervals of ten or fourteen days as long as the plants are green.

Fields on several farms within a radius of some miles which were practically submerged, or had big hollow spots that held the water like a miniature pond, have dried up and during the past week the land was prepared and the seed planted. So far there appears to have been no difficulty from caking of the soil, the moderately cool weather with occasional showers being favorable to the spring.

Corn was sowed on the Fallis Line, and in other parts of the township last week, and mangels, planted a little over a week ago, are now up. Turnips also have been put in some sections, though the advice to postpone planting this crop until the 15th of June is sound. Two advantages result—the danger of lice in practically averted, and the fibre will be less woody when the harvest time arrives.

With the hay harvest only a few weeks away it is evident that warm weather is urgently needed as in any event the crop is likely to be a light one, though the enlarged area of alfalfa and sweet clover will help the situation materially.

This season, particularly the month of May, has been an unusually disappointing one from the farmers' stand point, but it may be there is yet no reason for despondency. The Canadian Horticulturist for May, 1849, records that the spring that year was so cold and backward it was feared "Providence will never smile on this land again." Yet in August grain cutting was in progress with wheat an especially good crop, barley fair, and every prospect of a good yield of potatoes.

Canadian Market Is Dependent Upon the Outcome Dawes' Plan

MONTREAL, June 14.—To say that on the export situation depends the future of the Canadian flour market is to state the obvious. To say that on the action taken on the Dawes Reparation Report depends the development of the export trade to Europe and the United Kingdom is to state what is the belief of those who are intimately in touch with the situation. Financial conditions of the central European countries have been so chaotic, little purchasing of Canadian flour has resulted from this quarter. It is evident to anyone who has been studying the market that when this unfortuntae and demoralized state of affairs is remedied Canadian flour exports will show marked improvement. The one thing that apparently will stabilize the monetary condition of these countries is adoption of measures recommended by the Dawes Report, which if it were to be followed out to morrow would immediately benefit Canada to the extent of several millions of dollars.

RAISED CHICKS ON COAL ASHES

While Not Sole Diet For Growing Fowl, the Ashes Are of Benefit.

EXPERT OPINION.

It was reported in a Hamilton daily that Mr. F. W. Clark, of Cainsville, Ont., noted poultry specialist, raised 600 chickens entirely on coal ashes. This same gentleman, who addressed a meeting of the Peterboro Poultry Association last Wednesday evening, cautioned the reporters present to be more careful than this Hamilton man was before entering upon the subject of feeding coal ashes to chickens.

The speaker stated that to his astonishment he had found that poultry, and particularly growing chickens, relished coal ashes as a substantial portion of their feed, and that he disposes of his coal ashes in this way. The speaker continued that, however absurd it may seem, it is a fact that coal ashes are beneficial, and he believes them to be nutritious. Some of the older local farmers present at the meeting bore him out in this statement. Mr. Clark said, "That he has dumped wheelbarrow loads of coal ashes in his orchard and watched his flock devour it with the exception of the larger coals, and that, for experimental purposes, he has killed a chicken to examine its craw and found it half filled with coal ashes." He recommended for those present to try it, and if they accept his advice, and good results are the consequences, a dual purpose will be served. The feeding cost will be reduced and the local garbage collector's burden will be lightened.

HADDEN LEADS BETHANY.

All Gardens Are Good But the Postmaster's is Best —Rye Up a Foot.

Although the weather is still backward, with frost at night, the spring grain is gradually coming along. Fall wheat and rye are doing nicely, a few fields of rye reaching a height of a foot, Hay is very scarce, and farmers are compelled to buy owing to the late spring. Last year's crop was practically all fed. Hay is going to be short in this district. The gardens in the village are all in, and Mr. Hadden's garden is the best to be seen. Lettuce will be ready for the table in another week, and potatoes are up several inches. Eggs are plentiful, the wholesale price of 25c being paid with butter in abundance at 30c per pound.

TWILIGHT

YOU get kinda tired by the end of the day and your bones are a needin' some rest. The spirit of youth's calling softly for play as the sun's sinkin' down in the west.

The glow of the evening just follows you home and you dream in the lull of a song. Your system is fagged and your mind wants to roam while the rest of the world goes along.

It's nature that's callin' you out in the air and you find that you cannot resist. The greatness of freedom; the lack of all care is a thing that no person has missed.

The trees seem some greener; the sky is more blue. And everywhere 'round there is peace. The air carries fragrance that's fresher and new when it's time for the daytime to cease.

The world stands at ease like the sky and the trees when slowly the night shades are falling. And humans are gropin' for rest in the open; at night Mother Nature is calling!

NEW PLANS AT OTTAWA LIKELY TO HELP FARMS

Emergency Measures Are Being Considered by the Government to Assist.

SOME ARE INSOLVENT

Dr. Tory Suggests Change in the Bankruptcy Act Affecting Farmers.

OTTAWA, June 14.—As a result of the recommendations made by Dr. Tory, before the banking and commerce committee of the House, who favors the government taking at this session, emergency measures to meet the pressing debt situation among the farmers of the West, it is probable that the government may ask parliament for enabling legislation that would empower it to make advances to the provinces on the same principle as those made for housing and for highways.

It is impossible to say what amount will be named, but Dr. Tory, who was loath to suggest a figure, thought that a sum not exceeding $10,000,000 would meet the needs of the situation just now. He did not think that more could very well be handled. Larger sums were suggested by some members, but Dr. Tory refused to be drawn out in support of them.

There is no doubt that Dr. Tory's views have made a strong impression on the committee, and that on the whole it is ready to back him up. The demand for relief comes the strongest from Alberta, but the suggestion respecting such advances had hardly been made when Mr. Caldwell from New Brunswick spoke strongly on the need of doing something for his province. This brought out the fact that any provisions made would have to be of a Dominion wide character.

The question then came up, what was to be done about the pressing situation now existing in the West, and which called for immediate action. Dr. Tory admitted that this would hardly wait on the passage of such legislation as he had suggested, so under the circumstances, the best course to take would be to have the government secure from parliament the power to make advances to the provinces along the lines of the housing and highway schemes. This would meet the situation until the desired permanent system could be worked out.

Through questions put by Hon. H. H. Stevens it came out that there are three groups of farmers. The first class consists of those who being entirely solvent, have good mortgage security and easily get loans; the second class is made up of those whose security is not quite as good; while the third class, which is found chiefly in the northwestern states, has not security of a nature that can secure for them the necessary advances.

It soon came out that the third class could not be helped through such an organization as the U. S. farm loan board, and the question arose, what was to be done with them?

It was admitted by Dr. Tory that probably quite a number of western farmers would go into insolvency, and that it was better that this should be recognized. The trouble was that under the debt adjusting functions of provincial officers, compulsion could not be exercised, and it was considered advisable that the Bankruptcy Act should be amended so as to give power to wind up farmers in this state.

One of the ideas is that the affairs of these insolvents shall be adjusted so that they may be permitted to work themselves back into a condition where they can provide the security that will enable them to take advantage of the farm loan board. If the latter is established it is expected that it will absorb existing provincial loaning organizations.

CROPS ARE GOOD.

Trent River Looking For Record Year—Apples Are Excellent.

TRENT RIVER, June 14.—Mr. Tom Tyler, of 14th Concession, reports clover coming on better since the weather turned warmer. The late strawberries have not been affected with frost, and there are great prospects of an abundant crop. Mr. Tyler shipped calves by Havelock to Toronto this week, receiving 8 cents per pound.

Mr. James Longmuir, of Havelock Road, reports rye splendid for this weather, and balance of crop is picking up but nothing as it should be. Their early strawberry blossoms were all damaged by frost, but the late ones are alright, with outlook for a good crop. Mr. Longmuir set the incubator with 130 eggs and 88 chicks were the result. He has re set it with 120 eggs There is every indication of an abundant apple crop this year as the trees are heavily loaded with blossom.

A SNAPPY "COMEBACK"

A young matron was discharging her parlor maid, and the parlor maid took it hard.

"Anyhow," she said, "I'm better lookin' than you are, madam—a darn sight better lookin'. How do I know? Your husband told me."

She let that sink in well. Then she went on:

"I can kiss better'n you too. Want to know who told me that?"

"Of course, my husband——"

"No," interrupted the parlor maid "it wasn't your husband this time—it was your chauffeur."

WASN'T STUNG!

No, he isn't a Cossack. He is a beekeeper. And Frank Bornhofer of Tobasco, O., is just proving honey bees rarely ever sting. He has over 200 colonies of them. This helmet he is wearing is composed of living members of those colonies. And he didn't get stung.

PUBLIC LIBRARY HELPS FARMERS

Marmora Librarian Has Special List of Farm Books of Interest.

LOOK THEM UP.

MARMORA, June 14.—The Marmora Public Library has prepared a list of the books which they have on hand that might possibly help gardeners and farmers:—"Animal Husbandry," Formey and Lowry; "Making Money from the Soil," Hill and French; "Farm Crops," Gardner; "How to Grow 100 Bushels of Corn per Acre on Worn Soil," Wm. C. Smith; "Types and Market Classes of Live Stock," Vaughan; "The Small Garden," Mary Hampden; "A B C of Vegetable Gardening," E. E. Rexford; "Tractor Principles," Whitman.

BUCKWHEAT IS STANDBY

Roseneath Farmers Have Sowed the Crop Extensively on Wet Ground.

ROSENEATH, June 14. — The weather for the past week has been lovely and warm but not hot, as there are frequently local showers. The growth of grass and grain is wonderful.

The farmers have a more cheerful prospect to look forward too now, for if the weather had continued cold much longer the crop would have been small. The nights were so cold that they appeared to offset all the growth of the daytime.

Buckwheat will have a larger acreage than usual, nearly every farmer in the district having a certain amount of it.

Percy Parker has taken William Haughtailing's farm on shares, and is putting in the entire crop to buck wheat.

Mr. Houghtailing is a retired farmer and had been unable to locate a suitable tenant for his hundred acre farm. As this is a fairly good farm, Mr. Parker, with favorable conditions, should reap a large harvest of buckwheat., as well as a considerable quantity of hay. There is also a good orchard on the farm which ought to yield a favorable return, and an apple crop has, for the last few years, been a paying proposition.

The majority of the farmers have their fertilizer out on the ground, a number having their mangolds sown. Keith Halstead, who farms the two hundred acres, known as the Mason farm and owned by Mr. John Mason, Cobourg, reports that his mangolds are up and growing nicely, and that his crop is all in a very flourishing condition. Mr. Halstead was able to get his crop in early thus giving a good start.

H. W. CARDWELL EXPANDS

Fraserville Man Adds Four Hundred Chickens to His Farm—Alsike Poor.

FRASERVILLE, June 14.—Owing to the wet spring one farmer in the vicinity who had twelve acres of alsike seeded is ploughing it up as it has become unfit for crop.

Mr. H. W. Cardwell has recently received a shipment of 400 baby chicks to add to his chicken farm. Mr. Cardwell, who has taken a course on poultry raising, at the O.A.C., Guelph, intends going into the business more extensively.

Mr. W. A. Wood, U.F.O. shipper, shipped a carload of 57 hogs, 26 calves, four cattle and one sheep, in which Mr. W. McElroy shipped a load of 10 hogs grading six premiums out of the 10. If every farmer would feed his hogs to about 200 pounds they would receive a better grading, hence they would demand a higher price as there is the right type of bacon hogs in this vicinity.

Methods are being planned for writing all forms of crop insurance, besides hail insurance.

DAIRY MEN IN COBOURG SELL MILCH CATTLE

Big Toronto Milk Dealers Put Small Milkers Out of Business.

OATS DISAPPEARED.

COBOURG, June 14.—Several dairymen of Northumberland County, who have been cut off by the big Toronto milk dealers, have dispensed with their milch cows. A couple of carloads of stock were shipped to the West recently. Some others among these farmers have started sending their milk to cheese factories which previously they had not patronized for some time. The higher price of cheese at the recent sale was very gratifying to these agriculturists.

Most of the farmers in this district have completed their potato planting, but the bulk of the corn is to be put in yet. This has been a very busy week. Not every farmer, by any means, is through with seeding yet, and some of the wettest fields no doubt will be put in to buckwheat. Early sown crops look fairly well, but the growth of both grain and grass has been remarkably slow. Sunny skies and a higher temperature are conditions that farmers generaly are wishing for. The week just closing has been a record one, as far as activities on the farms is concerned.

Oats Missing.

William Ryckman, a Haldimand Township farmer, who resides near Vernonville, met with some hard luck recently. He bought a quantity of oats one day last week, intending to sow them the following day. But during the night some one visited his premises and the oats are missing. A man was charged with taking the oats but the charge was not proven. Now the Haldimand Township Council has taken up the matter, and are offering a reward of $50.00 for evidence that will lead to the arrest and conviction of the party who stole the oats

PRODUCE SLOW BUT SURE.

Cold Weather Hurt Tomatoes at Garden Hill—Field Crops Fairly Good.

CAVAN, June 14.—In spite of the cold weather clover and alfalfa are looking well. Fall wheat is growing well, except in places where water stood too long. A few people have early potatoes up, but even where they were planted very early they were slow in appearing above the ground. There was not enough heat for rapid germination and growth.

Many are just preparing the ground to plant potatoes.

Eggs are twenty-three cents a dozen and butter twenty-five cents a pound.

S. S. Staples shipped a car of hogs on Monday, the price paid was eight dollars.

The recent June frosts have wrought considerable havoc in different parts of the country. Tomato plants, in many cases, have been frozen.

Around the vicinity of Garden Hill, where they grow tomatoes for the Port Hope cannery, there has been a great loss of plants. Also there, the leaves on many of the trees have been seared by frost.

EAST EMILY HAPPY.

EAST EMILY, June 14.—It promises to be a very good fruit year in this locality. The fine days brought out the blossoms on the strawberries, and the apple crop never looked brighter. The meadows and all kinds of clover have improved wonderfully during the last few days, and if the warm weather continues they will be good.

Richard Murtha purchased a cow in the winter for which he paid a high price, but on going out the other morning he discovered twin calves running after her. He then thought he did not pay so high for the cow after all.

Westerners Are Canada's Richest People, Is Shown

MONTREAL, June 14.—The Dominion Statistician's newest estimate of the national wealth of Canada as in 1921 shows but little difference from the estimate he made covering the year 1920. The latest estimate may be regarded as about the most satisfactory arrived at to date, for in compiling it the Dr. Coats has had access to the vast fund of information derived from the census in 1921. It shows Canada to be a pretty wealthy nation; the national wealth averages $2,525 for each man, woman and child in the country.

The figures also indicate the importance of agriculture in Canada. Not only is agricultural wealth the largest division in the national riches, but the three provinces that are more given to agriculture than any other pursuit rank highest in per capita wealth. These are Saskatchewan with per capita wealth of $3,757; Alberta with $3,317 and Manitoba whose citizens average about $2,705 apiece in cash and assets.

CHEMISTS SAVE FARM PRODUCTS

Specialiist and Practical Farmer Are Linked by Chain of Necessity.

JUST ONE INSTANCE.

By GEORGE BRITT.

MADISON, Wis., June 14.—A plus or a minus sign on your paris green determines whether it will stick to the potato plants or wash off during the first rain.

This true miracle tale which links the dirt farmer with the highly specialized and technical chemist is told by Professor J. H. Mathews, head of the department of chemistry in the University of Wisconsin.

It is part of his attractive lure, it might as well be admitted at the start, to interest the public in a proposed laboratory for the study of colloid chemistry at the university. But it's a fair yarn, and the insect spray is a bright example of colloid chemistry's operation.

Colloid chemistry deals with finely divided substances in suspension, as distinguished from solutions. Smoke, for instance, is a suspension of carbon particles in vapor and is a colloid. In the insect spray, solid particles of poison are suspended in a liquid.

It's Electrical.

"It is common knowledge that the surfaces of all substances carry charges of electricity," says Professor Mathews, returning to the potato bug and caterpillar subject.

"The charge on green leaves is negative. The charge on lead arsenate as originally prepared for insect spray also was negative. These like charges would repel one another, and the poison would be washed or blown off the leaves in short time.

"The poison looked just the same as before, and it was equally deadly in either case. But the attraction between positive poison and negative leaf became as strong as the repulsion had been before.

"When the leaf withered in the fall, there was still a fatal dose clinging on for any hungry insect. The discovery is worth millions to orchardists, gardeners and owners of fine shade trees."

Saves Cattle.

Cattle dip was likewise improved. The original dipping solution had to be made so strong that it took the hair off the animals and blistered their skin.

A colloid chemist found a way to make the dip stick faster to the animals treated, so weaker material could be used to the saving of the cattle but the equal discomfort of the ticks.

Colloid chemistry also will determine the hardiness of wheat for winter. Formerly it was necessary to test by slow and patient planting. It was found, however, that hardiness comes from the presence in the sap of colloids which bind the water and prevent freezing. Such analyplants.

Colloids spell dollars to the farmer.

Medicine and industry will profit equally with agriculture from the development of colloid chemistry, according to Professor Mathews. His scheme for a laboratory is that advocated by the committee on colloids of the National Research Council. The committee proposes to spend a million dollars for equipment and endowment, the laboratory to be located at some representative university and available to scientists from everywhere.

I. W. W. and Agriculture

SAVING been driven out of the Western States practically at the point of the gun and having failed to gain a real foothold in British Columbia lumbering and mining camps because of the decisive stand of the operators backed by public opinion, the I. W. W. organisation is planning to invade the prairies. The Farm and Ranch Review, Calgary, warns that "our farmers will probably be treated to a repetition of the tactics adopted by these gentlemen in the wheat areas of the United States, where granaries and wheat fields were burned and other outrages committed in order to enforce the peculiar views held by this communistic organization."

Last year there was ample evidence of the pernicious activities of the I. W. W. amongst the harvest help in Alberta. This year it is evidently intended to carry the campaign further. The leaders of the Cranbrook strike have been actively organizing in Calgary. It has been publicly proclaimed that more than 6,000 of the I. W. W. members are coming into the harvest fields this year to demonstrate that an eight hour day can be put into effect in the agricultural industry.

The menace is a real one. With such a short harvest season and largely dependent on one crop Western Canada would be still further handicapped in world markets if the I. W. W. is able to enforce its unsound theories. The editor of the Farm and Ranch Review advises the farmers to oil up their shotguns and lay in a supply of ammunition, but the federal and provincial authorities can surely do something to more effectively check these law defying trouble makers.

DIVERSE CROPS WITH PATIENCE STOP THE LOSS

Developing Side Lines and Preventing Leaks Are Two Ways to Make Dollars.

KEEP ON THE JOB.

Seasons of Discouragement Give Way to Prosperity.

By AMOS BRADFORD.

The man who gets ahead in the long run is the man who keeps on theijob, whether it is growing pigs, raising a variety of crops, or making ploughs. In every line there are seasons of discouragement, seasons of loss, seasons of hardships. But there are seasons also of good times. Every farmer knows this—that is why so many are plugging away and sticking to their work. They know that the rainbow does come down and after a time it is sure to come to them.

Each of us has a major work. We like to do that work better than anything else. We think, too, that our particular farms and their equipment are best adapted to that line and we will aim to keep going along that course. But this plan does not prevent any one of us from striking out and taking on something new. Not in a big way, but as a side line—to do something that will help out in the emergency—to bring in a few extra dollars this coming year.

It is because of these facts that I am urging this year a programme of greater saftey in the use of other possible lines that may be employed in increasing the income of the farm. The man who picked up a few calves from among his neighbors last spring and pastured the calves on grass that otherwise would have wasted, not only made a good profit, but he gained an experience that will remain with him throughout life. He found a new business and he will carry it on without any interference with his regular work.

The number of small things that a farmer may take up is almost limitless. They exist in every section, in every State, in every county—dozens of them in each. You doubtless have one in mind at this very minute. Choose one of these sidelines and try it out. You can't lose on it if you thoughtfully work out the details and do not take too deep a plunge. Make sure of the depth of the water before you jump. If you do this you will be safe. My acquaintance of last year who bought up a few calves couldn't lose. His original investment was his only risk, and, having bought right, he took no risk because the calves were always worth what he paid for them. Being on good grass they could be sold soon after at a sure profit. You can do the same thing; if not with calves, then with pigs, or chickens or ducks, or a vegetable crop—there is someone waiting for you to use for making a few extra dollars this year, thus increasing the farm income.

It is not only the small, average farmer who is interested in increasing the farm income; every farmer should be of this mind. Many a farmer who grows clover or other hay on a large scale, by re-raking the windrows might add many tons of hay to his returns.

OCTOGENARIAN IS BUSY.

NORWOOD, June 14.—Mr. Simeon Ashley, who resides in the village with his daughter, Mrs. Joseph Dickens, is one of the remarkable old men of the village. Mr. Ashley, who is eighty-six years of age, is putting in three gardens.

Mrs. Maxwell Brown has purchased from Mr. Joseph Hilton his one-hundred acre farm on the tenth line of Dummer. The buyer also secured the crop, and intends moving on the place very soon. Mrs. Brown also purchased a team of horses, wagons, sleighs, buggy, etc., from Mr. Jonas Cross.

Mr. Joseph Hilton has purchased from Mr. Diamond, real estate agent, of Campbellford, the property known as the Carter Place, south of the village, and owned by Mrs. John Stillman.

A stalk of fall rye from the farm of Mr. George Hogg, on the Hastings Road, measured fifty-three inches. This was not an accidental find, but practically the length of all in the field. Mr. Hogg also had a field of fall wheat that was looking exceeding fine.

The boll weevil is preventing the production of more than 6,000,000 bales of cotton a year.

Annual meat consumption per person has declined from 192 pounds in 1900 to 150.

Young men and women are quitting the farms at the rate of about a million a year.

CANADIAN ATHLETES IN GOOD CONDITION

Trainer is Well Satisfied With Olympic Entrants—Surprise the World.

MONTREAL, June 14.—(Canadian Press).—That three or four Canadian records will go by the Board at the coming Olympic trials at the Molson's Stadium, next Tuesday and Wednesday is the belief of Captain J. R. Cornelius, coach of Canada's Olympic track team who is conditioning the candidates for this squad at the stadium this week.

The Canadian coach said yesterday after a week of looking them over, that he is more pleased with the material at his disposal, and believes that history of 1906 will repeat itself when Sherring of Canadian won the Marathon.

Captain Cornelius has what he terms excellent material to work with and his only regret is that he did not have them for six weeks instead of one, for in that time he is confident he ecould have opened the eyes of Canadians.

He is taking score times of the different outstanding athletes at the stadium and says were they out they would astonish many, but he refuses to give them out. He keeps all this data on lists and checks up the men right along. He does not want "flash es in the pan", but consistent men, and he expects to find these by the method he is using. The possibilities for the 400 metre relay are also better than he dared hope for, he says.

TO FIND CHALLENGER.

NEW YORK, June 14. — Luis Vincentinni, Chilean lightweight, and Rocky Kansas of Buffalo, yesterday signed articles for a 15-round match at the Queensboro A. C. on Monday June 30. This is the first of a series of lightweight elimination matches to determine a logical challenger for Benny Leonard.

PLUNGES INTO SEA OF LOVE

MARGARET WOODBRIDGE

DETROIT, June 12.—Margaret Woodbrigde, Olympic and national swimming champion, is about to take the plunge into the billowy sea of matrimony.

The internationally famous possessor of many swimming records has just formally announced her engagement to marry William C. Presley of Bay City in Detroit the latter part of June.

Whether she will find the sea of love as easy to navigate as the swimming pools where she has made her records remains to be seen, but if anyone can manage a husband this all-round athlete should be the one.

Margaret is good in two departments—looks and swimming.

LAKEFIELD WIN GAME AT HOME

Warsaw Girls Led Till the Fourth When Home Team Made Nine.

SCORE WAS 23 TO 15.

LAKEFIELD, June 14.— The first girls' ball game of the season was played here last night between Lakefield and Warsaw, the former winning by 23 to 15. Owing to darkness the game was called at the end of the fifth.

Up till the fourth frame Warsaw had the best of the argument, but in the twilight their play suffered and Lakefield jumped into the lead with nine runs. The visitors were handicapped by the absence of two regular players but despite this they made the home team step lively to win.

The return game is scheduled for Warsaw on Friday next.

Line ups:

Warsaw—Alberta Darling, p; Lulu Bell, c; Daphne Payne, 1b; Emma Darling, 2b; May Stevens, 3b; Annabelle Carlow, ss; Marjorie Payne, cf; Jean Bowen, rf; Laura Bowen, lf.

GIBBONS LEADS BOXING STARS ON GOLF LINKS

Tommy Gave Par a Fright With Full Cleek Dead to the Pin.

TRAINED TOO FINE.

BY JOE WILLIAMS

TOMMY Gibbons is, among other things, the best golfer in the fight game. This is, however, hardly a compliment. There are few good golfers among the fighters. Jack Dempsey gets genuine joy out of swatting the white pill, but he is no golfer. Benny Leonard takes a stylish picture in his golfing regalia and that's about all.

All fighters seem to think they must have their pictures taken on the links, whether they play or not. Soon after recovering the welterweight title from Ted Lewis, Jack Briton did some posing on a golf course. It developed that the photographer who posed him knew as little about the game as Britton, which was nothing. At any rate, the picture showed Britton putting with a brassie.

But we are drifting from Gibbons. The St. Paul Irishman shoots habitually in the low 90s and is often in the 80s. This isn't a Bobby Jones stride, but it is above the average. It is far above the average for fighter-golfers.

Tommy's only rival is Willie Ritchie, and the former lightweight champion is no longer an active fighter. Ritchie would probably beat Gibbons, since he is good enough to start in the California championships.

Jack Burke of St. Paul and Bill Livie of Grand Beach, Mich., professionals, have given Gibbons a pretty sound game and he is coming along in nice style.

We played a round with Gibbons in Indiana recently and saw him pull off a near ace, in addition to giving par a fright. At a hole 210 yards long he spanked a full cleek shot ded to the pin. Two more inches and it would have dropped for a hole in one.

"And so would I", laughed Tommy when his caddy megaphoned the circumstances back to the tee.

"I'm in bad shape for golf," he confided. "I'm trained down too fine, my muscles are too hard and my nervous system is on edge. That's just the way I want to be for a fight, but not for golf. I play my best golf when I'm out of condition, relaxed and soft. I imagine everyone does."

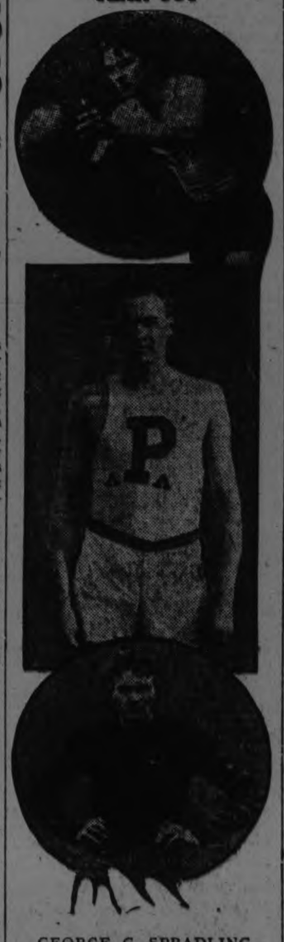
BOWLERS LOSE AGAIN

CARDIFF, June 14.—(Canadian Press Cable).—A representative Cardiff team yesterday defeated the touring Canadian bowlers by 127 to 100.

WINS 3 LETTERS FIRST YEAR OUT



GEORGE C. SPRADLING

LAFAYETTE, Ind., June 12.—George C. Spradling, sophomore at Purdue University, has the distinction of having won three major letters in his first year of athletic competition at the Boilermaker institution.

He played halfback on the 1923 football team, was forward on the 1923-24 basketball quintet and high point scorer of the Big Ten conference, and is at present one of the fastest half milers in the conference.

He runs the 880-yard distance in 1:56 and 1:57 regularly, and he should be one of the fastest men in the country before his remaining two years of competition are completed.

FREE FOR ALL BATTLE ENDED DETROIT GAME

Meusel Hit in the Back by Ball Started the Conflagration.

FINE LIMITED TO YANKS.

Babe Told Cobb Detroit Pitchers Out to Bean New Yorkers.

DETROIT, Mich., June 14.—(Canadian Press). — The animosity which has prevailed between the New York Yankees and the Detroit Tigers since the start of the present series reached a climax yesterday afternoon when a miniature riot was staged on the field in which players of both teams and irate fans participated in a general free-for-all fight.

Before order could be restored, Umpire Evans had forfeited the game to the Yanks, 9 to 0.

It started in the ninth inning when Meusel was hit in the back by a ball thrown by Pitcher Cole. The Yankees' right fielder threw down his bat and dashing to the pitcher's box struck at Cole, but missed. Umpires Evans and Ormsby grabbed Meusel and held him.

Manager Cobb then ran in and he and Babe Ruth had a few words. Ruth had just barely escaped being hit with a ball when he batted in the ninth inning.

Meusel and Cole were banished from the game. Meusel then walked to the Detroit dugout and swung at a Detroit player. Three of his teammates grabbed him and pulled the right-hander away, throwing him down and sitting upon him.

Meanwhile several hundred fans swarmed upon the field. Policemen rushed from all corners, but they appeared to be unable to cope with the situation. Innumerable fist fights were precipitated and after he found order could not be restored. Umpire Evans forfeited the game to New York.

Rally Futile in Ninth

CHICAGO, June 14.—(Canadian Press)—A triple, three singles, a sacrifice and an error gave Philadelphia four runs in the 7th, enabling them to defeat the Sox, 7 to 6, as the locals' ninth inning rally netted only three runs. CARPENTER WILL MEET J. SLATTERY

Provision is That the Frenchman Fight No One But Tunney.

NEW YORK, June 14.—(Canadian Press). — Georges Carpentier, of France, will meet Jimmy Slattery, of Buffalo, in a six-round light heavyweight bout at Buffalo on August 4, C. J. Murray, manager of the Queensebrry A. C., of that city, announced yesterday. Stipulations provide that the Frenchman fight no other opponent except Gene Tunney before the Slattery battle.

Billy Gibson, manager of Tunney, light heavyweight champion of the United States, in a statement issued after Murray's announcement, said that tentative arrangements for a 15-round fight in mid-July between Tunney and Carpentier at the Yankee Stadium or Polo Grounds under promotion of James Johnston, had been agreed upon at a conference with Francois Descamps, manager of Carpentier, and that formal articles would be signed Monday.

The two announcements followed a period of indecision during which Descamps hesitated over propositions made by Murray, Gibson and promoters who offered a 12-round battle with Young Stribling at Newark.

CONTROL NEEDED BY GOOD PITCHER

Success as a pitcher depends on more than mere speed and a good curve, although they are two very valuable assets.

First work for control. Speed and curves are of no importance unless you can get the ball over. Control is not a gift, it is an acquired art through effort and practice.

Perfection in fielding is also an essential. A good fielder makes his pitching much easier, since it minimizes bunting on the part of the opposition.

Always cover first base when there is a chance for a play and learn to properly back up every throw.

Don't put all your stuff on every pitch. It will wear you out, shorten your career. Pitch according to the existing situation. For example, with a big lead, you can work much easier than when pressed to hold a slight advantage.

Try to have something in reserve. That is, when the pinch comes you can put a little more stuff on the ball than you have been using.

Take batting practice. There is no reason why a pitcher shouldn't be able to bat fairly well. I have won many of my games with a base hit because I like to bat as well as pitch.

BEAT THE WORLD RECORD IN THE OLYMPIC TRIALS

Scholtz Does 200 Metres in 21 Seconds—400 Metre Broken Too

HARVARD STADIUM, Cambridge, Mass., June 14.—(Canadian Press).—Two world's records were shattered, one of these equalled, while several Olympic marks were equalled or eclipsed yesterday in a spectacular array of performances marking the preliminary tests of the final United States Olympic track and field tryouts.

Jackson Scholz, New York Athletic Club sprinter, rose to sensational heights by defeating Charley Paddock, Olympic champion, at 100 metres in Olympic - equalling time, and then established a world's record of 21 seconds in the 200-metre trials

The other world's mark came in the 400-metre run when J. Coard Taylor, of Princeton, former intercollegiate champion, covered the distance in his heat in 48 1-10 seconds, one-tenth second faster than the former record. This sensational time was equalled shortly afterward in another heat by Ray Robertson of Boston.

Survivors of yesterday's trials will fight it out to-day in the finals for places on the United States Olympic team.

Despite the fact that Bill Tilden has throat trouble he is still the talk of the tennis world.

Barnes played his second shot exceptionally well an led to the fourth green, where the match was squared. Duncan then took the lead, but Barnes stuck close to him throughout and after a gallant fight the end came on penultimate green.

Angel De La Torre took Abe Mitchell to the last green, where Mitchell won. Duncan and Mitchell will play the final to-day.

PIGEONS MADE TIME.

Basket of Homers Released Here Travelled Home at 50 M.P.H.

Mr. Seels, Dominion Express Co., has received advice that the flock of pigeons released here early in the month made good time on their flight home to Springfield, Mass. They travelled at the rate of about fifty miles an hour.

The National Cheese Association will hold its convention in July and of course Mike McTigue, champion of the light heavies, will be among those present.

This is the first year that the ladies of Peterborough have actively engaged in organised bowling, and the number of ladies in attendance on the green each Tuesday and Friday afternoon is evidence that bowling is growing in popularity with the fairer sex.

FALLON IN HIDING OVER CANADA LINE

Attorney Wanted as Jury Briber is Under Cover Line.

Fallon, a New York attorney, is wanted by the United States Government on a charge of bribing a Federal juror.

Fallon, it is believed, talked by telephone with his former confidential man, Ernest Eidlitz, who is living here. The call Eidlitz received was made from a city in the Dominion not far from Montreal.

Word was received here two days ago that Eidlitz also is wanted by the United States Government. A warrant issued by a Federal Court was shown to the Dominion immigration authorities. It set forth that Eidlitz is wanted as a material witness in the case against Fallon.

Eidlitz is under watch here.

CHARLES DAWES IS FAVORED FOR VICE PRESIDENT

The French People Have Much Faith In General Dawes Who Helped Make Dawes Report.

PARIS, June 14. — (United Press.)—The Press to-day generally approved the selection of General Charles Dawes as Vice-Presidential candidate of the Republican Party with President Coolidge.

France welcomes Daw'es candidacy, The Matin says, adding that the French people have not forgotten that it was under the direction of General Dawes and Owen Young that the greatest step toward post war peace was made when the experts submitted their report of reparations.

Le Journal remarks that Dawe's selection proves that America still has many illusions regarding the effect of the experts' plan for a reparations settlement.

The Republican platform, this newspaper believes, also shows the United States is still counting on payment of war debts.

PARIS, June 14.—Socialist government in France became a reality to-day when Edouard Herriot accepted the invitation of President Doumergue to form a new cabinet.

THISTLES TRIMMED THE OTONABEE NINE

In a soft ball fixture at the Central Park last evening the Thistles defeated the Otonabee girls by the of 18 to 4. The Thistles hit everything that Miss Green had to offer, and had a ten run lead before the Otonabee girls knew what had happened. The Otonabee girls were kept busy throughout the game but never showed much form. Miss Green on the mound for the Otonabee nine was rather wild and could not keep the Thistles from walloping the old ball, while Miss Vincent who did the twirling for the Thistles turned in a nice game, and had only four runs chalked against her team. She had plenty of speed and mixed them up nicely, while her team mates gave her sterling support. The teams lined up as follows:

Otonabees. Misses Green p; Evans c; Jay 1b; Thompson 2b; Hatley ss; Ferguson rf; M. Payne lf; L. Payne cf; Campbell sub.

FISTIC BATTLE ENDED IN FINE

Feature of Ladies' Soft Ball Game Ended by the Police

The two white knights who exhibited their chivalry by entering into a fistic encounter at the close of last Thursday night's game in the Ladies' Softball League at Central Park were picked up by Constable P. C. Wheeler and remained at the Police Station until 11 o'clock that evening.

These two combatants appeared in Police Court this morning. Magistrate Langley decided that men can no longer pitch battle as the knights of old and escape the law, merely because some member of the fairer sex is the subject in dispute. However, self-defence is still recognized by the law, and on these grounds one fan was excused; while the other, who was found the aggressor, was fined $5 and costs.

Chief Newhall told The Examiner that several complaints had been made to him about bad language being used by excited fans at the ladies' ball games. "Disgusting remarks at the ladies' ball games must be stopped, and anyone not conducting himself properly will be arrested," said the Chief. "Last year these games were always covered by a policeman, but as I have fewer men on the force and as these games take place at the relieving hour, the ladies' games have not been covered regularly this season," remarked the Chief.

A vagrant appeared in Court who had been found roaming through the country. He told the Magistrate that he was a farm hand and had been unable to get work. The scarcity of Methodist Churches in the farming communities made it exceedingly difficult to obtain employment, as he would not accept work unless he was located in the vicinity of a Methodist Church. The Magistrate allowed him to go on suspended sentence, provided he would make a diligent effort to seek employment with less particularity in his demands.

DOCTORS EXAMINE CHICAGO SLAYERS

Every Possible Mental Disorder Will Be Brought In for Their Defence on Monday.

CHICAGO, June 14.—(Canadian Press).—Every possible mental disorder which might be urged in their defence is to be sought by probably fifty alienists examining Nathan E. The same process was repeated to-day.

The result, Dr. Bowman said, would be reported to the defence counsel Monday.

Meanwhile, States Attorney Crowe has directed Milton D. Smith, assistant prosecutor, to make an intensive study of forms of insanity as a preparation for cross-examination of the alienists testifying for the youths.

THEATRES

AT THE ROYAL

EVERY PART IN "SPIDER AND ROSE" PLAYED BY STARS

"The Spider and the Rose," heralded as the most startling photoplay success of the season, has been booked for showing at the Royal Theatre for three days, commencing Monday. "The Spider and the Rose" was produced by B. F. Zeidman and directed by John L. McDermott from a published story by Gerald C. Duffy.

Every role in this photoplay no matter how small or seemingly unimportant, has been entrusted to the hands of a distinguished artist—a practice seldom used in the production of pictures. Most directors select a prominent star for the leading role in a film-play and then cast unknown and unimportant actors for the remaining parts.

Gaston Glass, Alice Lake, Robert McKim, Joseph J. Dowling, Noah Berry, Edwin Stevens, Alec B. Francis, Richard Headrick, Otis Harlan, Louise Fazenda, and Harry Northrup all have important parts in "The Spider and the Rose," a tale of mission life in California during the days when that State was a province of Mexico under the reign of Maxmillian. Revolution, plots, counterplots and conspiracy appear in rapid succession in a swift-moving story that holds all the elements of drama, pathos, jealousy, love, heart interest, hate and rich red drama.

Daring horsemanship such as has never been seen in a photoplay is enacted in this film-play. A remarkable scene is which Gastov Glass, as the hero, engages in a duel with Robert McKim, the villian, brings out a knowledge of fencing seldom disclosed on the screen. Scenery, costumes, in fact, every detail necessary to a picture of this nature, have been faithfully produced.

"BOY OF MINE" RECEIVES TARKINGTON'S PRAISE

At Royal Thursday.

J. K. McDonald, producer of "Penrod and Sam," the Booth Tarkington story which First National recently gave to the picture-going world as a film drama, follows up this success with a second Tarkington story, "Boy of Mine," a First National picture, directed by William Beaudine.

So pleased was Tarkington with the screen version of "Penrod and Sam" that he consented to write an original story for McDonald's second production for First National. The result is one of the most human stories Tarkington has ever penned.

"Boy of Mine" is a six-reel human interest drama interpreted by a well-balanced cast of big artists, including Henry B. Walthall, Irene Rich, Rockliffe Fellowes and Ben Alexander, the last of whom interpreted the role of "Penrod" in "Penrod and Sam."

AT THE CAPITOL

OLD TIME THRILLER AT CAPITOL MONDAY.

Emmett Flynn has made another great photoplay for Goldwyn Pictures Corporation in his film version of Owen Davis famous old stage melodrama, "Nellie, the Beautiful Cloak Model," which set the fashion in stage melodrama that was popular for many seasons a score of years ago. It comes to the Capitol on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

Mr. Davis story was adapted to the screen by H. A. Van Loan, and the continuity prepared by Carey Wilson, under the editorial supervision of June Mathis. Director Flynn has made a screen play from the melodrama which will rank with the best pictures of its sort of the year. It is thrilling, colorful, highly dramatic with a villain painted with the blackest of dyes, and yet it is entirely human and convincing in ie presentation as a story. Nothing has been overlooked to make it a photoplay that will appeal to the millions who like a screen play packed with action and thrillingly spectacular.

Claire Windsor, the stage's most beautiful blonde, appears as "Nellie, the Beautiful Cloak Model," while the handsome Edmund Lowe is her sweetheart, Jack Carroll; Mae Busch, who scored such a big triumph in Victor Seastrom's, "Name the Man!" for Goldwyn, has the role of Nellie's chum, Polly Joy. Lew Cody is the villain, and Raymond Griffith appears in the role of the taxi driver. Hobart Bosworth has a dual role, and other parts are ably acted by Lilyan Tashman, Dorothy Cummings, Will Walling, Mayme Kelso, William Orlamond, Arthur Houseman and David Kirby.

Cedric Gibbons, Goldwyn's art director, has prepared some of the finest sets for several of the sequences of "Nellie, the Beautiful Cloak Model," and Lucien Andriot, the head cameraman has outdone himself in beautiful "shots."

TOM MIX NARROWLY ESCAPES SERIOUS INJURY.

Tom Mix is recovering from a pair of badly scraped shins which he suffered while making a scene in his newest William Fox production "Mile-A-Minute Romeo,' which comes to the Capitol Theatre, next Thursday, Friday and Saturday. The horse, Mr. Mix was riding—not the sure-footed Tony—got his foot caught in a tree root as both horse and rider were scaling a precipice. The horse fell heavily, pinning the actor beneath. But Mix escaped uninjured.

WEMBLEY'S GRAND ORGAN.

To complete the wonder of the Empire Stadium the biggest portable organ in the world has been erected in the centre of the stand opposite the Royal Box.

The organ, which cost £10,000, weighs 30 tons, and contains over 3,000 pipes, the largest of which is 32 feet in height and the smallest 3-in. It is a five manual instrument with 75 stops, and over 85 miles of electric wire have been used in the action, which is electro-pneumatic throughout.

The work of erecting the organ was fraught with many difficulties. It had to be hauled up an incline 200 feet long to a height of 80 feet. Two cwt. of 4-inch nails were used in the construction of the platform on which it stands, and twelve gross of 4-inch screws. There are 5,000 electric contacts.

The Rotary-Annes' dance, held last night at Rye's Pavilion, was a very successful affair. About two hundred people attended and had a jolly time in the renovated dance pavilion, kindly laoned to the Rotary-Annes for the evening by Mr. H. B. Rye. Their small cart, decorated in green was labelled "Belfast Linen", and held many pretty things for the guest of honor.

DEPOSITORS OF HOME BANK WILL HAVE A HEARING

It Is Thought that Thursday or Friday of Next Week will be the Day Set.

OTTAWA, June 14.—(Canadian Press). — The Banking and Commerce Committee of the House meets on Tuesday when a date will be fixed for the hearing of the deputation from the Home Bank depositors it is though that Thursday or Friday of next week will be the day.

A surprise has been caused here by dispatches from Toronto attributing to A. T. J. Lee, chairman of the National Executive statement that no reply has been received from the banking and commerce committee to request that the committee should receive a deputation from the depositors.

The correspondence on file between I. E. Weldon, secretary or Relief Committee of Depositors and chairman and secretary of banking and commerce committee shows that on June 5, Mr. Weldon asked that the deputation of three be received. The request was acknowledged, submitted to committee, and committee decided on June 11th to hear depositor's representatives after it had proved McKeown report.

FARMERS' MARKET WAS BUSY TO-DAY

Potatoes Still High in Price. Dairy Produce Plentiful.

The farmers' market was a busy centre this morning. There were plenty of people upstairs and in the open section, around the Indian medicine man, with his liniments, the two auctioneers, getting rid of numerous small articles, and the gentleman with the red Turkish fez and the silver tongue, exchanging German marks for Canadian silver currency. "As sure as that's a piece of paper, it's a banknote," he remarked rather equivocally, as he flourished a sample of the emblazoned paper money of Teutonic origin. For fifty cents one might purchase currency that will bring the owner $5,500, "when the mark goes up to a cent," and many in the crowd bet four bits on the proposition.

There was competition in the lower entry this morning, and a price war resulted in much cutting of prices. A spectacled small boy had water-cress for a nickel a bunch, and across the way his youthful competitor sold it for three for a dime.

A careful gentleman shielded himself and his box of pink, panting little piglets from the rays of the sun by means of a large umbrella, and another voluminous sunshade covered the tiny short-haired collie pups that might be had at fifty cents apiece.

Pigs this morning were $6.50 and $7.50 a pair.

Potatoes were selling at 45 cents a peck and in bags, all the way from $2.00 for small samples to $2.75. They were more plentiful than usual this morning.

Other favourite commodities were radishes and rhubarb and green onions.

The cream cone man was doing a rushing business near the big stove, and ice was playing its part around cream bottles and butter baskets.

Dairy produce was plentiful, also fowl, which was selling at 25 cents a pound.

Butter ranged from 28 to 35 cents a pound, and eggs from 25 to 27 cents a dozen.

Cream was 25 cents a pint.

TWO GIANT FISH

1923 Record Catches Now on Display in Window of White Cycle & Sports.

The window dresser of the Whites Cycle & Sports, Ltd. on Charlotte street, has secured a most attractive exhibit for this week. Prominently displayed are the two giant catches of the season 1923, one being the monster 33 pound lunge caught by Leo Tobin last July, which measures the great length of 53½ inches, and the other being the almost equally huge lunge landed by Dr. H. Long, also in July 1923, weighing 23½ pounds and reaching the suprising length of 48 inches.

These two leveathons of the Karwartha fishing district are surrounded by a splendid display of tackle, including all the newest lures to attract other finny giants, and tackle that looks quite equal to handling the best fighters that swim these noted lakes. Doubtless much of this fishing accoutrement will figure in the finish of many of the big catches of the present season.

KNOX CHURCH NOTES.

Morning question, "Are you eating someone else's bread?" Are you trying to? If so, you hinder the coming day.

"I tell you this for a wonder, that no man then shall be glad
Of his fellow's fall and mishap, to snatch at the work he had,
For that which the worker winneth shall then be his indeed,
Nor shall half be reaped for nothing by him that sowed no seed.
O strange new wonderful justice! But for whom shall we gather the gain?
For ourselves and for each of our fellows, and no hand shall labor in vain.
Then all mine and all thine shall be ours, and no more shall any man crave
For riches that serve for nothing but to fetter a friend for a slave.
And what wealth, then, shall be left us when none shall gather gold
To buy his friend in the market, and pinch and pine the sold?
Nay what save the lovely city, and the little house on the hill,
And the wastes and the woodland beauty, and the happy fields we till."

Evening—"Trees without Roots!" Have you ever seen them grow? Have you ever known a forest of trees without roots? The Canadian Order of Foresters will hear this sermon, but it will be for you, too. We all are in the forest.

HERRIOT TOOK OVER OFFICES WORLD FAMOUS

Humble French Citizen Proudly Enters Historic Surroundings.

AT TALLYRAND'S DESK

Millerand Also Rose to Eminence on His Merits.

PARIS, June 16. — (Canadian Press). — After saluting the Unknown Soldier under the Arc De Triomphe, eulogizing Emile Zola at a public ceremony on Sunday afternoon, and at the same time forecasting that a general amnesty would be one of the first acts of the new Government, Premier Herriot installed himself in the Foreign Office at the Quai D'Orsay.

In this gorgeous office, from whose tapestried walls Henry IV., King of France, and Navarre, the plump Marie De Medicis, the Queen Consort, and other notables of bygone days, looked down upon him, France's new Premier must have experienced strange emotions. He had risen from poverty—a poor boy, son of an impecunious army major and educated on a free State scholarship, whose aunt was a cook, and whose first warm overcoat was the gift of that aunt's employer, the novelist, Maurice Barres, a colleague of Herriot's in the last Chamber.

As he leaned his bulky frame over the magnificent desk wrought with inlay and marquetry, he must have felt a secret pride, for that desk belonged to no less a person than Talleyrand.

Another Rising Man.

Another man of humble origin about the same time was packing up his treasured books at Luxembourg Palace, preparatory to transporting them to the palace of the Elysee, where he is due to reside for seven years—Gaston Doumergue, President of the Republic. M. Doumergue spent a comparatively quiet day receiving the congratulations of his exulting southern friends, who yesterday evening gave in his honor a colossal banquet. This celebration had been planned a long time before it was known that M. Doumergue would be a candidate for the Presidency; it was arranged to celebrate the anniversary of his thirty years of political life. So last night's presentation of a bas relief plaque to the President took on a double significance.

M. Herriot and his colleagues will hold their first Cabinet Council discussion at ten o'clock on Monday morning to discuss the Ministerial declarations which will be read in the Chamber and Senate at three o'clock on Tuesday afternoon. The first Ministerial Council at the Elysee will be held this afternoon with President Doumergue presiding, to determine upon the final text of the declaration.

Owing to the Premier's selection of General Nollet as Minister of War, even the most rabid of the Opposition press seem to have been disarmed, and all are inclined to give the new President and Premier every opportunity to make good, and nothing but friendly encouragement.

BIRKENHEAD LAUDS CANADIAN GENERAL

LONDON, June 16. — (Canadian Press).—The Earl of Birkenhead is contributing to a Sunday newspaper a series of sketches of prominent contemporaries. Yesterday he devoted himself to General Seely who commanded a Canadian cavalry brigade during the war. The writer genially associates him with the Three Musketeers "with whom he (Seely) would have thought himself in quite adequate company."

"I do not know," continues Birkenhead, "whether the story is true but it is said he recommended his chauffeur for the Victoria Cross, and when asked what the chauffeur had done, replied with bland surprise: 'He has driven me everywhere I have been in the last three months.'"

A large portion of Lord Birkenhead's sketch is devoted to General Seely's command of the cavalry brigade, the writer paying generous tribute to the gallantry of the brigade as a whole as much as to the exploits of its commander.

Fifty Years Married He Died in His Grief When Wife Disappears

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J., June 16.—After grieving for weeks over the mysterious disappearance of his wife, from whom he never before had been separated in their fifty years of happy married life, Peter K. Palmer, died in the home that became desolate to him.

Palmer, who was 72 years old, refused to be comforted by his friends. He would not eat and sat up virtually every night watching the front door of his home for the return of his life companion. He was found dead in his chair facing the door on Saturday morning.

Mrs. Mary Palmer, 70, the wife, disappeared on May 3. She told her husband she was going to Philadelphia to attend the funeral of a brother, but she may never have arrived in that city, as a thorough search by police failed to reveal any trace of her there.

BELLEVILLE HAD CROWDED SUNDAY

BELLEVILLE, Ont., June 16.—(Canadian Press).— King's weather, the stirring pageantry of military units and martial music, this beautiful city looking its prettiest in leafy June, and thousands of people lining the sides of the streets in cars or on foot, made a memorable Sunday afternoon, preceding the formal opening on Monday morning of the United Empire Loyalist celebration here, commemorating the 140th anniversary of the settlement of Upper Canada.

Toronto's famous kilted regiment, the 48th Highlanders of Canada ,635 strong, under Col. R. K. Marshall, C.M. G.D. S.O. marched into Belleville on Saturday night and ever since have been the cynosure of all eyes. Nothing quite so efficient or so smart has been seen in Belleville in many years.

To-day, they, with the 34th battery C.F.A. and the Argyll light infantry paraded for divine service on the armouries lawn in the heart of the city, an enclosure lined deep with interested spectators while tall buildings nearby all carried their quotas of on-lookers.

Major The Rev. Crawford Brown, chaplain to the 48th gave the address. Later the troops did a route march of two miles through the residential and business sections of the city viewed everywhere by admiring throngs.

IT'S A BEAR! FOR THE CITY

A. N. Robinson of Bolivar Street Offers Cub for Peterborough Park.

FOR THE CHILDREN

The presentation of a cub bear to the City of Peterboro to be placed in one of the local parks is the offer of A. N. Robinson, 508 Bolivar St.

Mayor J. J. Turner received a communication on Saturday from Mr. Robinson, who is now in Benny, Ont., conveying this offer and it is stated in the letter that two more cubs of the same age are obtainable for the sum of $20.00, should the City desire three.

A belief that a little bear cub in one of the parks would be nice for the children is what inspired the donor to make the offer. His Worship will take the matter up with the Nicholl's Park Trust and advise Mr. Robinson as soon as possible if his offer can be accepted.

There is no doubt but that the children of the city would welcome the addition to the attractions of the park and the first sight of a prowling little grizzly in one of the parks would thrill with joy and excite the admiration of many a child.

THE WEATHER.

On Saturday afternoon the temperature was up to 80 degrees. This is the highest point reached this summer up to the present time. The season has been remarkably cool. Heavy thunder storms have prevailed in sections surrounding, but no rain fell here.—W.P.

DEFENDERS MAY BE LYNCHED IF INSANITY WINS

Alleged Death Ring of 6,000 Students Warn Lawyers.

FIRST DEATH THREAT

Fifty Experts Called by Defense Now in the Oper.

CHICAGO, June 16. —A definite death threat the first in the hundreds of letters to the defense attorneys, was received on Saturday by one of the counsel representing Leopold and Loeb, confessed killers of Robert Franks.

It purported to be from a New York student, signing himself "Malcolm McNeil.' It was written on plain stationery and sent in an envelope from the Hotel Martinique.

It was dated June 8, and warned the attorney that the writer was "one of six thousand students" ready to lynch him if he succeeded in acquitting the slayers.

The letter followed the intimation by counsel who will present the insanity plea that fifty specialists, representing the leadership in virtually every branch of medical science, will be brought to Chicago for the defense of the youths who have confessed to the crime.

Experts will be brought from parts of the United States as rapidly as the defense "scouts" select them.

They not only will conduct every sort of test of the mental attainments and habits of the youths, but also will make minute physical examinations, searching for defects to be revealed to the jury.

Among them will be men who have been defense alienists in many of the country's most famous criminal trials— those of Thaw in New York; Gene Geary in Chicago, and Burch in Los Angeles, as examples.

Getting Data Already

The defense attorneys already have begun filing data on insanity defenses especially the successful ones —for use in behalf of Leopold and Loeb.

The habits of the two slayers in the County Jail will be studied, including the difference between Loeb's fretfulness and short periods of rest and Leopold's tranquility and ability to sleep and snore from 8 o'clock in the evening until 6.30 in the morning, while possible facing the gallows.

Their cell mates will be subpoenaed as witnesses for the defense.

BAD AIR PRESSURE CAUSE OF TRAGEDY

Forty-eight Lives Snuffed Out Through Defect in 14 Inch Gun.

SAN PEDRO, Cal., June 16.—(Associated Press).—The first definite evidence of what might have caused the disaster in the dreadnought Mississippi's turret No. 2, on Thursday, snuffing out the lives of forty-eight men, was presented to the naval court of inquiry on the fleet here on Saturday by Francis Majewski, one of the three sailors who escaped from the death chamber.

Poor air pressure for blowing out the big 14-inch rifles had been encountered all during the firing after the second salvo, he testified. Shortly before the eighth and fatal salvo, Majewski testified, the air pressure, wich in addition to blowing out the big barrel operates to close the breech, was so weak that in his position as plugman he was obliged to lend the weight of his shoulder to the breech.

Failure of sufficient air pressure to cleanse the barrel of fumes and gas, it was pointed out by naval officials makes subsequent ignition of the powder residue in the barrel quite likely.

Majewski's testimony was highly sensational in that it was the first definite clew as to the means by which the chain of flames originated in the turret and developed one of the greatest peace-time disasters of the American Navy.

Yesterday was a day of mourning in several Southern California cities, and Tuesday, the day tentatively set aside for the funeral services of the victims, will be marked by solemn and impressive services, in which civilians will join with men and officers of the fleet in paying homage to the men who died.

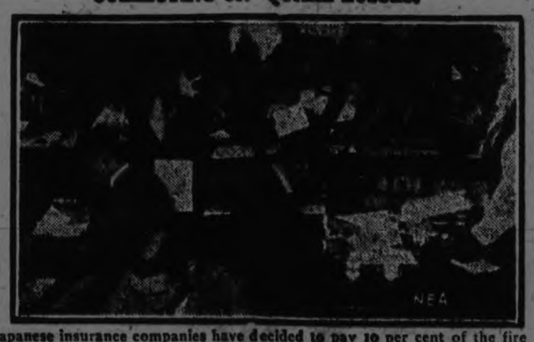
COLLECTING ON 'QUAKE LOSSES.



Japanese insurance companies have decided to pay 10 per cent of the fire insurance claims arising from the earthquake in Tokyo and Yokohama last September, although the policies contained clauses exempting them from earthquake losses. Thousands of policy-holders are besieging the offices now for this "sympathy money," as it is called. Here is a scene in the headquarters of the Meiji Assurance Company on the day payments began.

MEXICO EXPELS BRITISH CONSUL

In Supporting Her Minister Britain Affronted Mexico's Dignity.

STILL FRIENDLY

MEXICO CITY, Mex., June 16.—(Canadian Press.)—The Foreign Office has issued a strongly worded statement giving the reasons for the expulsion from Mexico of Herbert C. Cummins, British Charge D'Affaires here. Its substance is that Mr. Cummins for years has been persona non grata with the Mexican Government, which accuses him openly with lack of respect and courtesy, and even with wilfully incorrect statements to his government in reporting local incidents.

According to the statement, the Mexican Government twice asked Great Britain to recall Cummins, the British Government on each occasion backing their man, until, finally, Mexico decided he must be expelled, claiming he is not a diplomat but a private person.

The statement concludes by saying that Mexico is anxious to renew friendly relations with Great Britain, but must have acceptable representatives here who will observe diplomatic customs.

Dignity Affronted.

The document quotes the case of a British Minister to Mexico who was found to be persona non grata a few years ago and who, it says, left Mexico immediately he was so advised.

The Mexican Government on January 15 last, notified the British Consul that it would suspend all correspondents with Cummins, and that if Great Britain would agree, relations could be carried on through the Consul.

Again last month the Mexican Government sought the retirement of Cummins, but according to the Government, London replied justifying the presence of the agent. Mexico then made it known that it would take steps to expel Cummins, and to this Great Britain is said to have replied that Sir Thomas B. Bohler would soon reach Mexico, when Cummins would leave.

Mexico answered that she had no intention of suspending negotiations with London, but that the British Government should disavow statements made by Cummins. The British Government, according to Foreign Office officials, again backed Cummins and the Mexican Government considered this "an affront to its dignity."

EXPENSIVE.

Fifty thousand dollars was paid by a Michigan man for a single strawberry plant. He has since spent $40,000 improving it. The purpose, of course, is more and better berries.

More attention is paid to crops and livestock than to the people who eat them. For every $1 spent to save babies' lives by instructing mothers, probably $100 is spent in fighting hog cholera, boll weevil, plant-life blights and the like.

Say! Why don't you look for a "bus"?

AEROPLANE IN TRAIN HOLDUP

Tear Gas Bomb Thrown Through Window Forced Clerks Into Open.

ONE BANDIT SHOT

CHICAGO, June 16. — One of the stolen 45 registered mail pouches, slashed open and empty, and two of the four automobiles used by the score of bandits who stopped the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul's fast mail train at Rondout, 32 miles north of the union station, were found along the country roads west of there.

After abandoning the cars the robbers put their loot in an airplane is the belief of some of the Lake county authorities, who were told that a plane soared away from a field two miles north of Rondout. It was a craft strange to the neighborhood for all north shore flying fields had their planes in the hangars.

It was said at the bank that shipments of currency and securities from there on the robbed train amounted to about $75,000. Postal authorities reckoned that the total loss would be found to be around $100,000.

"Inside Tip" Responsible.

Postal inspectors, besides joining the man hunt ahead, made the Federal Reserve bank also a scene of activity. Some one there or in the post office knew that a great shipment of money was being sent into the northwest that night and gave a "tip-off" to the bandits is the belief of Chief Postal Inspector A. E. Germer.

First hand stories of the action were related by the train crew who were first subdued by the robbers' guns, and by those of the seventy mail clerks aboard the train who were in the car carrying the currency shipments. It was not until to-day that they recovered from the distress occasioned by tear bombs flung into the car as they were barricading themselves to make a defense. When the train reached Minneapolis it still reeked with the gas.

Engineer Steve R. Waite said the first indication he had that anything out of the ordinary was in progress was when he felt someone slide into the seat beside him.

Some one climbed into the seat, and then something hard was prodded into my back, he said, "I turned to look into the face of a hard-shelled fellow who ordered me to stop the train. Fireman Dibble was covered also and there was nothing left to do but comply."

Waite said that he brought the train to a stop and obeyed the order given him by the robber who was covering him.

E. J. Dibble, the fireman, said he was inclined to fight until he heard shots fired.

Mail Men Ready for Siege.

Mail Clerk B. W. Jeffery said the men in the cars, all of whom were armed with army revolvers, were preparing to resist attack. They had barred the doors and turned out the lights when one of the robbers pounded on the door and shouted "Come out or we'll shoot."

"They did begin firing," said Jeffery, "but that failed to bring us out. Then something crashed through one of the windows, and a voice from the outside announced, 'Now you'll comt out!'

"The air in the car became stifling and tears rolled down our faces. We had to unbolt the door and get out as we could not stand it any longer."

TRIES TO SAVE PENNILESS BOY FROM GALLOWS

New York Attorney Will Ask Executive Clemency or New Trial.

IN OTTAWA JAIL

Walter Muir Shot Companion in Brawl Near Ottawa.

OTTAWA, June 16. — With the swift space of twenty-eight days between him and the hangman's noose, the young Walter Muir, convicted of slaying a man in a quarrel in a public room, has become an arresting figure both in the Dominion and in New York, the youth's home.

Unknown to the public, and about to be led to an obscure death on the gallows, Muir was saved months ago by the eleventh-hour intervention of the Duchess de Richelieu. An appeal was taken to a higher court, which allowed a respite. But this court upheld the verdict of murder and a new date for the execution was fixed.

Two Plans Left

Howard C. Dickinson, New York attorney and nephew of Secretary of State Hughes, has interested himself on behalf of Muir's mother. He said:

"There is nothing left for us to do but make application for Executive clemency, or to try to obtain a new trial.

"We understand that this is no place for sentiment. There were no errors in the evidence taken at the trial. We would not interfere with the course of justice. But because this boy was intoxicated, because there was no premeditation of murder, we don't believe he ought to have to pay the extreme penalty."

Manslaughter Enough

Dickinson added that he felt supported in this conviction by the decision of the Superior Court Justice, who, though denying the appeal, said that in his opinion manslaughter would have been a severe enough verdict.

In Ottawa, where the youth is imprisoned, he has won much sympathy.

He had been sitting in the back room of a public house in Valleyfield and had been drinking with two friends. At an adjoining table sat Alexander La Violette, who engaged in a quarrel that resulted in Muir shooting him.

BANDITS TURNING KING'S EVIDENCE

Hochelaga Bank Robbery Witnesses Given Complete Immunity.

MONTREAL, June 16.—(Canadian Press.)— On Saturday morning the lengthy process of identifying a large number of bank notes stolen in the hold-up of the Hochelaga Bank collection car on April 1, when $142,288 was taken and two men shot dead and in respect of which crime six suspects are now undergoing trial on a charge of murder, was completed. So rapidly was this work done that Mr. Justice Wilson decided not to hold an afternoon session.

The two main witnesses for the crown, Emma Leboeuf, and Ciero Nieri, who gave evidence at the first trial of Giuseppe Serafini, one of the six suspects remain to be heard. They will give king's evidence and have been assured by the crown of complete immunity.

Emma Leboeuf will probably be called this morning. At the first trial she was on the stand for four hours. The evidence of Nieri will be considerably longer than at the first trial, according to the report. The culpability of Serafini was then the main object of the testimony he gave and certain revelations against the other accused in a much more complete form are expected from him during the present trial.

There is little probability that the trial will be over until the end of June. The new evidence has, it is reported, been reserved for the latter part of the trial and there are seven lawyers for the defence. If each of them addresses the jury for two hours, this alone means about three days, while the addresses of the crown prosecutor and the summing up of Mr. Justice Wilson have to be reckoned with.

Sheriff J. L. Lemieux provided for the members of the jury on Saturday afternoon and yesterday. The twelve were driven in an auto-bus to different parts of the Island of Montreal and enjoyed the weather in ideal conditions.

Canadian-born Tenor Honored by Hundreds Of Detroit Admirers

DETROIT, Mich., June 16.—The memory of the late Harold Jarvis, the famous Canadian-born tenor soloist and church singer, was fittingly honored here when personal friends and professional associates of the dead singer presented the Harold Jarvis memorial concert at Orchestra Hall before an immense audience.

Edgar A. Guest, well-known Detroit poet, read a beautiful poem dedicated to Mr. Jarvis and Rev. Dr. Joseph A. Vance, pastor of First Presbyterian Church, paid the singer a tribute:

"God endows few men with such gifts as were centered in Harold Jarvis," Dr. Vance said, "an Apollo-like body, a heart thrilling with delight in life and human companionship, a soul full of beautiful harmonies of love and trust in his heavenly father and good will for all men, and a voice that could pour the wealth of it all into the souls of others."

CLOSING CHAPTER LEGITIMACY SUIT

Decree of Judge Gives Shop Girl Her Rightful Position.

EDINBURGH, June 16.—(Canadian Press). — The final act in the legitimacy suit in which an Aberdeen shop girl, Constance Mary Lyon, sought to establish her claim as the eldest lawful child of Hubert Bowes-Lyon, nephew of the Earl of Strathmore, occurred in an Edinburgh court on Saturday when Lord Morison delivered a considered judgment in favor of the girl's petition. He said the marriage of the plaintiff's parents was clearly proved, and the only question remaining was whether the plaintiff was their daughter. In His Lordship's opinion the answer was in the affirmative.

It was not unnatural, said the judgment, that the defendant and his wife were anxious to conceal the birth of their daughter from their parents. (The evidence indicated that the marriage took place subsequent to the birth of the child). Mrs. Lyon appeared to have registered her daughter's birth as legitimate, as she was entitled to do, the parents' domicile being Scottish. The evidence in the case established the identity of the plaintiff as the daughter of the defendant and his wife.

KLUX KLANSMAN FREED BY JURY

Lilly Slaying Charge Fell Down—Fight Followed Ceremony.

VICTIM SPRAYED KLAN

EBENBURG, Pa., June 16.—(Associated Press.)— Samuel Evans, who is said to be a member of the Ku Klux Klan, after his trial on a murder indictment which grew out of a fight between Klansmen and the townspeople of Lilly April 5, was acquitted by a jury here on Saturday night. The jury deliberated for an hour and twenty minutes.

Evans was the first of eighteen so-called Klansmen to be tried in connection with the killing of three other residents of Lilly.

In addition to murder and manslaughter charges, the defendants, who are said to be members of the Klan, are charged with carrying concealed weapons.

The thirty-one defendants now under indicement have been found guilty of affray and unlawful assemblage.

The indictment against Evans named Frank Miasco as the victim of the fight. The State introduced testimony to show that the trouble started after the Klan had held a demonstration on a near-by hillside, and when the robed men marched through the village to a special train.

Near the railroad station, witnesses testified, Miasco turned a stream of water on the Klansmen. Several witnesses for the prosecution said that a command "Halt—open fire!" came from the ranks of the Klansmen, while others said that the first shots were fired from "behind Miasco."

PARLIAMENT IS FACED BY MANY VITAL MATTERS

Church Union Among the Important Questions on Paper for Week.

MURDOCK CHARGES

Developments Expected in Canadian National Estimates.

OTTAWA, June 16 (Canadian Press). — The coming week promises to provide plenty in the way of parliamentary interest, including amongst other things Church Union, the final proceedings on the Murdock charges, and the new committee on the Canadian National estimates.

The Church Union issue will not really be joined in the House, according to present plans, until Tuesday evening. The Bill is to be reported to the House to-day, but will not be on the order paper for consideration until to-morrow evening, when there is an hour set apart for the consideration of private bills.

The first issue to come before the House in connection with this measure is the question of rescinding the Duff amendment, which provides for referring the bill to the Courts.

The report of the Priyileges and Elections Committee on the Murdock charges is now expected to be taken up in the Commons on Wednesday.

Hon. James Murdock, Minister of Labour was charged by E. Guss Porter, Conservative, West Hastings, with having violated his honour as a minister, and also the honour of Parliament in having withdrawn $4,050 from the Home Bank just before it closed its doors.

The committee decided that the minister had not acted on Cabinet information, but on information received privately and that the charge was not sustained. However, when the report comes in to the House, it is understood that an amendment will be moved from the Conservative benches asserting that the charges against the minister have been "proven and sustained."

Banking Question.

Banking questions are scheduled for debate on Tuesday, when a proposal is to be made to instruct the banking and commerce committe to take up a proposal to establish a central bank.

The proposal was made in the committee by J. T. Shaw, Independent, Calgary West, under the original reference as a method of providing security for depositors, but Chairman Vien ruled that it was a distinct proposal, and therefore the House has been asked for new instructions. The plan is understood to be not exactly in the nature of the Federal Reserve system of the United States, but rather a method of providing for control of the re-discount facilities under the Finance Act and coupling with that a system of bank inspection.

The Acting Minister of Finance, Hon. J. A. Robb, has already introduced into the committee a proposal for bank inspection under an Inspector-General of Banks.

CLOSER RELATIONS WILL BIND EMPIRE

Premier King's Speech is Followed by Comment in England.

LONDON, June 16. — (Canadian Press).—Several newspapers publish new and verbatim reports of Premier King's speech in the Canadian House concerning Imperial developments and the choice lying before Canada, this report being obviously supplied from Canadian official sources.

The Yorkshire Post remarks that the report bears out the view it had already drawn from the condensed version that Premier King's attitude was very similar to that of most people here. The Post sees little practicability in the proposal for maintaining Dominion delegates constantly in London, and looks rather to improvement of the present means of communication with more frequent interchange of visits, not merely of statesmen but of organizations and associations.

WANDERLUST.

Warm weather stimulates army enlistments, recruiting officers say. It's an outcropping of the spirit of wanderlust which comes in spring and summer, when the call of the outdoors is loudest.

In winter, it's fine to be sheltered indoors from the cold. Our ancestors battled thousands of years before winter lost its terrors. But when the sun's drowsy-bright and the whispering breeze brings the sweet scent of growing things, it's then we realize that civilization has its price, a terrific one.

Civilization is a penitentiary.

STEEL BEADS.

Bracelets of steel beads and necklaces of grey pearls are more stylish now than the more colourful effects in costume jewellery.

A Drive in Muskoka

Dear Susan
I've seated myself at this table to
Write the best rhyme that I really am able to,
Yet, when I start all my news thus to tabulate
Much I'd prefer, face to face, to confabulate—
Then I could tell you the facts—ev'ry item, too,
Think of the trouble I'd save to indite 'em too!
Still, for a friend who's not over-censorious
Tasks such as this should not prove too laborious,
So, by a sort of poetic vehicular,
Bless me, I'll send ev'ry blooming particular.
Bessie, I know, has discoursed on our travelling,
Saving me thus a good deal of unravelling,
But did she tell you of how Herbert drove us in,
How, at each hill, ev'ry jolt nearly stove us in,
Till, too exhausted to swear or vituperate
All I could pray for was chance to recuperate,
Oh, he's a teamster A.1. for artillery
But to drive persons with tendencies biliary
And fibres wound up to severest of tensioning
Herbert's capacity's hardly worth mentioning.
My! how we rattled down hills and through hollowings,
Appetites sated with constant heart-swallowings,—
Leaping from dizzy heights tall as my shoulder-blades—
Bumpity-bump—'twould have terrified bolder blades—
Bessie's fair tresses seemed knotted up hastily,
Soon from their meshes they floated out tastily—
Blissfully heedless, her blue eyes were beaming out
Whilst in a golden cascade they were streaming out—
Every five seconds we shot like a rocket up
Then, with a flop, seemed to loosen each socket up—
Laughter pealed forth from that Jehu Satanical,
Sulphurous laughter—superbly tyrannical—
Birds on the birchen twigs stared in astonishment,
Piping out lustily notes of admonishment—
Cows from the underwood raced for the higher lands,
Sheep scurried hither and thither for drier lands—
Thus do such beasts in their terror and wonder form
Plans for their safety at signs of a thunderstorm—
Children came scooting pell-mell from the cottages,
Licking their spoons for remains of their pottages—
Matrons who felt the earth shaking and quivering,
Ran with their babies, affrighted and shivering,
Yokels in barnyards and every farm's denizens
Seemed to bestow on us choicest of benisons—
Geese, ducks and turkeys all started their cackles off,
Cocks strutted proudly and crowed half their hackles off—
Curs barked to left of us—curs barked to right of us
Here, there and everywhere, cars barked at sight of us,
And as we neared our home, teams whisked their tales at us
Lifting their horrid hoofs, flung sand and shales at us—
* * * * * * * * * * *
Perhaps in some region unknown, in some far land,
Augels are waiting with harp and with garland,
Waiting to welcome with rapturous music
Teamsters who faithfully strove to make you sick—
If such a region there be, when they muster,
Herbert will surely be found in the cluster— (W.J.B.)

FACE POWDER FULL OF JAG

Use of Cosmetics is Serious if Poisons Are as Bad as Their Names.

MEDICAL CONVENTION.

CHICAGO, June 16.—Bootleggers in face powder constitute the newest menace discovered recently by the 5,000 physicians attending the seventy-fifth annual convention of the American Medical association.

Dangers in cosmetics have been known before, of course, as Dr. Harold N. Cole, of Cleveland, pointed out. Harmful ingredients such as mercury and arsenic are likely, often enough, to do more harm to milady's epidermis than good.

But not until now was it disclosed, also by Dr. Cole, that the tinge of lead often used in face powders, and enamls creams may cause intoxication. Dr. Cole, with a wise eye toward future requests in his direction, refused to tell how. But he said it.

Sounds Interesting.

"Powder your nose, enamel your eyelids, rouge your cheeks—and then stagger home for a bromo seltzer," was the gist of his message.

Dr. Cole, who is chairman of the section on skin diseases, went on to say that the danger of application of cosmetics, even if the cosmetics themselves were harmless, was an obstruction to the pores on the face. This obstruction, he said, was bound to injure any skin.

Many questions of popular vanity were touched on by Dr. Cole, from the danger that lurks in the dainty little box of mascara whose contents the young girl applies to her eyelashes in order to get the "soulful" expression of her favorite movie queen, to the story of how grandpa came to have magenta-colored whiskers. This last is one of the "rejuvenating" outcomes of a colorless dye whose action is intended to be checked by peroxide of hydrogen, which does not give uniform results.

More Use Cosmetics.

"The use of cosmetics has become, unfortunately, more and more common," said Dr. Cole. "What was once considered poor form is now the mode with the average woman, certainly in cities. Most women paint, all of them use powders of different types; the average woman uses at least some of the long list of cosmetics, and yet many of these women are unaware of the danger they are running from such use."

In 1919, American women spent $205,000,000 in the useless and often harmful quest for beauty via the cosmetic path, Dr. Cole pointed out, while in 1921 manufacturers put out $75,000,000 more of cosmetics than in 1919. What the selling price was may only be guessed.

Today, the question of beauty ills and dangerous conditions has become important enough to come before a convention of physicians occupied chiefly with advanced methods in the diagnosis and cure of disease.

Poisoning May Be Serious.

How serious poisoning resulting from the use of cosmetics may be is indicated when it is pointed out that poisons, as well known as carbolic acid, bichlorid of mercury, arsenic and wood alcohol, are masked under the fancy adjectives and attractive colors of cosmetic containers.

Other dangerous substances contained in beauty preparations listed by Dr. Cole are lead, bismuth, compounds of silver, salicylic acid, resorcin, pyrogallic acid, nitric acid, calcium, barium and a most dangerous substance called paraphenylendiamin.

The most commonly offending substance found in powders, face enamels and creams is lead, which causes the well-known lead poisoning. This illness causes inflammation and swelling of the affected parts, as well as severe internal pains, intoxication, and sometimes death.

MATTEOTTI'S BODY IS STILL MISSING

Finzi Who Was Accused by Newspapers of the Murder of Matteotti Resigned Position.

ROME, June 16 United Press).—The Fascisti Government took energetic measures today to disprove the charges that it was in any way implicated in the disappearance of Socialist Deputy Matteotti supposed to have been kidnapped and murdered on Friday.

Two of Premier Mussolini's old and trusted lieutenants high in the councils of Fascisimo have resigned and there are rumors of further Government changes as a result of the affair.

Socialists attempted to arouse the masses in a general strike of protest, a measure which would have been successful before the Fastisti regime but Premier Mussolini had the ring leaders thrown into jail and instructed his followers to report the first sign of disturbances.

A Fascist manifesto was issued, deploring the supposed crime (the body has not yet been found) praising Mussolini for his energetic measures and calling attention to numerous Fascist martyrs.

The entire Itali n press is daring the wrath of the Fascists in demanding the truth about the affair, however.

Before the speech, which accused Finzi of graft, could be delivered, Matteotti had disappeared. It was taken for granted he had been murdered and opposition newspapers had no hesitancy in pointing the finger of suspicion at Finzi, whereupon the latter resigned.

Mussolini, in accepting the resignation of Finzi and of Commendatore Cesear Rossi, head of the press bureau of the interior department, wrote cordially to his followers, as though disclaiming belief in their guilt.

Lake Vico, where the missing deputy's body is believed to have been placed, was dragged Sunday.

TWO MILLION DOLLARS WORTH OF DOPE SEIZED

NEW YORK, N.Y., June 16. — (Canadian Press.)— Drugs valued at more than $2,000,000 were seized last Saturday on a truck coming off a pier at Hoboken, N.J. It became known to-day. H. D. Esterbrook, chief of the special agents of the treasury department, who conducted the raid said the seizure uncovered one of the most elaborate and effective schemes ever divulged for smuggling narcotics into the United States.

BETHANY DROPPED ONE, AND WON ONE

The Belmonts of Peterboro won a fast game of baseball from Bethany on Friday evening. The game was close throughout, but the Belmonts had a little the better of the contest and walloped the Bethany twirler for four runs and four hits in four innings, while Chuck Bradley, who was on the mound for the Belmonts, was also touched for four hits and two runs in the four innings he pitched. Again on Saturday the Bethany team were engaged in a game of ball, but this time they were successful when they defeated Yelverton by the score of 6 to 4. Bethany played much faster ball in this game than they did against the Belmonts on Friday.

CAMPBELLFORD AND DISTRICT

CAMPBELLFORD, June 16. — Deputy-Reeve Dorie and Reeve Davidson took a leading part in the affairs of the Counties Council in Cobourg last week, being especially vigilant in guarding the interests of their own town.

Deputy-Reeve Dorie was a member of the committee on equalisation and on roads and bridges. At the meeting of the former he put up a vigorous fight against an increase in the equalisation of the towns and villages in the two counties, moving that there be no change in the arrangements of last year. The township members of the committee were in the majority, however, and Deputy-Reeve Dorie's motion was voted down.

Deputy-Reeve Wilson, of Percy, was the father of the motion which provided for an increase in the equalisation of the urban municipalities of 1 0per cent.

When the report of the committee on equalisation came before the Council sitting as a committee of the Whole, Deputy-Reeve Dorie and Reeve Davidson again took a prominent part in the opposition to any increase, the Deputy-Reeve from Campbellford again moving that there be no change.

Reeve Davidson pointed out that while the value of farm lands was practically stable, that of town property varied with fluctuations in the industrial conditions in the country. Any man, he said, could satisfy himself on this point by trying to borrow money from a bank, farm property always being regarded as the better security.

All arguments failed to convince the rural members of the Council, and the increase in the equalisation went through, the Reeves and the Deputy-Reeves from the country presenting a practically unbroken front.

Equalization in Campbellford

At the public meeting which was held following the nomination for municipal offices last December, the increase of 16 per cent in the equalization made by the Counties Council in 1923 was thoroughly discussed. Ex-Reeve Anderson was criticized for permitting the increase to go through notwithstanding the fact that he had been successful in reaching a compromise by which the proposed boost was reduced from 25 to 16 per cent. This cut meaning a considerable saving to the ratepayer of Campbellford.

It was argued at the nominations meeting that Mr. Anderson could have stopped the increase by merely threatenng to carry the matter on appeal to the County Judge. A revaluation of all the property in the counties would involve a heavy outlay which it was believed the rural members of the Council would not sanction.

To appeal the case is just what the representation from Campbellford proposed to do. Reeve Davidson has given notice to that effect and refused to change his mind when urged to do so by some of his fellow members after the matter had been disposed of. At the nomination meeting in December next there will be no chance to criticize the action of the reeve and deputy on this score at least.

Campbellford's New Bridge

When it was proposel to shelve the question of a new bridge—and of even repairing the present structure—for one year it was Deputy Reeve Dorie, who saved the day for his constituents and had the matter placed in the hands of the special committee provided by te statutes to deal with just such problems.

Road Grants Reduced.

Another matter on which the urban and rural members came to a test of strength was the road grants to towns and villages. The amount alowed the latter in 1923 was four per cent. on their equalization, Campbellford grant being $3150, less the usual reduction of 10 per cent. made by the government.

In the interests of economy the representatives of the town and village agreed to accept three per cent. this year. The rural reeves and deputies held a caucus on Thursday evening and their decision on this issue was made public when for the three per cent. grant.

Deputy-Reeve Nelson of Sey-Reeve Elliott of Bowmanville, asked mour was on his feet in a moment with a motion that the grant be made on a two per cent. basis and again the country members prevailed. The only support they received from the other side was given by the representatives from Cobourg. In that town the streets are in almost perfect repair and all Cobourg asks from the Counties Council this year is a grant of $1500. Reeve Corbett and Deputy-Reeve McGuire voted with the members from the townships.

Reeve Davidson seconded the motion providing for a three per cent. grant and with Deputy-Reeve Dorie spoke in opposition to the proposed cut.

Highway Grants.

Campbellford's highway grant this year will be $1575; that of Millbrook $392 and Hastings will receive $372.50, unless the grants are based on the increase in the equalization which, however, is likely to be suspended if Reeve Davidson enters an appeal.

All through the session the farmer members of the Council urged economy, on of their chief arguments being that the outlook for even an average harvest was by no means bright.

PLANT DISINFECTANT

Clean soapy water is a good disinfectant and if poured on plants or around the roots often keeps a plant free from objectionable insects.

HANDLING NATURAL SWARMS

To facilitate the handling of natural swarms, clip the wings of all laying queens early in the season, preferably during the first honey flow. Clipping the queen's wings does not stop the colony from swarming but prevents the queen leaving with the swarm, which will return as soon as the bees realize that the queen is not with them. When the swarm issues, the queen will usually be found on the ground in front of the hive. Place her in a small box or cage, and while the swarm is in the air move the old hive from its stand, replacing it with a new hive fitted with empty drawn comb or foundation. Over the new hive place a queen excluder and on top of this, all the supers from the old hive. The swarm will return to the new hive, and as the bees enter the queen can be released among them at the entrance.

To prevent after-swarms, the combs in the old (or parent) colony should be examined at once, all queen cells destroyed, and a young laying queen introduced. If no queens are available, leave one capped and one uncapped cell. The parent colony is left standing by the side of the new hive, but its entrance facing at right angles to that of the new. Turn the parent colony a little each day so that in about six days its entrance will be facing in the same direction as that of the new hive. On the ninth or tenth day, when the bees are flying freely, move the parent colony to a new location; this will cause all the workers to unite with the swarm.

If by accident a swarm issues with a flying queen, it will usually cluster on some nearby tree or bush. After the bees are all settled, the limb on which they cluster can be cut off and the swarm carried and shaken down in front of a hive prepared for it, or it can be returned to the hive from which it issued, first destroying all queen cells. The old queen also should be killed and the colony re-queened ten days later with a young laying queen.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

By Olive Roberts Barton

THE RUNAWAY

"My, isn't the world big!" he cried.

"Oh, ho!" cried Cutie Cottontail. "Now I'm a sailor and I'm going to sea."

He had gone to Mister Bags' store in the woods for a pound of lard, and on his way home he had stopped at the creek and dumped out the lard and made a boat out of the little wooden thing it came in.

He put a piece of paper up for a sail and jumped in, and away he went.

Cutie was a very, very little rabbit boy, the biggest part of him being his pink ears. And the little boat bore him along very fast.

"My, isn't the world big!" he cried. "I've never been so far away from home before."

The little creek carried him along, away from the forest and through the meadow and down through a valley toward the river.

"Hello," he called to Jimmy Jay, looking for mosquitoes along the bank.

"Hello!" called Jimmy. "Where are you going?"

"To make my fortune! I'm going to sea," answered Cutie.

"Look out for whales," laughed Jimmy.

Next he passed Charley Kingfisher.

"Hello!" called Cutie.

"Hello!" called Charley. "Where are you going?"

"I'm going to sea!" answered Cutie loudly.

"Oho!" whistled Charley. "Watch out for pirates."

"Pirates yourself! I'm not afraid," called Cutie, sticking his pink ears forward to show how brave he was.

The next person he passed was Sammy Snipe, wading near the shore in the meadow.

"Hello!" called Cutie. "What are you doing?"

"Fishing," answered Sammy. "What are you doing away out there?"

"Take a good look!" called Cutie. "I'm running off. I'm going to sea."

"Watch out for the waves!" called Sammy. "They're as high as church steeples!"

"Waves yourself! "I'm no baby," called Cutie.

On went the little boat until it came to the river.

"Here's the sea! though Cutie happily. "I don't see any pirates, or whales, or waves. I'm glad I came! Who's afraid?' '

The river got wider and a wind came up. Little waves began to splash over the edge of the lard-holder boat. Cutie could see land no longer as this was the place the river emptied into the sea.

"I want to go home," he wailed. "I was only fooling all the time. I wish I was back home with mama And I'm hungry. I wish I had some fried carrots. Oh my!"

Suddenly there was a sound in the air and Cutie felt himself lifted up like a feather. Just in time, too, for a big wave splashed over the boat just then and down it went.

Who saved him? Oh, yes, you'll want to know, of course. Mister Bags, the fairyman, telephoned to a friendly eagle who lived on a hill-top to watch out for the little rabbit boy. And he did. It was the eagle that rescued him.

I don't know whether Mrs. Cotton Tail ever got her lard or not. I don't suppose she did.

DRY.

The college boy who totes a hip flask is getting attention. Students are being organized into dry clans, pledged to uphold the prohibition laws, in many eastern colleges. Members agree to refuse drinks.

This is the only way the coming generation can be kept from Demon Rum. Prohibition is nine-tenths a problem of education—of drinking rather than making and selling firewater.

PARLIAMENT IS

down to work on Tuesday.

W. D. Euler, Liberal, North Waterloo, is chairman. The proceedings are expected to attract much attention, and interesting developments are looked for.

Both the Minister of Railways, the Hon. G. P. Graham, and Sir Henry Thornton, president of the Canadian National, have promised that the committee will be supplied with the fullest possible information. The committee is charged with investigation not only of the Government railways, but of the Canadian Government Merchant Marine as well.

The Redistribution Committee is still continuing its efforts to arrive at a solution of the many vexed questions involved in the decennial re-arrangement of the parliamentary constituencies. There is understood to be general agreement in the West and in the Maritime Provinces, but agreement is said to be still a good way off as far as Ontario and Quebec are concerned. Closely connected with the Redistribution Bill is the proposal for the alternative vote in single member constituencies. This principle has met with criticism from Conservatives in the House, and its adoption is expeted to be opposed by them when it comes up in the form of a Bill.

Senate Still Busy.

The Senate is still busy with the Canadian National Branch Line Bills. Nineteen of these Bills have been dealt with so far by the Senate Railway Committee. In seventeen cases the committee has given tentative approval, while the two Vancouver Island Bills have been tentatively held up. No formal reports have been made, and the decision on the Vancouver Island Bills is still subject to review.

There are still seven other branch line Bills to come before the committee, and these are expected to be taken up during the coming week.

VALUE PEDIGREE IN SEED

"Pedigree" in seed grain bears essentially the same relationship to crop production as "pedigree" in the case of live stock bears in relation to the profitable production of milk or meat. The value of pedigree in live stock has been recognized for centuries, but it is only within comparatively recent times that the principles of breeding have been found to apply in the case of plant life. Even to-day comparatively few people realize that reproduction in plants follows essentially the same laws of nature and takes place in much the same way as it does in the case of animals. In the case of our ordinary grain crops, the male and female organs are situated in the one individual flower. New varieties are produced by removing the male organs (stamens) from the flower and introducing the fertilizing element, known as pollen, from the male organs of another variety. The seed resulting from this fertilization combines the potentialities of the two parents. It is therefore of the utmost importance that the varieties chosen as parents possess qualities of outstanding merit. The varieties of grain which are grown to-day in Canada have been produced chiefly by artificial or natural crossing of different varieties, followed by a rigid selection. As might naturally be expected, varieties differ greatly, not only in visible characters but in their ability to yield. Some, moreover, are suited to certain conditions of soil and climate, while others thrive satisfactorily under conditions which are quite different. In view of these facts, it is obvious that the individual farmer should do a certain amount of variety testing on his own farm from time to time. While his nearest experimental station will be able to advise him as to what varieties are likely to thrive under his conditions, it is almost necessary that he try these varieties on his own farm for a year or two in order to be sure which is most suitable for his particular conditions. Here the 'performance record,' as in the dairy cow, will be the deciding factor, but the foundations for this record will have been laid through generations of careful breeding.

They Get What They Want

A new kind of confidence game is worked in Boston. Joe went to the movies, sporting his $725 diamond ring. A pretty girl, about 16, sat next to him.

She admired the sparkler. My, she'd always wanted to see a diamond like that on her finger. Joe was obliging. Did he have the correct time? He did. What, so late in the afternoon? Would Joe mind holding her hat while she telephoned mama she'd be late for dinner? Sure.

Joe still has the hat.

The bobbed-haired girl still has the diamond.

• • •

The ease with which women wrap men around their fingers and make them jump through the hoop, is as pathetic as it is ancient. You recall saying that it takes a mother 21 years to make a man of her son, and only 21 seconds for a pretty face to make a fool of him. And the older they are, the harder they fall.

It's all for the best—part of nature's cunning system of biology.

• • •

About 20 years ago, when women began flocking into business after generations of seclusion in the American home, business man began to sense the commercial possibilities of a pretty face and soft voice.

The telephone companies tried male operators early in the game. But customers were so rough with "Central" over the wire, and called at the office to stage a fight so often, that the companies began to hire girls.

Restaurant men know that waitresses bring more business than waiters, as a rule. Each pretty waitress attracts her own following.

It's the same in stores catering to men, all the way from clothing to tobacco.

Beauty is a commercial asset. They're even turning elevators over to fascinating young misses. Biology is getting on a business basis.

• • •

Governments are incredibly stupid in not using women as diplomats. Germany, for instance. She might get better terms at a reparations conference if she were represented by ravishing vamps instead of solemn statistical gents with heads like gourds.

Women have become a fixed institution as lobbyists around most legislative bodies. Why not try them internationally?

And their beauty wouldn't be the only advantage. Feminine initiation and practical psychology would help, not to mention their brain power. They'd take to the game like a duck to water. In former centuries women like Du Barry, powers behind the thrones, made whole nations their toys.

OBITUARY

MRS. B. BLASTORAH.

LAKEFIELD, June 16. — The death occurred suddenly on Saturday afternoon of Etta, wife of Mr. Bernard Blastorah and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. Garvey of Smith township. Mrs. Blastorah was well known in the district as a beautiful singer, and the congregtion of St. Paul's Roman Catholic church was often delighted by her sweet voice. She was a cousin of the Rev. J. J. Garvey, of St. Paul's, and her death came as a great shock to him as well as to her parents and husband.

There are left to mourn her loss besides her husband and parents, four sons and one daughter, the youngest child being an infant of two days. She is also survived by five sisters and five brothers, Mrs. Lagrander of Toronto; Mrs. Collins, of Peterborough; Mrs. M. Allen of Lakefield, Miss Laura Garvey and Miss Martha Garvey, at home; James and Joseph of Peterboro; Leo of Bath continuation school; Timothy at home, and Fred, of Toronto.

The funeral will be held in Lakefield.

BILLIONS.

Uncle Sam says it'd take 321 billion dollars to buy the United States and all its resources.

Dr. Walter Ingalls, prominent statistician, says the figure is too high—should be only 273 billions. But what are a few billions among statisticians? More so to a public, few of whom ever saw as much as $10,000 together at one time.

Easier to grasp is his conclusion that it requires $2,000 worth of machinery and plant for each factory or mill worker.

King Tut's Telephone

QUITE naturally, effective work by the Howard Carter party at the tomb of King Tutankhamen in the valley of the Kings, was out of the question without the aid of the telephone. The problem of an operator was solved by arranging for the services of the turbaned gentleman shown on the left. The contrast between him and the alert, intelligent young lady of the type we know so well, is striking, but it is averred that, under the conditions imposed by the excavators, the Egyptian filled the bill very well.

DOING GOOD WORK.

The Peterborough Fish and Game Protective Association continues to be active in working for the protection of the fish and game resources of the district and for the replenishment of supplies.

Through its efforts a large amount of pickerel fly has been distributed in local waters, and bass fingerlings will also be placed in the district rivers and lakes.

In addition, the association in an effort to established pheasants in this section of Ontario, has placed out some thirty settings, and the assistance of the public is urged on behalf of this undertaking.

Last year a number of pheasants was killed by people who failed to recognize the species and knew nothing of the campaign of the association.

Citizens are asked to be on the watch this year and to give the birds a chance.

The Fish and Game Association is doing good work and deserves the co-operation of the district generally.

MARKS—GERMAN AND OTHERWISE.

They are not all dead yet.

An individual with a glib tongue stood in a motor car on the Market Square on Saturday and exchanged for good Canadian coin of the realm bales of German marks, Russian roubles and Austrian and Hungarian crown notes.

There was a ready sale for these wortnless pieces of paper which have no money value now, and as far as the financial experts are able to judge will never be worth more than the value of the paper on which they are printed.

The purchasers will be interested in knowing that while they were paying a dollar for twenty German notes of a face value of 100,000 marks each, they could have walked into any confectionery store and by purchasing twenty bars of a certain brand of milk chocolate at 5c a bar they could have obtained the same quantity of marks.

German 100,000 mark notes are being given away with this chocolate as a souvenir, and yet there was no scarcity of people ready to plank down a good Canadian dollar for twenty of them.

They might better have bought a dollar's worth of candy and had the worthless pieces of paper thrown in.

No blue sky legislation would be effective enough to protect people who are credulous enough to pay good money for something that is being given away just 'round the corner.

QUEBEC'S EXPERIMENT.

The working out of Quebec's new regulations against speeding will be watched with interest by other Canadian Provinces which are anxious to draft laws that will deal effectively with this modern problem.

The fine system is to be abandoned in Quebec except in very exceptional cases.

The Minister of Roads, Hon. J. L. Perron, expects to get results from the new methods that were impossible under the previous regulations.

He is working on the theory that a $10 fine for speeding does not do much to curb the evil.

It does not deter other motorists from "stepping on the gas," and the people who are fined are rather inclined to boast about it to their friends.

So the fines go overboard in Quebec, and the man who drives at reckless speed faces something much more serious.

He runs the risk of having his license cancelled and of being deprived of his right to operate an automobile.

That sounds like business.

The reckless driver who figures that at the worst he will only be fined if he is caught will be sobered by the knowledge that if he is detected in flagrant violation of the speed regulations it is likely to be his last time at the wheel of a car.

Hon. Mr. Perron declares that the regulations will be strictly enforced, which indicates that Quebec is not likely to be a very healthy place for automobilists who refuse to drive within reasonable limits as regards speed.

HIGH TAXES.

High taxation, whether it proceeds from swelling debt or the increasing cost of public services, cuts in upon the people's savings; and such savings represent the prime source of capital for productive enterprises. Only by increased production can national wealth be swollen, and increased production is almost entirely a matter of available capital, says the Ottawa Journal. Therefore, the logic of the situation is unanswerable. We cannot expand as we should, and might, while we are adding to the burden of taxes resting on the shoulders of the common people; and we shall inevitably keep on piling up taxes until we are prepared to submit to the discipline of retrenchment, both national, Provincial and municipal.

Our neighbors across the line are doing something to help themselves, so far as national taxes are concerned. They have cut down the income tax. They have done this in two ways: First, by increasing the exemption in the case of married taxpayers, with further concessions to those having dependents; and second, by reducing the rate.

The American scale is kept very low for all earned incomes up to $10,000 in the case of married men and women; and the wisdom of doing this can scarcely be questioned. It must be confessed, however, that our neighbors are in a somewhat better position to do this than are we, since they have such a large body of very rich individuals upon which to draw.

In so far as the raising of revenue by direct taxation in Canada is compulsory, by reason of obligations created by the war and our nationalized railways, it might not be practical yet to rival the American scale. But unless Canada gets down a lot, all industry in this country must suffer.

Ought we not to have bank inspection without all this threshing of old straw at Ottawa? asks the Toroto Globe.

THE ROTARY CONVENTION.

The members of the Peterborough Rotary Club are striving for a one hundred per cent. attendance at the Rotary International Convention which begins in Toronto today.

Incidentally, the local Rotarians plan to give their home city some publicity during the proceedings, and to advertise Peterborough as a centre of progress and advancement in Rotary as well as along general lines.

The Peterborough camp at the Exhibition Grounds in Toronto will be the nucleus of a large motor encampment, and the local delegation expect to let the world know that this city is on the map.

The convention promises to be one of the biggest gatherings ever held in Canada, and the fact that the delegates will number some 10,000 and that they are coming from all ends of the earth, is a revelation of the wonderful hold the ideals of Rotary have gained upon the world.

Rotary International is but 19 years old, yet it has spread into 26 different countries, has enrolled some 1,800 clubs and has a membership of 100,000.

From a little dinner party in a Chicago cafe 19 years ago grew the movement that has swept the universe.

Peterborough has watched the local progress of Rotary with interest.

It has seen the club, organized here several years ago, interest itself in many movements of community value.

The citizens appreciate the work on behalf of under-privileged boys and the summer camp at Clear Lake.

They applaud the Rotarians for what they are undertaking in looking after the city's crippled children.

And they realize that the bringing together once a week of representative business and professional men in a common bond of intimate intercourse under the banner "Service Above Self" has been a good thing for the men themselves and a better thing for their home city.

The value then of an international organization as an agency for promoting a better understanding among the various countries of the world can be estimated from an appraisement of what Rotary has accomplished locally.

No better explanation of what Rotary is need be sought than that of Norman Sommerville, the President of the Toronto Rotary Club, who points out that, primarily, a Rotary Club is a group of representative business and professional men who, without secret vow, dogma or creed, but each in his own way, have accepted the Rotary philosophy of service, and are seeking:

First, to study collectively the theory of service as the true basis of success and happiness in business and in life.

Second, to give, collectively, practical demonstrations of it to themselves and their community.

Third, each as an individual, to translate its theory into practice in his business and in his everyday life.

Fourth, individually and collectively, by active precept and example, to stimulate its acceptance both in theory and practice by all non-Rotarians as well as by all Rotarians.

Rotary's activities are threefold

First, through the individual, the spirit of service expresses itself in every contact of life, developing higher ethics in business, truer relationships between employer and employee, and nobler ideals in private and social life.

Second, through the organized group of Rotarians known as a Rotary Club the principle of service finds expression in continuing community activities, in boys' work, in crippled children's work, federated charities and other service activities.

It is, however, in the organization of clubs in all the countries of the world that Rotary may attain the greatest good. The bringing together of representatives of such a world fellowship is a practical demonstration of one of the chief objects for which Rotary is organized—"To encourage and foster the advancement of understanding, good will and international peace through a world fellowship of business and professional men united in the Rotary ideal of service."

AFTER SMUGGLERS.

The smugglers boast that they have already discovered a way of defeating the treaty just entered into between the Governments of the United States and Canada for the prevention of illicit trading in liquor and drugs between the two countries, says the Hamilton Spectator. Their system appears to be the simple one of clearing for one port in the United States and heading for another. That, of course, is what they have been doing right along, when sailing ostensibly for such places as Cuba and merely crossing the lake to dump their contraband cargo and return for another. The new arrangement provides for Canadian officers keeping watch on suspicious shipments even after they have got across the border. They will notify the United States authorities that a cargo is on the way to a certain place, and the latter will be on the look-out for it. Should the whiskey-runners carry out their scheme of evasion and go somewhere else, it might possibly work the first time, but it would not surely be so easy to repeat the performance. The offenders would be known and could be dealt with.

It was a foregone conclusion that the bootleggers would do their best to defeat the law. They will have a poorer chance than hitherto, and that is a definite gain. Whatever one may think of prohibition, either as applied in Ontario or in the United States, there will be general agreement that, the law being what it is, it should be respected. Canada has too long suffered from the discredit attaching to this traffic in smuggled liquor and is only too anxious to put an end to it. The co-operative effort to deal with the drug evil, too, will be warmly welcomed in both countries. Only by international action of this kind can this vicious commerce be effectively curbed.

A Thought

IN THE COUNTY HOUSE.

A man is indebted to the world for room enough to live in. Even the small plot of ground that we call "the cradle of transformation," we must pay for, or at least someone must pay for.

The most peaceful and yet the most powerful proof that we must all pay is this sentimental spot under the snow or scared plot where the flowers grow. We call it a grave, but it is the garden of our tender recollections and we must pay for it and someone must care for it.

We pay for every act in life, not always in cash, but in consequences.

The man who insists that the world owes him a living, usually collects his pay through the pangs of poverty or remorse. He gets his pay, but he cannot pass this counterfeit on to a friend. Nobody wants it.

Every man owes himself the effort of a supreme struggle, and even then a man may fail to make much money, cut cash cannot be compared with health and happiness.

If you have lived and earned the respect and confidence of your neighbors and friends—if you have lived, loved and laughed—if you have health, you have collected from the world its best rewards. You owe the earth you stand on and the air you breathe, a lot

What an idea, "The world owes me a living"! The "world" simply means earth and air. If you feel that the people should support you without a struggle on your part, they will eventually support you in the—County House.

The man who will not accept, as an advantage, sincere and capable suggestions, "knows more than the law allows."

MONTREAL PRODUCE.

....MONTREAL, June 16 (Canadian Press). — Prices held firm in the cash oats market on Saturday. Flour prices were marked up 10 to 15 cents per barrel. There was no change in the millfeed market. The egg situation is without change. Total receipes from 1st May to date were 123,865 cases, as compared with 189,753 cases the same period last year. The butter market is strong. Total receipts from 1st May to date have been 7,069 packages less than in the same period of 1923. Cheese prices are firm. The total receipts from 1st May to date have been 1,398 boxes less than in the same period of 1923.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, June 16 (Canadian Press). — High temperature endangering the wheat crop in the south-west lifted the wheat market on Saturday to above any price which September or December delivery had heretofore touched this season.

Closing quotations for wheat were strong at 7-8c to 1 1-2c to 1 5-8c net gain, with corn unchanged to 1-2c up; oats varying from 1-8c to 1-4c decline to 1-4c advance, and provisions unchanged to 7 cents higher.

Notwithstanding heavy sales to realise profits and despite other selling based on belief that a reaction was due after a week's advance, the wheat market showed a decided upward tendency throughout the day. Highest prices were reached just before the finish of the trading, and after strenuous efforts failed to stop the advance from over-topping $1.14 for September.

Special attention was given to reports that the bulk of the wheat crop in the big producing region of Kansas and much of Western Oklahoma was in either the milk or the dough stage of development, and was extremely susceptible to shrinkage or blight.

Word of better demand for export at the seaboard tended somewhat to accelerate the upward swing of the wheat market. It was estimated that 500,000 bushels had been taken for Europe, including 200,000 bushels to be shipped by way of the Gulf of Mexico. It was also reported that 500 00 bushels had been sold out of elevators at Minneapolis to millers in other cities and that a big trade in flour was under way in Great Britain.

Corn and oats were firmer, owing to the wheat advance. Improved conditions for growth of corn, however, acted largely as a counterbalance. Besides, Illinois offered a little oats to arrive.

Higher quotations on hogs helped to strengthen provisions.

Answered by

BENJAMIN BILLS

Director of Sales, American Bond and Mortgage Company.

The remarkable increase in population of real estate bonds is indicated in the increase in their sale from $50,000,000 in 1919 to about $500,000,000 in 1923.

Even in the smaller cities real estate bonds have met with an unusually cordial reception. The reason is that the smaller city and country investor can understand quite readily the nature of the real estate bond, for it is so much like the old-fashioned mortgage on his home or farm.

Further, the careful business man who believes in building a reserve to carry him through the possible lean years of his business, is turning more and more to real estate bonds, because of their non-fluctuating value at a time when he needs to borrow on them or to re-sell them.

This general increasing popularity of real estate bonds accounts for the fact that their sale is estimated to have been approximately one-sixth of the total volume of long term corporate financing done last year.

WEATHER BUREAU DATA AID IN CHIMNEY CONSTRUCTION

Engineers charged with the building and remodelling of scores of heating and coal-consuming power plants in Salt Lake City have called on the Weather Bureau of the United States Department of Agriculture for data to assist them in making plans for the new structures following a new city ordinance, aimed at the reduction of the smoke nuisance. The barometric pressure for Salt Lake City, which is 4,350 feet above sea level, averages from 25.60 to 25.70 inches through the winter months. The average atmospheric pressure at approximately sea-level localities is about 28.90 inches. Where the air is rare afreater volume must be furnished to supply the amount of oxygen required. This increase can be obtained by increasing the velocity of the air taken in or the size of the opening through which it is received.—Scientific American.

According to Popular Science Monthly the highest temperature that has been reached is nine thousand degrees Fahrenheit. This was obtained by the explosion of cordite in a steel cylinder. The temperature was only of a moment's duration.

Of 82 examples of proverbs based on cloud formations many were absolutely contradictory. Each different cloud formation was given credit for a variety of effects.

Paul In Possession

By RUBY AYRES

Copyright, 1924, by The McClure Newspaper Syndicate

The story thus far:

"Abide with me, fast falls the even tide——" Over and over again the plaintive tune was borne to the dying ears of John Collinge. Then the bells were silent—and in the following silence he died. He left behind him Wanda Griffin, his adopted daughter—as selfish and unpopular as he himself had been—and his son Paul, with whom he had quarrelled, and who was consequently abroad. After his death Wanda felt (for the first time in her life) remorse, but it did not prevent her from being as bad tempered as ever, and Bertram Lindsay, the family lawyer, found her as difficult to deal with as ever.

TO DAY'S INSTALMENT.

III—CLARE GARNET.

Of all the many acquaintances Wanda had made during her various travels about the world with John Collinge, there was only one woman whom she could call her friend, and that was Clare Garnet.

Clare was a widow of uncertain age, which is between thirty and forty, and for some unexplained reason Wanda loved her.

She admired her, believed in her, and loaded her with presents, and Clare accepted it all, as she accepted every thing else offered to her in life, with her slow, gracious smile, and murmured words of thanks in the softest, most charming of voices.

She was a woman who had had an unhappy past, if she was to be believed. She told Wanda a sketchy story of a brutal husband, who had shattered her first romance and broken her heart, but who had, none the less, left her apparently comfortably provided for, when an attack of pneumonia carried him beyond her reach.

"What I suffered nobody will ever know," she confided to Wanda, who put her arms round her and kissed her, and said that all men were brutes and that she hated them.

When she told John Collinge about it he laughed cynically.

"I should like to ask the late Ralph Garnet for his version of the story," he said grimly.

For, on the subject of Mrs. Garnet, she and old Collinge could never agree, and so during his lifetime the fair Clare never came to Grey Chumley, though the morning after his death, feeling the solemnity of the house to be intolerable, Wanda sent her a telegram begging her to come at once; then she rang for the housekeeper and ordered the best bedroom to be got ready.

• • •

Mrs. King opened her eyes wide.

"The best bedroom—the pink room?" she asked, amazed, for the pink room was where John Collinge's poor little wife had died and it had never been used since; not because of pleasant memories, for as Collinge himself had once expressed it:

"There isn't a single pleasant memory attached to it, and I hope it will remain shut up till the crack of doom."

But Wanda raised her head haughtily as she answered:

"Most certainly the pink room. Kindly have it cleaned and a fire lit."

Mrs. King retired with set lips.

"Not decent, it isn't," she grumbled to the housemaid to whom she gave her reluctant instructions. "And the master hardly cold! Going against his wishes like that!"

It was not that she had ever had any respect or affection for the dead man, but because she had always hated Wanda and her authority in the house.

But the pink room was duly cleaned, and its windows opened to the June sunshine, and a huge wood fire sent roaring up its wide chimney.

And Mrs. Garnet arrived the following morning.

"I'm so glad you've come. It's dreadful! I should have gone mad if I had had to stay another night here alone."

Clare Garnet kissed her.

"You poor child! Why didn't you let me know before?"

"I sent as soon as I could. Uncle John only died on Sunday night."

Mr. Lindsay came down from town that day and stayed to dinner with them.

He expected that Paul Collinge would have arrived he said; he had received another wire from him. He seemed surprised not to find him there already.

"I have heard nothing from him," Wanda said haughtily. "I think at least he might have written to me."

"I understand that you and he have never met," Mr. Lindsay said quietly.

Wanda's eyes flashed.

"Does that make any difference?" she asked. "Uncle John was evidently right when he called him an ill mannered savage."

She was wearing a black frock out of deference to Wanda, and it suited her slight fairness to perfection.

Black did not suit Wanda, and she knew it and hated it.

"If Paul comes, he will have to go to the inn," she said suddenly. "I don't want him here. Uncle John would have hated him to be here."

"It is by his father's desire that he is coming home," Mr. Lindsay reminded her.

Clare Garnet intervened.

"Is it many years since he was in England?"

"Twelve years," Mr. Lindsay answered.

"Uncle John often said that he never wished to see him again," Wanda broke in.

Nobody answered.

Wanda pushed back her chair.

"If everyone has finished we may as well go to the library."

The library was the only cheerful room in the house. It was hung with gay sporting prints and bright curtains, and overlooked the flower garden, which was just now flooded with evening sunshine.

Clare sank into the most comfortable chair and drew a cushion beneath her head.

Mr. Lindsay fidgeted round the room; he longed to smoke, but did not like to suggest it.

Wanda sat down at the piano and began to play, then stopped abruptly, with a vivid memory of what lay in the room overhead and rising, went to the window.

Clare looked at Bertram Lindsay.

"I am sure you would like to smoke, wouldn't you?" she asked. "Wanda will not mind, will you, dear?"

"I don't care," Wanda said indifferently. "I don't care what anyone does."

Mr. Lindsay lit a cigarette.

"I suppose you will not have one?" he asked Mrs. Garnet.

She held out her white hand.

"Oh, please! I should love one."

Wanda flung open the French window that led into the garden.

"I can't breathe; the house stifles me," she said, and went out.

Save Fuel in Cooking

The illustration shows an interesting test you should try in your own kitchen. It proves the superiority of good enameled ware for cooking purposes. Take an SMP Enameled Ware Sauce Pan, and a sauce pan of equal size made of aluminum, tin or other metal. Into each pour a quart of cold water. Set both sauce pans over the fire. The water in the SMP Enameled Ware Sauce Pan will be boiling merrily in about five minutes, while the water in the all-metal sauce pan will come to the boil in about eight minutes—three minutes longer. Save fuel in cooking. Use

BALLOONISTS OFF ON BENNETT RACE

Yanks Had a Real Sky Pilot Aboard—British Had Mishap.

BRUSSELS, June 16. — Seventeen ballonists, in high spirits, and animated by an earnest desire to win the Gordon Bennett Cup, took off yesterday from the great Solbosch Plain, just outside of Brussels, in almost perfect atmospheric conditions for the 14th competition for the trophy. The balloonists represented 17 countries.

An enormous crowd ,estimated at close to 200,000 persons, saw them ascend in beautiful style, in strange contrast to last year's start, when with a raging tempest, balloons were smashed and death was already hovering above the plain before the aeronauts departed.

Lieut. Ernest De Muyter of Belgium, three times winner of the cup was the favorite. He is piloting the Belgica.

Captain Honeywell, United States representative, because of his long experience and his incombustible balloon with elaborate equipment is second choice among those speculating on the outcome.

The filling of the balloons was completed at two o'clock in the afternoon. A mild north to north-easterly wind was blowing, but it freshened up and Lieut. De Muyter taking off at 4:30, cleared the buildings surrounded the Solbosch plain, with a minimum loss of ballast. The Belgion promptly disappeared toward the French frontier in what seemed to be a 25 mile breeze driving his balloon along in magnificent style.

The British baloon Banshee III., shortly after the start, grazed some trees at Lindale, on the outskirts of Brussels, but managed to rise after shifting a large amount of ballast. Nobody was hurt and the balloon, which was piloted by Major Baldwin, who had Lord Grosvenor on board, was able to continue.

Captain Honeywell's "Uncle Sam" made the start at 5:55. The Captain was assisted by the Rev. Wofer Timmons of St. Louis. He made a perfect start and as he slowly rose Captain Honeywell shouted to the members of the American Embassy close by: "We've got a real 'sky pilot' aboard; we are sure winners."

LONDON FOGS

There is no fundamental difference between mist and fog; in most cases fog is only a dense mist, and the density at which mist becomes fog is a matter of definition. When mist and fog are formed in fairly clear air they are white. On the other hand, if the air contains a large quantity of impurities, such as carbon particles from imperfect combustion, the mist particles absorb the impurities and become themselves dark-colored. In this way are formed those dense fogs in London which are likened to pea soup. It was originally thought that the density of a London fog was due to the fact that the smoke of the city provided an unusually large number of nuclei on which condensation could take place, thus offering a temptation to the air to deposit its moisture which it could not resist. As a matter of fact, there are always sufficient nuclei in the purest air in England to allow of the formation of fog whenever the meteorological conditions are suitable.

The relationship between smoke and fog is peculiar, and may be said to be accidental. The meteorological conditions which are necessary for the formation of fog are such that while they last smoke cannot get away either vertically or horizontally from the place of its origin. Above the fog there is a temperature inversion which effectively prevents all upward motion of either air or smoke, while fogs over the land usually form in calm air. Thus during a fog practically all the smoke which London makes is kept over it and remains within a few hundred feet of the ground.

This smoke, combined with the deposited water, can, as we all know, produce such an obscurity that midday is as dark as midnight. The total abolition of smoke from London would not reduce the occasions on which mist and fog occur, but many fogs would remains mists, and we should never have a "London particular." For the formation of mist and fog it is necessary that the temperature of the air should continue to fall after the dew point of the air has been reached.

The extent to which the temperature continues to fall below the original dew point determined the density of the obscurity, neglecting for the moment the effect of impurities. This cooling can be brought about in several ways, of which only two are of real importance in this connection.

Fogs may be caused by warm air blowing over a cold sea or a cold land surface. The fogs of London are, however, almost entirely due to the loss of heat from the lower layers of the atmosphere into a clear sky above. The air radiates its heat, its temperature falls and condensation takes place as already described. Other methods of fog formation, such as the mixing of warm and cold air, are of secondary importance and never give rise to more than patchy local mists or light fogs.—Abstract from 'Nature', April 14, 1923.

ORIENT.

In mystic India, cradle of the white race if not of all races, 20,000 natives are sweltering in the hot sun, building the world's largest dam. It'll be a mile long, to cost 60 million dollars.

That's a huge sum, especially in the Orient. And yet in China, where wages average 18 cents an hour now, 60 million dollars would buy the labor of the entire Chinese population for only one hour.

The Orient's ocean of humanity is, to a white brain, unfathomable in depth When in hundreds of millions wakes and adopt our ways, our descendant, are going to have their hands full competing.

ROAD GANG BUSY.

Special Grant Helps Marmora—Ladies' Lodge Held Social Evening.

MARMORA, June 16.—The county road gang, under William McCoy, have been fixing the Lake Road. This has been made possible by a special colonization grant.

Good progress is being made with the erection of Mr. Michael Kouri's new store, which replaces the one destroyed by fire a few months ago.

Ladies' Lodge Social.

The Orange Hall was the scene of a very enjoyable social on Friday evening, which was held under the auspices of the newly-formed Ladies' Lodge.

After the opening ode there was a short programme prepared by members of the lodge. Lunch was served and a social hour spent. A number of visitors were made welcome at this meeting.

A NEW PASTOR AT ROSENEATH

Changes in Conference Bring Rev. Lovelace of Centreton There.

DECORATION DAY

ROSENEATH, June 16.—L.O.L. 261 held their regular monthly meeting last week when Bros. James Webb and Herbert McCracken were appointed a committee to arrange for the church service on the last Sunday in June to be held in St. James' Anglican Church.

The Royal Black Preceptory Lodge met in the Orange Hall on Thursday night and conferred the sixth degree on Sir Knight Clarence Sherwin.

Rev. A. R. Walsh, pastor of the Methodist Church here has been transferred by the stationing committee of the Bay of Quinte conference to Coe Hill, and the Rev. Lovelace, of Centreton, was given this charge.

Miss Grace Blodgett has returned home after spending a short time visiting friends in Toronto.

Mr. Ross McCracken has purchased a new Ford touring car from the Sherwin Brothers.

Mr. Earl Shearer motored to Toronto on Friday.

Mr. John McMillan, township clerk, has nearly all his house torn down getting ready for the erection of a new one. This will make a fine addition on the main street.

The small grader has started operating on the township roads.

Mrs. George Montgomery, of Oshawa, has been visiting friends in this locality.

Mrs. March, of Michigan State, is visiting at the home of her nephew, Mr. Fred Sherwin.

Mrs. Correll Thackeray has been under the doctor's care for the past few days, as she is suffering from an attack of bronchitis.

Girls on Hike.

The girls of the C.G.I.T. took a walking trip on Thursday afternoon by way of Austin Sherwin's farm to Vimy Ridge on the lake, covering about six miles. They spent the afternoon playing ball and other games. The lake shore proved a most enticing spot to serve their abundant refreshments. They returned to the village in the evening quite tired out, but having enjoyed a very pleasant afternoon.

The board of Merrill's Cemetery are asking all who can to attend the decoration there on Tuesday, the 17th of June.

The Butcher

The butcher who keeps his hand on the scales and weighs it with the steak may be known to many of you. And, no doubt, you comment about the crookedness and petty cheating of this day and age when things are going to the bow-wows.

Things, by the way, are always going to the bow-wows—in all generations, all centuries.

More than 400 years ago a famous French preacher named Oliver Maillard rose up in his pulpit and pronounced a curse on "those who, when they weigh, press down the scales with their finger."

• • •

Preacher Maillard took a rap at "tavernkeepers who sophisticate and mingle wines." . . . And after four centuries most bootleggers are doing the same thing—adulterating liquor.

Maillard denounced "butchers who blow up their meat, and who mix hog's lard with the fat of their meat." . . . The popular trick in 1924 is to feed the fowl a lot of corn just before killing it, or pour gravel in its gullet to make it weigh heavier.

Maillard championed the down-trodden poor by boldly telling his rich congregation: "If you ladies and gentlemen who are battening on your pleasures and wear scarlet clothes, I believe if you were closely put in a good wine-press we should see the blood of the poor gush out."

• • •

The more a man studies the histories of long-departed generations, the more impressed he is that people have the same basic troubles no matter in what century they live.

Troubles have no end. They seem to be perpetual. True, there is a never-ending fight against these chronic troubles. But the troubles persist despite no end of denunciation and indignation.

Are we really getting anywhere, through the ages? Or are we just kidding ourselves?

Nature doesn't want us to have things easy. Occasionally it may seem that life is a jail, troubles part of a sentence we are serving for sins of a previous existence. The real answer, of course, is that troubles and obstacles are sent to develop and bring out the best that's in us.

Preacher Maillard was simply wasting his breath.

REEVE FOWLDS WAS HONORED

Congratulatory Addresses by Associates on Boat Trip.

(By a Staff Reporter.)

COBOURG, June 16.—When the excursion given to Rochester by Warden Fowlds was returning from Rochester Thursday morning a meeting of the guests of Mr. Fowlds was called in the cabin with Reeve Courtice of Darlington Township in the chair. Deputy-Reeve Nelson, of Percy, and Reeve Davidson, of Percy, moved a vote of thanks to the warden for his courtesy in giving so many an opportunity in to enjoy a trip across the lake and congratulating him on the success of the excursion.

Brief complimentary addresses were made by the chairman, ex-Warden Harry B. Phillips, of Brighton, Dr Buller, reeve of Newcastle, Deputy-Reeve Bedal of Brighton Township, and Reeve Clarke of Cramahe.

Deputy-reeve Bedal congratulated the village of Hastings upon having sent such an efficient public servant as Warden Fowlds to represent them at Cobourg. He expressed the hope that they would set a new precedent at the end of the year by again electing Mr. Fowlds reeve of the village instead of following the usual custom of side-tracking a man after he had attained the wardenship.

Warden Fowlds thanked the speakers for their complimentary remarks, and all those who had turned out and helped to make the outing a success.

The speakers gave Mrs. Fowlds no small share of the credit for the success which her husband has attained in public life.

FABLES ON HEALTH

BEST HEALTH FOGDS.

Lean, or fat; blonde or brunette—the man that lives in the suburbs and the man that lives in the city—they all need the same food materials to keep them in health.

Health is a fairly democratic entity and dwells with rich and poor, royalty and serf alike; and illness does likewise.

There are certain variations of healthful food elements, and these are generally as obtainable by the man in the cottage as by the man in the castle.

As a short cut to knowledge of these necessities, let each reader write in his notebook that the normal man, woman and child needs:

Milk, vegetables, products from grain, fresh fruit, fats and eggs, some meats and some sweets (except where doctors order otherwise) and lots of fresh fruits.

Such calculations as have been made indicate that sweets are the least necessary on this list, and that meats in the excess are also bad.

But in the root and leafy vegetables lie certain necessary vitamines and in the milk, as well.

Unless diet has been ordained a simple variation from day to day in these substances ensures a nutritious series of meals.

OILCLOTH SETS

During the warm weather, when you want to minimize housekeeping as much as possible, don't forget the luncheon sets of oilcloth that may be washed off with a damp cloth, and need never visit the laundry at all.

The chequered April day was declining, and the dipping sun was flooding the western plain with quiet light. Rooks were circling round the hill, filling the air with long-drawn sound. A cuckoo was on a tree near at hand, and the evening was charged with spring scents—scents of leaf and grass, of earth and rain.—Mrs. Humphrey Ward.

HANDLING OF MILK

Pasteurization — Preservatives — Commercial Buttermilk—Cheese from High and Low Testing Milk — Milk From Sweet Clover — Gelatin and Bacteria in Ice Cream.

Following are summaries by the Department of Extension of the O.A.C., Guelph, of work done in that institution with milk and some of its products:

Value of Pasteurization.

To test the value of pasteurization as an acid in keeping milk in a usable condition for a long period, a study was made by the Dairy Department of the Ontario Agricultural College during July of 1923. Similar samples of raw and pasteurized milk subjected to a temperature of 53° to 54° F., gave results as follows: The raw milk did not keep for twenty-four hours, while the pasteurized milk was sweet at end of third day. Similar samples of raw and pasteurized milk held at 37° to 43° F., gave the following results: The raw milk kept sweet for less than forty-eight hours while the pasteurized milk was still sweet and in good condition at the end of two weeks. The trials show the great value of pasteurization in the fluid milk trade and the necessity of low temperatures for holding the milk after pasteurizing.

Milk Preservative.

Investigational work carried out by the Department of Bacteriology, O.A.C., that is of special interest to the cheese-makers and managers of factories, was concluded during the past year. Many factory managers had experienced trouble in keeping the composite samples of milk in good condition for the period required by the Dairy Stardards Act. The result of the O.A.C. Bacteriological Department investigation shows that not less than six grains of corrosive sublimate is required to keep a one pint sample in good condition for forty days. This amount should be used if the butter fat tests are made either once or twice a month.

Commercial Buttermilk.

In the Dairy Department of the Ontario Agricultural College during the past season a few lots of commercial buttermilk were made by using either pasteurized skim-milk, or the buttermilk from churnings of pasteurized sweet cream, not ripened before churning.

To the milk was added 20 per cent. water, 5 per cent. culture and one-half ounce of salt per one hundred pounds of milk. This was allowed to stand until the next morning when it was nicely coagulated. The coagulated milk was then poured into the churn and chruned for about twenty minutes. This made a buttermilk that was in good condition, had good flavor, was smooth, and did not separate. After churning one lot for fifteen minutes a small amount of cream was added. The churning was then continued, and in nine minutes the cream had churned into fine butter granules which gave it the appearance of "old-fashioned" buttermilk and was well liked.

Comparative Yields from High and Low Testing Milk in Cheesemaking.

Investigations carried out by the Dairy Department and the Chemistry Department of the O.A. College with low and high testing milk used in the manufacture of cheese gave results that are interesting to cheese factory patrons. The low testing milk contained 12.01 per cent. solids and 3.41 per cent. fat. The high testing milk contained 12.29 per cent. solids and 3.62 per cent. fat—not very much difference between the two samples. The yield of cheese per 1,000 lbs. of milk was 89.85 lbs. from the low testing lots, and 95.84 lbs. from the higher testing lots, or nearly six pounds of cheese more per thousand pounds of milk for a very small increase in the percentages of fat and total solids. This is further evidence of the injustice of paying for milk on the basis of weight only and not considering the fat and solids content of milk when dividing money among patrons of cheese factories.

Milk from Sweet Clover.

The Dairy Department of the Ontario Agricultural College made four lots of butter during July when the cows were pasturing on sweet clover. The butter was scored when fresh, and again after holding in storage, but none of it a flavor that could be attributed to sweet clover. These results are similar to those obtained in 1922.

Caramel Cookies

(A wafer which improves in flavor if kept in an air-tight container)

4 cupfuls dark brown sugar
1 cupful melted Crisco
4 beaten eggs
1 teaspoonful salt
7 cupfuls flour
3 teaspoonfuls baking powder

Cream together the sugar and Crisco. Add eggs. Add flour sifted with baking powder. Knead this for five minutes. Shape into long roll about 2 or 2½ inches in diameter. Let stand on ice for one to three hours. Slice down and bake in moderate oven. Flavor seems to improve by letting these cookies remain for quite a while in an air tight container.

Gelatin and Bacteria in Ice Cream.

With the great increase in the consumption of ice cream and the development of the ice cream manufacturing business various schemes have been evolved to take care of the demand in a way profitable to those manufacturing and selling this food. In making examination of various samples of gelatin sent to the Bacteriology Department of the Ontario Agricultural College some samples were found to have a bacterial content as high as 960,000 per gram. Wholesome ice cream cannot be made if low grade gelatin is used in its preparation.

By No Means Allow Your Bowels To Get Constipated.

If you allow your bowels to become constipated you will have bilious attacks, sick headaches, coated tongue, foul breath, sallow complexion, specks floating before the eyes, whites of the eyes dull and yellow, heartburn, water brash, etc.

Keep your bowels regular by using Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills, as by doing so you will be able to keep well and have no more trouble with your liver.

Mrs. I. Rubin, Halbrite, Sask., writes:—"I was very badly troubled with constipation, often had bad headaches my tongue was coated, and I felt anything but well.

After taking Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills I have felt much better as they certainly did me a lot of good."

Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills are 25c. a vial at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

Cowpeas.

As a rule, cowpeas should not be cut for hay before the pods begin to turn yellow. The best quality is produced and the hay cures most readily if the vines are cut when most of the pods are full grown and a considerable number of them are mature. At that stage of growth none of the best hay varieties will have dropped their leaves and the plants will have practically attained their full growth.

FELT CLOCHE

Sister Mary's Kitchen

CAKE MAKING.

For the June bride who has been too busy with other things to fuss around her mother's kitchen making cake for "over Sunday," this "just how" story is planned.

The best materials, accurate measurements and careful baking are the first requisites of a successful cake.

A standard measuring cup and spoons should be part of the equipment. And beware of a recipe reading "heaping" teaspoon or cup, or "tea" or "coffee" cup. All measurements should be level and every bit of the ingredient measured should be put into the cake. If you leave a tablespoon or more of butter sticking to the measuring cup your cake will lose that much richness and perhaps that fluffiness you so much envy in your neighbor's cakes.

Always follow the method of mixing described in the rule. There's a reason for doing things a certain way and if you have faith in the recipe follow instructions explicitly.

The inexperienced baker usually has more trouble regulating her oven than mixing her cake. And no matter how carefully you've mixed, if the oven isn't right, the finished cake can't be as you want it. Put your cake on the middle grate of the oven and as near the center as possible. This insures even heat on all sides and above and below. If your oven bakes too hard on the bottom set a dripping pan of water under the cake on the bottom of the oven.

If you have an oven thermometer and regulator much of your guess-work about the temperature is eliminated, but if you haven't, this old test has stood the test of time. After a few experiences you will be able to tell by "the feel" when your oven is right:

If a piece of white paper turns a deep yellow in five minutes' time in the oven, the oven is right for layer cakes. If the paper turns a pale yellow in five minutes the oven is right for sponge cakes.

These "hints" will be found worth following:

Use pastry flour in preference to bread flour.

Have all the ingredients assembled and the cake pans prepared before beginning to mix.

Oil the pans with lard or olive oil and dust with flour. The salt in butter scorches quickly and gives a strong unpleasant taste to the bottom of the cake.

Sponge Cake.

Five eggs, 1 cup sugar, 1 cup flour, ¼ teaspoon salt, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, 1 teaspoon vanilla.

Separate yolks from whites of eggs. Beat yolks with a dover beater until thick and lemon colored. Add sugar slowly, beating with the egg beater. Beat in lemon juice and vanilla. Beat whites of eggs on a platter with a wire whisk until stiff and dry. Mix and sift four times flour and salt. Add beaten whites of eggs to yolk mixture, using the beater. When the whites are about half mixed with the yolks, remove beater and fold in flour. Do not beat, but lift and cut and fold to mix. This prevents the breaking of the air bubbles you have so laboriously formed. Turn into a deep pan, with or without a chimney and bake fifty minutes in a slow oven.

When the cake is done it will shrink from the sides of the pan.

The cake should not begin to color until it has been in the oven about twenty minutes. The first half of the time for baking, the cake should rise to its full height and begin to brown. During the last half the cake continues to brown and really bakes.

The success of this cake depends on the amount of air you beat into the eggs and the care with which you fold in the flour. Above all things, do not beat the batter after the flour is in. Of course, it must be thoroughly mixed, but it must be handled gently.

In any recipe, unless otherwise specified, granulated sugar should be used. A fine grained sugar is ipreferable.

Turn the sponge cake upside down to cool and remove from the pan. Do not hurry it, but let it drop from the pan at its own free will.

Plain Butter Cake.

One-half cup butter, 1 cup sugar, 2 eggs, ½ cup milk, 3 teaspoons baking powder, 1¾ cups flour, 1 teaspoon vanilla, ¼ teaspoon salt.

Let butter stand in a warm room until softened. Cream in mixing bowl, using a wooden spoon. Add su-gar slowly, beating well. Add one-fourth cup flour measured after sifting once. Add yolks of eggs well beaten. Mix and sift flour, baking powder and salt. Add about ½ cup of dry ingredients and mix thoroughly. Scrape any of the mixture clinging to the mixing spoon into the batter and beat well. The mixture should be perfectly smooth. Add part of the milk and beat well. Continue adding milk and dry ingredients alternately until all is used. Fold in the whites of the eggs beaten until stiff and dry. Turn into two prepared layer cake pans or one load cake pan and bake in a moderate oven. The layers should bake in twenty minutes and the loaf in thirty or forty minutes.

This makes an excellent everyday layer cake put together with boiled frosting. The frosting can be sprinkled with shredded cocoanut or finely chopped nuts.

WHY YOU LIVE AND WORK

The Chinese have something mysterious and theatrical in their make-up that has always fascinated the white man. It's the attraction of extremes. The healthy white man usually is a surface thinker. The Chinese have subterranean minds.

About 225 years ago a rich Hollander named Hudde felt the lure of the orient. He went to China, mastered the language and—looking a lot like a Mongolian—actually became a mandarin. For 30 years he traveled all over China, studying the people.

All this time, he was writing down his observations in great detail. Finally, when he apparently had fathomed the Chinese mind and accumulated a wealth of information, he returned to Holland.

His ship was wrecked. He was rescued. But all of his records, the observations of 30 years, sank in the ocean.

Hudde has been dead these two centuries. His name would be obliterated now, his existence entirely forgotten, if the elder Disraeli had not heard of him and told his story in "Curiosities of Literature."

We do not know he reacted to his loss. Probably he sat around with a long face and shortened his life by self-pity. If he had acquired Chinese philosophy, he had a good laugh and decided it was all in the game.

The story of Hudde, after all these years, seems pitifully tragic. But strip it of its romantic stage setting—China and shipwreck—and all that happened was the loss of 30 years' work.

That isn't anything unusual. It happens all around you every day—men losing their savings through unwise investments, richer men going broke in the stock market or having their patiently created businesses taken away from them by bankruptcy.

Life is a fight for achievement. And then gradually, one by one, the loss of everything we have toiled for. Friends die. So do relatives. Children marry and leave. Our favorite customs and thoughts become obsolete. Illusions are destroyed.

Finally death takes us—and whatever we have salvaged from the shipwreck of life has to be left behind. But—

We carry with us actual achievements of life, just as Hudde could not lose his 30 years' of experiences in China though his records sank under the sea. We have the satisfaction of having done things while here and of having improved ourselves, if we lived wisely. That's the purpose of life, the great piritual gymnasium.

MOTHER OF FOURTEEN DRANK GOPHER POISON

STATTLER, Alta., June 16. — (Canadian Press).—While in a state of acute mental depression, caused by pressing domestic and financial troubles, Mrs. H. Latterey, wife of a farmer near Stattler, and mother of 14 children, twelve of whom are living,committed suicide at her home early yesterday, by drinking gopher poison. Death was almost instantaneous.

FRENCH HEAVY BEATEN BY BASQUE PUGILIST

PARIS, June 16. — Paolino, the Basque heavyweight pugilist, who knocked out Marcel Nilles, the French heavyweight last month, last night knocked out Texidor, Spanish heavyweight champion, in the third round of what was to have been a 12-round bout. The victory was clean and swift. Paolino's hooks, which he used successfully in his matches with Nilles and others, he knocked out recently, taking rapid effect.

HONOR MEMORY OF PIONEERS

Belleville Started Four Days Celebration Yesterday—Many Visitors.

THE EARLY DAYS

BELLEVILLE, Ont., June 16 (Special to The Examiner). — One hundred and forty years ago the first settlers came to the shores of the Bay of Quinte, and to-day their descendants, heirs of the fifth generation, have set aside almost a week to honour their memories and pluck in hewing out of the primeval forest a new nation in a new part of the new world.

In pageant and in speech the deeds of the long dead pioneers will be enacted and recalled. It is a story that is worth telling over again. Although it may lack the glamour and the picturesqueness of the ancient days of new France and the gallantry of old Quebec, yet it is replete with drama and heart thrills, and although the actual characters themselves go barely back a century and a half.

Quinte's shores are linked in history with New France and its great founder, Champlain on his punitive expedition against the Iroquois, with his command of Huron warriors, passed over Quinte's Bay, and it knew the brown robes of the Recollect Fathers before the time of the black robed missionaries of the Society of Jesus.

The anniversary of th coming of the vanguard of white settlers is peculiarly an United Empire Loyalists' function. Its roots are firmly embedded in the victorious days of the American Revolution, when those loyal to the throne of King George were forced to give up home and lands and comforts of civilisation to remain under the British flag. By their thousands they left for the then new country to the north of their homeland by various routes they streamed into Canada, and the forefathers of what is now the Quinte District came to the fair land about the Bay after wintering at Sorel, at the mouth of the Richelieu River, below Montreal.

They came in a fleet of batteaux, found the land good, and started in again on that titanic task of building up a new civilisation in a savage coutry.

Their descendants to-day are leaving nothing undone to honour their heroism and courage. More than 25,000 people, in whose veins runs the pioneer strain, have assembled from Ontario and Quebec to pay tribute to their forefathers' work.

Nor is the celebration lacking in a military way. As all of the early settlers had fought for King George before the Revolution triumphed, it was but fitting that the military should play its part in the big event.

Regiments from Kingston, Brockville, and units made up from local points, are quartered in the Armouries, but the centre of interest lies in the 8th Highlanders of Toronto, which came down in full strength on Saturday night. 600 strong, with three bands.

Fully two thousand people throng the Canadian National Railways station when the special train of ten coaches pulled in on time to the minute.

Commanding Officer Marshall and officers were welcomed by Mayor Mikel and Charles Hanna, chairman of the U.E.L. Citizen Committee, and amid the cheers of the spectators marched to the camp at the Fair Grounds.

For four days the celebration will last, and during t[illegible] the complete growth of B[illegible]'s progress will be traced from the landing of the first of the Loyalists in 1784 until the present day.

There will also be a special pilgrimage to the village of Adolphustown, the site of one of the first settlements in Upper Canada.

THOUSANDS ATTEND ROTARY CONVENTION

TORONTO, June 16.—(Canadian Press).—With a fleet of strange but much beflagged ships in Toronto Harbor, and the arrival of a score or so of special trains, bearing delegates from all parts of the Continent, the great International Rotary Convention made its impression on the permanent and "floating" population of this city to-day. The ships were steamers of various capacity from up and down the Great Lakes and from the Atlantic coast. They brought in contingents from New York, Massachusetts, Ohio, Michigan and other States, with a good sprinkling of Rotarians from several provinces of Canada.

In the spacious buildings of the Canadian National Exhibition Grounds, where meetings of the convention are being held, it was a veritable hive of industry to-day. Business of the morning consisted considerably of greetings and registration, but well oiled arrangements brought forth some preliminary meetings of the district governors and other features of business.

It is estimated that there are now in the city about eight thousand delegates to the convention.

IN MILLBROOK AND DISTRICT

Dramatic Recital at Zion Church—Personal Mention.

MILLBROOK, June 16. — An audience which filled Zion church to capacity gathered on Friday evening for the dramatic recital given by H. Arthur Barton of Ottawa, assisted by musical talent from Millbrook.

Rev. S. T. Tucker occupied the chair, explaining in his brief opening remarks that the purpose of the evening was not merely entertainment but educative as well, since seeing famous characters, particularly those from Shakespeare, faithfully delineated, gave an understanding which reading alone could not make clear to the mind.

Mr. Barton has had a wide experience as a dramatic reader, and Friday evening's programme left the audience in no doubt as to his ability. The selections chosen varied from grave to gay, and depicted characters both youthful and aged, with equal accuracy. The impersonation of "Shylock," and of Shakespeare's "Seven Ages," were among the heaviest numbers and held the audience with unwavering attention. The programme was:

Opening hymn and Invocation.

Isaiah, 12th chapter, recited by Mr. Barton as a Scripture lesson.

Cornet duet by Messrs. G. E. and Ernest Burnham.

Duet, "I Love a Little Church House," by Mrs. G. W. Sayles and Mr. W. H. Coombe.

Reading, "Seein' Things at Night," and "Carcassone," by H. Arthur Barton.

Duet, "God Calling Yet," by Mrs. P. Stinson and Mrs. C. Hunter.

Solo, "One Fleeting Hour," by Mrs. G. W. Sayles.

Reading, "Vagabonds," by H. Arthur Barton.

Cornet duet by Messrs. G. E. and Ernest Burnham.

Quartette, "Saviour, lead me lest I stray," by Mrs. G. W. Sayles.

Mrs. P. Stinson, Messrs. W. H. Coombe and F. N. Alcorn.

Miss May Duncan and Estelle Hetherington were the accompanists of the evening.

The Ladies' Aid of the Methodist church will meet at the home of Mrs W. Fred Fallis, Fallis line, on Tuesday, June 17, at 3 p.m.

Cavan district L.O.L. held a business meeting in the local lodge room on Saturday at 2 p.m., arrangements for the annual Orange walk on July 12th, being the chief items under discussion. The celebration this year is at Oshawa, and the annual church parade will be held on July 6th when the lodges will attend the Anglican church in a body.

Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Eakins and daughter, Mary, Mrs. S. Eakins, Sr., and Mrs. A. Ferguson, motored to Port ope on Thursday and called on Mrs. H. Argue, and other friends.

Mrs. E. Anderson, Peterboro, and Miss McPherson, Ida, are guests of Mrs. J. H. George, Fallis line.

Miss Vera Weeks left on Saturday morning for her home at Hastings, after a pelasant stay with Miss Marjorie Sayles, while her Continuation School examinations were concluded.

Mr. and Mrs. Ross Edmunds, and two children, Bryce and Reg, motored to Beaverton this week and attended the unveiling of the Soldiers' Memorial for the men from Beaverton and Thorah, who paid the supreme sacrifice in the great war.

Mrs. Bentley, Sr., was the guest of Mrs. J. W. Hamilton, of Zion, this week.

Mrs. Charles Hunter, and son, Donald, of Huntsville, are visiting her sister, Mrs. P. Stinson.

TRAGEDY ON HIGHWAY SOUNDS LIKE RUMOUR

It was broadcast throughout the city late last evening and this morning that a woman was killed on the Provincial Highway leading to Port Hope about 8 o'clock last night. Although it was the chief topic of conversation about the city this morning, the identity of the unfortunate woman was not known.

The Examiner made enquiries at the Police Station, hospitals and other places and found that no accident had been reported. At 11 a.m. no official report by wire or otherwise had been received, and the much-talked-of accident is generally conceded a false rumor.

INTENSE RAIN STORM CAUSES MUCH DAMAGE

CALGARY, June 16.—(Canadian Press).—One of the worst, and intense rain, thunder and electrical storms of the last few years struck Calgary and district in the early hours of Sunday morning, causing damage to property, injuring residents, endangering life, uprooting telephone poles and felling trees, temporarily extinguishing the lighting power in the city and interfering with telegraphic and telephonic communication.

H. Hanna, a farmer, living 18 miles south-east of Calgary, was struck by lightning and probably fatally injured while standing in the doorway of his barn. His clothing was stripped from his body and he was knocked unconscious. The barn caught fire from the same bolt and was destroyed.

M. PETCOFF WAS VICTIM OF ASSASSINS BULLET SAT.

LONDON, June 16 (United Press).—Shot to death in the streets of Sofia as his father was 17 years before him, M. Petkoff, prominent member of the Agrarian party, died Sunday, a victim of political assassination, which it is feared, may portend an outbreak of these crimes in Bulgaria.

M. Petkoff was accused of being in more or less active revolt against the present government. In March, 1907, his father, then premier and Minister of the Interior, was killed in the streets of the Bulgarian capital.

How To Make Meat Pie From Cold Leftovers

Use any cold left over meat, cutting it into small uniform pieces, and simmering with some of the left over gravy or stock and some onion and celery for seasoning, then thicken to suit your taste (I do not like it very thick), then let the meat and gravy get cold. Or cut fresh meat into cubes, rolling in flour and brown in bacon fat or any preferred fat, then barely cover with boiling water, add an onion, sliced, seasoning to taste, and cook slowly until tender. Then thicken with flour mixed to a paste with either milk or water.

To make the crust, sift and measure one and one-half cups of flour, or two cups for a large pie, adding a pinch of salt. Use a third of a cup of shortening for one and a half cups of flour, or half a cup for the larger amount. Rub shortening into flour until it is "granulated" then take out three tablespoons of the mixture and mix the rest with a very little cold water. Roll, sprinkle half the reserved mixture over the crust, fold once, sprinkle rest of mixture over and fold and roll again. Let stand for several hours, is possible, before using.

Line a deep baking pan with the crust, put in the cold meat and gravy mixture, arrange top crust on pie, pinch edges together and bake in a moderate oven until a golden brown. It is good.

RUSSIA WON'T FIGHT OVER CONSTANTINOPLE

MOSCOW, June 14. — (British United Press).—Russia does not want to fight either over Constantinople or Bessarabia, if Leon Trotsky's authority can still be relied on.

Addressing the Moscow teachers' organization to-day, Trotsky repudiated his alleged war-like speech at Pololsk, adding: "We do not wish to fight—not only over Constantinople, to which we have no right whatever, nor even over Bessarabia.

"We tell the oppressed Bessarabian workers wait, your hour will come.

"Bessarabia will be free when the revolution overthrows the police, not only in Bessarabia but elsewhere also."

LITTLE DIPPERS.

Bathing Girls Do Not Mean They Seldom Bathe However.

HOLLYWOOD, June 16.—Not to be outdone by the other picture girls of Hollywood, the Mack Sennett bathing girls have formed a club, which they call "The Little Dippers." And they insist that the name does not mean that they go into the water seldom, but that they believe themselves to be potential stars.

After taking a pledge of charity, sweetness, pleasure, uncattiness, brain development and stardom ambition, they took a plunge into the Sennett pool and adopted the clever title of "The Little Dippers."

Only Sennett bathing girls are eligible for membership in this club. But when a member "graduates" into parts and leads, her membership is not discontinued. The charter members are Elsie Tarron, president; Hazel Williams, secretary; Cecille Evans, treasurer; Thelma Hill, Dorothy Dore, Marceline Day, Gladys Tennyson and Margaret Cloud.

The first bathing girl to "graduate" since the formation of the club was Marceline Day, who became leading lady for Harry Langdon.

WEST EXPECTED TO HAVE BUMPER CROP

Newspaper Publishers and Editors Who Arrived at Toronto Yesterday Forecast Good Crops.

Such is the consensus of opinion of the Canadian newspaper publishers and editors who arrived in Toronto yesterday after a tour of the West that included a visit to almost every Canadian city as far west as Victoria. The party included members of the Canadian Daily Newspapers Association and Canadian Press Limited.

The party had unusual opportunity to gather first-hand information as to the actual conditions in the country through which they passed. At every city along the 7,000-mile tour they were entertained and driven about the country. They are unanimous in stating that given favorable weather from now on the West is assured of a wheat crop that may equal to that of last year.

SWITCHBACK MEDICINE.

British Doctors Declare That Wembley is Health-Giving Place.

LONFON, June 14.—British doctors have made the surprising announcement that Wembley's switchbacks are a nerve tonic, and they are emphatic in asserting that there is medical value in the varied thrills of the Amusement Park. Doctors find there great aid in their treatment of some forms of nervous disease. The novelty and the mild excitement are found to be highly beneficial for certain sufferers, and medical men have begun to prescribe this agreeable treatment: "Two hours' Wembley amusement—take in separate doese of ten minutes each, with intervals of five minutes."

The diversions prescribed vary with different cases. Few neurasthenics can stand anything so drastic as the "Giant Switchback." It is the less exciting amusements—"The Wave," "Over the Falls," and "Jack and Jill," for example—that prove of the greatest service.

An eminent medical authority, who was asked to explain the effects produced, said:

"This treatment is in the first place mental, although accompanied by actual physical alterations and benefits.

"Patients receive the beneficial results of excitement without fear. In many nervous people, for whom the amusements are so good, what we doctors always look out for is some means of mental and bodily stimulation that shall have no possible deterrent effects.

"This we find at Wembley. We are able to give the patient excitement enough, with little bodily and no mental fatigue. The temper is soothed, worries forgotten, the pulse quickened, and the whole mentality is quickly improved.

JOHNSTON CITY WAS WAS STRUCK BYDISASTER

JOHNSTON CITY, June 16 (Canadian Press).—Twelve known dead, four seriously injured, more than a dozen houses, barns and mills demolished, twenty miles of the Appalachian division of the Southern Railway made impassible with parts washed away, and thousands of acres of farm land ruined, constituted the toll of the most disastrous cloudburst ever recalled in this section. It appeared to have its centre near Hunter, Siam and Gardens Bluff, and on Little Stoney Creek and Blue Springs Creek, where a house in which were two families went to pieces, taking nine lives.

LIQUOR MAY BE HARDER TO GET

May Shortly be Without a Medium of Bringing Liquor to People.

OTTAWA, June 16 (Canadian Press). — That the Ontario Board of Liquor Commissioners may shortly be without a medium of bringing liquor to the people of the Province who really need it (sic) is the prediction freely made by the delegates to the forty-fourth annual convention of the Ontario Medical Association being held in Ottawa this week in conjunction with the annual convention of the Canadian Medical Association.

This forecast is stated to be based on the expected result of the discussion of the matter at the convention arising from the dissatisfaction of physicians all over the Province of the present system of prescription license, which allows each medical man the privilege of prescribing fifty times per month

An interesrting piano and vocal recital by pupils of Miss Florence L. Scott was held in the hall of the Conservatory of Music on Saturday afternoon, with a good attendance. The pupils were assisted by Miss Ruby Babcock, reader, pupil of Mrs. W. McKee Bingham.

Miss Babcock's readings were very much enjoyed, and the vocal and instrumental selections by Miss Scott's pupils were excellently rendered, in a manner very creditable to the painstaking tuition of their teacher, who acted as accompanist for the songs. The programme was as follows:

Instrumental numbers: "Springtide" and "Allegro from Sonatina, Op. 36, No. 1," by M. Clementi, played by Russell Rowan; duett, Cadmus' "Ours" (Dance Capriccioso), by Helen Mackey and Margaret Parsons of Omemee; "First Violets," by Jean McKone; "Allegro from Sonatina in C," by Kuhlau, played by Arthur Westbrook; "Chanson Triste," by Tschaikowsky, played by Miss Mona Murphy, of Ennismore; Lichner's "Pink," played by Floyd Parsons; Clementi's "Sonatina, Op. 36, No. 3," by Jane Earle, of Omemee; "Pleasures of Spring," by Lenore Jamieson, of Omemee; "Second Valse, Op. 86," by Durand, played by Evelyn Armstrong; Gustave Merkel's "Spring Song," by Margaret Parsons, of Omemee; Gottschalk's "La Scintilla," by Isabel Scott; Beethoven's "Sonata Pathetique" (Grave, and Allegro di molto e con brio), by Helen Mackey, of Omemee; duett, "The Secret," by Jane Earle and Lenore Jamieson, of Omemee.

VANCOUVER, B.C., June 16 (Canadian Press).—The political atmosphere was calmer on Saturday after a week of heated and strenuous campaigning by the supporters of the hundred and sixty-seven candidates who are seeking the forty-eight seats in the Provincial Legislature. Over the week-end there was very little electioneering, but today, when the election enters its final week, the political storm is expected to break out afresh. ASSEMBLY SENDS GREETINGS HERE

Scotch Friends Interested in Canadian Church Union.

TORONTO, June 16.— The general assembly of the United Free Churches of Scotland, has sent its congratulations to the Presbyterian Church in Canada upon the prospective consummation of union with the Methodist and Congregational churches.

Presbyterian and Methodist Conferences are to go on and do their work next year, and to have it all ready for the first meeting of the general council of the United Church of Canada.

This was the advice given to the Toronto Methodist Conference today from the Law and Legislation Committee of the Uniting Churches through Rev. W. R. Young, of Toronto, who has been acting as Methodist representative at Ottawa.

"June 10th, 1925, is the date set for the Union bill to take effect," said Rev. Mr. Young.

STATEMENT WAS NEW TO LARKIN

High Commissioners State That They Had no Trouble in Interviewing British Government.

LONDON, June 16.—(Canadian Press Cable.)—The Morning Post to-day states that there is considerable surprise in Dominion circles in London at the answer of Premier Mackenzie King to the question in the House of Commons at Ottawa last Thursday, lending color to the suggestion that the Canadian High Commissioner, Hon. Peter Larkin, had difficulty in gaining access to the British Cabinet Ministres. A representaive of the Post interviewed various high commissioners of the Dominions and they are stated to have declared that they experienced no difficulty in interviewing the members of the British government.

Mr. Larkin stated that he was surprised when he heard the message from Ottawa regarding Premier King's statement in the House of Commons.

PETERBORO TENT AT ROTARY MEET

This City Sent Largest Delegation to Convention.

TORONTO, June 16.—(Canadian Press).—Ten thousand Rotarians and friends are invading Toronto, coming from the 'ends of the earth.' At one o'clock this afternoon more than three thousand delegates had registered at Exhibition Grounds.

The British delegates, of whom there are 65, arrived before breakfast on the steamer Toronto. Three other steamers arrived during the morning with quotas from New York, Indiana and New England States. Trainloads from all parts of the United States also arrived. Many delegates are coming by automobile, some from hundreds of miles south. Two have arrived with eight occupants from Mount Pleasant, Iowa, one thousand miles from Toronto.

The largest motoring delegation came from Peterboro, Ontario. They numbered 55, and their tents and reception marquee were already prepared for them. In a large reception marquee there is a model of the big Lift Lock on the Trent Canal. The tents are lighted by electricity.

MEXICAN STEPS AGAINST AGENT HERBERT CUMMINS

LONDON, June 16.—(Canadian Press.)—The Premier said he had informed the Mexican government thta in the event of its taking steps against Mr. Cummins in which Great Britain did not concur the mission of Sir Thomas Hohler to Mexico would not be proceeded with.

The British government regarded the action of the Mexican government against Herbert C. Cummins, the British agent in Mexico, as a grave breach of International courtesies.

I. E. WELDON IMPROVED AND BACK ON HIS JOB

TORONTO, Ont., June 16. — (Canadian Press.)—I. E. Weldon, one of the liquidators of the Home Bank, who was taken very ill some time ago, is back again at the headquarters office this morning. Mr. Weldon was confined for some time to his home at Lindsay.

DELIVERY HORSE MADE GET AWAY

Horse Owned by Collins and Crowe Grocery Store Dashed up Aylmer Street and Crashed Into Street Car at Charlotte Street.

The delivery horse owned by Collins and Crowe, grocers, broke away this morning from a house on Aylmer street south, and bolted up Aylmer street with the speed of a race horse. When rounding the corner at Charlotte street it crashed into street car No. 12. The rig was knocked to the side of the road but the horse kept going on. After crossing the C.N.R. tracks at Charlotte street the horse tripped and fell but before it could be caught it was up and away again. It headed out Charlotte street at full speed. About half an hour later it was caught but not before it had a long run and was pretty well worn out. It was brought back to its owner frothing and covered with dirt and perspiration, but none the worse for its run. This is about the sixth time this horse has run away in the last six months. The boy who was driving the horse stated that he had stopped the horse in front of a house and was about to snap the weight on to the bit when the horse jumped away from him and bolted up Aylmer street. The runaway happened about 9:30 this morning, and it is well that it happened at that time as there were very few children on the street. The damage done to the rig will amount to about $15.

CAMPBELLFORD AND DISTRICT

Changes on the Canadian National -- Motor Car Driver in Trouble.

CAMPBELLFORD, June 16.—Patrons of the C.N.R. Peterborough-Belleville branch, who have travelled on the road train that passes through this town every morning for Peterborough at 6.38, returning at 1.33 p.m., will see no more of the popular conductor, Charles Hansford, who has had charge of this train for the past three years or more. Conductor Hansford, as an appreciation of his efficient service, has been promoted to the Toronto and Jackson's Point route and has left for his new position. He has been in the service of the company for over 25 years.

Conductor Samuel Seath, of Lindsay, will act as successor to Conductor Hansford until an older man has been permanently appointed.

Engineer Harry Smith, of Belleville, has been appointed permanently to the position of engineer of the mail train on this branch, succeeding Engineer Lavoi, who was superannuated some time ago. Mr. Scott has put in 34 years on the freight run between Toronto and Montreal.

At St. Andrews.

At the morning service in St. Andrew's yesterday, Rev. C. F. McIntosh gave an interesting summary of the proceedings at the General Assembly at Owen Sound, which he attended as a delegate from the Presbytery. The pastor dealt especially with the vote on church union, giving his hearers a clear conception of the present status of that problem.

Rev. J. J. Black, of Burnbrae, was the speaker at the evening service. Mr. Black, in a few weeks, will preach his farewell sermon in his present charge prior to his departure for Orillia, to which town he has been called as director of religious education in St. Andrew's Church. Before his sermon last night, he thanked the people of Campbellford for their courtesy and kindness to him during his six years' stay in this district.

Mr. Black has always been a welcome visitor to this town, whether he came to supply the pulpit, to take part in a social function, or in a purely personal capacity.

The anniversary services of St. Andrew's will be held next Sunday, the special preacher being Rev. W. T. Herridge, of Ottawa, ex-Moderator of the General Assembly, and recognized as one of the most successful preachers in the Presbyterian Church of Canada.

Burnbrae's Champions.

Greatness in any line brings responsibilities as well as honor and fame. Burnbrae's tug-of-war team is not to be permitted to rest on its laurels as champions of the Central Ontario district. A special team is being trained to try conclusions with the heretofore invincibles at the garden party to be held by the Burnbrae Church, Friday evening, 27th June.

Autoist in Trouble.

While the funeral procession of the late Mrs. John Beattie was proceeding to the cemetery, an auto, at a high rate of speed, passed the long line of rigs that were following the remains to the grave. The driver of the car was a stranger in these parts, but the number of his auto was taken, and it is believed that it comes from Toronto. The matter was reported to Police Chief Duncalfe, who sent a complaint to the Department in Toronto together with the number of the offending car, and a case in the police court is likely to result.

92,500,000 Bushels Grain.

Fort William Shipping Active—Slack Over the Week End.

FORT WILLIAM, Ont., June 16 (Canadian Press.)—Four boats left on Saturday with grain from the harbors of Fort William and Port Arthur, carrying 750,000 bushels of grain, which brings the total of grains of all kinds shipped from the ports since the opening of navigation to over ninety-two and a half million bushels. No coal boats are reported in the harbor, and only one vessel was under the pouts yesterday evening.

ENGLAND TO HELP CANADA IN MINES

Enough Capital Will be Available Soon to Develop the Mining Regions of Northern Quebec and Ontario.

QUEBEC, Que., June 16.—(Canadian Press).—Sir John Aird, who landed here off the Canadian Pacific steamer Empress of France, from Southampton and Cherbourg, stated in an interview that he had made a short trip to England, where he had endeavored to interest the British capitalists in the development of Canada's mineral resources, and that his efforts had been rewarded by a promise that enough capital would be available to develop the mining regions of Northern Quebec and Ontario. The Minister of Mines of the latter province, Hon. Charles McRea, who was on an official mission for his Government, reported that his mission had also been very succcessful and would have an important influence in the mining activities in this country in the near future.

This is the first trip of the Empress of France this season, and also marks the entry of the famous ship which has the honor of carrying the Prince of Wales to and from Canada last year, into the St. Lawrence route service as an oil burner, having been completely re-conditioned during the last couple of months.

KIWANIS CLUB HAVE A SENSE OF HUMOR

That Kiwanians have a sense of humor or that they have experience are the alternatives indicated by the imprint of a foot outside the police station on Water Street, marked with the cabalistic A B C—"Always be careful."

At street corners where traffic is difficult to negotiate safely the warning is obviously in order. But no one goes to the police station willingly, and by the time he reaches the portals of the fearsome place it is too late to warn him to be careful. And after once falling within the toils of the law the supposition is that he will step warily in future.

GOVT. IS IN CONFLICT WITH HOUSE OF LORDS

LONDON, June 16. — (Canadian Press).—Parliament re-assembled today after the Whitsuntide vacation with the prospect of a long and anxious session and small probability that the Government will be able to carry out several legislative measures to which it is committed. Today's business brings the Government for the first time into conflict with the House of Lords, which has so amended the Administrations Bill for the prevention of eviction of non-paying tenants as virtually to nullify it. The Government's intention to move the rejection of all amendments was understood beforehand and the rejection will be supported by the Liberals.

HOME BANK DEPOSITORS WILL BE PRESSED HARD

OTTAWA, June 16. — (Canadian Press).—The depositors press for reimbursement. On Tuesday morning the Committee on Banking and Commerce will commence consideration of the report of Hon. H. A. McKeown on his inquiry into allegations of the Home Bank depositors and the committee is likely to be pressed hard by the depositors' representatives for recommendation to the House that the measure providing for their reimbursement be submitted and passed, as in the case of the Farmers' Bank in 1913. In the latter case the bill passed the House but was rejected by the Senate. Today the House will consider a number of Government resolutions providing for amendments to the various Acts.

FIRE CHIEF GIMBLETT SENDS OUT A WARNING

Fire Chief Gimblett issues a final warning to those who persist in chasing after the fire department in automobiles. The fire brigade has a special mission to perform in responding to an alarm of fire and it is hard enough work getting to their destination without having their way obstructed by curiosity mongers in automobiles chasing after them like a schoolboy after a street parade. The next offenders will find themselves in police court.

LOCAL GIRLS HAD FIELD DAY HERE

Prizes Presented by Rev. M. C. Mackinnon--A Jolly Time.

A field day to wind up the season's endeavors for all the Canadian Girls-in-Training groups of the city was held at Nicholls Oval on Saturday afternoon, with about a hundred and fifty in attendance, including girl members of every C. G. I. T. group in the city, with their leaders and teachers. A very jolly afternoon and evening was spent in playing games, races and sports, with a bountiful supper served in the open at six o'clock. The gathering broke up about eight o'clock, after a singsong, a story told by Miss Stella Bennett, and an inspirational address by Rev. Dr. Rose, who spoke on "The Lily Work of Life," remarking on the beautiful touches which finished splendid buildings, and following out his idea in stressing the beautiful touches which might be given to life by interested women and girls.

Prizes for various events, which took the form of "stunt" races, were won as follows: Peanut race, Ruby Theobald; balloon race, Dorothy Pogue; paper-bag race, Helen Robertson; Niagara Falls race (in which each contestant ran with a saucer of water balanced on the head), Ruby Theobald; back-to-back race, Ruby Theobald and Mrytle Green; running race, Adene Janeway.

The prizes were presented by Rev. M. C. Mackinnon, of Knox Church. The president of the Girls' Work Board, under whose auspices the outing was arranged, is Mrs. M. C. Mackinnon. The arrangements for refreshments were in charge of Mrs Percy Hetherington, for the programme Miss Thelma Paxman, for publicity, Miss Mary Elliott, and Miss Leta Brownscombe had charge of the sports.

SIR CHARLES TOWNSEND PASSED AWAY YESTERDAY

WOLFVILLE, N.S., June 16. — (Canadian Press.) — Sir Charles Townsend, former Chief Justice of Nova Scotia, died at his home here yesterday.

PAVING STARTED ON WATER STREET

Work Will Employ a Number of Local Men.

The Warren Bituminous Paving Co. began operations on Water Street this morning. Mr. Hugh Lehman, who is superintending the work, told The Examiner that all necessary equipment is here, and that the work will proceed with all possible speed. The company is commencing at Brock Street, and will work north on Water to Smith Street. About one hundred men were standing about the corner of Water and Brock Streets this morning looking for work. The company will experience little difficulty in obtaining labor as there is considerable unemployment in the city.

The operations are limited as yet, but Mr. Lehman stated that men will be taken on as the work proceeds. At noon to-day, a substantial portion of macadam was rooted up, and it is expected that excavating will begin early in the afternoon, when more men will be required. In four or five days part of the street will be ready for paving, in which time the work will assume extensive proportions as rooting the macadam, excavating and paving operations will all be going on at the same time.

All the men employed will be local men, with the exception of a few officials whom the construction company have sent here.

The city's instructions at present require the company to skip that portion of Water Street in front of Goose Pond. It is not known whether or not these instructions will be worked, but if it is at all feasible to pave that part of Water Street in its present condition, the city will change its plans.

It will be of interest to sporting fans to know that Mr. Hugh Lehman, who is superintending the paving here for the Warren Bituminous Paving Co., is a professional hockey player. Mr. Lehman has been goalie for the Vancouver professional team in the Pacific Coast League for 13 seasons. He has been with the Warren Bituminous Paving Co. for 14 years, and his position does not prevent him from pursuing his favorite winter pastime.

HAVARD STADIUM OLYMPIC TRYOUTS

One World's Record Was Shattered While Two Others Were Equalled—U.S. Pleased With Showing.

HARVARD STADIUM, Cambridge, Mass., June 16.—One world's record was shattered, two equalled and several Olympic marks eclipsed yesterday in the sensational climax to the final United States Olympic track and field tryouts.

Jackson Scholz, sensation of Friday's eliminations, came back with another whirlwind burst of speed yesterday and set a new 200 metre record for the second successive day.

He was clocked in the remarkable time of 20 9-10 seconds for his semi final, astonishing time in the face of a rain and a wet track. He then won the final in 21 seconds, equalling his record time of Friday.

Another sprinting sensation marked the final of the 100 metres when Chester Bowman, of Syracuse, conquered both Scholz and Charley Paddock, the Olympic champion, who finished in a dead heat for second place. Paddock pulled up lame in this race, and, competing despite coaches' orders, finished sixth and last in the 200 metre dash.

The world's records equalled were in the 110 metre hurdles, when F. P. Johnson, of the Illinois A.C., stepped his semi-final in 10 4-5 seconds, and in the 400 metre run, in which J. Coard Taylor, of the New York A.C. matched the world's mark of 48 1-10, seconds, which he set on Friday.

With a few exceptions all those finishing the first four places in the finals held in twenty events here Friday and Saturday and in three other tests conducted earlier in the week, at New York, were included on the international team, in addition to a number of others whose performances justified their selection.

POTAUFEU WON FRENCH DERBY

CHANTILLY, France, June 16.—The Jockey Club Stakes, "The French Derby," was won to-day by Potaufeu. Canape was second and Shah Abbas third.

The winner of the event is owned by Prince Aga Khan of India. Potaufeu was trained by William Duke and ridden by Guy Garner. The colt was 5 to 1 in the betting. There were seventeen starters. Old Chum was quoted at 8 to 1.

The smart walking costumes of the women, made of reps and kasha, displayed nothing which had not been seen at Longchamps and Saint Cloud this season. The footwear of the women, however, showed all shades of color. The heels were lower than usual. Many of the shoes even veered to sandal effects.

A lizard skin shoe, either all grey or trimmed with black and as supple as a glove, attracted great attention. There also were to be seen black and brown kid shoes, fastened at the side with a buckle or fancy button, with white or colored trimmings to match the dress of the wearers.

WESTON DEFEATED THE SHAMROCKS

Ottawa Took Their Third Straight Defeat in the O.A.L.A. By the Score of 4 to 2.

OTTAWA, June 16.—(Canadian Press.)— Weston handed Ottawa Shamrocks their third straight O. A.L.A. defeat here on Saturday by a score of 4 to 2. The fair crowd which attended saw a hard fought game, with the visitors managing to land a victory by reason of an early lead compiled in the first half.

Weston led at 1-2 time by 4 to 1, and although the locals outscored them 1 to 0 in the last, they could not overcome the early advantage. The winners took two goals to the locals' one in the first period and added two more in the second while Shamrocks went scoreless. There was no scoring in the third session and Shamrocks got their second counter just before time was up. Systematic team play won for Weston. The home team fought valiantly to hold the westerners, but could not cope with their play around centre field.

POSTAL CLERKS PREPARING FOR WAGE WALK OUT

It is Understood That all Branches of the Service Will Make a Clear Declaration soon.

TORONTO, June 16 (Canadian Press) —Headquarters for final deliberations of postal workers executives on wage award of the Dominion Civil Service Commission, and votes taken thereon by 10,000 postal employees throughout Canada, were last night established at the Sons of England Hall in this city. The executives are composed of officers of letter carriers, postal clerks, and railway mail clerks, but final decision as to ordering walk-out after vote is counted, rests with Dominion Postal Federation, composed of two officers from each organization. T. Beauchamp, Quebec City, treasurer of Postal Clerks' body, reached Toronto yesterday, and is stopping at King Edward Hotel. Secretary R. E. Hall, of Ottawa, reaches Toronto this morning, bringing with him results of voting carried on by postal clerks. It is understood that all branches of the service will make a clear declaration for a walk-out.

SMUTS DENOUNCES THE LABOR PARTY

Says the Nationalists-Labor Party Would Destroy Confidence.

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa, June 16 (Canadian Press Cable via Reuters).—Speaking to a crowded meeting at the United Party club on Saturday night, Premier Smuts, in a final appeal to the Rand electorate, said that he was confident that the result of the elections elsewhere on June 17 would be favorable to the government but the verdict of the Rand was not uncertain. If the party lost the election it would be due to the vote of the Rand and in that event the Rand would suffer most. He predicted a further heavy drop in the value of mining securities, stagnation and worse unemployment if the Nationalist-Labor pact scored a victory on Tuesday. This situation would be brought about by the cutting off of the Mozambique native labor supply, the imposing of additional taxation on the richer mines and the fresh labor troubles which these acts would arouse. As in the case of the labor government in Britain, confidence would be destroyed, credit would go and all industries would suffer in common with mining.

Premier Smuts denied that he had any quarrel with the Chamber of Mines and declared he was out for one thing only, namely, expansion of the great mining industry on a scale which would enable them to absorb as much white labor as possible. That would very much depend on future developments. If the chamber of mines would not help him in this great task he would try to bring about this expansion in some other way. He was prepared to re-shape the policy underlying mining leases so as to give the necessary impetus to new openings in the far wast Rand.

In conclusion, the premier denounced the Nationalist-Labor pact as an organization for cold-blooded bartering of principles for office and power, and he warned the labor forces of the danger of their being spoofed by the Nationalists if the latter got into power.

By Ray G. Marshall.

PEKIN, June 16 (United Press).—Lieut. Lowell Smith, commander of the American round-the-world flight, arrived at Tourane yesterday, rejoining his companions and the three flyers intended to depart together for Saigon to-day.

The flight-commander had been forced down at a little town on the coast of French Indo-China by engine trouble, and the motor of his plane was completely wrecked. A destroyer took him a new motor, while the other pilots, Lieuts. Eric Nelson and Leigh Wade, proceeded on to Tourane.

Reports that Smith had caught up with the others were received here by the official government wireless.

FIRE THREATENS MOST OF ALBERTA

Old Transport Headquarters of the Hudson Bay Company Has Been Completely Demolished.

FORT McMURRAY, Alta., June 16. —Fires are blazing all over this country and are burning down to the water's edge on various rivers. The Waterways, which is placed in the middle of the deep woods, has had several close calls, and if fires do reach there, or match is dropped carelessly, nothing can save it.

Old transport headquarters of Hudson's Bay Company, at cache 23, between Waterways and McMurray, has been completely demolished. All Buildings have gone up in smoke, and people who went to investigate the conflagration could not get to the shore, owing to the heat generated by the fire.

Some of the fires which are burning go back 35 miles from the rivers, and there are not sufficient forest rangers in the district to cope with them. Men attached to service here are doing all they can, but it would require thousands of helpers now to do any good.

Of the shipments about six and a quarter million bushels were wheat and oats were again fairly active with shipments of well over a million bushels, but receipts were over 200,000 bushels greater than the quantity shipped. Other coarse grains were comparatively sluggish. Stocks of barley dropped below the million mark, while flax stocks were increased by about 10,000 bushels, and stocks of rye dropped by 40,000.

"THE SPIDER AND THE ROSE"

Thrilling Drama, With Million-Dollar Cast, at Royal Now.

One of the most beautiful love stories ever pictured on the screen is enacted in "The Spider and the Rose," a B. P. Zeidman production, which opens a three-day engagement at the Royal Theatre to-night. Love in the land of the Senoritas, flashing swords and castanets, is brought out in all its fiery passion by Director John McDermott. Alice Lake and Gaston Glass are the principal players in "The Spider and the Rose," and they both do the best work of their careers.

It remained for Mr. McDermott to give the waiting public a picture of mission life in California correct in every detail. One of the greatest faults of the movies lies in its failure to stick to correct atmospheric detail, and it is in this that Mr. McDermott excels. "The Spider and the Rose," as the title implies, concerns the the activities of a villainous usurper to gain the hand of Alice Lake as Paula. Paula loves Don Marcello (Gaston Glass), however, so much that she fears for his safety in attending a meeting of patriots who plan to rid the country of the usurper Mendozza capably played by Robert McKim. She puts her faith in Mendozza in a message to his father, the ruler of California. The message never reaches the Governor, but is used for the selfish motives of Mendozza, who seizes the patriots and has them jailed.

As the climax of a fast moving story, Don Marcello arranges a jail delivery that brings freedom to his little band of friends, who, later, lead an uprising that saves the life of him and his father. The usurper, Mendoza, is dethroned, and the story is brought to an unusually happy ending after a thrilling chase on horseback, ending in the capture of Mendozza, who attempts a getaway with Paula. An unique ending pictures a scene wherein Don Marcello and his happy wife Paula are photographed with several beautiful children.

There are many reason why "The Spider and the Rose" should play to capacity business at the Royal Theatre during its run there.

Climbs Across Canyon on Rope which is Shot from Above Him by Rifle.

In "The Circus Cowboy," his latest William Fox release, which comes to the Regent Theatre Monday, Charles Jones performs one of the most dangerous stunts of his career. Pursued by a posse that suspects him wrongly of shooting a man, Jones outrides the rest until he comes to a canyon. Facing death at the hands of his pursuers, he is hard put what to do. The only means out of his difficulty is the lariat.

Jones lassoes the stump of a tree across the canyon and then ties the end he holds to another tree. With the chasm gaping thousands of feet below him and with the full realization that one false action means he will be dashed to death on the rocks below he makes his way across the canyon by means of this rope, hand over hand.

While half way on this perilous trip, a crack shot among the posse severs the rope with a rifle bullet. Jones clings to the rope and swings to the opposite side of the chasm, smashing against the precipice. He climbs to safety under a shower of lead and evades his pursuers.

This feat was actually performed during the making of "The Circus Cowboy" and is no photographic delusion. After the scene was shot, Jones looked questionably at Director Wellman:

"Phew!" was all he said.

AT THE CAPITOL.

There was a good attendance at the Capitol Theatre on Saturday afternoon for the opening chapter of the new serial, "The Ghost City."

"The Ghost City" is supreme in sensation. The audience sat breathless through the showing of the opening chapter of the new Universal chapter-play; every instant brought more astonishment. Pete Morrison, a daring rider, Al. Wilson, an aviator, and the rest of the cast spring something new in sensationalism every moment. It is amazing —it is entertaining—and what is more important, it really tells a big story underneath its exciting adventures.

It is the story of the new feud of the West—the feud that has replaced the famous rivalry between sheepmen and cattlemen. Now it's the cattlemen against the irrigation project, which transforms his cattle ranges into fertile farms. Around this motive Paul Bryan, the author, has woven a thrilling adventure tale. Margaret Morris plays the girl in the story, who, with an aviator, rushes to the Western range lands and the old deserted mining settlement known as "The Ghost City," to save her father's interests from the mysterious enemies of the irrigation project.

Pete Morrison plays the young ranchman, who battles for her against her father's sinister enemies. There are breath-taking falls from the skys; a thrilling rescue of the girls from the path of a stampeding herd; an astounding adventure in a subterrean cavern, desperate battles on a motorcycle, rushing over a cliff on a runaway buckboard, and dozens of other events equally thrilling. A splendid cast supports the stars, Bud Osborne in the role of the principal villain, Lola Todd, Alfred Allen, noted character actor, "Slim" Coles, Valerio Olivio, Princess Neola, William Quinn and Frank Rice.

"NELLIE, THE BEAUTIFUL CLOAK MODEL," IS GREAT MELODRAMA

A melodramatic photoplay of first-rate quality is Goldwyn's picturization of Owen Davis' popular old melodrama, "Nellie, the Beautiful Cloak Model," which opens at the Capitol Theatre to-night.

The action is rapid and melodramatically thrilling throughout. It rushes from one climax to another with the speed of an express train. It cannot fail to hold the interest of anyone who cares for really human characters in a series of big dramatic situations. The spirit of the Davis melodrama has been maintained throughout and the story itself followed with a good deal of faithfulness. H. A. Van Loan, one of the best of scenarists, made the adaptation which was put into continuity form by Carey Wilson.

The production was directed by Emmett Flynn, whose previous high achievements, "In the Place of the King," "Monte Cristo," and "The Connecticut Yankee," placed him among the greatest American directors.

The scene in which Nellie is bound to the tracks of the elevated railway in New York was photographed on a spur of the New York elevated system and is most realistic, as well as abounding in thrills that make the shivers run continuously up and down one's spine. The fire scene in the modiste shop is another thrilling spectacular sequence, as is that of the fight between Walter Peck, the villain, and Jack Carroll, Nellie's sweetheart, in the underground rendezvous of New York's criminal element.

The cast is one of the most capable of the season. Claire Windsor has the part of the beautiful cloak model, and never was she more charming or a better actress. The gorgeous gowns and coats, which she wears as the cloak model, set off her blond beauty in Striking fashion.

Mae Busch makes a deeply human character out of Nellie's chum, Polly Joy. Lew Cody is again a perfect villain, while Hobart Bosworth, Raymond Griffith and Ermund Lowe do most satisfying work in other important roles. Other members of the cast are Lilyan Tashman, an ex-Follies beauty, Dorothy Cummings, Will Walling, Arthur Houseman and William Orlamond.

BEN TURPIN, CROSS-EYED COMIC, AT CAPITOL IN NEWEST LAUGH-FEST

Ben Turpin will be seen in the latest Mack Sennett comedy, called "$10 or Ten Days," at the Capitol Theatre to-night, to-morrow and Wednesday. As well as the Turpin comedy, a Cameo comedy, "It's a Joy," will be shown These two comedies, together with the Pathe Review, will make an excellent programme, of which "Nellie, the Beautiful Cloak Model," will be the feature in which Claire Windsor is starred.

PETES TRIUMPH OVER OLD FOES AND LEAD RACE

Eighth Inning Rally Enables Home Talent to Beat Belleville 4-2.

HECKMAN IN FORM

Petes' Right-Hander Invincible After Second Frame of Saturday's Tilt.

An eighth inning rally started by "Shiner" Johnston with a double gave the Petes three runs in Saturday's game with Belleville at Riverside Park and a 2-1 margin held by Trunks from the third frame was turned into a Peterboro majority of 4 to 2.

As a result of this most pleasing performance the talent piloted by Manager Jake Solomon are again heading President Duff's circuit; Kingston having very obligingly stepped into Oshawa and kalsomined "Chuck" Schultz's boys 5 to 0.

Saturday's tilt was the best of the season and the biggest crowd of the year went wild with excitement as the home athletes tied the score and then flashed out in front after having been behind for seven long innings.

As usual the Petes spotted the enemy a coupie of runs in the initial stages.

Johnny Oulette of Belleville via Fenelon Falls and Lindsay, always a strong front runner, went along so smoothly with that early lead that although the home gang nicked one counter back in the third, it was beginning to look as if one run margin was all that Johnny needed to hang another scalp to his belt.

The Big Rally.

That is it looked that way until the last half of the eighth.

Oulette got rid of Legon the first man up in that inning on a smart play by Johnny Williams and the visitors breathed easier—for a moment.

Swanson was the next batter and Oulette, treating the Peterboro backstop with great respect was so anxious to keep from giving him a good ball to hit at that he passed him and put the winning run on the pathways.

Right here the Petes introduced some inside baseball.

Williams the Belleville third baseman was lured into the diamond by a fake bunt and with the sack uncovered Johnston stole third and Swantson rambled down to second on the next ball.

It was up to Heckman to win his own game and the Petes pitcher responded by singling off Williams' glove, Johnston crossing the rubber with the tying run.

Collins tried hard for a hit but although he failed his slow grounder down the third base line was equally as valuable for Williams had no chance to stop Swanston scoring the winning run and had to content himself with throwing Collins out at first.

And then to cinch the win Heckman could not handle and the Petes were two in front.

Holyman rolled to Oulette for the third out but that did no harm except to his batting average for the visitors were blanked in the ninth.

Heck In Form.

Al. Heckman did the gunning for the Petes and turned in his best performance of the season. A couple of errors helped in manufacturing Belleville's first run and Umps Sullivan's miss of a "groover" gave the visitors their second but from then on Heck was invincible, allowing but three hits after the second frame. The Belleville wrecking crew, Weir and the Mills brothers, were stopped completely and the only visitor to do much with the willow was Hagerman who cashed in with three singles. Heck fanned eight and worked in old time form.

Oulette also turned in a nice performance and until he weakened in the eighth looked good enough to win. Up to that session he had allowed but five hits, but Johnston broke through his delivery with a double and Oulette could not head off the rally that followed.

Fast Fielding.

Both crews did some fast fielding with Williams shining for Belleville. The third sacker covered a lot of ground and his running pick ups and throws were a feature. Swanston, Legon and Collins contributed some fine defensive stuff for the Petes. Swanston picked two runners off the bases in the first inning, nipping Ross off first and Weir off third and these two fast plays prevented Belleville from taking a bigger lead. Legon's catch of Williams' low liner to left was a beauty and Collins made a diving grab of Meagher's high foul fly.

The umpiring was impartial but none too good. George Sullivan looked bad on balls and strikes and his decision on Shaughnessy in the third was a good break for Belleville while Base Umpire Allen called Collins out at second in the sixth when Meagher missed the runner by a foot. Allen fails to get on top of the play and his long distance decisions are little more than guesses.

Saturday's win gives the Petes the leadership and a victory over Oshawa, who play at Riverside Park on Wednesday evening, the game called at 5.15 o'clock will put the local crew in a very favourable position in the race for first section honors.

It Started Badly.

The first inning started out like a repetition of the previous Saturday's initial frame but two smart plays by Swanston broke the backbone of the Belleville attack. Ross started by singling past Johnston but Swanston caught him at first with a quick throw to Harrison. Weir then singled to left and Harry Mills rolled one at Holyman that might have been converted into a double play. The ball got away from Holyman, however, and when Weir over-ran second Legon who fielded the roller threw badly to second and Weir reached third. Mills started to steal second on the first ball and Weir, looking for a throw to second, was caught off third when Swanston shot the ball to Collins. Peeny Mills kept the inning from being entirely wasted by getting a handle single to short centre, scoring brother Harry from second. Williams rolled to Collins for the third out, so that three hits and two errors only gave the invaders one counter.

The Petes failed to get started. Legon fanned, an unusual start for him and Johnston and Swanston were retired on fast two plays by Williams, the Belleville third baseman.

Belleville started the second in dangerous fashion. Meagher looped a single to left and Hagerman lined to right centre for a base. Umps Sullivan missed a perfect third strike on Casey and the right fielder walked, filling the bases. Johnny Oulette could have boosted his own game considerably at this stage with a hit but Heck refused to throw where he was swinging and he fanned. Ross lifted a sacrifice fly to Hall, Meagher scoring after the catch and then Heckman whiffed Weir for the third out.

The Petes made a gesture but that was all. Heckman walked to start with and Collins lined a single to left. The rally stopped there however, for Holyman flied out to Meagher, Harrison fanned and Hall rolled to Harry Mills.

Heckman threw only four balls to retire Belleville in the third. H. Mills drove one to Legon, Collins tossed out W. Mills and Williams skied to Johnston.

Got One Back.

The home talent cut the deficit in two in their half. Shaughnessy singled to right and Legon lined to right center for a double, Casey failing to hold the drive after a great sprint across the field. Johnston after two attempts to sacrifice had missed by inches rolled to Harry Mills who made the play to the plate and Shaughnessy was called out, a very close decision that might easily have gone the other way. Johnston stole second and Swanston walked, filling the bases. Heckman cracked a hot one at Weir who knocked it down and forced Swanston at second, Legon scoring on the play. Heckman stole second after which Collins grounded to Meagher ending the fun.

Meagher first up in the fourth fanned. Hagerman scratched a hit on a roller that took a bad hop away from Collins and Casey was safe on Holyman's fumble, although Hagerman was nearly forced at second. Oulette again failed, hitting nothing but the ozone and Heckman grabbed Ross's tap and got the batter at first.

Weir opened Belleville's fifth by fanning. H. Mills hit to Harrison and was an easy out and Heckman fielded Billy Mills' roller.

In the homesters half Shaughnessy flied to Casey and Legon was thrown out by Williams. Johnston lined to right centre for a single but was forced at second on Swanston's grounder to Weir. It was a hit and run play and the shortstop going over to cover made the putout at second.

A Fine Catch.

A sparkling catch by Legon of Williams' hard hit drive to left featured the sixth. Legon took the ball on the run. Johnston threw out Meagher after which Hagerman got hit third hit, a clean single to left. He went to second on a wild pitch. With Casey up Swanston was temporarily knocked out when after running beyond the Belleville dugout for a foul he fell over a youngster. When the game was resumed Casey fanned.

Heckman opened the Petes half in the right way with a single to right. Collins cracked one at Weir who ran over to second forcing Heckman. Collins was called out stealing, although Meagher failed to tag him. Holyman lifted one to Meagher.

Oulette struck out for the third time in succession to start the seventh. Ross was hit but Heckman took Weir's bunt, intended for a sacrifice and threw Ross out at second and Harry Mills rolled to Johnston.

The Petes got nowhere. Harrison fouled to Harry Mills, Cook batting for Hall fanned and Shaughnessy lofted an innocent looking fly to Weir.

Belleville were easy in the eighth. W. Mills hit to Holyman who tossed him out and Williams hoisted one to the same player. Then Collins made an acrobatic catch of Meagher's high foul for the third out.

The ninth was soon over. Hagerman drove a long one to Legon with the usual result. Casey beat out a tap to Collins. Keon was put in to bat for Ouelette and struck out as neatly as Johnny had been doing and Ross's long fly to left found Legon waiting for it.

Three Home Runs Made In Saturday's Battle By Kelly of New York

NE WYORK, June 16 (Canadian Press). — George Kelly's feat of making three home runs in Saturday's game with Cincinnati, not only tie the modern record for runs batted in during a single game, but placed the Giant slugger in a class by himself as the only man in major league history who has twice hit three homers during a single contest. He first did the stunt on 17th September, 1923.

Ken. Williams, of the Browns; Cy. Wiliams, of the Phillies; and W. J. Henline, of the Athletics, are the only other players who have made three homers during a single contest in the twentieth century.

QUAKER OATS DEFEATED THE WOOLLENS 3-0

An Even First Half Showed Some Poor Shooting for Goal.

WOOLLENS OFF FORM

The Qakers Scored All the Goals in Second Half.

The Quaker soccer team trounced the Woollen's three goals to nothing in a league fixture at the Oval on Saturday afternoon. Last week, the Quakers put their guests out of the Phelan Cup by 2 goals to 1, so this will make it even now after the 10 goal defeat early in the season against the Quakers. The game was very fast and clean throughout, refereed by Jack Chambers, in place of the official referee, in a very satisfactory manner.

Opening Ding-Dong

Quakers won the toss and decided to play with the sun at their backs. Wyllie and Mitchell came into the limelight right away but Honor stopped them in the nick of time. Wilson and Williams played combination along the wing, parted to Geo. Logan who was hampered as his part ing shot was picked up by Hillman.

Monkman sent Mitchell up the field into Quaker's area. He gave Wyllie the ball who in turn let Warde test Pellow, who made a smart clearance. Wasting no time, Monkman let drive over the bar while Pellow was up in the air in event of a dropping bat. A foul against Butler made play interesting at the Quaker's end, until Willshaw punted clear. Craig was invariably on the move in the Quaker's attack about this time, and he gave Cridland and Perry several anxious moments ere the defense pair settled down. At the other end, the Woollen's forward confined the play on the Quaker's defense but Honor and Willshaw frustrated attack after attack where Mitchell tried repeatedly to break through in his own. He planned and maintained this play in every attempt in fact Metcalfe hung on to him like a leach, which left the Quaker's full backs an easy clearance.

Wilson's Splendid Effort

Play was not very lively at this period, as the ball travelled up and down without any serious effort being made to get within shooting range. Craig and Geo Logan missed opportunities to serve, when a well-placed corner by Moore went a-begging across Hillman's goal. The Quaker's inside left—Wilson—grasped the opening after William's had laid a chance open for him; quick as a flash, he let drive at goal which Woollen's goalie stopped before it got through between himself and the upright. Play was confined to midfield thereafter until half-time—No scoring.

The Second Half

The Quaker's attacked right away through Craig but found he was held outside the shooting range. Altering their method of attack, they swung the ball from wing to wing, ultimately Williams gained a successful corner off Cridland.

The outside left landed the ball in below the bar, Hillman fisted clear as Craig jumped in at the same time with his head but a minute late. The ball landed back to Logan.

The Quaker's player feinted his play, drew out the defense and picking a hole in the goal which opened the scoring. The second-half was very keen now and the Woollens went down in a body to test Pellow time and again, wo was aided by sterling defense work of Honor and Willshaw and nullified many a splendid moment to gain an equalizer. More chances came the Quaker's way, but the Woollen's defense prevailed, somewhat luckily. The combination of Williams and Wilson worried Read and Cridland and got two unsuccessful corners. From one of these the Quaker's forwards buzzed around Hillman's goal. Wilson lifted the ball over the players hand to Craig's waiting foot who added the second goal after 20 minutes play. Not long afterwards, Perry made a faulty clearance in front of goal which gave Geo. Logan the honor of scoring the third goal.

Woollen's Erratic Shooting

At the other end, Dundas, the Woollen's new recruit, made a great impression with his timely crosses that many a time baffled the Quaker's defense and shows up well to be an acquisition at outside left. From one of his passes, Wyllie travelled right in upon Pellow but to his own surprise hit the goalie with his parting shot. Pellow showed he was alive to any situation when he cleverly held close-in shots from Mitchell, Warde, Wyllie and Monkman in rotation by fisting one-handed, putting out, and running out of goal to pick the ball off Wyllie's foot when in the act of shooting. Roberts made an individual effort when he was very unfortunate with his shot as it struck the upright when a goal seemed sure. The Woollen's added pressure through Wyllie who came within an ace of scoring in his own when he rounded two opponents, cut in, and shot at Pellow who saved. Ere the finish Craig broke away up the centre and looked like scoring until Cridland came across and intercepted him. The whistle sounded shortly thereafter. Quakers', 3; Woollens, 0.

The Teams

Quakers— Pellow, goal; Honor and Willshaw, full-backs, W. Logan Metcalfe and Butler, half-backs; Moore, G. Logan, T. Craig, Wilson and Williams forwards.

Woollens: Hillman goal, Cridland and Perry backs, Read, Monkman and Sawyers half-backs, Mitchell, Warde, Wyllie, Roberts and Dundas forwards.

GREYBIRDS LOSE IN JUNIOR GAME

The C.P.C. Greybirds entertained North Dummer team in a League fixture at King Edward Park on Saturday afternoon, and after a splendid exhibition of football, the Township were the winners by 2 goals to none.

The feature of the game was the exhibition given by young Esau Downer, the youngest of three brothers who are playing this season. At the conclusion of the game he was congratulated by the winning team.

The Greybirds won the toss and put the Township men to face the sun. Foster got under way and sent out to Edwards, who tested Bryan with a good shot. Albert Jory sent M. Payne on his mission, and he looked dangerous. Somers relieving just in time. Hotson and Cross put in a nice combined run, the latter centering to Anderson, whose shot just skimmed the bar. From the goal-kick A. Jory sent well up the right. Wesley Little met the centre and beat Kilenbeck with a splendid drive from the centre kick. Hotson became very prominent, but his final effort went over the bar. The Greybirds were doing their level best to score, but the defence of the Township men was very safe. The left wing of the visitors could not make headway. Young Downer, who figured at right half, kept a watchful eye on the outside left all through the game. Placing nicely to Cross, the outside right made a brilliant run, and sent in a great shot which Bryan saved at the expense of a corner. Edwards placed nicely, Albert Jory heading out of danger. M. Payne essayed a solo run but Somers again came to the rescue and relieved. Foster trapped nicely, but shot just wide of the post. Half time arrived with the Township men leading by 1 to nothing.

The Second Half.

Upon resuming with the sun behind them, the Township men began to force the game. It was during this half that young Downer showed his ability. His heading out of danger a shot from H. Darling brought forth applause from his many admirers. Foster was feeding his wings like an artist, but the halfbacks of the Township men were a stumbling block. Anderson and Edwards were playing well together, and from their combined movements Bryan was very lucky to save. Feeley and his comrades were kept busy and it looked as if their efforts would be rewarded with a goal. Feeley placed nicely to Foster, who only had the goalkeeper to beat, but his final effort hit the upright. The play was very even and exciting, both goalkeepers having plenty to do. Payne, the outside right, was placed in possession, and racing away at full speed, centered well in goal. H. Darling met the sphere, and directed out of the reach of Kilenbeck and put the Township men two ahead. The game was well contested. There was no further scoring, and a good game ended in a win for the Township men by 2 goals to none.

The teams:

North Dummer—Bryan, G. Little, A. Jory, Taylor, Batten, H. Jory, R. Payne, W. Little, H. Munro, H. Darling, Milford Payne.

Greybirds:—Kilenheck, Taylor, Somers, E. Downer, Feeley, Batley, Cross, H. Hotson, Foster, A. Anderson, J. Edwards.

SCORING RULES PUZZLE FANS

Fail to Take Into Account All Details Scorer Has to Watch in Calling Plays.

SATURDAY'S EXAMPLE.

The average ball fan is all at sea when he tries to figure out a box score after a game he has witnessed for the hit and erorr column as published do not at all coincide with his own impressions of the game.

That is not to be wondered at for the principles governing the scoring of a baseball game are a sealed mystery except to the initiated.

The official scorer has not only a code of rules governning his work and must know them as perfectly as the umpire is expected to know his rules, but in addition he has to take into account details that the fans never noice, the way a ball bounces, the speed of the runner and half a dozen other points that settle the question of whether the battert should be given a hit or the fielder an error.

The Examiner doesn't propose to attempt to educate the fans in all the fine points of scoring but there is one cardinal principle that should not be forgotten, the batter gets the benefit of any doubt there may exist.

For example, in Saturday's game Ross the first man up cracked a roller between Johnston and second base and the Petes keystone guardian ran over and failed to pick up the ball cleanly.

The vast majority of fans called the play an error and a few of the hammer swingers started to ride Johnston.

Yet the official scorer scored the play as a hit for Ross in spite of the fumble.

Why?

Simply because Ross is one of the fastest men in League going down to first base.

As left-handed batter he is in fine stride with the crack of the bat and an infielder with the play in front of him has to move fast to head him off.

There is no second baseman in this League who could run over to his right, pick up a roller, turn and throw Ross out at first on a hit such as he made Saturday.

Infielders who could perform that stunt don's belong in leagues like the Central.

And so Ross got credit for a hit.

Legon was given a double on that play because there was just one chance in fifty that any outfielder running at that speed and trying to make a catch with outstreched arms would cling to the ball.

And the one chance did not materialize.

The too general impression that a fielder gets an error on any ball he touches and doesn't field is one of the fallacies into which fans fall.

Scorers Are Not Infallible.

The scorers need to know as many rules as the umpires and have to make a decision on every play and like everybody else they make mistakes sometimes.

When the Petes played in Kingston recently Johnston laid down a sacrifice bunt in the first inning which was fielded badly by Kelly, Johnston reaching second and Legon third on the play but the Kingston scorer credited Johnston with a time at bat and no sacrifice.

Holyman followed with a long fly which Daley dropped and Legon and Johnston scored. Legon would have registered anyway if the ball had been caught and Holyman should have been given a sacrifice. Instead he got a time at bat.

BASEBALL

Tomorrow night at 6.00 p.m. at Riverside Park the Bankers and the C.G.E. meet in a Mercantile League game. Both teams have been strengthened for the occasion, the C.G.E. having secured "Chuck" Bradley, portside heaver who was with the Lockworks at the start of the season and who also pitches for the Maple Leafs in the Juvenile League. Bradley has accepted a position at the C.G.E. factory.

The Bankers have unearthed a new heaver who made a creditable showing last week against the Lockworks. Had the Bankers given their heaver any support at all he might have turned in a win—at least he would have had a smaller score chalked up against. The Bankers have been practicing faithfully the past week and are determined to back their pitchers up with better support, and by so doing they hope to turn in a win. The C.G.E. are just as determined as the Bankers for they wish to get out of the cellar position, and with Bradley on the mound they are confidnnt they can.

It should be a good game and a good turnout of fans is expected. The game starts at 6.00 p.m. sharp.

OSHAWA HERE ON WEDNESDAY

WILL START AT 5.15.

By way of variety there will be no Central League game at Riverside Park on Saturday but the fans will have a chance of seeing a mid-week fixture for Oshawa will clash with the Petes in a schedule game at Riverside Park on Wednesday evening, the game being called for 5.15 o'clock.

This battle will have a very important effect upon the League standing and upon the fight for first section honors. Oshawa dropped a game at home to Kingston on Saturday and another loss would jeopardize their chances for winning the first half. The Petes need the game too, to tighten their hold on first place so that there is every incentive for one of the hardest fought games of the season. With the fixture billed to start at 5.15 o'clock many fans wo have been unable to attend Saturday fixtures will get a chance to see the Petes in action while the usual enthusiasts will be able to be on hand.

This is the second last home game of the first half, the only other League game at Riverside Park this month being the Kingston fixture a week from Saturday.

The League standing is as follows:

	Won	Lost	P.C.
Peterboro	4	3	.571
Belleville	3	3	.500
Kingston	4	4	.500
Oshawa	3	4	.429

Games this week:

Wednesday—Kingston at Belleville; Oshawa at Peterboro.

Friday—Belleville at Kingston.

Saturday—Peterboro at Oshawa.

Johnston kept up his consecutive hitting Saturday by getting two hits in four times up making seven games in a row in which he has made at least one safety. The Petes second sacker has climbed into the charmed circle with an average of .310. Legon scored one run Saturday, giving him at least one counter in every game played.

Catching two runners off the sacks in one inning as Swanston did Saturday is the kind of defensive work that counts.

Legon's bad throw to second in the first inning of Saturday's game was his only error of the season.

Doug. Moore of last year's junior champion Lakeviews made his first appearance in a Central League game Saturday when he played centre field during the last two innings after Cook had batted for Jimmy Hall in the seventh.

The Petes who were supposed to have no punch have scored 39 runs in seven games as against 37 by Oshawa in seven, 32 by Kingston in eight and 29 by Belleville in six games.

	Won	Lost	P.C.
Heckman (Peterboro)	2	1	.667
Serth (Peterboro)	2	1	.667
Kelly (Kingston)	3	2	.600
Oulette (Belleville)	3	3	.500
Dainty (Oshawa)	3	3	.500
Gallagher (Kingston)	1	3	.333
Harrison (Peterboro)	0	1	.000
Webster (Oshawa)	0	1	.000

The Kingston Ponies made their best showing last week winning two games. The Petes broke even and the best Belleville and Oshawa could do was to tie and lose. The Ponies have induced Somerville to turn out again and they will be strengthened as a result. With Kelly going as he is and Gallagher ready to hop in Belleville will have to watch their step in the series this week.

The race is so close that the championship of the first half may not be decided until the final games a week from Saturday when Kingston play in Peterboro and Belleville in Oshawa. The Petes have a postponed game with Belleville which will likely have to be played next week and Belleville also has a tie game with Oshawa which will also have to be played off if it affects the standing.

CANADIAN NATIONAL TEAM WON THE GAME

COBOURG, June 16.—(Special).—In a Midland League ball game the Canadian Nationals won from the Cobourg Dye Works at the Horse Show Park here Saturday by a score of 4-1. It was a good game of ball, and was thoroughly enjoyed by the spectators, who characterized it as one of the best games of the 1924 season so far.

MLLE. VLASTO WON.

Tennis Singles of France Taken by Slim Girl Who Rivals Lenglen.

PARIS, June 16. — Mlle. Emilinne Vlasto yesterday won the ladies' singles championship of France, defeating Mme. Vaussard 6-2, 6-3.

Mlle Vlasto who is a slim Marseilles girl, is being rated by tennis devotees as second only to Suzanne Lenglen, whose title she now attains. The physical condition of Mlle. Lenglen, due to a slight attack of jaundice, prevented her from defending her title.

The new champion's real battle came on Friday in the semi-final round, when she won from Mme. Golding, 6-4, 2-6, 6-3. Mme. Golding had been the finalist in the French championship against Mlle. Lenglen for the past four years.

C.G.E. ON TOP IN RAYBESTOS GAME

Twenty-eight Hits Featured Game That Was Won 15 to 11.

Canadian Generals came out on top in a free hitting game at Exhibition Park on Saturday, when they handed the Raybestos gang a 15 to 11 defeat.

The game was featured by 28 hits, including six doubles and four triples. Both original pitchers lasted four innings, and each team collected five tallies in the fourth.

The relief pitchers got off much easier, allowing but seven runs between them. Duggan and Hardill shared the batting honours with three hits apiece, while Hensley and Ranger were the only ones to go hitless. The feature fielding plays were contributed by Rose, MacPherson and Hensley.

Eddie Foley, who played with the Electricians three years ago, appeared in a Raybestos uniform. He had a good batting average, but struck hard luck in his fielding.

Electricians Started.

The Electricians opened the scoring in the first inning, and were never headed. They added markers in all but three innings, and had no hitless sessions. The Raybestos scored in but four innings, and went hitless three times. The fourth was the big inning.

The Electricians gathered in five on a single, a double, a triple, an error and a walk. The brakemakers came right back with 5 runs scored on six hits, one a double, a walk, and a double steal.

Do You Know Baseball?

By BILLY EVANS

QUESTIONS

2. What is the distance from the pitcher's box to the home plate?—E. H.

3. When is the catcher charged with a passed ball?—T. H.

ANSWERS

1. In a game which has gone over five innings and is then forfeited, the records go into the averages as made.

2. The distance is 60 feet 6 inches.

3. The catcher is charged with a passed ball when is failure to hold a legally delivered ball enables the batsman to reach first, or permits a baserunner to advance.

QUESTIONS

1. Is there a limitation as to the length of the baseball bat?—E. M.

2. What is the weight of the official major league ball?—W. Mc.

3. If the batter hit a ball into fair ground in front of the plate, and before he moves out of his box, the ball rebounds and hits him, is it fair or foul?—L. F.

ANSWERS

ROCHESTER TWICE BLANK SKEETERS

Toronto Won From Reading —Umpire Blundered at Baltimore.

JERSTY CITY, June 16.—(Canadian Press). — Hard hitting and effective pitching enabled Rochester to take both ends of yesterday's double-header with Jersey City, giving the hustlers the series by three games to one. Rochester annexed the opening game by a score of 13 to 9, and repeated in the final, 11 to 0. Scores:

The Bears staged a belated rally in the ninth inning, which netted them one run. Thevenow led the attack for the Stars with three hits. Score:

UMPIRE MADE A MISTAKE.

BALTIMORE, Md., June 16.—(Canadian Press).—Batting rallies by Baltimore twice saved the Birds from defeat by Buffalo here yesterday. A four-run offensive in the ninth inning won the first game, 9 to 8.

The second game was called by Umpire Carpenter at the end of the seventh inning, after another four-run rally by the Birds, and enabled the League champions to even up for six runs score by Buffalo in its half of the same inning, knotting the count at 8 to 8.

The teams went into the eighth inning, but the umpire called the contest through a misunderstanding, thinking the seven o'clock Sunday law applied here. Scores:

Proffitt, Biemiller and Hill; Parnham, Ogden, A. Thomas, Jackson and Greenae.

BOXER WAS SHOT DEAD.

NEW YORK, June 16. Canadian Press — William (Bill) Brennan, a prominent heavyweight boxer, was shot and killed yesterday in the Tia Juana cabaret of which he was the proprietor. James Cullen, a state trooper, was shot in the neck as he ran to Brennan's rescue.

James Hughes and Frank Rassi, believed to be two of a band of five who committed the killing are under arrest.

BAD HANDS PUTS FIGHTERS OUT OUT OF BUSINESS

So is Paul Berlenbach, rugged middleweight, whose knockout exploits provided a nine-day sensation in metropolitan rings.

Another young star who has weak hitting weapons is Sammy Mandell of Chicago, a lightweight, whose boxing cleverness is not equalled by any performer in the game.

It will be a tough blow to the game if bad hands keep Stone, Berlenbach and Mandell out of the fancy pictures.

JIMMY MURPHY WON AUTOMOBILE RACE

Two Hundred and Fifty Mile Clip at 114 Miles an Hour.

ALTOONA, Pa., June 16 (Canadian Press). — The semi-annual 250-mile automobile race on the Altoona Speedway on Saturday afternoon, for a purse of $25,000 and points in the 1924 national championship, was captured by the veteran driver, Jimmy Murphy, who pushed his car to an average of more than 114 miles an hour, a new track record.

Murphy flashed home in 2h. 11m. 2s., leading Fred Comer across the line by more than 6 miles.

Antoine Mourre, of France, a newcomer in racing circles of the United States, was a close third.

Jerry Wonderlich, one of the speed monarchs, came to grief on the track, which was made dangerous by intermittent rainfall during the afternoon. Wonderlich was travelling at a terrific pace when his roaring car skidded not far from the spot where Howard Wilcox met his death last year.

The machine flashed down the wet boards and crashed to the infield, with Wonderlich under the wreckage. He was carried from the field unconscious, and the thousands of spectators were stunned when the official announcer told them that the valiant driver had died in the field hospital of a broken neck.

This report was unfounded, for Wonderlich was alive and in an Altoona hospital, suffering from a brain concussion and a broken ankle.

The attending doctors last night announced that his condition was as good as could be expected, and that his chances for recovery were excellent.

WILLS MAY HAVE BOUT.

New Negotiations With Reduced Offer May be Successful.

BUENOS AIRES, June 16.— It was learned on Saturday that negotiations for a match with Harry Wills have been resumed between Luis Firpo, the Argentine heavyweight, and Juan Homs, agent of Tex Rickard, on the basis of a new offer by Rickard showing a considerable reduction from the original offer of $250,000. Rickard is said to have lowered the sum because of the failure of Wills to knock out Bartley Madden in their fight in New York this week.

The new terms have not been disclosed, but is understood that the large reduction in the guarantee is balanced by the offer of a liberal percentage of the gate receipts.

The NUT CRACKER

BY JOE WILLIAMS

MR. N. ALTROCK

Despite severe and stylish opposition from the Phillies as a team, Mr. Altrock stands out as the most comical thing in baseball kimonas.

Old-timers tell you that Booth was a knockout as a tragedian, but moderns remember that it was Chaplin, the comic, who signed the first million dollar contract.

Old Nick would look as out of place in the box today as a house apron in Peggy Joyce's suite, but he's still more important than a clue in a murder mystery.

When Altrock lost his fast one and curve he went out and developed a sense of humor that broke three ways—funny, funnier and funniest.

They pay Judge Landis $42,500 a year to dignify baseball. Altrock gets a whole lot less for burlesquing it. Still you never hear little Johnny pleading with pop to take him out to see the Judge.

Nick went from pitching to clowning and there's a double-breasted sermon in that. No guy ever went from clowning to pitching or to the boss' job.

Nick is getting more jack as a jester than he did as a star with the White Sox.....Remember that the next time you see a simpleton making goo-goo eyes at a coy squirrel.

The most remarkable thing about the uprising of the Red Sox is that no bright young reporter has yet referred to Lee Fohl as a miracle man.

Further proof that a business depression exists is to be seen in the fact that Peggy Joyce's newest husband is not a millionaire.

No one ever heard of a 100-yard dash star getting sore because he was called a flash.

FEATURE GAME OF THIS DATE

WASHINGTON'S GREAT SPURT.

In the spring of 1912 Washington made a triumphal march through the west, winning every game played in Detroit, Chicago, St. Louis and Cleveland. By winning the last game in the east before going west and the first in the east after returning from the west, the Senators ran their string to 17 straight, the second longest winning streak in the history of the American League. The White Sox picked off 19 straight in 1906. Cleveland fought hard to take the final western game from the Senators on June 15, 1912, but what proved to be Washington's clean-up also proved to be Cleveland's seventh straight defeat. The score:

A LITTLE OF EVERYTHING

DANCER

Pavlowa's salary for dancing is $10,000 a week, it's disclosed in a lawsuit.

She's overtaking the world's highest paid dancer—Mei Ran-Tan, the Chinaman. He gets $2500 a night—and in a country where unskilled labor is paid about 18 cents a day.

Mei Ran-Tan is only 24. He dances masquerading as a woman. Spurns all offers to show in America. Critics claim he is the finest dancer in history. We'd always credited Chinese with being very wise. But it seems they, too, pay higher for educated feet than educated heads.

SUCCESS

The Chinese dancer, Mei Ran-Tan is paid $15,000 a week, yet he's only 24. Here's phenomenal success. Yet we doubt that he rose by exception ally hard work, saving his pennies or not watching the clock.

No, the hokum rules don't hold for Mei Ran-Tan.

His success is due to a special gift And we have a sneaking notion this explains most American business successes, regardless of what they tell the interviewers. They have the gift of money making, which is born in a man and cannot be acquired any more than top-notch dancing.

COURAGE

The first New York movie theatre of opera house size and with a complete orchestra instead , of a lone piano player or electric organ was the Mark Strand. That took courage, for other managers predicted failure.

The Mark Strand is still doing business with 53 orchestra men, and has a record of 60 million paid admissions.

This illustrates the value of other people's opinions.

FORCED

Man can't cheat nature, but he never gives up trying. Flowers and vegetables are being experimentally "forced' by X-raying seeds and using electric lights as a substitute sunshine.

Successful, is the claim. But something will be lost —in fragrance of the flowers and in flavor or nutrition of the vegetables. The artificial is always inferior to the natural way. So much for agricultural vaudeville.

CURE.

A cure for cancer will be discovered within a few years, predicts Dr. Charles H. Mayo. That would save 100,000 lives a year in the United States alone.

The great terror, tuberculosis, will also be conquered in time. Possibly by inventing a way to get sunlight down into the lungs. Exposed to the sun's rays, the tuberculosis germ dies in a few minutes.

And after we stamp out cancer, tuberculosis and other dread destroyers, nature will send entirely new diseases to take their place. She wants to keep us fighting constantly to survive, and her reserve armies are unlimited. Flu arrived shortly after several fatal fevers and smallpox were gotten under control.

DEADLY.

Several inventors claim they have discovered a "death ray" which, swung like a searchlight, would start fires, explode ammunition and kill enemy soldiers miles away. It's not a new claim. You recall the X-ray, so widely discussed before the World War.

It is frequently suggested that science may make war so deadly and destructive that no nation would dare start fighting. War would become mutual suicide. It's not impossible. But, first, nations would have to agree to have no secrets in their war offices, otherwise there'd be individual advantages.

War, like other evils, is perpetuated by secrecy.

CAUGHT WITH THE GOODS

"Well I'll be blowed," said Joe Dupuis, telephone lineman, as he inspected a piece of lead-covered cable; "I didn't think a respectable squirrel would do it."

Over a score of telephones had been reported "out of order". Tests showed trouble in a cable passing through a group of trees on a shady residential street. The lead-covered sheath of the cable had been gnawed clear through. A timely snap by an alert photographer caught Mr. Squirrel in the very act of repeating the offence a few days later.

Rats in the basements of large office buildings often gnaw lead cables and tie up telephone service. The squirrel in the same role is rarer, but all too frequent to please the men who keep our telephones in order. It's the paraffin in which the wires within the cable have been treated, that attracts the marauders.

WESTCLOX DEFEATED BY QUAKER OUT-FIT

The Quakers won a fast game from the Westclox girls at Central Park on Saturday. The feature of the game was the heavy hitting by both teams, but the Quakers nosed out the Westclox by the score of 16 to 13. Miss Fallis, who was on the mound for the Quakers, pitched a nice game, while Miss Staples, for the clock makers also turned in a nice game. Both girls had plenty of speed and ontrol, and figured in a number of strikeouts. Alex. Kay called them behind the plate, while Miss B. Vincent was on the bases, and made a good job of it.

The teams lined up as follows:

Westclock — Staples, p; Downs, c; Fitzgerald, 1b; Hunter, 2b; Christmas, 3b; Northott, ss; O'Brien, rf; Miller, lf; Scott, cf; Patterson, sub.

THE REAL PAYMASTER.

(By Robson Black, Manager Canadian Forestry Association.)

Forests are jobs. Trees mean trade. Logs are the raw material, not of lumber or paper, but of pay cheques. It is an incidental matter that the forest gives us telegraph poles. It is a very important matter that the forest gives us 120,000 workmen, supporting a half million of Candaian dependents, and distributing 500 million dollars to maintain Canadian prosperity. Conservation would never bother itself with trees if trees were not the substance of human employment. The Forest Protectionist would not sweat a drop for a square mile of Spruce if he did not know that some vast industry, a thriving town and a thousand contented homes are tied to Spruce trees by an inseparable bond.

We Canadians set 6,000 forest fires a year and nine-tenths of them through human recklessness, but those beacon lights of prodigality mean nothing if they do not tell us that we have put the torch to the livelihood of thousands of men; we have signed an unrenewable note for our children and our gran-dchildren to pay. Let it be laid down as an ugly an undisturbable fact that in the present situation with forest demand jammed hard against dwindling forest supply, every forest fire must be paid for. Every mile of Spruce or Pine or Fir given to the annual bonfire will have to be bought back by the next generation in higher costs of lumber and paper, in forefited industries, in dwindling public revenues, and a sacrifice of population.

CHINAMAN HAD MONEY STOLEN FROM POCKETS

Mr. Hop Lee of George St. North Was the Victim -- Cannot Blame His Wife.

Mr. Hop Lee, who operates a small laundering establishment at 553 George street, in quite a select neighborhood, retired, as usual, at eleven o'clock on Friday evening and left his trousers draped over the ironing board. In one of the pockets was fifteen dollars, while an unlocked drawer in a cupboard in the same room held twenty-five dollars more. In the morning, when Mr. Lee arose at six o'clock, the cash in both receptacles had vanished.

Although Mr. Lee is a married man, and married men have sometimes been forced to conceal the fact, without any complaint, that cash has disappeared from their pockets, no suspicion attaches to his wife. The lady is in China. He is a young, plump, good-looking Chinaman, with eyes blacker than anything ever seen on this side of the world, and hair to match. He has a vocabulary whose chief parts of speech seem to be "yes" and "no," and "don't know," and an evident excellent and undisturbed conscience, because he slept very soundly while the marauder made off with the proceeds of much hard labour over a hand-power steamy tub, in the rear of the tiny shop, where Mr. Lee's customers bring their soiled collars and shirts. However, his memory of his vanished cash extended to a recital of a ten and a five dollar bill in the pants pocket, while the drawer contained seven ones, fifty cents in copper, some silver, and some larger bills.

His brother, whose name was given as "Mr. Lee," smiled over the affair. He said that every door and window was locked tight, except one window on the southern side of the little place. Why this remained unlocked was possibly explained fully in the flood of pidgin English that came tumbling out of both Celestials' mouths, but the listener was none the wiser at the end of the recital. Mr. Hop Lee said that two men slept over the store, but his brother thought there was only one. They both said "good-bye" with much animation at the end of a conversation, during which The Examiner representative gathered the impression that neither would be much surprised if they discovered that the visitor was the real robber, or else was concerned in a conspiracy to hale them both to prison for having so much money on the premises.

CHINESE REQUIRED TO REGISTER SOON

The Chinese Immigration Act Which Came Into Force in 1923 Requires Registration of all Chinese People.

OTTAWA, June 16 (Canadian Press). — In respect to the complaint lodged by the Chinese business men in Victoria, B.C., against the registration required of all resident Chinese, officials of the Department of Immigration here draw attention to the Order-in-Council of 10th July, 1923, establishing the 'Chinese Immigration Act, 1923."

THE TEN PINE TREES.

By Geo. O. C. Rough.

There are only ten of us. How we managed to escape, thus far, from the ruthless attacks of man, is a mystery.

We are ten brothers: strong, sturdy, and beautiful; and we live. We are alive.

Our bodies are tall and straight. Not a branch for—Oh, so high; and our heads, when bent over by the winds, look down, away down, upon the earth below, carpeted and warmed by our needles.

Our home is far from the civilized haunts of man. Nature's Paradise. A gentle slope at the foot of a mountain upon the sides of which our deciduous cousins are arrayed in their gorgeous tints of colored splendor.

All around us, like a protecting zone, beautified by moss and creeper, are jagged rocks and boulders, thrown up by some ancient upheaval, and extending far enough to keep away death by the Demon Fir, whose path of destruction and fearfulness is traced by the blackened skeletons rising above the luxurious undergrowth on the mountain side.

We stand alone in our solitude. Our loneliness is our Life; but we see and hear many things. The birds make music in our branches, and the moaning of the winds is our language. We are the monarchs of our environment. The silver birches on the lake line bow their heads to us, and we are masters of our destiny.

Man has looked upon us with wonderment and awe. The odor of our presence has lulled him to sleep; he has felt the warmth and security of our closeness in storm and blizzard.

The Moose and Deer come to us, and the Trout splash and play in the shadows. The Bear and the Fox seek our sanctuary. All the denizens of the forest are our friends. We are at peace.

TO INVESTIGATE ASSESSMENT OF VARIOUS TAXES

Amendment to Supply Motion Caused Stir in the House of Commons.

INVESTIGATING MANIA.

Graham Declared Whole World Investigating Everybody But Itself.

OTTAWA, June 17. — Methods by which business profits and income taxes are assessed and collected, are to be investigated by the public accounts committee of the House, and thus prorogation seems still a little further away.

W. C. Good, the Progressive member for Brant, who raised the question of tax collections earlier in the session brought it up again yesterday, and as an amendment to a motion to go into supply, moved that the public accounts committee be given authority to investigate.

Premier King intimated that the government was willing to accept the amendment; it carried by a vote of 89 to 26, Liberals and Progressives generally voting in favor and Conservatives against.

Adoption of the Good amendment gave rise to a curious situation. Usually an amendment to a supply motion is regarded as equivalent to a straight motion of non-confidence; and, immediately the result was announced, Right Hon. Arthur Meighen, Opposition, rose.

"Now that the government has succeeded in defeating itself," Mr. Meighen questioned, "may I ask when it is going to resign and consult the country?"

Premier King sharply replied that as the government had accepted the amendment before the vote it could not be interpreted as a vote of non-confidence.

Then the amendment having been declared carried, the Prime Minister again submitted the motion to go into supply. Mr. Meighen objected that the government having already been defeated on its motion to go into supply could not on the same day present the same motion again.

Speaker Lemieux, however, did not sustain this view, and the House went into supply.

In the vote on the Good amendment, Messrs Sutherland and Arthurs were the only two Conservatives to support it. The only Liberals to vote against it were Messrs. Finn, Duff and Forrester, and the only Progressives, Messrs. McDonald, (Timiskaming), McBride, Woods and Pritchard. A. W. Neill, Independent of Comox-Alberni, also voted against the amendment.

There was Conservative cheering as Hon. G. F. Grahar., Minister of Railways, cast his vote in favor of the amendment. In the debate Mr. Graham argued that to make business details public would be a serious injury to business, which was already in a sensitive condition.

Mania for Investigating.

Mr. Graham declared that the whole world seemed to have a mania for investigating everybody but itself. Parliament could not one day pass an act making the whole country liable to it, and the next day violate the act through a committee. The committee might investigate methods of bookkeeping and so forth, but added Mr. Graham: "I say frankly that I would not allow the details of any single transaction to be gone into in that committee; that cannot be done unless this statute is repealed or amended."

Hon. J. B. M. Baxter, (Conservative, St. John) did not think the High Court of Parliament was bound by the law in regard to secrecy. He opposed the motion because the "mover has left it apparently with purpose in a nebulous chaotic state." "It was one of the usual sand storms and if it were filled out as the mover had suggested it would result in a 'snooping, prying, suspicious committee that would hunt around to find some fault in somebody's character.' "God save us," said Mr. Baxter, "from what the Scotch call the unco guid and the rigidly righteous."

The division followed.

North Bay Citizens Like That Cold-Sounding Name

NORTH BAY, June 17 (Canadian Press). — A recent meeting of the North Bay Board of Trade was almost unanimous in favour of changing the name of the town, some of the speakers contending that it was too suggestive of the "Frozen North."

The Council of the Board of Trade decided to take a mail vote of its members on the proposal, and the vote up to yesterday evening showed 70 against a change, 10 in favour, and 3 voting not to change until the town becomes a city.

Opposition to a change also came from various women's organisations of the town, and it is likely that North Bay will continue to be North Bay for some time to come.

KLAN THREATS WERE IGNORED

Murders in Lilly Bring Out Threats From 14,000 to Attorney.

DOES NOT FLINCH.

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., June 17.—The Ku Klux Klan, 14,000 strong in Cambria County, has threatened to kill District Attorney D. P. Weimer, of Cambrai County, if he brings another Klansman to trial on charges of murder.

Said the District Attorney, with a shrug of his thin shoulders:

"Sure, I've received those threats, but—"

Walking to a window of his office, he gazed for a moment out toward a spur of the Alleghemies, then, stroking back his heavy graying hair, he continued:

"Over in that jail at Ebensburg there now are seventeen more of that Klan group, all facing three murder charges each as a result of that riot at Lilly April 5, when three men were killed.

Klansmen Will Be Tried.

"Each one of those men is going to be brought to trial. And the thirteen residents of Lilly who face the same charges—they're going to be tried, too. Of course, I've been threatened, but—who worries about such things? The trials go on. We'll try a Lilly resident, William Monahan, I guess, and then another Klansman. These trials don't stop for mere threats. Why worry about threats?"

But if the District Attorney isn't worrying, others are. This is shown by the fact that a section of the Metropolitan Hotel in Ebensburg has been turned into a barracks for the State troopers who have been assigned to maintain law and order during the trial.

ROTARY PAGEANT WAS BIG AFFAIR

Setting Based on One Hundred Years of Peace

TORONTO, June 17.—(Canadian Press).—Ten thousand citizens of the world visiting in Toronto have a new conception of international friendship. Twenty-eight nations, represented by their professional and business leaders, have witnessed a striking object-lesson of all the marvel of understanding and sympathy which 100 years of peace have wrought on the North American Continent. Twenty-five thousand people were thrilled as one man last evening by a spectacle vivid and glorious the pageant of the accomplishments of peace.

Told under the aegis of Rotary International, told with the consummate artistry of a truly great achievement, bright with all the splendor of things military, and gay with the thrill of compelling music the military tattoo at Exhibition Park has left a record all its own. All the elements which together furnish entertainment that ever sparkles and yet which carries home a lesson of deep significance. Mass and music and color, the appeal of patriotism, the ideal of service, the picturesque background of history and the message to generations yet unborn were part and parcel of the pageant.

Deftly wrought together was the fabric of the spectacle, a story based directly on the 100 years of peace between Canada and the United States, yet which incorporated the spread of the creed of Rotary throughout the nations of the world. Internationalism of the species which exalts patriotism of the highest type, of the variety which makes for service to the world through service to the community, yet which draws together all humanity in a common bond, was the lesson taught last night.

FORCE A WOMAN TO SPEND LIFE IN UNDERWORLD

Startling Disclosures at Trial of Hochelaga Bank Bandits.

JUDGE SYMPATHIZES.

Witness Mercilessly Grilled by Counsel Broke Down in Court.

MONTREAL, June 17—(Canadian Press).—Under a merciless and searching cross-examination by Alban Germain, K.C., counsel for the defence, Emma Leboeuf, alias Lebeau, associate of Ciero Nieri, stated that three times at least she was taken from a life of honest toil and pitchforked into the maelstrom of underworld operations. At the trial of the six suspects charged with the murder of Henri Cleroux, chauffeur of the Hochelaga Bank collection car from which $142,287 was stolen on April 1 in this city, and two men shot dead, she named Serafini, Morel, Niegro and Gambino as being concerned in the crime, and identified from a photograph Adam Parillo, now being held in Bridgeport, Conn.

She declared in evidence that the last meeting of the plotters of the Hochelaga Bank holdup was held in the house of Giuseppe Serafini, 818A Dorchester Street, this city, the night before the holdup and was attended by Serafini, Morel, Niegro, Cambino and Parillo.

Judge Was Caustic.

In cross-examination by Alban Germain, she broke down repeatedly and the court had to be adjourned to give her time to compose herself. She stated that she had made up her mind to live honestly and decently, but had been led away by Niegro on a promise of marriage. At this point she broke down completely, her shoulders heaving with sobs. Several of the jurymen were seen to be crying openly. Mr. Justice Wilson, commenting on the severity of Mr. Germain's cross-examination, said: "It is paying pretty dearly, if she has to tell every detail of her past existence in order to prove that a certain crime has been committed."

Mr. Germain then stated that he was prepared to consider his cross-examination at and end with the right reserved to put a few further questions at a later stage in the proceedings.

BRITAIN OPPOSES BREACH OF TREATY

Formal Protest to United States on Elevating of Guns.

WASHINGTON, June 17. — Unofficial advices, which are regarded as trustworthy, have been received here indicating that the British government has determined to make a formal protest to the United States against the proposal of this government to elevate the guns on thirteen of the eighteen battleships that comprise the first fleet of the navy. This protest, it is said, will be lodged with Secretary Hughes by the British Ambassador before Congress reassembles.

The protest will be based upon the contention that the Washington treaty prohibits an increase in the elevation and range of turret guns on capital ships retained by the signatory powers.

At the same time Great Britain will enter a denial of reports that she has either increased the range of guns on battleships or that she contemplates making such changes.

It is not known what action President Coolidge will take on the British protest. Until the British communication has been formally received the President will not ask the Secretary of State or his legal advisers for an interpretation of the treaty in so far as it relates to the elevation of guns on battleships.

There is no provision in the treaty for a reference of controversial questions to an umpire or referee.

Up to date there have been no serious difficulties among the powers that joined in the treaty as to the intent of its provisions.

A high official of the Navy Department said to-day that if Great Britain made a protest against the elevation of guns on American battleships the president himself would decide whether this country would accept the British contention.

This matter no doubt would result in prolonged diplomatic exchanges, he said, and in the meantime this government would hold in abeyance its plans to elevate the guns.

IMPOSE A TAX ON FURS FROM NORTH

Drayton Says It Is Tax on Primitive Production—and Not Liberal.

OTTAWA, June 17.— (Canadian Press).—A resolution providing for an amendment to the Northwest Territories Act "by adding to the subjects on which the commissioner in council may make ordinances as there in designated, the levying of an export tax on furs within the territories" was considered in the House yesterday.

Hon. Charles Stewart explained that it was proposed to impose a tax on furs exported out of the Northwest Territories. He understood that there had been an agitation for such a tax: Whoever brought the fur out of the territory for sale would pay the tax.

Sir Henry Drayton declared that such a tax was inconsistent with the Government's policy. It was a tax on primitive productions.

Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen said the Government was not going to help the Indian by placing a tax on furs. If revenue was necessary it should come from a higher license for fur trading companies. It was a tax on the most basic and most primitive of all industries and was contrary to the historic principles of the Liberal party.

Hon. J. B. M. Baxter (Conservative, St. John), raised the question whether the proposed legislation was constitutional. The spirit of the B. N. A. Act, he said, was that there should be no duties between the Provinces and he suggested that this might appiy to the present proposal

Mr. Stewart promised to have the matter looked into again. The resolution then carried and a bill based on it was given a first reading.

ANNUAL SOCIAL OF HOLY NAME SOCIETY

The annual social of St. Peter's Holy Name Society will be held on Tuesday, June 24th, at Riverside Park. These socials are always jolly functions, where members and friends of the Society and its adherents meet and have a real get together festal time, with something doing every minute. Energetite committees of men and women are busily engaged in making preparations for the big annual event.

There will be the usual excellent supper, served in the open at long tables, with everything home made and fresh. Ice cream and soft drink booths will be prominent, with the novelties which interest the crowd. There will be the lottery booth, bigger and better than ever, and a band will be in attendance during the evening.

The baby show, which created much entertainment last year, will be repeated this year, with prizes for the best babies, and there will also be a prize for the largest family in attendance.

MEN FORGET SEND FOR THEIR FAMILIES

In social work it has been found that quite a number of men have come to this country from the Old Land and have failed to send for wife and children as agreed upon. At the request of British societies, the Children's Aid Department of the Province has been following up these cases and reminding men of their family obligations. Here is a letter just received from the secretary of the Children's Society in Ireland: "Dear Mr. Kelso,—I am in receipt of your letter of the 26th ult., and note the very successful result of your assistance in this case. The mother and children sailed from here on Saturday last. Please accept our best thanks for all your trouble in the matter. — Sincerely yours, Secretary."

CANADA CITED IN A PROTEST

Olympic Committee Decided Filipino Athletes Must Carry Stars and Stripes.

PARIS, June 17. — (Canadian Press).—Filipino athletes, here to participate in the Olympic games, are citing Canada as an example of fair treatment in a protest which they have entered against a ruling of the Olympic Committee regarding the flag under which they must compete.

In the procession of athletes in which every contingent will carry its national flag, the Filipinos may carry their own emblem, but must also carry the United States flag flying above it. Should the Filipino athletes, through a victory, win the right for the flag of their country to be run up the Olympic mast, it will immediately be surmounted by the Stars and Stripes.

This ruling was made by the Olympic Committee after a conference with the United States Embassy here. The representatives of the Philippine Islands have protested this procedure and have referred the committee to the case of Canada, which is permitted to fly its own flag unaccompanied by the emblem of Great Britain.

OSHAWA YOUTHS UPSET IN LAKE

Clarance Ryder Had a Narrow Escape From Drowning Yesterday Afternoon.

OSHAWA, June 17. — (Canadian Press).—Clarence Ryder, 91 Ontario Street, narrowly escaped drowning at the Lake here yesterday when a canoe in which he and two other young men were paddling turned over. Ryder was unable to swim, and was at the point of exhaustion when picked up by another canoe and brought to shore, where artificial respiration revived him sufficiently to allow him to be removed to his home. Ryder, together with Cortland Spretnall and R. Fitches, Ritson Road, went paddling about and had gone but about a quarter of a mile when Fitches, who was in the centre position, announced that his coat was getting wet, and moved about. The canoe overturned at once, throwing all three into the water. Spretnall took hold of Ryder but was unable to handle him in the water. Other canoes which were in the vicinity came to their assistance, one picking up Ryder as he was about exhausted, another getting Spretnall in their boat, while three girls in a row-boat picked up Fitches.

NEW ROCHELLE, N. Y., June 17—A steeple jack to-day will attempt to remove a whiskey demijohn from the flag pole on top of the city hall. When the building custodian went to float Old Glory he found the demijohn and a red light hanging to the pole.

UNDARNED SOCK EARNS DIVORCE YUCATAN STATE

Peppery Temper and Overcooked Eggs Also Among List of Causes.

DECREE IN MONTH.

Bargain Counter Rush to New Mecca of Dissatisfied People.

MEXICO CITY, June 17. — The State of Yucatan is becoming a divorce centre for American wives and husbands. According to statistics more than a dozen prospective grass widows from New York are already on the ground to take advantage of the new civil laws which make divorce as simple as getting married.

Yucatan divorces may be obtained in a month's time and the hopeful ones may select their grievances from a long list of sins.

Eggs An Excuse.

It is a divorceable offence here, for instance, if your husband criticizes you for allowing his socks to go unmended or if he becomes angry because you boiled his eggs four minutes instead of three.

The mere fact that he tells you about your derelictions in a hard-boiled manner constitutes incompatibility of temperament, and that is a grievous fault in Yucatan.

Besides this there are thirteen other grounds for divorce and they cover everything from too much liquor to too little affection.

One of the more prominent of American women to take advantage of socialistic Yucatan's divorce laws is Mrs. Harriet Edna Foster, of Chicago. Her husband manufactures soap and has found it very profitable. According to her lawyer, Mr. Foster is on the way to Paris to obtain a divorce, but because of the liberality of the Yucatan laws he will find he has already been divorced by the time he can convince the Seine Tribunal he is entitled to one himself.

Decrees In a Month.

That Yucatan is fully aware of its opportunities is revealed in the fact that it has already broadcasted by publicity its virtues as a haven for the matrimonially depressed.

It guarantees to eliminate all the troubles if the prospective customer will merely stick around for a month. What's more it pledges its judicial faith that the divorces will hold water, even back in the States.

Re-marriage is a thing depending upon the disposition of the newly divorced person. It is said that it is perfectly agreeable to Yucatan if prospective divorcees bring their prospective bridegrooms along.

SECOND SIMILAR TRAGEDY.

PORT ARTHUR, Ont., June 17 (Canadian Press). — At Fort Hope, a Hudson's Bay post on the Albany River, on 22nd May, Charlie Williams, a ten-year-old boy, shot and instantly killed his younger sister, Dorothy.

Word of the tragedy was despatched to the company's headquarters on Port Arthur by the factor at Fort Hope, and following an investigation in which the Provincial Police investigated, the shooting was found to be accidental.

BULGAR AGRARIAN LEADER IS SLAIN

His Father Too Was Assassinated in Streets of Sofia.

SOFIA, June 17. — M. Petkoff, secretary of the political section of the Foreign Office under Premier Stamboulisky, and after his fall a prominent member of the Agrarian Party, was assassinated in the streets of Sofia on Saturday night.

The murderer has not yet been captured.

It is thought the crime is political, as M. Petkoff had consistently and bitterly opposed the Government, and of late had been suspected of intriguing with the Communists.

There had been a welcome respite from assassinations this year, and the murder of M. Petkoff may, it is thought, portend a further outbreak.

It is a strange coincidence, that Mr. Petkoff's father, who was Prime Minister, was assassinated in the streets of Sofia on 11th March, 1907.

The Bolsheviki continue to make overtures to the Macedonian, and they are reported recently to have made a concrete offer to both the constitutional organisation and Alexandroff's revolutionary organisation.

The offer appears to have specified that if the Macedonians would work in liaison with the Communists in Bulgaria to use every means to embarrass Professor Tsankoff's Government and would generally try to stir up trouble in the Balkans, money and munitions and military instructors would be provided by Moscow.

Both organisations rejected the offer, but the Bolsheviki are undismayed and continuing their propaganda.

Canadian Cowboys Wonder What Is Fuss At Wembley

LONDON, June 17 (Canadian Press). — Following protests made against the rodeo at Wembley, an appeal of the R. S. P. C. A. made to Premier MacDonald, stated:

"The press have announced that the steer roping at Wembley is to continue in private and steer wrestling in public. In the name of humanity, please forbid it, even if necessary by resolution in the House of Commons.

Meanwhile the promoters of the rodeo are considering what is to be done about the roping and wrestling contests.

Out at Wembley several hundred cowboys from Canada and the United States are sitting around on the top rails of cattle pens sunning themselves and wondering what all the row is about.

LEOPOLD RAILS AT NEWSPAPERS

Says He and Loeb Are Being Put in Same Class as Trained Fleas.

HIS NURSE'S VIEW.

CHICAGO, June 17.—Nathan Leopold, Jr., debonnair in spite of his temporary discard of fastidiousness in dress to conformr with jail styles, was caustic and bitter in discussing newspaper publicity given to himself and Richard Loeb, his companion in crime.

He was still the same jaunty Leopold who walked the campus of the University of Chicago some weeks ago. He still had the same great desire to create a favorable impression.

His whole concern was over what the public is thinking of him. As he stood at the grating of the bull pen Leopold said:

"From reading the newspapers, I would infer that Loeb and I are being trained by the alienists to jump through the hoops like fleas just to entertain the curious."

Different With Loeb.

But Loeb was different. He had no complaint to make about the newspaper. He had no thoughts about what the public is thinking. His manner showed that his whole concern was:

'What is going to happen, Dickie Loeb?"

Conscience, remorseless conscience, had him in its grasp.

A vaudeville troupe entertained the prisoners Sunday. Loeb and Leopold were there.

Observers noted that Leopold enjoyed every minute of the pro-front row. He applauded and laughed, and it was plain that he meant it.

Loeb smiled, but it was forced. It failed to remove the traces of worry. The facial muscles acted in response to the mental stimulus, but that was all. There was no warmth of feeling.

The preliminaries in the defence of the two youths are going along smoothly. The first part, that of examination by alienists, has almost passed its primary stage.

The main portion of that will be completed within a day or two by Dr. Karl M. Bowman and his assistant, Dr. H. S. Hulbert.

Insanity Main Plea.

On the testimony of those two, the defence will reply mainly on its plea of insanity. Other alienists will examine the two youths, probably not more than ten in all, but their testimony will be corroborative only. Dr. Bowman will be the star expert for the defence.

"There won't be more than a half dozen alienists on the stand."

This was the assertion of Benjamin Bachrach, who with Clarence Darrow, represents the two youths. He continued:

"If ten alienists examine them, and all of them agree with Dr. Bowman in his findings, only six of them will testify.

"The two families are going to adhere strictly to their formal statements. Nor will the defence employ any expert in medical testimony to question the defence alienists and cross-examine those who appear for the State."

POSTAL STRIKE SEEMS CERTAIN AS VOTE TAKEN

Latest Reports Show Overwhelming Majority For Rejection of Award.

Government Impotent.

Premier Declares Again That Only Legislation Can Effect Change.

OTTAWA, June 17. —(Canadian Press).—The return to the capital of Hon. Charles Murphy, postmaster-general, who has been south all winter for his health, synchronizes with the case of the postal workers being at its most acute stage, and he is expected to take a hand in it. Mr. Murphy is much improved in health.

The returns of the vote taken among the postal porters and chauffeurs in Ottawa, show an overwhelming majority in favor of a rejection of the civil scervice commission's award and a determination to walk out.

According to George King, Dominion Secretary of the Federation of Postal Employees, the federation will probably convene here shortly before action is taken on the vote, which, he said, seemed to be in favor of a walkout all over the country. The full vote from all branches throughout the Dominion is expected to be in by Tuesday night.

How Scale was Fixed

That the recommendations of the post office department in the matter of postal employees were "purely tentative" and the final decision rested with the civil service commission, is emphasized in a return tabled in the House of Commons. It reveals that the department's tentative figures suggested an increase of from twenty to twenty five per cent in the wages of representative groups of postal workers.

The introductory memorandum of the department says that its recommendations are based on figures compiled by the Labor Department of average expenses of families of five throughout the Dominion.

In Parliament

"The government has gone just as far as it is possible for it to go in the matter, and if there is to be any further change in salaries that will have to be made by parliament itself," said Right Hon. W. L. MacKenzie King, prime minister, in answer to a question on postal workers' salaries, by William Irvine, (Labor, Calgary East) in the House of Commons yesterday afternoon. Mr. Irvine said that he understood that the prime minister had announced that the government could make no alteration in the schedule of the civil service commission, but that any changes must be made by parliament.

In what way could parliament deal with this matter, and when, Mr. Irvine asked.

The prime minister replied by reading an opinion from the department of justice to the effect that the government could not revise the schedule of the commission.

Governed by Commission

Civil service appointments and salaries had been placed in the hands of the civil service commission in order to remove them from the arena of politics, as it was called, said the prime minister. "This illustrates wherein to some extent we are being governed by a commission and not under a system of responsible government in the strict meaning of the term," he said.

"We have not felt at the present, at least," said Mr. King, "that we shall be justified in asking parliament to repeal the statute under which the civil service commission has acted, nor to take action in any way other than in accord with the recommendations of the commission.'

"I do not think the occasion opportune to make veiled attacks on the present system or on the civil service commission when debate is cut off on the orders of the day," said Rt.-Hon. Arthur Meighen. "If the government wished to change the schedule there was a way that it could be done. If it wished to make any alterations in the powers of the commission this could also be done. If, though, the government feels that the scale recommended is fair and right— and their approval would seem to indicate that—then the government should not disavow its responsibility, in the event of improper interference with that responsibility, I am prepared to back the government."

Mr. King immediately said that he had no intention of making a veiled attack on the civil service commission. He though that the house and the country should know what the situation was.

FIRED AT TARGET.

DRUMHELLER, Alta., June 17 (Canadian Press). — Mrs. R. S. Patterson was accidentally shot by her 11-year-old son at their farm, 14 miles south of Wayne, on Saturday afternoon.

The mother was in an outhouse, and the boy not knowing she was there, used it for a target with his .22 rifle.

BANKRUPT SALE

Rogow Bros. Ladies' Tailoring Store Crowded by Eager Shoppers.

So large was the crowd of buyers at the dispersal sale of Rogow Bros.' bankrupt stock last week that the increased staff of saleladies was not nearly able to handle all who came. Many waited on themselves, and managed to secure the articles of dress they wanted in that way. With plenty of sales help now on, Mr. Rogow expects to be able to wait on all customers, and has prepared an extra special showing on the racks for to-morrow. As the racks are emptied, other reserve garments are opened up and put on sale. These fresh goods are priced to sell, at away below value, as the entire stock must be disposed of.

FISHERMEN ENJOY THURSDAY HOLIDAY

Mud Cats and Pickerel Plentiful in Rice Lake.

BAILIEBORO, June 17.—Thursday afternoon's half-holiday in the rural towns brought a large number of the towns' folk to the lake to enjoy an afternoon's fishing. About sixty people were fishing at Barnard's landing. Many of these made large catches of both pickeral and mud-cats. Some of the largest pickeral that are being caught weight between seven and eight pounds.

Among the scholars of the Millbrook Continuation School from this village, who passed their test examination and will not have to try at the mid-summer examinations, are Edna Byers, Agnes Brackenridge, Keith Bagnard, Jean Blake, Charles Anderson.

Mr. Jos. Lang has erected a splendid verandah around his residence on front street.

FABLES ON HEALTH

GAINING AND LOSING.

As in most cities the questions of gaining weight and reducing were popular topics for small talk in Anytown.

How to take on a little weight was a matter that attracted as much difference of opinion as how to get thin —and few agreed.

Certain fundamental foods for weight gaining are now generally accepted and agreed upon by persons who have made a study of dietetics:

These are—First: Cream and butter and plenty of them.

Toast at breakfast, with plenty of butter.

Oil, salad dressing, milk and butter in "cream sauces," rice, macaroni and flour mixtures for starches and plenty of milk.

Drinking of milk, between meals, is advisable, if possible, rich milk in cream should be secured.

A short rest after eating helps where persons affected can take the time. Such a rest will greatly speed up the weight gaining process.

The chief trouble is that a great many thin persons are of the "tension" variety, and it is difficult for them to gain unless they can arrange for more rest and take from their shoulders the weight of the world.

FAITH HEALING HELD CURE FOR PHYSICAL ILLS

Most Disease Due to Lack of Self-Understanding, Minister Says.

SYRACUSE, N.Y., June 17.—Diseases caused by personal sin-selfishness, and a large percentage of bodily and mental diseases can be cured by faith healing, says Rev. C. Bertram Runnalls, eminent sociologist and rector of Calvary Episcopal Church. Outlining his theory, Dr. Runnalls said:

"Our hospitals are overcrowded with the sick of Syracuse; our physicians, our osteopaths, our neuropaths and our psychopaths are working overtime.

"In our homes there are vast armies of men and women who are suffering all sorts of diseases, who are hiding their ills behind a false front. If they had a friend they could trust, like Jesus, they would be relieved of their torture.

"I firmly believe that a great percentage of them are as they are because of personal sin, or, in plain word, selfishness.

"I must pass to the huge crowd who are sick from functional disorders, such as neurasthenia, psychasthenia, hypochondria, possessions and obsessions, or, in other words, a straight 'case of nerves.'

Honest Examination Essential.

"An honest self-examination is two-thirds of the cure.

"Much of this self-suffering interior unhappiness and ultimate ill-health

"And so the consequence of living comes from our shrinking from honest self-discovery.

in a false dream, always saying, 'It is the other fellow's fault,' and 'he's to blame; we are doing all we can.'

"Half of us do not know ourselves. We are self-hypnotized, blind to our own weaknesses and shortcomings, and awake only to those of the other fellow.

"That attitude of mind breeds resentment, retaliation and mental murder.

"We never create harmony by thinking hate.

"Now what do I mean by an obsession? Just this:

"Some people have the idea that they have been wronged badly, and they hold that thought until it colors everything they think about.

"It leads to a hopeless state of thinking in a circle, and the circle must be broken before any hope of understanding of things as they are is reached.

Education of Will Needed.

"Education of the higher will is the second step to recovery.

"The higher will is on a higher spiritual plane. When our Blessed Lord was in the Garden of Gethsemane He had to make a life or death decision, and He said: 'Not My will, but Thine be done!'

"That is the higher will. And it follows three specific stages:

"1. Give up resentment.

"2. Be willing to surrender even your personal rights for harmony.

"3. By prayer, visible love and sympathy win the other's affection.

"Lastly comes the matter of personal religion. And what is that? Merely overcoming evil with good.

"And what does it attain?"

"Health, happiness, peace of mind that can stand anything, resist all diseases.'

SCENT.

Everything is going wrong. The latest is that flowers are losing their scent. Scientific cross-breeding by florists, to increase the size and color of blossoms, is at the expense of the perfume. The plant energy that naturally would go to make fragrance is used up by artificially stimulated growth.

Nature always exacts her penalty—her price.

The loss of floral fragrance alarms botanists. There are 4300 species of cultivated flowers, but only 420 have an agreeable odor. Of the 308 varieties of violets, only 13 emit perfume.

CAMPBELLFORD AND DISTRICT

Three Hundred Residents Went to Belleville For the Celebration.

CAMPBELLFORD, June 17. — Campbellford sent a representation of fully 300 residents to Belleville yesterday to take part in the celebration of the 140th anniversary of the landing in Ontario of the pioneer band of those devoted British patriots, the United Empire Loyalists. The members of the local company of the Northumberland Regiment and of the official band, took the morning train that leaves here at 9.46, over 200 civilians also entrained at the same time, and scores went to Belleville by auto. Nearly all of the visitors from here, including the members of the company, and the band, returned on the evening train, while others remained in Belleville to witness the brilliant display of fireworks in the evening.

It Was Military Day.

Monday was military day of the celebration, and no such turn out of troops has been held in this district since the day of the Great War. Belleville was gay with national flags and bunting, and streamers across the main streets were inscribed with patriotic slogans and with welcome to the visitors, who came by train and motor cars from all parts of the district and thronged every quarter of the city. Not only were the streets and public buildings decorated, but flags flew in profusion from nearly every private residence in town. Every preparation had been made by the committee of arrangements to care for the visitors. The headquarters of the celebration is in the rooms of the Chamber of Commerce, where an efficient and courteous information bureau was maintained, and where the descendants of the N. E. L. were asked to register their names.

Campbellford's Fine Showing.

Campbellford is not the headquarters of the Regimental Band and of the Signal Corps of the Northumberland Regiment, and the local company is admitted one of the most efficient and strongest numerically in the county. It probably contains a larger percentage of men who saw actual service in the late war than any of the other units. Sixty members of the company, exclusive of the band, which was 31 strong, were in the parade yesterday. Norwood and Hastings together, turned out as many, and the appearance of these two companies in the parade and the precision of their movements in the drill exercises at the Fair Grounds attracted favorable comment from all sides.

The Parade.

When the Campbellford company arrived they proceeded to the camping grounds, a miniature city of canvas set up near the depot. There they were entertained, with other visiting companies, at a dinner provided by the members of the Salvation Army. At 12.30 the parade started for the Fair Grounds, marching down Bridge Street past the Armouries, where the 48th Highlanders of Toronto, with their magnificent band, and the Argyle Light Infantry and 34th Battery of Belleville fell into line. The time required for the march from the camping grounds to Exhibition Park required one hour, and all the streets along the route were thronged on both sides with visitors. There were eight regiments altogether on parade, and Boy Scouts, High and Public School Cadets marched with the Militia. Every regiment was led by a band, and the air was filled with the strains of martial and patriotic music.

At The Fair Grounds.

The programme at the Fair Grounds consisted of trooping the colours by the Argyle Light Infantry, salute by the 34th Battery, physical drill by the 48th Highlanders, military movements, all units taking part, and concerts by the massed military bands.

Then came another parade back to the camp, the Belleville units and the Highlanders falling out at the Armouries.

The latter company had the place of honour at the head of the procession. The Northumberland Regiment came third, under the command of Col. F. D. Boggs, of Cobourg.

The different companies marched in the order of their numbers, Cobourg being first, Brighton second, Campbellford third, and Norwood, under the command of Capt. Webb, bringing up the rear. The Campbellford unit was commanded by Major J. M. Bygott.

The Campbellford Band.

The Campbellford Band has been time and again pronounced by competent judges to be the best military musical organisation in the district. It was so regarded at the annual encampment held in Cobourg last year, and it seems to improve with its every public appearance. Even the famous band of the 48th Highlanders was yesterday declared the superior of the local musicians only in point of numbers. The marching of the Campbellford musicians, the majority of whom are veterans of the Great War, was on a par with their music. The complete roster was as follows:

Warrant Officer R. T. Cowell, who has brought the Band to its present efficiency; Band Sergt. George T. Salter, Corp. Clarence Williams, C. W. Smith, Roy Bell, P. Moines, G. Runions, H. Labrash, Leslie Craig, W. Sutton, James Benor, J. Byrne, E. Thomas, M. A. Reynolds, Fred Lang, G. Gurry, David Mitchell, Pomp. Moines, R. McDonald, A. J. Wood, E. C. Dobman, J. Frederick, A. Mills, E. Ayrhart, F. Peckett, Chas. H. Davidson, George Frederick, Herb. Leonard, W. Fraser, and W. Ketcheson.

The Band has a mascot, Nadoo Reynolds, 14 years old, whose father is one of the veteran members of the organization. The young fellow, in Boy Scout uniform was in the parade yesterday marching next to Dummer Davidson with military bearing equal to that of any of his seniors. One musical critic in complimenting the members on their appearance yesterday declared that the Band was the best advertising asset of the town and Regiment alike and that their playing was "like a million dollars.

U. E. L. Descendants

Two Campbellford residents, who were registered at the headquarters yesterday as descendants of the U.E.L., were Mrs. Alex. McGregor and her brother, P. T. Kelly. Their great grandfather on their mother's side with his family, left the state of New Jersey with the Loyalists and settled on Dundas street in Hallon County about half way between Toronto and Hamilton. The frame house built on the farm over 100 years ago is still in a good state of preservation and is pointed out by visitors as one of the places where the late William Lyon Mackenzie was hidden for two days in 1837 which the soldiers were searching the district for him.

Col. Birdsall's Ancestors.

One of the visitors to Belleville yesterday was Col. R. E. Birdsall of the Rice Lake district, formerly formerly commanding officer of the Northumberland Regiment and one of the best officers the Canadian militia ever produced. The Colonel's maternal great great grandfather was Major John Everett who was military leader of the first contingent of Loyalists to reach Canada.

The Colonel brought to Belleville valuable relics of those pioneer days. One of these was the pistol carried by his military ancestor, a weapon about eight inches in length and which carried a half ounce ball. The pistol was originally a flint lock affair but was remodelled to use percussion caps when those articles were reverted. The distance that it carried depended on the amount of powder that was placed in the barrel and the Colonel, who frequently fired it when he was a boy, says that it had a kick which made it a source of danger to the handler as well as to the object aimed out.

Other relics which he brought with him were deeds of property transfers between members of the Loyalist colony dated 1837.

The Orser Family

One of the most distinguished local descendants of the U.E.L. is Dr. Orser of Codrington who is expected in Belleville during the celebration. His ancestors of the breaking out of the American Revolution lived in New York States their farm being the land on which the farmers Sing Sing Prison now stands.

Peterborough's Representative.

A visitor from Peterborough, who is of Loyalist descent, was R. B. Rogers, designer of the lift lock, and whose mother was a member of the Birdsall family. Mr. Roger is a direct descendant of the late Major Rogers, famous in history as the man who escaped from the American soldiers by jumping his horse from a high cliff into Lake George in New York state, a stunt, which if performed these days would bring him fortune as well as fame in the movies.

The Traffic Problem.

The police had a busy time of it regulating the traffic but no accidents were reported although the leading thoroughfares were thronged with cars and pedestrians.

Chief Kidd, a graduate of the Peterborough force, who has made good here, was on outside duty all day and walked ahead of the military parade to keep the streets clear, which he succeeded in doing without and ostentatious display of authority.

Easiest Way is Best

Laziness, rather than necessity, is the mother of invention. Nearly all progress is the result of man's attempt to dodge work—find an easier way.

The cave man disliked the hard labour involved in climbing up the steep cliff to his cave. So he pondered and schemed until the idea of a rope or rawhide ladder occurred to him. Ages later, laziness revolted at climbing stairs and invented the elevator.

Long ago, far back in the mists of time, a primitive genius staggering through the jungle with a heavy carcass on his back sat down to rest. A wild horse galloped past. Presto! Here was a beast that might carry man's burdens. Hard to catch and tame the horse, but laziness was enough inducement. To handle the horse, harness had to be invented. ater, waggons with wheels. The gigantic science of transportation came into being.

A farmer lad in Southern Ohio, disliking the lifting of a heavy waggon to remove the wheels, invented the lifting jack you use on your automobile.

Finish the list yourself. It is endless.

Evolution can be traced unbrokenly as a hunt for ease, says Prof. Pike of Columbia University. Life tends to follow the line of least resistance—laziness, conservation of energy and time.

Even the turtle. It probably grew the shell on its back to save the effort of rushing to cover when attacked.

The elephant is smaller than its ancestors. Its body made itself smaller to escape carrying around so much weight.

Nevertheless, the old platitudes hold true—the "work hard" propaganda that is drummed into us all through life. Invention and progress result from the desire to esape work. But hard toil and long hours are necessary, to find the easier way of doing things.

The steady plugger may not personally find an easier way. But he is an important part of the race that's finding it.

The race is what counts, not the individual. Inventors of importance are nearly always terrifically hard workers. But their goal is gratification of the ladiness of humanity at large.

PLAN FUND FOR CANADIAN TENOR

Harold Jarvis Gave Freely of His Talents During Lifetime.

DETROIT, June 16.—Harold Jarvis, the celebrated Canadian tenor, who died at his home here several weeks ago, left behind him a widow and two young children, Harold and Murray Jarvis.

A careful inventory of the affairs of the singer now reveals the fact that he had accumulated little in the way of an estate. Friends of Jarvis, who knew him when he sang for years in the choir of the First Presbyterian Church, have planned a memorial concert to be given in Orchestra Hall here on June 13, and the money thus obtained was to be used to establish a fund for the benefit of the young sons of the great vocalist.

The kindness of heart that prompted Jarvis, during the height of his career, to sing for children, and to them is to be repaid in part to his sons, now, respectively four and two years old.

During the thirty-three years that Harold Jarvis sang here, he was never known to refuse a request to sing for children. Nor was this his only charity. Many times, when there was no money to pay him after his services had been contracted for, Jarvis allowed the whole matter to pass. His art was more to him than mere pelf.

Citizens Support Plan.

A committee of prominent citizens has taken hold of the plan to provide a fund for the sons of the Canadian artist. This is done partly in the hope that one or both will evince some of the talent which gave their father a distinctive place in the hearts of Detroiters. Even if this should not be the case, those in charge of the project say the service planned will only in part make up for what Mr. Jarvis did and did freely to brighten the lives of the poor and suffering.

Born in Toronto.

The late Harold Jarvis was born in Toronto in 1860. As a boy he displayed a splendid voice, and in early years sang in many local concerts. In his 'teens he went to sea as a sailor, and gradually worked himself up until he became a navigating officer on a large trans-Atlantic liner.

During his sea service he sang whenever an opportunity presented itself, which was often, and finally through constant urgings of admirers he decided to become a professional vocalist. He studied intensively for some time in London, and at the age of thirty went to Detroit, where he joined the choir of the First Presbyterian Church. He remained with this choir until his death, but in the interim he travelled in Ontario and through a great part of the United States on singing tours. Throughout this Province he was admired as perhaps no other vocal artist of native birth has ever been.

A BUSINESS HEAD.

Housewife (to peddler)—Get away out of here, now, or I'll whistle for my dog!

Peddler—All right, ma'am, but first allow me to sell you a good whistle.—Tit-Bits.

NO ECONOMY.

MacTavish—How is young Sandy getting on? He took up journalism, didn't he?

Donald—Och, aye, but they would only let him write on one side of the paper, and the waste broke his heart.—Leeds Mercury.

LIGHT FOR BED.

When planning your bedroom furnishings remember that a light on the table near the head of the bed is very convenient.

SAVE GLOVE TOPS.

Save the tops of your old rubber gloves and use them to pull over the tops of bottles when travelling. They save many a leak.

GET RID OF MOTHS.

If you suspect that moths have laid eggs in any wool fabrics put a wet cloth over the material and press a hot flat iron over until steam penetrates the weave.

LUCKY THING.

Gladys (meaningly)—It's a good thing we can't see ourselves as others see us.

Gertrude—You're right. I know for my part, that I should grow terribly conceited.—Answers (London).

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

By Olive Roberts Barton

"Good morning," he cawed in a hoarse voice.

Mister Crow opened the door of Mister Bags' little store in the woods and hopped in.

"Good morning," he cawed in a hoarse voice, but he looked more as though he meant, "Bad morning."

"Good morning," said Nancy and Nick and Mister Bags all together. "How are you, Mister Crow?"

"Poorly," answered Mister Crow. "Poorly. Can't sleep—can't eat, can't do anything. It's a hard, cold world, so it is."

"Why, what's wrong, Mister Crow?" asked Nancy. "You must have stuck the wrong foot out of bed first this morning."

"Oh, you can make jokes if you want to," said Mister Crow gloomily, "but I tell you it's a hard, cold world."

And nothing they could say did one bit of good. All that Mister Crow would do was to sit in the middle of the floor and say it was a hard, cold world.

"Something must have happened to make the poor fellow look so dismal," said Mister Bags. "I'll have to find out what it is and cheer him up a bit."

"How's your rheumatism, Mister Crow?" he asked cheerfully. "Better, I hope."

"Yes, it's better," said Mister Crow gloomily.

"And how's your family?" "All right!"

"Able to sit up and take a little nourishment!" said Mister Bags, laughing at his own joke.

Suddenly Mister Crow straightened up. "Nourishment!" he exclaimed. "Nourishment! Humph! You said something, Mister Bags. Yes, I suppose all of us could manage to eat a little nourishing food if we could get it."

"Why, Mister Crow?" cried Nancy. "Here's a whole store full of stuff to eat. You must be crazy to talk like that."

"Crazy! Well, maybe I am and maybe I'm not, but just tell me. Do you keep corn sprouts? Now do you?"

"Certainly not," said Mister Bags. "But we keep dried corn and corn meal and canned corn and corned beef and corn sirup and corn-cob pipes and pop-corn."

"Crows don't like any of that stuff," sniffed Mister Crow. "They like corn that's been planted and started to sprout! Um yum, that's what we like! That's real nourishment for you, so it is."

"But that isn't honest," said Nick. "The farmers don't allow you to have any of the corn they plant. If you eat it when it's little, there won't be any corn stalks to grow big and have roasting ears on them."

"Too long to wait," growled Mister Crow. "Too long to wait. It just dropped in to find out if you should happen to know when Farmer Jones bought his seed corn to plant. He has his scare crow all fixed up 'n everything, so it must be soon.

"Why, what do you know about scare crows?" asked Mister Bags sharply.

"Ha! I'm a wise old bird and I know," croaked the crow. "You can't fool me. I know that those old sticks they carry aren't guns at all. I'm not afraid of them."

A DANGEROUS CORNER

The city fathers having decided that it is impossible to establish a quqiet zone in the neighborhood of Victoria Park during the hours of concerts, the next best thing that could be done would be to have the motor traffic controlled by the police.

In fact unless some attention is paid to this matter there will be a serious accident to record.

The Examiner checked the traffic up the Murray Street hill during Sunday's concert and found that there was almost a steady procession of cars while to make matters worse there were equally as many cars coming down.

There is a particularly bad turn at the intersection of Murray Street and the street in front of the Court House and on at least half a dozen occasions on Sunday evening a smashup was avoided by inches.

Cars ascending the hill take the turn at high speed usually with the result that there is constant danger of a collision with an automobile coming the other way.

Leaving out of consideration altogether the fact that the noise of the cars is an annoyance to music lovers, the nature of the traffic on such occasions as band concert nights requires some control—or accidents are bound to follow.

THE SOUTH AFRICAN ELECTIONS

Unusual interest is being taken in the general election in South Africa, which takes place today, owing to the heated nature of the campaign and the issues that have been introduced.

Canadians, to use a phrase from the vernacular, are "pulling for General Smuts" hoping to see him win because of his staunch allegiance to the Empire and the soundness of his views.

There will be 135 members in the new House, one more than in the last session, a new constituency having been added in the Transivial giving that province 51 members while there are 50 members in the Cape province and 17 each in Natal and the Orange Free State.

The result is expected to hinge upon the voting in the two bigger provinces for it is thought that there will be an even break in the other two, the Orange Free State being almost completely Dutch in population while Natal is British.

The South African party led by General Smuts had 74 members elected at the last general election as against 46 nationalists, 13 Labour members and one Constitutional Democrat.

The majority has gradually dwindled in unsuccessful by-elections until it was necessary for an appeal to the country.

THE TIDE HAS TURNED.

The tide is turning; the exodus from Canadian into the United States is giving way to a stream of former Canadians returning to their native land

Figures given by the immigration officials show that 4,000 Canadians who had been residents of the United States for six months or longer, came home in April and the May figures will surpass that total.

The boom across the line has stopped. Conditions are far from good in many fields and the era of steady employment at high wages seems to be at an end.

The reasons for the slump are given by Goodbody and Company of New York as follows:

1. The war shortage of automobiles and railroad equipment has been made up and the arrears of building construction are nearly made up. These three industries have been, during the last three years, the backbone of our prosperity.

2. The foreign demand for our goods and products is decreasing, partly because the United States is ceasing to finance our foreign shipments.

3. Because Europe increased her agricultural facilities, after the war, and is taking less of our farm products, the prices of the most of our farm products are low and our farmers are unable to buy their fair portion of our manufactured goods. The N.Y. Evening Post of May 17th said that four-sevenths of the farmer's income goes for taxes, interest and other overhead expenses.

4. Wages generally are higher than can be paid if we are to compete in foreign markets. High taxes, and rents also increase production costs and help to keep our goods out of foreign markets.

5. The war stimulated and expanded our manufacturing industries so that it is said that we can, in seven months produce enough materials and supplies for 12 months' consumption. The problem of readjusting these industries to a peace basis is a most serious one. It is not surprising that business failures are near record. We may also be entering a long period of strikes and lockouts.

6. The fact that we are now a creditor nation makes it necessary, unless we are going to continue forever to give credit to our foreign customers and debtors, for us to import more goods than we export. Otherwise, our debtors cannot pay us. Hence, we must lose a part of our home market to our foreign competitors and debtors.

7. Our high tariff wall, by keeping out foreign goods (largely manufactured), prevent foreigners from exchanging their goods for ours—largely agricultural products.

8. The backward, wet and cold spirng has checked farm work and crop growth, says Dun's Review, and has appreciably retarded distribution of seasonable merchandise and adversely affected collections. "Indications of reviving activity are not wholly absent, but they mark an exception to the general trend."

Under the circumstances thousands of Canadians, attracted by the green appearance of distant hills, are straying back into home pastures.

The problem now will be not to keep them at home but to keep them employed.

Unless there is work for them the already too large list of unemployed will be lengthened to a dangerous degree.

PROVINCIAL EXPENDITURES.

The Citizens Reasearch Institute is continuing its study of the loss of Government in Canada and the latest bulletin, just received by the Examiner deals with the question of Provincial Government.

In this connection it is again pointed out that there are two main ways in which the cost of provincial administration may be lessened or its growth controlled.

1. Reducing the number of provinces by the union of contiguous provinces with similar interests.

2. Improving the administration of the provinces now existing.

Neither of these things of course can be done with out the initiative of the provinces themselves but the Institute believes that recent events give a basis for bone of improvement under the second head.

A study of the figures given for 1922 affords some interesting food for thought.

The difference in the per capita expenditures on different activities in the various provinces is particularly striking.

Take educaton for example.

We find Ontario paying $3.66 per head for education while in British Columbia the cost is as high as $6.01 and in Quebec as low as 78 per head.

It cost Nova Scotia only .19 per head for the administration of Justice, Ontario pays .68 for this service and British Columbia again leads with $2.01.

Nova Scotia is also the lowest in regard to expenditure on agriculture, .13 per head as against .39 in Ontario. Alberta is the highest in this department paying $1.43 per capita.

Quebec which only spends .78 per head on education pays $1.11 per head on highways and bridges upon which Ontario expends only .79 per head.

The variation in other departments is similarly impressive.

The total per capita expenditures of each province in 1922, was as follows: British Columbia, $34.81; Alberta, $18.62; Manitoba, $12.91; Ontario, $11.03; Quebec, $6.78; New Brunswick $8.48; Nova Scotia, $8.26 and Prince Edward Island, $8.42.

TALKING OF JURIES.

The Prime Minister of the Province, Mr. Taschereau, has given the cue for a discussion of the jury system. Some might have hesitated to open the question just at this time when a great jury trial is in progress and the jury system itself seems to be in some measure on trial. But we may surely follow the lead of the Prime Minister and Attorney-General; and at all events we will only be doing what practically every private citizen has been doing for days—indeed, for months—past.

When a jury verdict disappoints the community—or a section of it—the disappointed practically always attack "the system." But when a judge hands down a ruling contrary to the opinion of the community, we do not attack the judicial system. We may question the fitness of the individual judge to decorate the bench. But we do not cry: "Away with judges."

This is, in reality, a very significant fact. It indicates that the jury system is under popular suspicion. We expect it to go wrong. When a jury fails to function as we think it should, we do not regard this as an unexpected and singular departure from regular conduct; but as a sadly expected and by no means singular demonstration of a familiar grievance—the failure of the jury as an institution to keep pace with modern conditions.

* * * *

We might surely find a hint in the circumstance that it is the community which criticizes; and yet it is precisely the community which the jury is supposed to represent. If it were only the lawyers who did not like the working of the jury, we would say that this was the best possible proof that the jury was doing its duty, i.e., it was contributing the lay element to the administration of justice. It was taking the human and not the purely legal view.

But the general community is more aroused than the legal profession and yet the jury is presumably a cross-section of the general community. The obvious comment is that the cross-section must be badly made. And that is notoriously exactly what happens. Any fair cross-section of the community would be composed largely of newspaper readers. But the unpardonable sin for a candidate1juryman—if there be any such animal—is to read the newspapers. Yet if you are going to insist upon a jury of men who do not read newspapers, you will have either a jury of Arthur Balfours or a jury of very limited mental attainments. You will not in either case get the average mind of the community into the jury-box.

Of course, the idea that dominates the lawyers when they are selecting a jury is quite obvious and natural. They want to get twelve clean slates on which to write. They do not want their jurymen to know anything about the case under trial beyond the evidence they themselves will adduce and the arguments they will make. And this would be perfectly proper—would, indeed, be ideal—if twelve such men could be found who also brought to the discharge of their duties at least average intelligence. In some inconspicuous, uninteresting or highly technical cases, this counsel of perfection is quite possible of achievement. But in a cause celebre, a mental tabula rasa is usually a pretty impervious article.—Montreal Star.

The distance that your head shall be above the ground, but you can control the height of the contents of your head.

The amount of your income entirely, but the management of your expenditures is altogether in your own hands.

The other fellow's annoying faults, but you can see to it that you yourself do not develop or harbor provoking propensities.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

TORONTO, June 17.—Despite only a moderate run of cattle at the Union Stock Yards yesterday business had a kind of holiday appearance and the movement to the scales was quite slow in the first hours. Most of the offerings were fat cattle and a couple of loads of heavy steers were quite choice. The receipts were 214 cars; 3646 cattle, 703 calves, 2,884 hogs and 802 sheep and lambs. Yesterday showed the first run of grass cows and buyers were equal to those offered stall fed.

There was some competition in exporters, with H. G. Kennedy a buyer. He took four loads of steers and heifers at $7.50 to $8.40 a cwt. Rogers & Maybee were also taking a supply and this offering promises to be cleaned up. The packers were not too keen on the butchers and prices were not better with prospects of a small cut on last week's prices. G. Rowntree bought the first load of butchers the majority well finished and handy, paying $6.50 to $7.50 a cwt.

H. G. Kennedy paid $8.40, the top for a dozen export steers, and Rogers and Maybee took an equal number at $8.25. Other loads did not bring over $8 and a few coarse steers sold at $7.25. Heifers of export quality were generally $7.25 and $7.50 a cwt. The Old Country cable quoted beef prices higher, attributed to the Wembley Exhibition. Few butchers made a top of $8 and bunches of choice butchers sold at $7.50 to $7.50. Good butchers $6.75 and $7, and medium ones, $6.25 to $6.50. A few common killers went from $5 to $5.50 a cwt.

Butchers' cows were less firm than they have been, and none reached $6 a cwt. during the morning. Good cows were not much better than $5 and medium cows sold at $4 to $4.35. Bulls were steadier and one choice bull brought $6. The few baby beeves sold from $7.50 to $9 a cwt. One load of yearling stockers 500 lbs. each brought $4.50 a cwt. Yesterday's shipment will likely be used up, but the buyers are able to take their time in making committments.

Trade was slow in calves and prices were not firm. Small lots of real good calves sold at 10 cents but ordinary good ones were had at 8¾ and 9 cents. Large bunches of common calves sold at 4½ cents.

Lambs were not very badly wanted. The Rotary convention was expected to make a good trade for lambs, but the killers reported a slow business last week and one said he was still carrying 100 carcasses. A few of the best lambs sold at 17 cents, but the average top was not above 16½ cents. Sheep were easy, with handyweights generally bringing 6½ cents a pound.

Hogs are admittedly firmer, but packers are not putting up their bids. Country advices quote a price of $8 being paid f.o.b. Sales here yesterday were made at $7.75 f.o.b. but packers would not quote better than $7.50 for today.

MONTREAL PRODUCE.

MONTREAL, June 17 (Canadian Press).— The tone of the market for cash oats was firm. Spring wheat flour prices were marked up 35 cents per barrel, and the same advance was made in winter wheat. Millfeed prices were up $1.00 per ton. The tone of the rolled oats market was very firm. There is a steady demand for baled hay. The egg situation showed nothing new. Potatoes were fairly active. Butter prices scored a further advance of 1-4c to 3-8c per pound.

Cheese pries were off 1-4c to 1-2c per pound.

WINNIPEG LIVESTOCK.

WINNIPEG, June 17 (Canadian Press). — Arrivals yesterday: 1,760 cattle and calves, 2,850 hogs, and 155 sheep and lambs.

Trading on the cattle market opened slow and inactive, with indications pointing to a drop of 25c for all medium grades compared with last week's close. The liberal offering of calves threatens to establish lower prices.

The hog market was unsettled, with thick smooths at $6.90 to 37.00 and $7.50 for select bacons.

The sheep and lamb market maintained a fairly steady tone, spring lambs selling around $16.00, yearlings up to $10.00 ,and good ewes $8.50.

BRITISH EGG MARKET.

STERLING RATES.

MONTREAL, June 17 (Canadian Press). — Sterling exchange rates were quoted here yesterday:

Demand ... 4.3963
Cables ... 4.3988

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, June 17 (Canadian Press). — The wheat market was very active again yesterday, and the transactions were limited by the amount of wheat coming out, practically the only sellers being "longs," who were taking profits. At the high point of the season July was 3 5-8c and October 3c higher than Saturday's closing figures, but near the end of the session the market cased, final prices being 2 5-8c higher for July, 1 7-8c for October, and 2c up for December.

An excellent class of buying came out from exporters, shippers, millers and commission houses.

Much stronger Liverpool cables and continued speculative buying at Chicago helped the market here.

The action of the wheat markets the world over last week and again yesterday has demonstrated to the trade that conditions have changed and are more favourable to establishing and maintaining a higher level of values for all grains with the trend irregularly upward.

Future oats and barley were more or less quiet and without any particular feature with quotations unchanged to fractionally higher.

Rye was in fair demand and advanced about 1 cent. Flax was a little firmer on a light trade.

The contract grades of cash wheat were in demand by shippers and exporters to fill tonnage space with spreads improving 1-8c, but the lower grades were not wanted, and eased as much as 2 cents.

Cash oats and barley were in demand with a fair volume of business worked at spreads fractionally higher.

Rye and flax were dull.

SOVIET LEADER BELIEVES THAT RUSSIAN PEOPLE WANTS PEACE

Chief Of Delegation At London Says Czarist Policy Has Been Abandoned.

LET PEOPLE DECIDE

By LLOYD ALLEN.

LONDON, June 17 (United Press).—"Russia wants peace in the Balkans; Moscow has abandoned 'map changing' policy of the old Czarist regime; there for any talk about Russia starting an offensive and igniting the Balkan powder magazine is mere foolishness."

Christian Rakovsky, chief of the Soviet delegation here, gave this authoritative assurance in an exclusive interview with the United Press.

Rakovsky is assistant commissary of Foreign affairs in the Soviet foreign office, and is the biggest Soviet leader who has ever officially visited England. Writer, diplomat and revolutionist, Rakovsky, who speaks five languages, was president of the Soviet government in Ukrania before coming to London to conduct important negotiations with Ramsay Macdonald's labor government, which, he hopes, will lead to a solid understanding between the British empire and Soviet Russia.

Today in Western Europe, Rakovsky is known as Russia's mouthpiece.

"We have rejected the imperial policy to the Czarist government which was peoples to its policies and its interests," Rakovsky declared.

"If the Czarist government were still existent, and all the secret treaties were carried out, by which Constantinople and part of Thrace were ceded to the Czarist government, Roumania and Bulgaria would, in fact, be Russian provinces."

"We are not, however, indifferent to what takes place on our frontier. Not taking into account Roumania, which profited by our temporary weakness and has unlawfully seized Bessarabia (against which the United States has protested), a country of 130,000,000 population, a country like Russia, occupying the greater part of the Black Sea coast, cannot be disinterested in what takes place on the other side of the coast.

"We are in need of a stable peace, which is impossible if violence reigns amongst the Balkan people. On more than one occasion have sparks from the Balkans lighted all the powder magazines in Europe.

"The last Imperial war also began in the Balkans. Quite apart from the events of Serajevo, the war of 1914 was in fact the continuation of the Balkan wars of 1912-1913. The situation created in the Balkans as a result of the World War holds in embryo all future wars. The national question which was one of the pretexts of these wars, is not only unsolved, but has become still more complicated.

"Austria-Hungary was in an earlier position to subjugate foreign nationalities, not only because she was a strong military state, but because she gave them a certain autonomy. It will be more difficult to do so far the states which have occupied the former Austria-Hungary and the European territory of Turkey.

"It is absurd, however, to think that we intend by force of arms to alter the map of Europe, and, in particular, the map of the Balkans. The peoples in whom national and social consciousness has awakened, are now less ready to tolerate foreign oppression, and will themselves settle their face.

"The Soviet Union is faced by other tasks than that of war. The October revolution has been carried out in the name of the emancipation of the laboring masses, and the raising of their material and spiritual welfare is one of the first tasks of the Soviet government."

Glimpses of Pioneer Days

What was Ontario like one hundred years ago, and what would be the impression left upon the mind of a visitor who saw the country for the first time? A difficult question to answer, for it is beyond the ken of the oldest resident and reliable records of those days are scarce and hard to seek. But some are still to be found, and from letters and extracts from her journal, describing her "Forest Home," by a Mrs. Stewart, wife of an English gentleman, who settled in Douro, Peterborough County, we find this description of Toronto, when she first visited it in 1822.

"The town or village of York looked pretty from the lake as we sailed up in a schooner, but on landing we found it not a pleasant place, as it is sunk down in a little amphitheatre cut out of the great bleak forest. The lake in front is full of rushes which have been cut and left to decay in the shallow water, causing it to be very unhealthy. It is not a healthy town (fever and ague are common), and it is said to be much fallen off within the last two years. A deadness hangs over everything."

This is an extract from a letter sent back to the Old Land soon after her arrival at York. Not very flattering certainly and containing no prophecy of the coming business and industrial activity and the scenic beauties of Ontario's capital city. However Mr Stewart soon found that whatever its limitations otherwise, the people of York were certainly not lacking in hospitality, and that grace that speedily makes a stranger feel at home in their midst. Accompanying Mr. and Mrs. Stewart and their family and servants, were his brother-in-law, Mr. Reid, the latter's wife and household. At the time that they arrived in Toronto, Col. Foster, adjutant-general to Sir Peregrine Maitland, and a connection by marriage of Mrs. Stewart, was living about two miles out of York at the 'garrison barracks.' Mr. and Mrs. Stewart walked out and found Col. Foster working in his garden. He procured for the Stewarts and Reids the use of two empty houses at the barracks, and these families thankfully took possession of them. The Fosters further showed their kindness by loaning four chairs, a table for the parlour and two bedsteads. They placed a quantity of firewood by their door (happily there were no coal problems in those days), and two puncheons of soft water for washing.

The pioneer families then proceeded to make themselves as comfortable as their circumstances would allow. A sofa was improvised by laying the frame of a cot across two trunks. Mrs. Stewart states, covering this with a large drawing-room curtain and utilizing another frame and similar curtain for the back of the sofa.

Eight Days From Montreal to Kingston

All this transpired late in the summer of 1822, some months having elapsed since on June 1 they set sail from Belfast on the good ship 'George'. They reached Quebec on July 21, and a few days later continued the journey to Montreal. The trip from Montreal to Kingston, a distance of about one hundred and ninety-eight miles, was made in flat-bottomed open boats, and occupied eight days, during which the passengers were exposed to the hot sun by day, the dew by night, coarse fare, and no means of cooking proper food, and not by any means the least, the coarse language of the boatmen who, when opportunity arose, imbibed freely, and were not pleasant travelling companions. During the trip the party slept in various places on shore, principally in the homes of settlers, and upon one occasion, in a barn. At Kingston they could not procure lodging and slept on the boat. They arrived at York the latter part of August. Their final destination was a home in the wilds of Canada.

From Toronto to Douro

The gentlemen were advised to apply for a land grant instead of purchasing a farm, and a petition was laid before the executive council asking for twelve hundred acres of land for each. The request was granted and the Township of Douro in Peterborough County was advised, as an unbroken place in which to draw this large grant. As they wished to get permanently settled before winter, Mr. Stewart and Mr. Reid left Toronto on the 9th of September to drive to Douro to view their new possessions. Mr. Reid made the trip in two weeks, returning with a most encouraging report of the country. A malady which was designated as 'lake fever', was the foe of many an early settler, and during Mr. Stewart's trip he contracted it, and so was obliged to remain at Cobourg, then known as Amherst, when he reached that village from Douro, instead of returning to Toronto. He found a true friend in Rev. Mr. McAuley, an English Church clergyman and travelling missionary, whose field of work extended as far east as Belleville and as far west as Hamilton, and as far north from the lakefront as there were then any settlers.

Mrs. Stewart Comes to Cobourg

Mr. Stewart directed his wife with her family yo join him at Cobourg, and this was something of an undertaking under travelling conditions as they were then, for a lady who was unused to the hardships of a new country. As this all happened before Mr. William Weller of Cobourg, established his famous line of stage coaches from Montreal to Hamilton, with relays of horses every ten miles, to take boat was the only way to reach their destination. On September 28, with her little family and servant, Mrs. Stewart left Toronto for Cobourg. It is recorded that the captain of this boat was a very arbitarry and disagreeable person, and insisted on being served himself before his passengers had any dinner. In fact, he made things so uncomfortable for his little band of passengers, that Mrs. Stewart threatened to report him upon her arrival at Cobourg, and this in some measure changed his attitude towards her. At night a severe storm came up and the schooner could not make the harbour at Cobourg, and when morning dawned the passengers found that they were back at York. The weather moderated the following day, and the schooner succeeded in successfully making the trip. Just previous to this a small wharf, constructed partly by the Government and partly through private enterprise, had been built at Cobourg. Before, landings had been effected by means of small boats, usually termed 'jollyboats.'

Husband Came on Bed to Meet

When Mrs. Stewart stepped upon the rude wharf, holding a child by each hand, the maid following her with the baby, she found a wagon there in which a bed had been placed, with a sick man lying upon it. It was her husband who had insisted upon meeting her, and had been obliged to submit to this way of doing so. The whole party was hospitably entertained at the home of Rev. Mr. McAuley, until a house, which the citizens of Cobourg helped to erect, could be made ready for them. It was a log structure standing on the lakeshore, one fireplace supplying the only means of heating. There they resided until a log house was erected and some few improvements made, to what afterwards became their 'Forest Home,' amid the unbroken wilds of Douro Township, where they had taken up a land grant of several hundred acres.

Erected Two Log Houses

Douro Township, the final destination of Mr. and Mrs. Stewart and Mr. and Mrs. Reid, is 36 miles north of Cobourg. Mr. Reid engaged some workmen and went out to their land grants to erect two log houses for the families, this work occupying two months. Upon recovering from his illness, Mr. Stewart went out also, taking with him additional men and supplies. A letter to his mother, written on December 15, 1822, describes his trip. He says:

"I hired a yoke of oxen and a cart to carry us and our luggage to Rice Lake, so called from the great quantity of rice which grows on it, and which is very nice for soup. We got to the ferry house, a distance of twelve miles, at dark, and the next day the boat was ready about noon to start with us and our luggage. We went right across beautiful Rice Lake. All it needs to equal Killarney is the mountains. There are some beautiful islands covered with wood and long points running out into the lake. After rowing for three-quarters of a mile we entered the Otonabee River, a slow-running stream about three times as wide as the Liffey, bordered both sides to the water's edge with large trees, and the banks rising from the water's edge to a considerable height excepting here and there, where there was a few acres cleared away and a neat log house. Almost all these houses are inhabited by navy or military officers.

Built Shanty For Shelter

"We were only able to go about fifteen miles before night and bad weather came upon us. As I wished to keep my luggage dry we stopped at a good place to shelter the boat and build a shanty for the night. Finding a spot where some boards were laid up on the bank we pushed for the shore. Two of our party of five men secured the boat and luggage, one made a fire and the other two cut down trees for our shelter and for firewood. In exactly ten minutes we were in our new house for the night, well sheltered from the rain and wind, and with a fire that would have roasted the largest ox in the country. Although the rain fell in torrents, a canoe came across the river where there was an Indian encampment, bearing two Indians who wished to trade with us, and the captain of our boat went over with them to see what was to be had. He returned with two Indians bringing a few skins and a large piece of venison that had been killed that morning. For the venison, skin and horns of the deer I gave two quarts of whiskey, which was worth fourteen pence.

Peter Cooked the Venison

Then we set in to cook our supper. Our cook, an Indian, named Peter, took the venison, cut it with his knife and put salt into the incisions. Then he sharpened a stake, ran it through a slit and stuck the other end in the ground in front of the fire. He turned the meat often, and when it was cooked, we sat in a row before the fire, and seven people never ate a heartier meal. Our Indian cook preferred a piece of bread and some whiskey to venison. We then went to sleep but were often awakened by the Indians singing on the other side of the river. Our cook kept the fire going all night. At nine next morning we made another start and reached our landing place about 1 p.m."

Three days and two nights were required to make this trip of 36 miles with supplies from Cobourg to Douro Township.

STATES CAN'T MAKE THE HISTORIC FILM

LONDON, June 4 (By mail to United Press).—Historical films are having a great vogue here now, as well as throughout Europe. They are produced by European studios for the most part—and now comes the sad tidings that America, while it does very well with Wild West stuff, needn't essay historical drama, because it can't deliver.

Fritz Lang said as much. He is perhaps the foremost German producer of massive historical films, and one of the most gifted of European producers.

"I would never dream of attempting to make a cowboy film for America," he said. "I could do it no more than the Americans can make historical films. How can they? They have no history. Unfortunately, they try. But the fact remains that only the countries of Europe can really catch the mediæval culture and tradition and represent the spirit of their old legends. My own trouble is that there are so many beautiful stories of the past crying out to be filmed, that I shall die before I have time to do a quarter of them."

Lang came to London from Germany for the presentation here of his film masterpiece "Siegfrid." He insists that the moving picture business today, throughout the world, is "a fight between the creator and the showman."

Germans Seek New Home In The U. S.

By CARL D. GROAT

BERLIN, June 17. — (United Press).—Vastly more Germans want to emigrate to the United States than the new immigration bill will permit.

The Berlin American consulate stated today that every consulate is swamped with applications. In fact, they were "overset" at least two months ago, while the requests still are continuing.

As soon as the new regulations are received here, the Berlin consulate will begin an apportionment of visas for the lucky ones. So far, no complete tabulation of applications has been possible.

Though the general economic situation has improved vastly since the last quota was exhausted, the wanderlust grows steadily.

This is due to the conviction on the part of thousands that, in this generation, they will never be able to live comfortably, or at least not be able to save anything for old age.

Young couples wanting to marry are confronted with the literal impossibility of finding dwellings at either high or low rates. Forward-looking people estimate that reparations will drain the country to such a point that, while all can live, the masses will have to limit their standards to even more modest levels than they knew before the war.

These thoughts are the compelling reasons for the heavy emigration flood. North America is the chief goal of those with the wanderlust, but Brazil and Argentina also lure many.

Howard of Detroit, according to an unofficial count of the election board made public yesterday. Lynch's majority was given as 2,029 out of approximately 56,000 votes cast.

IN MILLBROOK AND DISTRICT

Women's Missionary Auxiliary Held Final Meeting of Season.

MILLBROOK, June 16.—The Woman's Missonary Auxiliary of the Methodist Church held its June meeting on Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. T. Douglas, Cavan, with about sixty members and visitors in attendance.

After the usual routine business had been attended to the president, Mrs. (Rev.) S. T. Tucker, read the list of new leaders appointed for the eight groups, one to have charge each month, beginning in September, until the year closes next April. The names are: Mrs. O. Williamson, Mrs. J. McKnight, Mrs. T. H. Aiken, Mrs. F. Smith, Miss Mary Widdis, Mrs. M. Weatherup, Mrs. F. P. Johnston, and Miss A. Hampton. The members of the various groups were chosen at a meeting held by the leaders at the close of the regular session.

Heralds for the "Watch Tower" for another year are:—China, Mrs. R. H. Edmunds; Japan, Mrs. A. J. Brown; French work, Mrs. J. Hatherly; Temperance, Mrs. P. Stinson; Christian stewardship, Miss S. Hetherington; Oriental and Austrian work, Mrs. T. Luxon.

One new member, Mrs. W. Armstrong, was welcomed to the Auxiliary, and Mrs. J. Spence kindly invited the Society to hold the September meeting at her home. Miss Hetherington read an interesting pamphlet, "Experiments Worth Repeating," giving some practical plans carried out in Toronto churches to encourage tithing.

A solo, "Does Jesus Care?" by Mrs. P. Stinson, was followed by the report of the Bay of Quinte branch meeting, held last week in Port Hope, Mrs. Fred Smith and Miss E. Hetherington reading the account of the addresses given and the business items of interest. Mrs. Walter Williamson, of Leader, Sask., who is visiting her mother, Mrs. G. Locke, sang "O, it is Wonderful," to the enjoyment of the listeners.

Mrs. Tucker, under whose faithful leadership the Auxiliary has improved in membership, attendance, interest, and finances during the past five years, spoke feelingly of her pleasure in the work and her appreciation of the willing help given in carrying out the suggested plans. It was only natural, the president, stated, that there should be a feeling of regret at severing ties of friendship, and co-operation in the Master's service, after five years of labor together. Mr. Tucker, by the action of conference, is moved this year to Orono, and ministers are expected to be in their new pulpits by the first Sunday in July.

A hearty vote of thanks to Mrs. Tucker for her helpfulness in the Auxiliary work, was moved by Miss Burnham, and seconded by Miss S. Hetherington, and as opportunity occurred, these present personally expressed to Mrs. Tucker their sincere sorrow that any change is to be made.

Mrs. James Might, Mrs. J. McGill, Mrs. S. Carveth, Mrs. F. Smith, and others assisted Mrs. Douglas in serving lunch to the guests, and a pleasant hour was enjoyed at the conclusion of the meeting.

This was the final meeting of the Auxiliary until September.

NEWS OF BETHANY AND THE DISTRICT

BETHANY, June 17.—The garden party, under the auspices of the Presbyterian Church, held Friday evening on the lawn of Mrs. James McKinnon, was a decided success. It was an ideal night, ideal supper, ideal programme, ideal location, and an ideal crowd. The Cambray and Millbrook quartettes are deserving of special mention as their several numbers were rendered in perfect unison and were highly appreciated by the crowd, as evidenced by the blast of auto horns and handclapping for encores. Among the others taking part in the programme were:—Miss McCarthy, Mrs. Maples, Miss McGill, the Misses McKinnon, and others. The baseball game between Belmonts (Peterboro) and Bethany was a four innings game on account of darkness. The field was anything but a good ball ground, but was the only available one close to the party, and the players on both teams could not be blamed for errors made. The score was 4-2 in favor of Belmonts.

Constant Headaches And Dizziness.

It is hard to struggle along with a head that aches and pains all the time, and in nine cases out of ten the persistent headaches are due to some derangement of the stomach, liver or bowels.

Undoubtedly the cause must be removed before permanent relief may be had.

Burdock Blood Bitters removes the cause of the headaches, as it acts on every organ of the body and strengthens, purifies and regulates the whole system.

Mrs. Peter Curran, 27 Morrison St., Sydney, N.S., writes:—"I have been troubled for the last five years with constant headaches and dizziness. After trying several remedies, which I found to be of no avail, Burdock Blood Bitters was recommended to me.

B.B.B. did me a world of good, and I cannot praise this remedy enough."

BIG FARM COURSE PLANNED BY RADIO

Kansas College to Build Own Broadcasting Station.

MANHATTAN, Kas., June 17.—The Kansas State Agricultural College is planning another step in the education of the rural public by radio.

Forty courses, covering the fields of agricultural, general science, engineering and home economics, will be broadcast from the new 500-watt station to be erected soon on the campus.

Heretofore, the faculty of this institution has been conducting a radio extension course for farmers and others through station KFKB, at Milford, Kas., 32 miles away. The lectures delivered in the auditorium of the college here were relayed to the studio of KFKB by direct line and broadcast out of there.

Now broadcasting will be direct and will cover the most comprehensive course of study ever transmitted by radio. In addition, enrollment of students will be made and graduating diplomas issued to those taking the courses and passing examinations.

The new courses are expected to start next fall. Contract for the new station will be let at once, say the officials in charge, so that it may be ready for the opening of the radio semester.

FOR BUREAU DRAWERS.

When the drawers of your bureau stick from damp weather remove them and stand them near an open fire, radiator or oven. This will contract the wood again.

PRESENT RADIO BE JUNKED SOON

This is the Belief of Experts Who Have Seen the Latest Experiments With the Marconi Beam.

LONDON, June 17.—All present radio equipment, including both the transmitting and receiving apparatus, may be classified as junk if the directional radio beam invented by Senator Marconi, the Italian radio engineers who have seen the marvelous results of experiments conducted here with the Marconi beam.

In a recent test, signals were successfully flashed between Cornwall, England, and Sydney, Australia. The voice was distinctly heard when transmitted along the beam, yet it was not broadcast, except along the straight line of the beam.

Short Life

Present radio apparatus is given five years to live by some of the radio engineers connected with the development of the Marconi beam system. By this method, they point out, the transmitted voice would be semi-secret, confined at most of the station within the line of the beam.

At the same time the low wavelength, which will be the basis of the new system, will enable stations to transmit during daylight without being annoyed much by static.

Outdoor aerials will be almost unnecessary, radio apparatus will become standardized to the transmission and reception of certain beams and wavelengths, fading will be eliminated, spark interference subdued and broadcasting in general will be revolutionized.

Over the World.

Some of the engineers foresee a nation-wide, if not a world-wide, system of relaying broadcast programs by the beam system. The signals will be carried on wavelengths of about 15 or 20 meters, on extremely high frequencies.

They will be shot out direct to another broadcast station, which may in turn beam-broadcast to a third, or may transmit the program it receives as the stations do now, by the circular broadcast system.

Thus, with practically all present difficulties overcome, every part of the earth may be covered by radio through this system.

HAS OWN IDEA ABOUT WIRELESS

New Receiver Can Get From Coast to Coast on an Outside Aerial Set.

KENOSHA, Wis., June 17.—Out of the world of radio amateurs comes one rather obscure "ham" with a theory of his own, an invention of hope and a claim of highest expectations.

The amateur—Mark Kindt of this city.

The theory—that radio, a form of magnetism in itself, travels across space through the aid of the earth's magnetism.

The invention—a four-tube receiver for which Kindt claims remarkable results and advantages.

The claim (made by his friends, mostly)—that he is well on the way to become another Charles P. Steinmetz, another radio wizard.

Long at It.

Kindt with Anthony Winther have been working on radio for the last four years. In a little shack on the west side of the city, he is working on his new set. He has already applied for patents on it.

According to Kindt the receiver can dispense with antenna or ground for a receiving distance of 20 miles. It can receive as far as 1000 miles with ground connection only. It can get from 1200 to 1500 miles on a loop, and from coast to coast on an outside aerial.

No squealing, clear signals, high selectivity, low battery consumption! A boom for radio listeners. That's the claim made by Kindt and Winther.

"Ridiculous," He says.

The theory is more remarkable.

"Radio has been supposed to travel through a medium called ether, regardless of the fact that the necessary properties of such an imaginary medium make it ridiculous," explains Kindt. "For instance, ether is supposed to have 100,000 times the rigidity of the hardest known tool steel, and at the same time must permit material objects to pass through it without resistance."

CATTLE, GRAIN AND PRODUCE

Peterboro—Toronto Montreal—Winnipeg

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, June 17 (Canadian Press). — All deliveries of wheat rose yesterday to a new high price record for the season, with trading on the largest scale seen yet in 1924. Unexpected strength of Liverpool quotations emphasising talk of world shortage of supplies was largely responsible.

Closing prices for wheat were unsettled 1 1-8c to 2c net higher, July $1.14 1-2 to $1.14 5-8, and September $1.15 5-8 to $1.15 3-4, with corn 3-4c to 1 3-8c up; oats at 1-8c decline to 1-8c gain ;and provisions showing 5c to 15c advance.

Yesterday's price advances lifted wheat levels to 11 cents above where they were a week ago, and if maintained would broadly imply at this season of the year just that much advantage to the grower, whatever the profit to wheat traders in general. The reason is that harvest will require some time before getting into full swing ,although more or less wheat is already being cut in the south-west.

At yesterday's top figures, December delivery commanded $1.19 a bushel as against $1.12 a year ago. Hower profit-taking sales were of huge volume, and the market acted a little top-heavy at the last.

Premature ripening of wheat was reported from parts of Kansas, but fears of damage by the heat wave were otherwise unconfirmed. On the other hand, wheat crop shortage reports came from export countries as widely apart as New Zealand and Roumania. Meanwhile, too, world shipments were more than 1,000,000 bushels less than last week, and the surplus on ocean passage was reduced 1,456,000 bushels.

Corn as well as wheat touched new high prices for the season. Too much rain in some sections was reported and country offerings were small. Realising sales by holders held back oats.

Provisions worked upward with grain.

CHICAGO LIVESTOCK

CHICAGO, June 17 (Canadian Press). — Cattle receipts yesterday, 23,000; very slow; practically half fed steers and yearlings run unsold at noon. Hogs, receipts 54,000; generally steady; closed active; few sales strong; bulk good and choice 225 to 325 pound average $7.20 to $7.35; top, $7.35; desirable 160 to 200 pound weight largely $6.95 to $7.15; better grades 140 to 150 pound kind, $6.40 to $6.80; bulk packing sows, $6.30 to $6.60; killing pigs slow, weak; bulk good and choice strong weights, $5.75 to $6.00; estimated holdover, 15,000.

"Worth $100 to Me Relieved Eczema and Piles"

Mrs. Peter A. Palmer, Saltburn, Sask., writes:

"Dr. Chase's Ointment has completely relieved me of eczema and piles. I also used this Ointment for my baby, who broke out in eczema. A few applications were all that was necessary in her case. Dr. Chase's Ointment has been worth a hundred dollars to me,—before using it I had spent a great deal more than that in unsuccessful treatment from doctors. We have also used Dr. Chase's other medicines, the Nerve Food having restored my health after suffering from severe nerve trouble when a girl."

A LITTLE OF EVERYTHING

WEDDING.

From the ancient Egyptians we get our custom of the wedding ring and the bridegroom's promise (usually deceitful): "With all my wordly goods I thee endow." So says Howard Carter, who dug King Tut out of the sand and oblivion.

The wedding ring of modern times is a survival of the seal to the bridegroom's treasure chests. This seal was handed to the bride to signify 50-50 ownership.

We still use the ring. But the struggle to make a living is so intense that few bridegrooms have any treasure chests. These come later—very occasionally.

VALUES.

A coal operators kicks because a penny, which will buy only one stick of gum, will purchase an average of 216 cubic inches of coal containing 147,000 British Thermal Units of heat.

But that's nothing to the heat generated by a used stick of gum when we step or sit on it. This heat, generated in anger, will, no doubt, be put to work as soon as they learn how to conserve energy wasted when a dog wags its tail.

ITALIA.

Italy is as rich now as she was before the war, reports a big New York bank. Hard work has replaced her war losses of 2000 millions of dollars worth of property. Counting her provinces acquired as a result of the war settlement, she's richer than in 1914.

This looks good on paper. But be prepared to run if you spring it on a resident of Italy who's paying high taxes and war-inflated prices. A war is a loss, no matter whether a country wins or loses. War is a hemorrhage of national vitality and nationl wealth.

"It has been nearly two years since I took Tanlac, but I am more grateful to the medicine than ever for I have felt just fine to this very day," recently declared Mrs. Lena Knox, 51 Hilliard street, St. John, N. B.

"But Tanlac gave me a splendid appetite, calm nerves and a digestion that is simply perfect. I sleep the whole night through and have gained such weight, strength and energy that I always feel at my best."

ABOLISH JURY BAR SUGGESTS

Quebec Association Would Supplant the Jury System With Six Judges.

LESS EXPENSIVE.

MONTREAL, June 17. — Abolition of jury trial in criminal cases was suggested at a meeting of the general council of the Province of Quebec Bar Associaton held here over the week end, by Nap. Laliberte, batonnier of the Arthabaska Bar, and secretary of the Commission of revision of the statutes of Canada.

Mr. Laliberte suggested the replacing of juries by special jurisdiction in cases otherwise submitted to a jury. The governor-general in council would under this plan, appoint six judges which would permit of the formation of two divisions to hold sittings at various parts of the province. It is claimed that the system would be less expensive, quicker and likely to inspire a greater fear and respect on the part of criminals, than the present jury system. This suggestion will be made the object of careful study by the general council of the bar and the opinion of councils in other parts of the province will be taken.

INDIAN LANDS ISSUE WAS UP

Agreement Provides Certain Conditions Regarding Reserves

OTTAWA, June 17, Indian Reserves, (By Canadian Press).—An agreement between the Dominion Government and the Government of Ontario respecting Indian reserve lands, made on March 24 last, was discussed in the House of Commons yesterday afternoon on a resolution, moved by Hon. Chas. Stewart, Minister of the Interior, to authorize its confirmation. The Minister explained that under the agreement, the Dominion retained control of Indian land as long as there were any members of a band living and had the right to sell the land and use the finds for the benefit of the band. However, when a band became extinct the remnant of the funds would under the agreement become the property of the Province. The agreement also provided that the Province should receive one-half of the consideration in the case of the sale, lease or other disposition of mining claims staked on an Indian reserve. Mr. Stewart reviewed the history of the dispute between Ontario and the Dominion on the subject from the time of the privy council judgment in 1888 when it was declared that the title to Indian lands surrendered to the crown belonged to the Province and not to the Dominion.

Robert Forke, Progressive leader, asked whether the Indians had agreed to this settlement.

Mr. Stewart replied that he could not say that all the Indians had agreed but most of them had.

Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, leader of the opposition, asked whether this resolution settled the issue in reference to Indian lands between the Dominion and British Columbia.

Mr. Stewart replied in the negative. The present legislation was limited to Ontario. He added that the root difficulty in British Columbia was that the Indians maintained that their hereditary right to all the lands in the Province had never been surrendered.

The resolution was carried, and a bill based on it received first reading.

TWO ENNISMORE PEOPLE APPEAL

Judgment Delivered by His Honor Judge Huycke With Comment.

MUST FOLLOW FORM.

There are two appeals against the decision of the Court of Revision for the Township of Ennismore.

The first was by Mr. William Harrington. I heard Mr. Harrington's complaint, but objection was taken by the Township that his notice of appeal was not in due form or entered in time. The Court of Revision had their final sittings on the 19th of May, and the notice of appeal was received by the Court on the 3rd of June and was sent by Mr. Harrington on either the 2nd or 3rd of June. This is not in accordance with the statute, and puts Mr. Harrington out of court. I, therefore, refrain from comment as to the amounts appealed against, as I have no jurisdiction to deal with the matter, on account of the defective notice.

The second is Mr. R. Killen, who owns a store at Ennismore Cross, or Corners. His appeal is specifically against the assessment of his buildings, the assessment on the land and business assessment being satisfactory. The land is assessed at $50.00, the buildings at $1,100.00, and it is as to this last the complaint is made.

In the year 1923 and the previous year, these buildings had been assessed at $700, being raised to $1,100 this year. There is no pretence that these buildings are more valuable now than in former years; the evidence, such as it was, being rather to the contrary.

My difficulty is that the whole assessment has been improperly made and not in accordance with the specific directions of the Assessment Act. The building should be assessed at the actual amount of the increase in value of the land owing to the existence or the erection of the building. If I take this as a correct hearing, and I probably should, there is no question that the $1,100 is not too much, in fact, it would be too little; but my difficulty arises, that if I proceeded on that assumption, in the face of the other assessments of the Township, that I would be doing Mr. Killen, I think, an injustice.

It is not too much, if the assessment were made properly, but under existing conditions, I think some relief should be given. There is no doubt that Mr. Killen's assessment has been raised proportionately more than any others I have heard of. Most of the others referred to remain stationary, or very nearly so, whereas the Killen building assessment was raised from $700 to $1,100 without any change in value, although, technically speaking and taken by itself, the assessment was, at least, low enough.

I must, therefore, making due comparison, do the best I can to give substantial justice, this being so I have concluded to reduce the assessment by $200.00 Mr. Killen's assessment will stand at $50.00 for the land, and the buildings at $900.00.

I have been asked by various parties to deal with other assessments of the Township and endeavour to equalize them. This I am unable to do, as I can deal only with actual appeals that are put in and put in properly.

(Sgd.) E. C. Huycke,
Judge.

ICE BREAKER STILL HAS RUSSIAN NAME

OTTAWA, June 17 (Canadian Press). —Estimates of the Department of Marine and Fisheries were considered by the House of Commons, in committee of supply, last evening. An appropriation of $1,500,000 for maintenance and repairs to Dominion steamers and ice-breakers, was first taken up. Sir Henry Drayton (Conservative, West York) asked Hon. P. J. Cardin, Minister of Marine, for some information in regard to the government ice-breakers. Mr. Cardin mentioned that one of them was called the "Mikula". Some years ago it had been named the J. D. Hazen, but the Canadian government sold it to the Russian government which changed its name to the Mikula. Later, the ice-breaker had been repurchased by the Canadian government from Russia, and it still retained the name given by the Russian government.

THE DOMINION LANDS ACT WILL BE AMENDED

OTTAWA, June 17 (Canadian Press). —First reading was given in the house of commons yesterday to a bill to amend the Dominion Lands Act in so far as it affects the sale of school lands. Hon. Charles Stewart, minister of the interior, explained that the bill simplified the regulations governing the sale of small lots of school lands for roads, gravel pits, and such purposes. The three prairie provinces had been consulted and the bill affected only those provinces.

Mr. Stewart also introduced a bill to amend the Dominion Lands Act. It authorizes the gold commissioner in the Yukon to act for purposes for which it is now necessary for him to employ a barrister.

Paul In Possession

The story thus far:

Abide with me, fast falls the eventide— Over and over gain the plaintive tune was borne to the dying ears of John Collinge. Then the bells were silent—and in the following silence he died. He left behind him Wanda Griffin, his adopted daughter—as selfish and unpopular as he himself had been—and his son Paul, with whom he had quarreled, and who was consequently abroad. After his death Wanda felt (for the first time in her life) remorse, but it did not prevent her from being as badtempered as ever, and Bertram Lindsay, the family lawyer, found her as difficult to deal with as ever. Clare Garnet, Wanda's one friend, comes to visit her.

TODAY'S INSTALMENT.

IV—PAUL IN THE GARDEN.

Wanda was very unhappy, though she would not admit it, even to herself.

Against her will, her thoughts turned again and again to the man who lay upstairs, as lonely in death as he had been in life, and thoughts which she tried in vain to push away came crowding into her mind.

"I wish I had been kinder to him; he did so much for me. I wish I had not quarrelled with him that last time. He was right about my hair. I was a fool!"

And she put her hand up savagely to her bobbed head, tugging at her wavy locks.

And the thoughts came again.

"I wish I'd been more grateful—I never thanked him for anything he did, and I might have been in the gutter now, but for him. Oh, why can't I be nicer—more like other people? What is the matter with me, that everyone hates me so?"

She struck across the velvety lawn into the rose garden.

The evening air was fragrant with the scent of the many roses, for with all his faults John Collinge had been proud of his garden, and had never minded what he spent on it.

It seemed impossible that he would never walk here again.

Wanda wondered what the gardeners who had tended the roses for so long thought about it; whether they were glad or sorry that he was dead; then she stood still with a gasping, intaken breath. A man stood amongst the tall standards and little bushes, calmly picking some of the choicest blossoms; a man who at first glance was so like old John Collinge that she thought it must be he; then she saw her mistake and went forward in passionate indignation.

"What are you doing here?" she demanded. "How dare you pick my roses?"

He turned round and coolly surveyed her. "Your roses!" he repeated. "And who the devil are you, may I ask?"

Wanda's cheeks flamed.

"How dare you speak to me like that?" she panted. "And what are you doing in my garden? Who are you?"

But she knew before he answered her.

"I happen to be Paul Collinge. I've just walked up from the station. Is there anything else you'd like to know?"

"So you are Paul Collinge!" The hot colour rose vividly in Wanda's cheeks, though she met the man's eyes steadily; then she laughed. "I might have guessed who you were, by your likeness to your father."

"Indeed!" He looked amused. "And now I have told you my identity, perhaps you will return the compliment and tell me your name."

"I am Wanda."

"Wanda!" he repeated the name vaguely; it evidently conveyed nothing to him. "Is that a surname or a Christian one?" he asked.

She frowned with displeasure.

"It is a Christian name. I am Wanda Griffin."

"Oh!" he looked down at her for a moment, a smile in his eyes that were so like his father's; then he asked again, "What are you doing here? You must forgive me, but I have never heard of you before."

* * *

Her eyes grew indignant.

"Your father adopted me," she explained with indignity.

"Oh!" Understanding dawned in his face. "Then you must be the jockey's little girl."

She drew herself up offendadly.

"If you are trying to insult me—" she protested.

"Insult you!" he looked genuinely amazed. "What have I said that is insulting? Your father was Griffin, the jockey, wasn't he? If so I can remember him quite well when I was a youngster." He laughed reminiscently. "I was bigger than he was, even in those days."

She looked at him in silent resentment. She had never seen Paul Collinge, but she had not pictured him in the least like this.

He had the same bullying, overbearing air as his father, the same handsome face, the same deep voice; and yet there was a great difference between the two men, though she found it difficult to decide wherein it lay.

After a moment she said ungraciously. "You had better come to the house. I will give you some coffee."

He fell into step beside her.

"So you still live here?" he asked interestedly.

"Live here?" he dark eyes flashed angrily towards him. "This is my house," she told him.

"Oh, I see!" A little furrow bent his brows, and there was a hardened note in his voice when he spoke again. "I knew that my father had adopted you, of course, but knowing him as well as I did, I did not imagine the adoption had lasted so long."

"Your father was very fond of me," Wanda said, untruthfully.

Something in this man's manner roused all that was antagonistic in her heart.

"Fond of you!" Paul laughed heartily. "I don't want to be rude, but I cannot imagine my father being fond of anyone."

"You did not understand him," she said, quickly.

He stole a sidelong glance at her.

"And you did, eh? Is that it? Well, we don't want to quarrel so soon. Is Lindsay here? I wired him to come."

"So he told me. Yes, he is here—he came to dinner," she said ungraciously.

HOME BANK COUNSEL IS MEMBER OF FIRM

OTTAWA, June 17 (Canadian Press). —In reply to a question by J. H. Harris (Conservative, East York), if Hon. A. B. Hudson, K.C., member of parliament for South Winnipeg, was a member of the legal firm of Hudson, Ormond, Spice, and Symington, the latter member of said firm being the H. J. Symington, who is paid by the government as counsel in the Home Bank inquiry, the minister of justice yesterday replied in the house of commons: "Yes."

PRIVY COUNCIL TO HEAR APPEAL FROM THE GOVT.

TORONTO, June 17 (Canadian Press). — The Ontario Government will appeal to the Privy Council the judgment of Ontario Court, holding the Judicature Act ultra vires.

Premier Ferguson made a definite announcement last night stating that it was a suggestion of the Federal authorities in the first place that the controversial question of jurisdiction between the Federal and Provincial powers be determined by "the highest Court in the Empire."

Having conducted the Province's case at Osgoode Hall, W. N. Tilley, K.C., and McGregor Young, K.C., will represent the Province in London.

PUTS HEALTH AND VIM INTO WOMEN

So Says Mrs. MacPherson of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Brantford, Ont.—"I was always tired and the least exertion would put me out for a day or two. I had a pressing pain on the top of my head, pain in the nape of my neck, and when I stooped over I could not get up without help, because of pain in my back. I did not sleep well and was nervous at the least noise. I keep house, but I was such a wreck that I could not sweep the floor nor wash the dishes without lying down afterwards. A friend living near me told me what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had done for her so I began to take it. With the first bottle I felt brighter and got so I could wash dishes and sweep without having to lie down. Later I became regular again in my monthly terms. I have taken ten bottles all told and am now all better. I can truly say that your wonderful medicine cannot be beaten for putting health and vim into a woman."—Mrs. James H. MacPherson, 309 Greenwich St., Brantford, Ont.

BANK ACT EXPRESSED BITTER CONDEMNATION

TORONTO, June 17 (Canadian Press). — Bitter condemnation of the Bank Act as at present constituted was expressed in an address of P. P. Higginbotham of Calgary, member of the executive committee of the depositors of the Home Bank of Canada, at a meeting held in St. Vincent De Paul Hall by the Roncesvalle branch of the depositors of the Home Bank last night.

He stated that the depositors had been living too long in a fool's paradise, and that it was time for their real situation in the Canadian banks to be brought to the attention of the public.

Mr. Higginbotham stated that the banks' investments in buildings was not a sound one for the Canadian public. Fully 60 per cent. of the investments by banks were in palatial buildings unsuitable for any other business.

MAITLAND RIVER FISH LURED MANY PERSONS

GODERICH, Ont., June 17. —The lure of Maitland River's big bass proved too much for a number of fishermen in that they could not wait over until yesterday, the day on which bass fishing legally opened.

Game Warden Egerton of London paid a surprise visit to various haunts along the river here on Sunday and as a result about a dozen summonses will be issued.

Some of the fishermen were from Clinton, Seaforth, Stratford and Guelph.

John Headle of Toronto, who was one of the party, was fined $10 and costs by Magistrate Reid this morning besides having his valuable fishing tackle confiscated.

One of his catch proved to be a six pounder, one of the largest ever taken from the river.

OSHAWA MEN HAD NARROW ESCAPE

Car in Which They Were Riding Turned Over a Thirty-Five Foot Embankment.

OSHAWA, June 17.— (Canadian Press.)— Jack Beamish, of Brock street east, and Mark Turner, of Albert street, both residents of Oshawa, had a miraculous escape from death when the car they were driving turned over the thirty-five foot embankment at the railway bridge leading into the town of Bowmanville. The local autoists turned out to avoid hitting another auto that was coming west and in doing so ran close to the side of the roadway, where the earth gave way, pitching the car through the railing, down an almost perpendicular bank, landing with its wheels in the air, with Beamish and Turner underneath.

Eye-witnesses to the accident say that it was impossible to have avoided the accident except by running into the other car, when it would have been very probable both would have gone over the bank. In the approaching machine were several women and children, besides the driver. Mr. Beamish sustained slight injuries about the head and eye, while Mr. Turner is confined to his bed with a bad scalp wound, severe cuts about the face and nose, and possibly a broken ankle, as well as internal injuries that are not now considered serious.

CITY DEFRAUDED $1,000

Mayor of Levis Announces City's Financial Condition Better.

QUEBEC, June 17. — (Canadian Press).—Mayor Demers, of Levis, announced yesterday that the financial situation of that city had improved to such an extent that the property tax, now $1.70, will fall to $1.45 and the water tax will be reduced from 18 cents to 15 cents per mill.

His Worship announced that a full investigation into the recent shortage discovered in the books of the municipality showed that the defalcation amounted to $1,000.

Sentenced to Five Years.

Romeo Couteure, former assistant treasurer of the city of Levis, convicted of having converted to his own use over $500 which had been paid by ratepayers, was sentenced to five months' imprisonment by Judge Choquette in the Court of Sessions yesterday.

REJECT LORDS' CHANGES

British House of Commons Returns Non-Eviction Bill Unamended.

LONDON, June 17 (Canadian Press). —The House of Commons last night after debating the Government bill for prevention of the eviction of tenants who do not pay their rent because of unemployment rejected all the amendments proposed by the House of Lords. The Government was aided by Liberal votes, and the bill, thus restored to its original condition, will go back to the House of Lords, which may either persist in the amendments, or accept the decision of the Commons.

In a subsequent debate on a measure dealing with street traffic, the Government sustained an adverse vote, which, however, had no political significance.

The Labor Government will still be in power in the Fall, in the opinion of Premier MacDonald. He declared in the House of Commons yesterday that he was perfectly certain that the November session would be reached without a general election.

The government would be permitted to share in the earnings of the company, to the amount of one-third of its profits, with the further option of purchasing the plant and equipment at the expiration of this contract.

OTTAWA, June 17 (Canadian Press). —The motion of W. C. Good (Progressive, Brant), in the House, calling for investigation into the administration of the business profits and income tax, reads:—

"Whereas it has been alleged in the public press of Canada that if an inquiry were instituted, some interesting information and astonishing facts, showing how the Treasury of Canada failed to receive revenue intended for it, would be disclosed to the taxpayers of the Dominion; and

"Whereas, for instance, it has been alleged in the press that cheques totalling about $1,700,000, representing the income and business profits taxes of three well-known concerns in Ontario, were received by the Department of Finance in March, 1921, but were not deposited until December 6 of that year; and

"Whereas a number of similar specific allegations have been made in the press; and

"Whereas it has been alleged in the House of Commons on May 27 of this year, that in the case of a certain corporation the Treasury of the Dominion seems to have lost in one year about $800,000 to which it was entitled:

NO ULTIMATUM TO POSTAL WORKERS

If the Government Had Any Plans They Could Hardly be Given Out Yet.

OTTAWA, Ont., June 17. — When asked this morning what the government intended to do in the event of the postal workers going out on strike, Hon. Charles Stewart, Acting Postmaster General, said: "We have not issued any ultimatum to the postal workers and we hope that they will reconsider their decision."

"What are the government's plans in regard to the maintenance of the postal service?" the Minister was asked.

"Well, if the Government had any plans they could hardly be given out just now," was the answer.

Hon. Charles Murphy, Postmaster-General, who has returned to Ottawa from the south, was not expected at his office to-day.

"From castor oil to the assassin's knift is a long step. We are not surprised to learn that Mussolini is seriously alarmed at the indignation throughout Italy. Autocrats and tyrranies usually come to grief by means of such crude blunders as this murder. They start on the castor oil and the rond's natural slippiness soon leads to the ultimate extremes of crime.

HEALTH BOARD HAD A MEETING

Heard Report Concerning the Milk Tests--Tenders for Fuel.

At a meeting of the Board of Health this morning many matters of importance were dealt with. The city's milk supply came up for discussion, and the Board provided by resolution a means of dealing with those who ignored the Board's notices to remedy sanitary conditions.

Dr. A. Y. McNair's report in reference to milk tests was very gratifying as every vendor came up to the standard in the bacteria test. There were two tests showing milk which contained slightly less than 3 per cent. of butter-fat, the amount required by by-law. Dr. Young said that it was the best report received in months.

A communication was received from the Milk Dealers' Association, protesting against the manner of publication of milk tests. Mr. S. T. Medd appeared on behalf of the Milk Vendors' Association. The dealers have no objection to the publishing of milk tests, said Mr. Medd, but the milk vendors are desirous of seeking a fair method of informing the public of the results of milk tests. The dealers wish to protect the public in general as well as themselves. People are under the erroneous impression that a test which fails to come up to the standard in butter-fat means that the milk is impure, remarked Mr. Medd.

The communication from the Milk Dealers' Association stated: "Many dealers buy from inspected herds, owned by reputable people, and an isolated test of their milk might place any or many of them below standard at an isolated time. If the dealer knew of this he could check up the producer; on the other hand, if his first notice of it is a newspaper report, very serious and irreparable damage may have been done to his business."

Mr. Medd thought that the Board should supervise the source of supply.

Mr. James Lynch opined that as a vendor might buy from 20 farmers, and as the Board only had jurisdiction in the city, such a scheme would be impossible.

"The Board could look after those who deliver milk to the city," replied Mr. Medd.

The members of the Board expressed their desire to co-operate with the Milk Dealers as they always have done.

A resolution was passed calling a special meeting of the Board on Monday night next at 7.30 to confer with a deputation from the Milk Dealers' Association on the matter of milk tests.

Mr. Geo. F. Jackson, of 177 Dublin Street, asked for a hearing, which was granted. Mr. Jackson stated that although he protested to the Board last year about the unsanitary conditions prevailing at 175 Dublin Street, there had been no improvement. Dr. Young stated that the owner of the premises had been notified to make sewer connections, and suggested that action be taken to compel the abating of the nuisance. A resolution was passed, on motion of Mayor J. J. Turner and Mr. Lynch, that this offender be given notice within one week, and, in default, the medical officer of health shall have authority to instruct the City Solicitor to take action. All others who fail to comply with any suggestions of the Board will be dealt with in a like manner.

Several applications were received asking for permission to instal certain sewer connections.

Six tenders for fuel were received and dealt with. The advertisement for tenders called for prices on a carload of 50 tons delivered. All of the tenders quoted the same price, $15.50 per ton, and as all the dealers were reputable men, the members of the Board were at their wits' end to deal equitably with the matter.

Mr. Lynch devolved a scheme, which met with general approval, and apparently the only satisfactory method of choosing a tender. The names of the six dealers were written on slips of paper and tossed in a hat by Mayor Turner, and a disinterested party drew W. Scott & Co., whereupon a resolution accepting W. Scott & Co.'s tender was passed.

The following tenders were received in response to an advertisement asking for tenders to roof Queen Mary Hospital:

Wm. Brown	$467.00
T. Hetherington	375.00
F. Rowan	380.00
Alex. McLeod	465.00

Mr. Hetherington's tender was accepted.

The Board, after a short discussion on the contemplated heating alterations to be made in Queen Mary Hospital, passed a resolution, on motion of Messrs. Lynch and Dr. Young, instructing the secretary, Mr. S. R. Armstrong, to advertise for tenders for the rearranging and adding to the heating system of Queen Mary Hospital. All tenders are required to be in by 4 o'clock, July 2, 1924, and to be accompanied by a cheque, amounting to 10 per cent. of the amount of the tender. Plans and specifications may be seen at the office of the City Clerk, or at the hall of the Builders' Exchange.

There were present at the meeting Chairman Geo. Duncan, Mayor Turner, Mr. Jas. Lynch, Dr. Young, and Mr. Chas. Stapleton, sanitary inspector.

OTTAWA, June 17 (Canadian Press). — A strike of the postal clerks throughout the Dominion is indicated by the following message which has been given to the public through the press by the Secretary of the Dominion Federation of Postal Employees.

POSTAL WORKERS READY TO STRIKE

Remains Now For the Executive to Set Zero Hour.

TORONTO, June 17.— (Canadian Press.)— Indications this afternoon point to a Dominion-wide strike of ten thousand Canadian postal workers, unless some action is taken by the Dominion government to bring the Civil Service Act before Parliament in order that amendments to the salary schedule submitted by the Civil Service Commission may be effected, or unless some other action is taken by the Cabinet to conciliate postal employees. It is expected that the Dominion Executive of the Federation of Postal Employees, before midnight, will decide the question of a walk-out.

By six o'clock time for turning in the vote of the workers from the Atlantic to the Pacific will have expired. This is later than the time originally set out, but officials desired to give employees in eastern and western corners of the Dominion a little more time.

According to reports returns made up to the present have been overwhelmingly in favour of the strike and if this is the case, when the final count is made the executive will have little left to do but to set the time for a strike.

FRENCH ACCEPT DAWES PROGRAM

PARIS, June 17 (Canadian Press). —France accepts the Dawes programme for the settlement of reparations unreservedly, but owing to the conditions in Germany, cannot evacuate the Ruhr before Germany fulfills the guarantees laid down in the expert's report, Premier Herriot told the Chamber of Deputies this afternoon in outlining the policy of his Government.

The new Government of the left is opposed to a "hostile policy of force and occupation of former enemy territory," Herriot said, and will do its utmost to placate the German Socialists.

The Government is preparing for a resumption of relations with Russia, but will continue to defend our treaty rights against Germany, the Premier added.

Other policies announced by M. Herriot include the suppression of the Vatican Embassy, realisation of the administrative and electorate reforms, re-organisation of the Army so as to reduce the length of service without infringing on security, general inventory of the financial situation diminution of the consumers' and profits tax by re-organisation of direct taxes, including production, consolidation of the boating debt, strengthening of the League of Nations, and suppression of the Commissioner-Generalship of Alsace-Lorrain.

The new Government faces the Chamber for the first time, confronted by a dozen interpellations as to policies.

It is probable that the debate will last several days, and observers predict a majority of about 100 for the unified Socialists on a vote of confidence.

LITTLE PROFIT IN SHIPPING CATTLE

Cost to Take One Cow to Great Britain Would be $17.48, a Gain of $2.52.

OTTAWA, June 17. —(Canadian Press.)—The single voyage of the Canadian Government merchant ship to India resulted in the loss of $73,400, Sir Henry Thornton, President of the Canadian National Railway told the House committee on the National Railway and Government Merchant Marine this morning. Sir Henry was giving evidence of operation of government ships.

Sir Henry told the committee that, when all cost of traffic was taken into consideration, profit on carrying cattle to the United Kingdom was only $2.52 per head. He placed the cost of carrying cattle from Canada to Great Britain at $17.48 a head and revenue at $20.

A discussion of the movement of chilled meat to the United Kingdom brought out the fact that vessels of the Canadian government merchant marine had carried none of this traffic last year. The trade was practically monopolized by Argentine, Brazil and Uruguay. Sir Henry expressed the opinion that carrying chilled meat would be much more remunerative than carrying cattle on hoof. He said that the new service inaugurated between Vancouver and the United Kingdom, via the Panama canal, showed considerable promise.

Five of the smaller boats of the Government Merchant Marine were tied up at Montreal and two at Halifax.

The bird was impatient to go away this morning and was released after again being fed. It bore on a band on its leg the number 1615 and the inscription "Ted. C. Montreal". It is said to have been released at the Belleville U.E.L. celebration yesterday.

ROTARIANS STILL FLOCK TO TORONTO

It is Expected That Still Many Hundreds Will Register at Exhibition Grounds Before Night.

TORONTO, June 17. — Trains, steamships and automobiles were bringing visitors to the city early to-day and it is expected that still many hundreds will register at the Exhibition grounds before nightfall. Glorious summer weather greeted the delegates as they assembled in the spacious Transportation Building this morning for the opening business. The ideal spot for the gathering of people of Rotary is the grounds of the world's greatest annual exposition, situated close to the waters of Lake Ontario and where the cool breezes temper the warm sun and brilliant green, well kept lawns lend beauty to the huge buildings which house the convention.

Shortly after ten o'clock, Rev. E. Leslie Pidgeon, of Winnipeg, invoked the divine blessing on the business of the delegates. This was followed by a song of welcome from Toronto Rotary Glee Club, and an official address of welcome by Frank H. Littlefield. Responses were made by Thomas Hunter, of Edinburgh, Scotland, and Hon. George Fowlds, of Buckland, New Zealand.

The convention was called to order at eleven fifteen by President Guy Gundaker, whose annual address emphasized the value of the service and straight dealing between man and man. "Until men meet on common ground and correct business methods, there can be no world fellowship of business men," he declared.

The convention adjourned for lunch after hearing the President and met again at 2.30, when there was the presentation of general officers, district governors and preliminary reports. The social programme for this evening includes district dinners, moonlight trips on Lake Ontario, garden party by Toronto Kiwanis in Queen's Park, water carnival at Sunnyside Beach and automobile drives around the city.

MAKING MONEY MAKE MONEY

Brief but Important Lessons in Finance, Markets, Stocks, Bonds and Investments.

There are at least five natural advantages which justify starting a business.

By A. W. Warner,
Veteran Financial Writer and Newspaper Man.

One of the best reasons for starting a business is to have some sort of a natural advantage over competitors. Five of them follow:

1. A patent or copyright on a useful product.
2. A new product which is more or less of a necessity.
3. An improvement on something already in use.
4. Something which meets a local unsatisfied demand.
5. Lower costs than competitors.

This is a representative list of natural advantages and does not attempt to cover all of them. It is wise to analyze the prospects of a business, because there are advantages and perhaps your competitor has them.

SIEGE GUNNERS FAIL AT GOLF

Rogers and Guilford, Longest Swatters in Recent Tourney Went Behind.

ACCURACY COUNTS.

BY JOE WILLIAMS

The seige gunner in golf is picturesque rather than powerful, and in recent years has not been conspicuous among the successful. The main honors have been going to the player who sacrificed length for accuracy, and romance for outline.

Max Marston is this type of player. There are many amateurs who hit longer balls off the tee, but few who are straighter through the green. This kind of golf brought Marston the mateur championship last summer.

Cyril Walker, recent winner of the open, is much the same type of golfer. Walker hits a long ball, but he hardly ranks with the seige gunners. His chief interest is centered in keeping the ball in the middle of the fairway.

At Oakland Hills the New Jersey professional probably played fewer shots from rough and traps than any other player. This, and his ability to control the ball in a quartering gale, accounted for his triumph.

A long ball that you can't control is about as useful as an ice pick in the tropics. The longest hitter in this year's open was young Johhny Rogers of Dayton. Rogers hit a tee shot every bit as far as Bob MacDonald used to. But it is not always straight, and that's one reason why Rogers finished with 314, exactly 17 strokes behind the leader.

Ranking next to Rogers in prodigious swatting was Jesse Guilford, the Boston amateur, and Jesse was even farther back with 317.

Chick Evans has the right idea on tee shots, which is this: Go after distance only when it is necessary. The siege gunner, on the other hand, goes after it all the time.

On a course of moderate length, Evans simply shortens his back swing. On long courses, such as Flossmoor was last year, he lengthens it. This sounds easy, and is, if you have mastered timing, a delicate, subtle operation, which consists in getting the wrists, arms and body into the "hit" at the right second.

BIG GAME WITH OSHAWA OUGHT TO BE A BATTLE

Motor Town Crew Will Clash With Petes at Riverside To-morrow.

GAME STARTS 5.15.

Both Teams Need Victory and Prettiest Fight of Season is Likely.

Peterboro will have its first twilight Central Ontario League game to-morrow evening at 5.15 o'clock when the Oshawa outfit will clash with the Petes in a League fixture.

This is the only Wednesday game at home for the Petes during the first half and is the second last home game of the month so that the fans cannot afford to miss the battle.

Their hasn't been a Central Ontario League fixture at Riverside Park this season that was not in doubt until the final put out was registered and tomorrow's games promises to be of the same calibre.

It represents Oshawa's last stand in the first half for a defeat tomorrow would practically eliminate the auto-motive crew who are now in the cellar and cannot afford to drop many more.

Under the circumstances the visitors can be counted upon to make a desperate effort to stay in the running and if Dainty is in form the fans should see one of the prettiest battles of the season.

Frank Hallinan of Toronto will be the umpire-in-chief for this game with Allen of Port Hope on the bases.

The fans are again reminded that the game will start at 5.15 o'clock.

CURLERS TO MEET THE MAPLE LEAFS

QUEEN MARY WINS

Championship of Public Schools Goes to West Enders.

Queen Mary School again holds the championship of the Public School Baseball League. The West End school has always been to the fore in the race for honors in Public School ball, and has developed some fine players, who have made and are making a name for themselves in local sport. Many a player can look back to those days when he worked his head off to make the school team which gave him his first opportunity to play in organized ball.

The race was always close and this season has not altered the rule. Central was a close second to Queen Mary, only losing two games and those both by close margins to the champs. Even these two schools have been rivals, Queen Mary went through the whole schedule with only one defeat that was handed to them by the Queen Alexandra nine. The northerners started off in grand style but suffered some hard luck early in the schedule that set them back.

The Girls' League was also featured by keen competition all the way through. The girls of King George won the league, suffering no defeats during the whole season.

BOUTS ARRANGED.

NEW YORK, Junt 17.—(Canadian Press).—Pal Moran, of New Orleans, was matched yesterday to fight Jack Zivic, of Pittsburgh, in a 15-round lightweight battle at the Queensboro Stadium on the night of Monday, June 23. Boby Garcia, of Baltimore, will meet Eddie Brady, of New York, in a ten-round semi-final on the same card.

MLLE. LENGLEN IS READY.

PARIS, June 17. — (Canadian Press).—Mlle Suzanne Lenglen, who will defend her singles tennis championship at Wimbledon, arrived here yesterday from Nice, fully recovered from the slight attack of jaundice from which she was suffering. She said she was feeling strong enough to play in both the ladies' singles and doubles. In the latter she is paired with Miss Elizabeth Ryan.

A RING CLASSIC.

Eugene Criqui, defeated French featherweight, said this after his recent downfall: "I have no excuses, no broken hands, no broken heart."

The NUT CRACKER BY JOE WILLIAMS

STRAIGHT DOPE BENNY ON THE RADIO

Well, I see where the bright young gents who write pieces for the sport journals say that this belligerent wart, Bartley Madden, ruined Harry Wills by holding him off for 15 rounds.

If you were to ask me, and some of the worst people in the community have, I'd say he did him a noble favor, for now Will won't have to take a fast and fancy walloping from Dempsey.

Because his hide lacked the ghostly pallor of the Caucasian fish, sobby sentimentalists claimed Wills was an ornate victim of dicrimination, surtaxes and shingle bobs.

If it's discrimination to save an honest, hard working stevedore from getting his porcelain molars battered into uninteresting fragments, then Pola Negri, in a white chiffon robe, ain't worth taking a second look at.

As long as Wills walked the village streets garbed in the sour, sombre robes of a light tan martyr he had more followers than a winning jockey, and the percentage of pikers was up to par or better.

Misery loves noisy companions, and the lowly and oppressed are always sure of a rousing Attaboy from the broad minded guys in the bleachers ....who happen to be the same guys that cheer Ruth when he hits a homer and jeer him when he fans.

Wills' hand-tailored martyr outfit shrunk like a rookie slugger's batting average in July the first time he stepped out in the blinding glare of public inspection.

Now all the long-eared intellectuals who accused Dempsey of giving the black man the festive run around have gone back to studying birds and throwing rabbits.

A Severe Attack Of Heart Trouble Was Relieved By MILBURN'S Heart and Nerve Pills

Mr. S. E. Barnes, Athens, Ont., writes:—"Four years ago I had a very severe attack of heart trouble. I consulted my doctor; he treated me for some time, but I only seemed to be getting worse. I finally went to our druggist and purchased three boxes of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills and derived immediate relief from their use, and I can truthfully say they are a wonderful medicine. I always keep a box on hand, and if I feel out of sorts I take a few pills and feel all right again."

MIDLAND LEAGUE GAMES

Two Games Are Scheduled for Saturday at Exhibition Grounds.

The Midland League games scheduled for Saturday are Dyeworks at Raybestos and C.N.R. at C.G.E. Two weeks ago when these teams met in Cobourg both games were decided by the odd run. The game between Raybestos and Dyeworks went ten innings while the C.G.E.—C.N.R. game a 1-0 victory, Punch Derry holding the Electricians to two hits. The C.G.E. are out for revenge while the Raybestos must win to keep out of the cellar.

As Saturday is an open day at Riverside Park the fans will have an opportunity to see these two good games.

The new recruit, Dundas of the Woollens made a creditable debut at outside left on his first appearance in soccer circles. He tackles smartly crosses to the centre at first chance and funishes with an accurate shot on the run.

While the C.G.E. team of Toronto in the second division, secured a valuable win on Saturday; the C.G.E. select team of Toronto, had to admit defeat from the Peterboro C.G.E. select team by two goals to one for the "White Cup", which was donated for the C.G.E. field day at Cobourg. The cup was on view at Executive meeting last evening.

The C.G.E. Soccer team defeated C.G.E. Davenport team by two goals to one for M. P. White Challenge Cup at Cobourg on Saturday. The run of play started off with Toronto kicking off. Peterboro halfbacks frustrated the opening attack, then Melville received a timely pass from Wade which compelled the Toronto goalie to save smartly, but he was quickly surprised by the magnificent shot that Melville returned without hesitation for the opening goal. Toronto boys retaliated to find the Pete half-backs holding them very close until half-time when Peterboro team was leading 1 to 0. On resuming, the Peterboro forwards raided the Toronto goal without any success, until Jack Wade sent in a rocket drive from 40 yards out that deceived the goal-keeper all the way. Without two goals ahead the Peterboro boys held Toronto to midfield play until three minutes from time-up Wasson conceded a corner-kick that cost the only tally against them The cup was presented to Capt. Dawson at the finish of the game.

LIGHTWEIGHT LOST BELT

Someone Made Off With Benny Leonard's Trophy Without Fighting.

NEW YORK, June 17.—(Canadian Press).—Benny Leonard, lightweight champion of the world, has lost his diamond-studded belt, a gift from Tex Rickard. But it was not lost in a fair fight.

Benny loaned the belt several days ago to this sister, who placed it in the window of her store to attract customers. The lure proved too strong; somebody threw a brick through the window during the night and made off with the prize, valued at $3,000.

Do You Know Baseball?

By BILLY EVANS

QUESTIONS

1. Batsman hits a slow ground ball down the first base line. The ba'l just beats him to the bag, and it is so close to the foul line that the first baseman has his foot on the bag when he fields the ball. He then reaches out and touches the runner coming into the base, the force of the collision causing him to drop the ball. Is the runner out or safe?—H. V.

2. There is a runner on second base. The umpire calls a balk on the pitcher, but the pitcher makes a snap throw to second after the umpire so rules. The runner is caught off second. The second baseman throws the ball wildly to the third baseman and the runner scores. What is the proper decision on this play?—J. E. C.

ANSWERS

1. The moment the first baseman fielded the ball and had his foot in contact with first base, even though he did not realize the fact, the batsman was out. The umpire should have immediately so ruled on the play. No attention should be given the fact that the first baseman, after retiring the batter, made a "bone" play by touching him and then dropping the ball.

2. The calling of a balk suspends play immediately. Such a ruling merely entitles all runners to advance one base. The runner on second was entitled to go to third, but had no right to score. No consideration should be given the fact that a play was made on him that went wild, as the balk killed off all chance for action.

Wills Boom is Whisper Since Madden Stood Up

There will be no fight soon between Jack Dempsey and Harry Wills. Nor is it likely that there will be a fight this summer between Wills and the good senor Firpo.

The Wills boom, once a thunderous, moving thing, has faded to a thin, meek whisper.

And Bartley Madden, second rate heavyweight, with first rate fighting heart is the answer.

Though outweighed by 26 pounds, more or less, the New York Irishman, who has been fighting since Harry Wardon was a caddy, withstood a terrific assault from Wills in a 15 round fight and was on his feet, in good shape, at the finish.

The pugilistic world now asks this pertinent question: "If Wills could no nothing with a steffed shirt like Madden, what chance would he have against a big leaguer-"

Old Balls Would Help Pitching Curve Balls

PITTSBURG, June 16.—"If the umpires keep more old balls in play, I look for a marked improvement in curve ball pitching in the National League this year."

There you have the opinion of Pitcher Jimmy Morrison of the Pittsburg Pirates, conceded to be the best curve ball artist in the National League, if not the majors.

"The almost constant use of the new ball is a terrible handicap to a pitcher who relies on his curve for success," says Morrison.

"This is particularly true if a new ball is tossed to him by the umpire in the old pinch, a couple on and a base hit needed to win the ball game.

"The batsman well knows that it is a difficult matter to make a new ball break sharply. He has an ace in the hole and keeps looking for a fast one or just a no'so curve.

"More old balls will be particularly helpful to the curve ball pitcher. Incidentally will be an incentive to more pitchers to develop their curve."

MARBERRY HAS LOTS OF STUFF

Griffith Declares Recruit Pitcher is Second Walter Johnson.

NEW YORK, June 17.—"A second Walter Johnson" is the compliment that President Clarke Griffith of the Washington club pays to Fred Marberry, one of his recruit pitchers.

Griffith, in his day one of the greates pitchers, is enthusiastic over the chances of his club's recruit pitchers. He certainly should be a good judge of pitching values. Griffith is particularly strong for Marberry.

"This boy Marberry has everything that goes to make a great pitcher, physique, stuff and temperament. He has the courage of a veteran. He lacks only experience. In two years he should be one of the most effective twirlers in the American League."

With Little Rock, tailenders in the Southern association last season, Marberry broke better than even. Griffin is positive that Paul Zaherisor will be a winning pitcher this year. Lack of control has handicapped him in his early starts. He also has great hope for Slim McGrew and feels that the veteran Joe Martina will win some ball games for him.

On the whole, the Washington owner is far more optimistic about his pitching than the critics.

Cricketers Make Record

One Team High and One Team Low in South African Tour.

LONDON, June 17 (Canadian Press Cable).—In the first test match between England and the touring South Africans at Edgbaston, which was continued yesterday, England made 438 runs in the first innings, being a record high score, against a South African team in this country while on the other hand the visitors made the lowest score of any test match in England, namely 30 runs. The only reason given for the collapse of the African team is that they have been dogged by wet wickets since their arrival and for the present match the conditions have been the worst experienced. The game attracted ten thousand spectators who witnessed a day of sensational cricket.

REABORO DEFEATED BY CRESCENT JUNIORS

The Crescent Juniors motored into Reaboro last evening and left a few hours later with an 8 to 5 score tucked under their belts. Both teams were in great form, and the Reaboro outfit hit hard and often. A fair crowd was present to see the two teams clash, and a hum-dinger of a game took place, with both teams running neck-and-neck most of the game. Reaboro put up a game battle, but the more experienced team won. Scott Hutchinson was on the mound for Reaboro and turned in a good game. He had speed to burn and whiffed a great number of the Crescents. Deyell, who did the receiving for them, held the big twirler up well, and pegged the ball around like a big leaguer. Tom Kineally, for the Crescents, also turned in a nice game and had a number of strike-outs. Skin O'Connell took Billy Evans' position on the field, and made a good job of it. He called them all, and both teams were well satisfied with the way he called them.

JUVENILES BATTLED FOR EIGHT INNINGS

The Millbrook juvenile team made a fine showing in thier first appearance at the Exhibition Park last evening when they tied East City Classics 7 to 7 after eight innings of interesting baseball. Russell, who twirled for the visitors, pitched well and did his best work when the Classics occupied the bases. Ralph for Classics, also turned in a nice hurling performance.

TRAFFIC ON ST. LAWRENCE

Wembley Exhibition Expected to Swell Demands for Passage.

QUEBEC, June 17 (Canadian Press). —Indications that the eastward passenger traffic, via the St. Laurence River, in connection with the thousands of Canadians and Americans who will visit the British Empire Exhibition at Wembley, will attain unprecedented proportions during the present season, is contained in the announcement by the White Star Dominion Line that the Ellerman liner, City of Exeter, a ten-thousand ton passenger steamer, is now on her way up the St. Lawrence River, bound for Montreal and Quebec, where she will take on board the overflow of passengers from other liners at these ports.

He was compelled to spend the night under his machine with his mechanician, because they were refused lodging at a farmhouse. They were drenched by a heavy rain, he said. Efforts are being made to obtain repair parts to enable them to resume the journey to Toronto.

PATIENT OXEN ON LONG TRIP

Peterboro County Team at Belleville Celebration.

BELLEVILLE, Ont., June 17 (Special to The Examiner). — A touch of the year 1784, when the first United Empire Loyalist settlers came to the wilderness of Quinte shores there to open up a new country was seen in the streets of Belleville yesterday afternoon when a yoke of patient oxen stolidly plodded through the bustle and jam of twentieth century city traffic, dragging behind them an ancient cart which had served its purpose in the pioneer age of the fourth generation back.

This page from the past seemed all the more strange in that it mixed with the automobile.

The skirl of the bagpipes and the rumble of field guns as the 34th Battery, with restive horses, drew the guns to the fair grounds to take part in the big military celebration which was the big attraction of the United Empire celebration this afternoon.

The oxen and the creeky cart took a leading part in the gigantic pageant which will depict the arrival of the United Empire Loyalist settlers and trace the development of the Quinte district from its opening up 140 years ago until its present era of prosperity.

Despite the day being Military Day, during their pilgrimage to the fair grounds, they were easily the centre of attraction. They looked so strange and out of place, yet they were the best pioneers. And although once the only mode of travel and of carriage like the pioneer, they have almost had their day.

They were brought from Peterborough, and their driver made a trip of seventy miles from their home farm to the city. They were sleek-looking oxen, and passive, and the sights and noises did not phase their calm.

Yesterday might well be called Military Day. The city has almost the appearance of an armed camp. Uniforms crowd the streets, the sound of bugles and the skirl of the pipes are to be heard, and during the day a monster military parade was held.

Hon. Macdonald, Minister of Militia and Defence, came from Ottawa to be present, accompanied by Major-General J .H. MacBrien, Chief of Staff, Adjt.-General A. H. Panet, and Major-General A. H. Emsley, Officer Commanding Military District No. 3.

More than 1,800 troops were in camp yesterday.

A special C.N.R. train brought the Prince Edward Regiment, 500 strong, and other special trains brought the members of various other units

The 48th Highlanders were still under canvas during the day, but they returned to Toronto on their special CN.R. train at midnight.

During the afternoon special military features were put on for the amusement of the several thousand out of town spectators at the fair grounds. This included the trooping of the colours, march past, physical drills, and brigade manoeuvres.

Brigade Commander Colonel McLaughlin commanded, and the salute was taken by the Hon. Mr. Macdonald.

The ceremonies officially opened by a mass meeting at the Court House, when prominent speakers from Canada and the United States united in paying tribute to the sterling qualities of the United Empire Loyalist settlers who forewent home lands and country so that they might live under the British flag.

Col. S. S. Lazier, veteran United Empire Loyalist, and chairman of the opening ceremonies, stood beside Adjutant-General Edward W. Westcot, of New York State, who represents the Governor of the Empire State, and other American officers, while among other prominent men who spoke were Mayor W. C. Mikel, K.C., Warden Rollins of Hastings County, Hon. Edmund Bristol, K.C., General Ryerson, and Lieut.-Colonel Roscoe Vanderwater.

It remained for General Westcot, however, to deliver an address which struck a deep chord in the audience. In no uncertain way he gave all honour to the United Empire Loyalists, and declared that the great exodus which had taken place at the close of the American War of Independence might have been averted had there been a better understanding on one side and more tolerance on the other.

"The truth compels me to state that the United Empire Loyalists were persecuted," General Westcot said, "and this is no credit to us, and we are not proud of the fact. There has been more than a hundred years of harmony between the two nations, and it is our duty to bind together not politically but in friendship, truth, and understanding, the two nations."

During the evening a special musical feature was put on by the military when the massed bands gave a tattoo, while after, a grand ball was held nder the auspices of the United Empire Loyalists.

To-day the corner-stone will be laid by the Masonic Lodges.

It was hoped to have Sir Henry Thornton, president of the Canadian National Railways, present on Wednesday to address the gathering, but he wired that he unfortunately would be detained in Ottawa, and regretted his inability to be present.

Vice-President W. D. Robb, an old Belleville resident, will be present.

RODEO SHOW BEING HELD FOR CRUELTY

Society of London Allege That the Steer Roping Exhibitions Are Brutal.

LONDON, June 17. — (United Press).—C. B. Cochrane, British promoter, and Tex Austin, who took his Rodeo show to London, were summoned to court to-day to answer charges brought by the society for the prevention of cruelty to animals, which alleges that the steer roping exhibitions are brutal.

In the meantime the British press is enjoying the affair hugely and printing long dissertations on the romance of cow punching with occasional profoundly serious articles on the enormous cruelty of roping cattle.

Adding to the gaiety of the situation, an unknown broncho buster styling himself "Snowy" Thompson, has arrived from Australia, with $5,000 that he can outride any American or Canadian.

Tex Austin has had perfumed monogramed notes from many titled ladies, pleading for permission to witness a private show of steer roping.

Solo numbers rendered by Mrs. Harold McClure and Mr. Gerald Robson were listened to with rapt attention by the large congregation that filled the church.

The young people of the Presbyterian Church, Hastings, presented the play, "The Private Tutor," in the town hall Norwood, on Saturday evening, June 14, under the auspices of St. Andrew's Y.W.A. There was not a very good turnout, but those who were in attendance were greatly pleased with the play.

HASTINGS AND THE DISTRICT

Summer Resorts Open For the Season--Good Fishing.

HASTINGS, June 17.—Mrs. Ben. Lukes, who for some years has conducted a tourist house for summer tourists, known as "Trent Valley Lodge," and situated at the head waters of the Trent River at Rice Lake, five miles above Hastings, has again opened the resort for the summer.

On Sunday thirty-four American tourists arrived at the Lodge to be on hand for the opening season of the maskinonge and bass, which opened on June 16th.

Mrs. Lukes has parties from all parts of the United States, coming continuously all the summer, some of the parties coming from Buffalo have been known to motor over here to this well-known spot in Canada for three different times during the tourist season.

First Communion.

In the Church of Our Lady Mount Carmel on Sunday morning eight little girls and four boys received their first Holy Communion. The little girls looked lovely in their crisp white dresses, each wearing white veils and wreaths.

The boys were dressed in dark suits and wore white ribbon bows on the left arms. Rev. Father Bretherton, during the service, spoke very nicely to the children, telling them how they could best conduct themselves while now children, so that when they become men and women, much of what they had learned and practised while they were children would follow them through life, thereby making of them what they would.

Music, very appropriate for the occasion, was given by the choir and organist.

Mrs. J. Holland.

The death occurred in St Joseph's Hospital on Saturday morning, of Alice O'Reilly, relict of the late Jas. Holland in her 83rd year.

Deceased was a resident of Hastings for a number of years, and a few years ago took up residence in Peterboro. The funeral was held from the undertaking parlours of Mr. P. M. Howard on Monday morning, June 16th, at 9 o'clock, services being held in the Church of our Lady Mount Carmel.

The remains were laid to rest in the Roman Catholic cemetery. The bearers were Messrs. W. D. Barry, John Noonan, Felix Convey, John Gorman and J. F. Jones.

Well Represented.

Hastings was this year well represented on the warden's annual excursion, on Wednesday last, from Cobourg, to Rochester. Among those noticed were:

Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Cougian, Mrs. (Dr.) MacDonald, Misses Mary and Kathleen Lambert, Mrs. Lambert, Mrs. James Stevenson, Mr. Stanley Stevenson, Dr. and Mrs. W. E. Wilson, Mr. A. E. Chapman, Misses Helen Chapman and Laura Walsh, Mr and Mrs. W. A. Baker, Miss Belle Thompson, Miss Pansy Runnels, Miss Mae Huycke, Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Baker, Mr. W. Learmouth, Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Kelley, Miss Luella Archer, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Jones, Mrs. T. A. Walsh, Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Plant, Miss Della Plant, Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Fife, Misses Margaret Bailey and Lucy Noonan, Mr and Mrs. W. M.Fowlds, Mr. Leonard Carter, Mr. and Mrs. S. Hatherly, Mr. and Mrs. W. Humphries, Mrs. John Convey, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Peters, Messrs. Fred Dodd, Billie Bird, R. Simpson, Geo. Peters, James Gibson, John Convey and William Coveney.

Presented Play.

The young people of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church presented their play, "The Private Tutor," in the Opera House in Norwood on Saturday evening. Conveyances were provided by members of the congregation, which conveyed the caste of characters and others interested.

Lunch was served to the visitors by the Ladies' Aid of the Presbyterian Church there, under whose auspices the play was presented.

Remain Another Year.

With the approval of the Bay of Quinte Conference of the Methodist Church, Rev. M. L. Hinton is again to be the pastor of the Methodist Church here. Mr. Hinton was invited to remain pastor of the church for the fifth successive year at the February meeting of the Quarterly Board of the church, and accepted the invitation subject to the approval of the Conference.

Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Wellman were in Peterboro on Sunday, where they visited their daughter, Jean, who is in Nicholls Hospital taking treatment. A very favorable report is brought home as Jean is very much improved in health.

The Women's Missionary Society of the Methodist Church met on Thursday afternoon for their regular business meeting. After the business was completed, afternoon tea was served by the ladies of the Society.

GERMANY MUST PROVE HER GOOD FAITH SOON

PARIS, June 17 (Canadian Press). —Gaston Doumergue, France's new President, in his first message to Parliament to-day, declared that Germany, before the reparation experts' report was put into effect, must prove her good faith. Such proof, he insisted, must come "from facts and not from mere engagements without previous assurance of fulfillment."

"France's conciliatory spirit, which is sincere and indisputable," he continued, "cannot go so far as to lull her vigilance and make her forget the lessons of the past."

THEATRES

AT THE ROYAL

REAL ACTING SEEN IN ALL STAR FILM.

The audience at the Royal Theatre last night were plainly pleased with "The Spider and the Rose," the B. F. Zeidman Production shown for the first time in Peterborough. Real acting abiilty backed up by a story that never lets down for a minute combined to make a picture that will go down in amusement history.

"The Spider and the Rose" is different than the average film story and province of Mexico under the reign of Maxmillan I. is pictured as the scene of an active series of events that seem to be a page from the book of life of that period. Every atmospheric detail of that picturesque period is faithfully depicted by Director John McDermott and this is more than can be said of numerous pictures that have been produced in the last few years.

A cast that should draw crowds in itself was selected for "The Spider and the Rose" and every part no matter how small is entrusted to a player of renown. Haston Glass and Alice Lake are the principals in a swiftly moving love story and are ably supported by such well known artists as Noah Berry, Frank Campeau, Edwin Stevens, Alec B. Francis, Richard Headrick, Joseph J. Dowling, Andrew Arbuckle, Louize Fazenda and Harry Rorthrup.

Life in the land of the Senoritas clashing swords and Castanets is the background for "The Spider and the Rose." Alice Lake, the picture of grace and beauty is the "Rose" of the story and Robert McKim, one of the best known "villains" on the screen is the typical "Spider." McKim had steadily forged to the front in the last few years and should be the most hated man on the screen after the fans have seen his work in this, his latest picture.

TAKE SCENES AT CIRCUS FOR "BOY OF MINE" PICTURE.

A genuine circus, one of the biggest and most famous, was used as a background for some of the scenes of "Boy of Mine," which J. K. McDonald produced for First National, and which is being shown at the Royal Theatre Thursday.

The scenes were "shot" during the visit to Los Angeles of "the grestest show on earth."

Ben Alexander, the First National boy star, who was "Penrod" in "Penrod and Sam," was the hero of them all.

"Boy of Mine," which, like "Penrod and Sam," is a picturization of a Booth Tarkington story, centers around the life of a typical American boy, a part played by Ben. Humorous incidents in the picture have to do with his visit to the circus.

That the circus episodes would reflect the true atmosphere of a circus, J. K. McDonald sought permission to "shoot" his scenes during a Saturday afternoon matinee. The privilege was granted and the unit was moved bag and baggage to the circuit lot.

In all, fifteen different scenes were taken in and about the "greatest show."

"Boy of Mine" was directed by William Beaudine. Its all-star cast includes Henry B. Walthall, Ben Alexander, Irene Rich, Rockliffe Fellowes, Dot Farley and Lawrence Licalli.

AT THE CAPITOL

An old time melodrama in a distinctly modern setting, is the feature attraction at the Capitol Theatre for the first half of this week. "Nellie, the Beautiful Cloak Model," may sound like a "penny dreadful" fantasy, but the title does not do justice to the picture. It is one of those up-to-date, rapid-fire productions where thrill follows thrills in constant sequence. It opens with a bang, without preliminary announcements of any sort, showing a quarrel between Robert Horton and Dick Lipton, in which the former, insane with jealousy of his wife and Lipton, threatens to kill the latter as well as his own little daughter, who he believes is Lipton's child. Lipton, a poor bookkeeper, takes the child away, and thta is how the beautiful Nellie begins her career.

As a model in a fashionable modiste shop, she has some peculiar adventures. The philandering proprietor, harassed on the one side by his stock broker and unfortunate speculations, on the other by his jealous inamorata, pursues Nellie, the "orchid" of the fashion shop, with persistent vigor. A spectacular fashion show, with some gorgeous apparel, ends in a fire scene that is realistic and thrilling. Nellie escapes from the blazing building, clad in filmy garments.

Later, when the villain, played in fine style by Lew Cody, discovers Nellie's true birth, and finds that she stands in the way of his heritage, he resorts to desperate measures. That is where the most tense scene of all comes in, when Nellie lies on the track of the elevated railway, while the mad, captainless car, its driver dead at the controller, pursues its frenzied way along the overhead tracks.

For frenzied interest, a great deal of pleasurable thrilly stuff, and excellent characterizations, the feature picture is outstanding. The cast is a splendid one, and includes the lovely Claire Windsor as Nellie, while Mae Busch is perfect in the role of her chum, Polly Joy. Hobart Bosworth. Edmund Lowe and Raymond Griffith, with Lilyan Tashman as the jealous flame of Walter Peck, the villain, make a very satisfying group. The production is one of these modern affairs where sub-titles are few and far between, where the rather choppy effect is sustained by rapid, non-sequence changes, and the ending is unusual, showing the "play within a play" effect that the producers of "Nellie" have chosen for a final wind-up.

There is a double comedy bill, along with the usual good short reels. The cross-eyed Ben Turpin has one of his ridiculous mix-ups in "Ten Dollars or Ten Days," and a Cameo comedy, "It's a Joy," makes a second laughable effort in the comic line.

AT THE REGENT

"THE CIRCUS COWBOY" IS FULL OF THRILLS.

Charles Jones in "The Circus Cowboy," his latest William Fox production, which opened a 3-day run at the Regent Theatre last night, is Jones at his best. It is a rip-roaring action picture which gives this popular star plenty of opportunity to act as well.

Marian Nixon, who has been his leading lady in several of his recent productions, furnishes the romance and in the colorful setting of the west and the "big top" there is enacted a drama of intrigue, love and men that will hold your interest throughout.

The story is that of a cowboy who, accused falsely of shooting a man, outwits and outrides a posse and joins a circus. Miss Nixon plays a tightrope walker who eventually captivates Jones, but before she does it, she supplies the motive for some extraordinary action. One of the big thrills of the picture comes when an animal trainer, spurned by the girl, loosens the guy rope of the tight wire while she is performing. She falls, but instead of being dashed to death, she is caught in the arms of the big cowboy. What else could they be but happy after that?

Others in the cast are Jack McDonald, Ray Hallor, Marguerite Clayton and George Romain.

TO-DAY'S QUOTATIONS AND OPINION AND REVIEWS OF THE MARKETS.

INDIAN MINES.

The Indian Mine is being sampled by a prominent engineer, and good reports are expected. In the meantime diamond drilling is going on and the power plant is being overhauled, and operations on the bottom level will be resumed in about three weeks time. The head expenses have been cut down 75 per cent and first class management installed. The government is finishing the Indian road and the treasury is stronger than most people believe

The mining market was inclined to be a little weaker this morning but no great losses were seen. ome was selling at 18.05 whil: Keeley was up to 235. Kenora was at 13½.

The Toronto and Montreal markets were quiet with prices unchanged from last night. Bell Telephone was strong at 132. Montreal Power was down to 169½. Toronto Rails were 93 and Steel of Canada at 71.

The New York market was under pressure at times but all bear attacks seemed to show good resistance. The steel stocks acted well, due no doubt to the firmness in the pig iron markets which has been very active during the past few days.

MOVIES.

In making movies, 25 cents out of each $1 goes to actors, says a writer in the Wall Street Journal. He finds, by analyzing movie makers' books, that 10 cents is spent for scenarios and stories for every 25 cents paid to actors.

Either the actors' salaries are magnified tremendously by the press agents, or writing for the pictures is more profitable than is generally known in the writing business.

Most magazines of big circulation are becoming little more than production factories for the screen.

KILL THE GROUND HOGS.
The farmers throughout Peterborough county are complaining that ground hogs are very numerous this year.

Farmers should have no trouble in destroying these animals if they will call at Lynch's Drug Store, 168 Hunter street, and procure a bottle of "Ground Hog Exterminator," which is sure death to ground hogs. Full directions how to use it are on each bottle.

This is the time of year that these animals are easily killed, and farmers should take this opportunity to get it as soon as possible.

Sold at Lynch's Drug Store, 168 Hunter street, Peterborough.

LUNCH FOR THE MAN.
It is always a problem to make up a tasty and nourishing lunch. A reader sends us this letter on the subject:

"My husband, as a rule, hates sandwiches, but this one never fails to call forth words of commendation—one hard-boiled egg, one-half the amount of salt meat (ham, corned beef, dried beef, or cooked bacon). Grind the eggs and the meat. Season to taste with salt, pepper, mustard and a few drops of vinegar. Moisten to spread with Borden's St. Charles Milk. Serve on a crisp lettuce leaf (with a little onion, chives, or celery chopped in with it, if you like). Allow one egg for each three sandwiches."

RECOVERING.
When the World War ended, there was a lot of talk about it being centuries before the world would recover. Looks now as if most of the material damage will be repaired in one generation.

Recovery is taking place amazingly fast. The income of all the people of nations that fought in the war was about 93 billion dollars in 1913. Their income now is over 82 billions a year, measured in the same coin—pre-war gold dollars. And income is a mirror of production—human toil.

G. K. FRASER IS AGAIN ELECTED TO PRESIDENCY

Trent Waterway Development Association Held Annual Meeting in Peterboro.

EXCELLENT REPORTS

In Four Years the Association Has Achieved Great Things.

The fourth annual meeting of the Trent Waterways Development Association took place yesterday afternoon in the board room of the Chamber of Commerce, with about twenty of the members present.

Gordon K. Fraser, of Burleigh Falls, presided.

The meeting was marked by a degree of enthusiasm and optimism, with many encouraging reports of the good work obtained through the propaganda of the Association during its brief existence, and expressions of desire for co-operation and support in the furtherance of its aims for the future.

The business session was preceded by a luncheon at the Empress Hotel, presided over by J. Wells Fraser, president of the Chamber of Commerce, which entertained the members at a pleasant function, during which short addresses of welcome were given by Mr. Fraser, on behalf of the Chamber, and by Mayor Turner, on behalf of the city.

G. K. Fraser, president of the Association, responded and Senator W. H. Bennett of Midland and W. H. Bradburn M.L.A. also spoke briefly.

The election of officers for the ensuing year resulted in the re-election of the executive, without a dissenting voice, and with each name in turn greeted with applause. Mr. Fraser's attempt to hand on the presidency to George J. Overend of Orillia was greeted with a prompt refusal on the part of Mr. Overend, and the remark "There is only one secretary for this association," greeted the announcement of the name of Mr. Leon Frazer, who, through illness, was unavoidably absent from the meeting.

The list of officers and of directors for 1924 is as follows:

Hon. president, Senator W. H. Bennett of Midland; president, G. K. Fraser of Burleigh Falls; 1st vice-president, F. D. Kerr, K.C., of Peterborough ;2nd vice-president, J. C. Miller of Orillia; secretary-treasurer, Leon Frazer, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, Peterborough; directors, J. Wells Fraser, president of the Peterborough Chamber of Commerce, Mayor A. J. Meyers of Campbellford, Reeve W. M. Fowlds of Hastings, W. J. Charlton of Lakefield, W. C. Moore of Bobcaygeon, Reeve E. Tiers of Fenelon Falls, Mr. McMillan of Beaverton, George J. Overend of Orillia, J. B. Hanley of Midland, H. L. Warnock of Penetanguishene and Frank Staunton of Port Staunton on Sparrow Lake. The Mayor of Trenton, who happens at the present time to be Mayor Fraser, was also elected a director, while the Council of the City of Peterborough, the Board of Trade of Lindsay, and the Kiwanis Club of Barrie will be asked to name their own

BOOTLEGGERS TAKE NEEDLESS TROUBLE

Judgment in Manitoba Says There is No Need to Hide Operations.

WINNIPEG, Man., June 18. — (Canadian Press). — No offence is committed when liquor is legally purchased through the Manitoba Liquor Commission for export purposes to the United States, even though at the time of seizure it is found in a place contrary to the provisions of the Manitoba Temperance Act.

This was the ruling of Judge Cory in County Court on Monday, when a conviction obtained against P. J. Chapman, of St. Paul, Minn., last March, was quashed, a $200 fine returned to him, and an order given for the return of $2,000 worth of liquor which had been confiscated.

In effect the ruling means that there is no need for an underground system to obtain booze by rum-runners taking "booze" into the United States. It can be purchased openly, and provided it is bona fide transaction and the purchaser can show it was bought for export purposes, he cannot be touched under the Manitoba Temperance Act.

COMMONS OPENS THE DISCUSSION ON PREFERENCE

British Parliament Reaches Long Expected Debate With Leaders Present.

INTERESTS OF EMPIRE

Speech Referred to 'the Lost Dominion of United States."

LONDON, June 18 (Canadian Press Cable).—The long anticipated debate on the imperial preference resolutions adopted by the last economic conference in London, opened last night in the House of Commons, with the leaders of every party, except the deputy Liberal leader (Lloyd George), listening to the opening speeches. The preference resolutions came before the House in consequence of the undertaking given by the Premier that they would be submitted to the free vote of the members.

The debate, which will continue today, was sustained through the greater part of the evening at a high level, and was free from party bickering and irrelevent interruptions. J. H. Thomas, secretary for the Colonies, in remarking on this feature, was heartily cheered when he expressed the belief that this atmosphere would characterise the proceedings.

Sir Philip Lloyd-Græme, former president of the board of trade, opened the debate, devoting his attention to the first conference resolution concerning the free importation of dried fruits, his first point being that this kind of preference would encourage small holdings in the Dominions for ex-service men. He then recalled the remarks of Premier Smuts, of South Africa, at the opening of the imperial conference to fortify his own arguments. Preference, not subsidies, was the right policy, he said, adding that subsidies had to be raised entirely by the British taxpayer. He maintained that they afforded less security to the Dominion exporter, and would also have to be given to the home producer. Sir Philip claimed that the Canadian Government had increased the British preference as a reciprocal act to Great Britain raising the cattle embargo. There was some derision when, in his peroration, he spoke of "the lost Dominion of the United States," averring that the Dominion was lost because Great Britain failed to give consideration to the best interests of the Empire.

Canada's Policy.

J. H. Thomas, Secretary for the Colonies, who followed, immediately fastened on what had been said about the cattle embargo. He said: "If it means anything at all in the present connection, it means that we who are free traders, brought tremendous pressure on the protectionists, and did something to cheapen food here." As for the "lost Dominion of the United States," it was the first time he had ever heard it connected with preferences. Any disappointment now felt by the Dominions, he said, was entirely due to the deliberate actions of the late Government. The Dominion ministers were led to believe that the preference proposals represented the mind of the whole country. The verdict of the country was taken, he continued,

SMUTS DEFEATED IN SOUTH AFRICA

Premier Lost in Pretoria West—Gains for Nationalist-Labor Opposition.

CAPE TOWN, South Africa, June 18. — (Canadian Press cable, via Reuter's).—Early returns in the general election in the South African Union yesterday showed gains for the Nationalist-Labor opposition. In Pretoria Central Edward Booth, a member of the Smuts Cabinet, and chairman of committees in the last House of Assembly, was defeated by 53 votes by the Nationalist candidate, Labor scored a victory in Germiston (Johannesburg), where their candidate, Brown, defeated by a narrow majority H. S. McAlister, of the Government party.

Premier Jan Christian Smuts was defeated in Pretoria West.

Hon. J. W. Jagger, who resigned from the Smuts Cabinet a month ago, because he could not endorse the Premier's proposal to expend millions in the erection of railway car shops, was returned as a Government party candidate for Cape Town Central by a majority of 1,379 over his Labor opponent Moore, who is a railwaymen's leader.

Hon. Patrick Duncan, Minister of the Interior, who piloted through the last House a bill imposing new restrictions on natives of India resident in the Union, was re-elected for the Rand constituency of Yeoville over his Labor opponent Jacobson.

The returns indicate a greatly increased vote compared with the 1921 election.

The result of the 1921 election was: Smuts or South African party, 78; Nationalists, 44; Labor, 11, and Indeepndent, 1 — total, 134. By-elections and resignations, however, had reduced the Government's majority to 6 just before the present election was called. The Assembly membership is being increased in the present election to 135.

Incomplete returns to-day showed the composition of the new parliament will be approximately as follows:

RICH BACHELOR BROKE PROMISE

Says the Young Woman Who Sues Him For $1,700 a Month.

MADE LIFE PLEDGE.

WHITE PLAINS, N.Y. June 18. —Jefferson Livingston, a well-known horse man, who is rated at several million dollars, is the defendant in a suit begun here by Miss Muriel Buell of Shore Acres, Mamaroneck, in which she seeks to obtain $1,750 a month from him. She says that he made a written agreeemnt with her in March, 1923, in which he promised to give her this sum monthly if she agreed not to sue for breach of promise to marry. She alleges that the money was paid up to the first of the year, but that the payments then ceased.

Samuel Untermeyer, appearing before Supreme Court Justice Joseph Morschauser in behalf of Mr. Livingston, denied the existence of such a contract, either written or verbal.

Miss Buell, through Counsel Frederick Klein of Manhattan, moved before Morschauser, for an examination of the defendant before trial, and the Justice reserved decision, directing that all papers be filed with him at a late date.

The plaintiff is a pretty auburn haired woman of 28, and she contends that she met Livingston, who is a bachelor 62 years old, through a mutual friend, Matt J. Winn, at the Hotel Belmont in 1922, soon afterwards, she says, Livitngston invited her to racing events on Long Island golf matches, theatres and dinners. On one occasion, she says he took her to Chicago to meet his sisters, Mrs. Louis Pierce, Mrs. Clara Sweet and Miss Minnie Livingston. Seeking to win their approval of her as a sister-in-law. Later he proposed marriage, she asserts.

In March of 1923, Miss Buell told reporters, Livingston discovered that he and Miss Buell had religious differences, and to prevent her suing him for breach of promise he signed an agreement to pay $1,750 a month to her for life. She says the money come to her each month until the first of this year.

"This suit is an attempt at blackmail," Mr. Untermeyer told Justice Morchauser to-day. "Livingston met Miss Buell over the telephone in 1922, and the next day he saw her at the Hotel Belmont. Later she started modestly to spend his money At first she spent $2,000 a month of it, but later the sum grew to $8,000 a month, and that was too rich for his blood. She was learning too fast.'

In addition to having Mr. Untermeyer as counsel, Livingston was represented by Judge Robert S. Johnstone of New York, and several other attorneys.

Livingston lives at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel in New York.

HEADLESS BODY OF LITTLE BOY LAY IN GUTTER

Crowds Pass by Victim of Mystery Street Killing.

NO WITNESSES

Bloodstains on Motor Truck Lead to Arrest of Driver.

JERSEY CITY, June 18.—Lying in the gutter, unnoticed by passers-by, the decapitated body of William Hellwerge, Jr., two and one-half years old, of Jersey City, was found yesterday within a half block of his home.

No one saw the child killed. He was with no playmates at the time and the police are puzzled how it was possible for the body to have remained unnoticed.

The body was discovered by John Brophy and Joseph Brophy, of the Jersey City Street Cleaning Department, who were passing the corner of Cambridge avenue and Hotton street in a department automobile.

Body is Mangled.

Noticing what appeared to be a bundle of old clothes pushed against the curb, Brophy ordered Brody to halt the machine. In turning over the bundle, the horribly mangled body of the child was revealed. The head was practically severed and nearly every bone was broken.

Within a few minutes hundreds of neighbors crowded the scene and identification of the child was quickly established.

When the body was carried to the mother, Mrs. Hellwerge fainted. Later she told the police she had left the child playing in the front yard.

Police Captain William Hogue threw a cordon of officers about the district with orders to investigate every automobile and truck.

Blood Stained Auto.

Half an hour later detectives found a delivery truck of the Arbuckle Sugar Refining Company of Brooklyn, which gave indication that it was the vehicle which may have ground the life out of the Hellwerge child.

Across the front right wheel, splashed on fender and tool box were found blood spots.

Chester Brandow, driver, and Alexander Gavaglio, helper, were arrested.

The men denied knowledge of having struck the child, but could not account for the blood stains.

Brandow was held on a charge of manslaughter, while the helper was held as a material witness.

St. Lawrence Must Be Deepened, Says Hoover

MONTREAL, June 18.—(Canadian Press).—"The deepening of the St. Lawrence River to allow ocean-going boats to enter the Great Lakes basin is inevitable," said Herbert Hoover, who arrived here yesterday afternoon. He stated that the fast growing pressure of population in the Middle West of both Canada and the United States pointed to only one thing and that was the completion of the deep waterways scheme. No matter, said Mr. Hoover, how the issue is fought by eastern capital; no matter how eastern interest sequirm and fight, the end will be the same.

Mr. Hoover left for New York last night.

MEN MISSING IN FIRE

Elevator at Milwaukee Explodes and Rocks Buildings Around.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., June 18.—(Canadian Press).—Fire late yesterday was sweeping elevator E., on the Menominee slip of the Milwaukee Road yards and several employes of the plant were unaccounted for. Two explosions rocked buildings for several blocks.

The elevator, owned by the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Road was enveloped in flames. A train crew succeeded in drawing away a trainload of gasoline, side-tracked adjoining the flaming structure. More than 650,000 bushels of rye was stored in the building.

GIRLS' FORMS TO STAY FREE FROM CORSETS

Paris Will Attempt in Fall to Put Girls Back Into Harsh Clamps.

BETTER HEALTH

French Fashions Feared by American League That Fights Them.

NEW YORK, June 18. — The Women's Universal Alliance of America, led by Mrs. C. C. Calhoun, is preparing a national movement to combat the attempt of Parisian modistes to put women back into corsets.

William Mordwin, fashion originator and creator of the modern silhouette, who brought the question to the attention of the Alliance, will make a tour of the country for the preservation of the figure unconfined.

Twice Defeated.

He asserted that the women on this continent had defeated a similar movement from Paris two years, and he added:

"But in the fall, an invasion even more determined will be made and such artists as Callot, Doucet, Paquin and Poiret will try to inflict the odious, ugly and dangerous wasp waist and tightly-laced corsets on American women.

"They have no longer Petrograd and Vienna to buy their Parisian gowns. America is their main outlet. Yet they are planning to insult American intelligence and womanhood, to menace the health and growth of this country by forcing its women into clothing fashioned, literally, from the instrruments of torture of the Spanish inquisition centuries ago."

Health Much Improved.

Mr. Mordwin said that the abandonment of corsets by women had resulted in marvellous improvement in the health, strength and beauty, explaining:

"The waist of the average girl of to-day measures twenty-six inches in circumference. In the days of the hideous corset, the measurement was eighteen inches. This increased circumference, this removal of restriction, has permitted the internal organs to function properly.

"The increased waist measure explains also why the girl of to-day is far healthier than her sister of former years."

HERRIOT'S TALK WAKES GERMANS

Nationalists Are Enraged by His "Interference in German Affairs."

COUNTRY IN FERMENT

BERLIN, June 18. — Germany has been thrown into a ferment by M. Herriot's appointment of General Nollet as War iMnister and his warning that he will adopt measures against Germany severer than any yet adopted unless the Germans cease their preparations for a war of revenge against France.

The German Nationalists are raging against the French Premier; Foreign Minister Stresemann is quoted as calling the French Premier's action an unprecedented interference in German internal affairs, and the German Liberals are busily pouring oil on the troubled waters by seeking to prove that M. Herriot's bark will prove worse than his bite.

Dr. Stresemann is quoted as saying that M. Herriot's avowed intention of co-operation only with the democratic German elements is "an official declaration of a foreign Premier which it is impossible for the German Government quietly to overlook if it makes the slightest pretense to independence. M. Herriot's actions will undoubtedly be the main point of discussion at the Cabinet session here.

See Herriot as Second Poincare.

As for the German Nationalists, they profess to see M. Herriot's threats and his appointment of General Nollet, who headed the commission to disarm Germany, complete corroboration of their belief that M. Herriot is merely a second Poincare. And they have seized the opportunity for coming out more strongly than ever in opposition to Germany's acceptance of the Dawes report.

At a meeting of the Prussian State organisation of the Nationalist Party a resolution was passed demanding that the present German Government be superseded by another before it signs acceptance of the report, which according to the Nationalists, would ruin Germany economically and politically for ever.

The above-mentioned Nationalist organisation, which practically is spokesman for the entire extreme wing of the German Nationalist Party, calls upon the Nationalist Reichstag delegation to protest immediately and most energetically against the Government's continuing to draft the special laws necessary to carry out the Dawes report.

POSTAL STRIKE TO START FIVE O'CLOCK TODAY

Order Wired to all the Branches Including Peterboro for General Tie-up.

TORONTO, June 18.—(Canadian Press).— Instructions setting five o'clock this afternoon as hour for Dominion wide postal strike were wired to branches of Postal Employees Federation by B. S. Bartlett, past president, on strength of message received last night from Redditt, Dominion President from train while enroute to Ottawa. Strike order is subject to countermand only if negotiations between postal representatives and government are satisfactory.

A sub-committee of the cabinet has been formed to take up threatened postal strike. Results of this morning's conference between members of government and postal representatives were submitted to meeting of the Cabinet Council, which sat subsequent to conference.

A committee representing Postal workers arrived in capital this morning and went into conference with Mr. Murdock and Hon. Charles Stewart, Acting Postmaster General at 11 o'clock.

After two hours in private conference, officials of Postal Federation of Canada and members of Dominion Government stated shortly before one o'clck this afternoon that they had as yet no announcement to make on threatened postal strike.

OTTAWA, Ont., June 18 (By Canadian Press).—Speeches of Cabinet Ministers in the House of Commons yesterday indicate that the Dominion Government has no intention of meeting the 48 hour strike ultimatum of the Canadian postal workers. Premier King was emphatic that the Government did not intend to make recommendations to Parliament at the present time with respect to postal workers but might have some recommendations to make when the Civil Service Commission had completed its salary revision of the entire Civil Service. Acting Postmaster-General Stewart, while declaring his willingness to negotiate with the men, declared that Parliament could not surrender its right to run the country. He protested "most solemnly" against such "drastic action" as would tie up the business of the country. What would be the result of a strike? To judge by the temper of some speakers this afternoon, Mr. Stewart proceeded, it meant that parliament must succumb to the postal workers in order to avoid trouble. "Surely," Mr. Stewart exclaimed, "parliament is going to reserve to itself the right to run the country. Surely we cannot surrender that right no matter what we think about it and I for one am prepared to go the limit. I am prepared to discuss with these men tonight, tomorrow or at any time, their legitimate grievances and to sit down with them and go into the matter."

Hon. G. P. Graham, Minister of Railways, went further. If, he said, postal employees were not prepared to await the report of the civil service commission for all the services, but insisted on putting the business of the country into a great turmoil, "then they will have to

DEAD MAN'S HAND FIRED THE SHOT

Limp Arm of Blast Victim Struck Firing Control Switch, Says Survivor.

LOS ANGELES, June 18. — The limp hand of a dead man, one of the forty-eight bluejackets killed in the U. S. Mississippi explosion, fired the second gun after the dreadnought had sped to Los Angeles harbor with its dead and dying, injuring sailors and endangering the lives of passengers on the steamship Yale, it was shown conclusively in testimony given yesterday before the Naval Board of Inquiry probing the blast.

The testimony came in direct contradiction to testimony of navy officers that the electric current controlling the firing of the big guns was "dead" when the Yale was narrowly missed by a mysterious shot.

George Clarence Ogletree, seaman, first class, member of the squad of rescuers which carried the dead gunners from turret No. 2, testified the hand of a corpse he had in his arms struck the firing control switch, which shot the second gun, seriously wounding several sailors standing on the bridge.

JUNE SESSION COUNCIL OPEN IN PETERBORO

Warden M. P. Coughlin Sounds a Note of Optimism in His Address.

FAVORABLE YEAR

Lakefield Bridge Debentures Sold at Premium of 1.92 Per Cent.

The annual June session of the Peterborough County Council opened yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

The Council first meet in special session to deal with the third reading of a by-law providing for the borrowing by debenture issue of $20,000.00 for the purpose of building the Lakefield bridge.

This by-law received its first and second readings at the January session. The Council went into committee of the whole with Duncan Brown in the chair. Mr. Brown read the by-law and it was moved by Messrs. Anderson and Curtis that the County Clerk be authorized to register the by-law and advertise the same.

The Council then adjourned to go into regular session.

Warden Martin P. Coughlin, on resuming the chair, presented the annual address. The Warden was optimistic in his remarks and although the season has been backward the county looks forward to a favorable year. The Warden reported that the chairmen of the various committees have everything well in hand and that he was very favorably impressed with the satisfactory report received from the Department of Highways.

Warden's Address.

Gentlemen,—It gives me pleasure to again meet you all, and I will be brief in addressing you. It, I believe, is cusomary to read an address at this annual June session, and with the utmost respect for the Council and the County as a Municipality I will ask you to indulge me, and wherein I may fail to be equal to the occasion that you will take the will for the deed.

Although the season is backward we must pin our faith to the all providing hand that controls everything.

The organization of this Council is so perfect that the duties of Warden is very easy indeed.

Your committee with the various chairmen have everything so well in hand. So much so, that as the session advances, things materialize almost automatically. The chairman of the Finance committee when appealing to you as to the various rates required, no doubt will have no trouble in getting approval of his work.

With regard to the different bridges I will leave them to the chairman and the respective Reeves where such are situated.

It is gratifying to note that $20,000.00 debentures will be all that will be required to complete the

SAYS HEROINE IS COMMON LAW WIFE

Mrs. Bowerman is Defendant in Court Action—Woman Lumber Operator.

PORT ARTHUR, Ont., June 18.—(Canadian Press).—Mrs. Margaret Bowerman, who during the past winter has been made the heroine of a number of magazine articles as a woman lumber operator, appeared in Supreme Court yesterday as a defendant in an action brought by Courtney Richards, who seeks division of a farm on which he claims to have made all payments.

Richards stated the basis of the agreement with Mrs. Bowerman, who has been separated from her husband, was that she was to live with him as a common law wife.

CAMPBELFORD VETERAN DIED

Charles Cowain Passed Away Yesterday of Injuries Received in War.

MILITARY FUNERAL

CAMPBELLFORD, June 18. — Charles Cowain died Tuesday morning at his home on Mill Street, after a long illness, which the attending physicians say was due to injuries received while in service in the Great War. He had been forced to give up work last Christmas, and had been confined to his bed for ten weeks before his death.

The deceased was born at Trent Bridge 28 years ago, and was a son of the late Joseph and Mrs. Cowain, the latter still living. When the war broke out in 1914 he enlisted in Campbellford, and was a member of the first contingent, going overseas with Lieut. William Doxsee, who later was killed at the front. Pte. Cowain was wounded twice, and was one of the first sufferers from German gas.

When the war ended he was one of the many men who, wearied with long service, were anxious to get back into private life, and to achieve this, he represented himself as being in perfect health. One of the first to volunteer, he was one of the very last to return.

His Health Failed.

When Pte. Cowain's health failed his friends attempted to secure a pension for him, the matter being taken up by the Town Council. Councillor McDonald, himself a returned man, acted in the matter, and was assisted by Capt. P. J. Kelly and others who had been overseas. In the meantime the condition of the sick man became so serious that its was impossible to remove him to a military hospital.

Lost Brother in the War.

The late Private Cowain was a brother of Richard Oliver Cowain, who went overseas with the 93rd Regiment in the company commanded by Captain—now Major—J. M. Bygott, of Campbellford, and who lost his life in the war, the only resident from the vicinity of Trent Bridge to make the sacrifice. A handsome shaft was erected in his memory last summer, A. H. McKeel of Campbellford being the promoter of the movement. Mr. McKeel says that a special stone will be put up on the same site as a memorial to the brother Charles, or that the name of the latter will be placed under that of his brother on the memorial shaft now standing.

The father of the deceased died at Trent Bridge 27 years ago. The surviving relatives are the aged mother, whose chief support he was, a brother Joseph, who resides in Toronto, and three sisters: Mrs. Allan Coverey, of Seymour; Mrs. Terry Stirling, of New York, and Miss Susan, at home.

Before illness compelled him to give up work, the deceased was helper at Lock 13, on the Trent Canal. During his sickness he received many substantial tokens of appreciation from the Canal staff, all of whom recognized him as a faithful worker.

The late Private Cowain will be given a military funeral as a recognition of his long and devoted military service. Rev. Wesley Elliott, of the Methodist Church, will deliver an address at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon, after which the remains will be taken to the Centre Church Cemetery at Trent Bridge and there laid to rest beside those of the father and a sister who died some years ago.

The efforts to secure a pension for the bereaved mother will not be abandoned now that her chief support has been taken away.

Being Transferred.

W. A. Bertrand, of the Standard Bank staff, and whose parents reside at Meyersburg, has been transferred to the branch at Wellington. The young man, who is a graduate of the Campbellford High School, has a host of friends here who, while regretting his departure, will unite in congratulating him on his deserved promotion.

Miss S. Nevins, George Street, is spending a few days in Belleville with friends.

Miss Mae Huycke of Hastings is spending the week at the home of her cousin, Mrs. C. W. Turner, Queen Street.

Dr. Percy Morton, of Toronto, is spending a few days in his old home town with friends and relatives.

Mrs. Louis Dainard, of Percy, spent the week-end at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Dainard in Hastings. She went up to see the new baby girl that has arrived there.

Mr. Arthur Skitch of Toronto, nephew of Mr. E. Skitch, spent Monday in Campbellford.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Hore, Grand Road, spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Fred Warner at Hastings.

Mrs. Lawrence Gibson spent Monday in Belleville.

Mrs. Robert Moore, Grand Road, left on Monday morning for Guelph. She goes as a delegate from Loch Lomond Lodge, No. 248, to the Rebekah assembly held this week in that city.

TWO BELIEVED DROWNED

Bodies of Young Man and Young Woman Have Not Been Recovered.

PORT ARTHUR, Ont.—Search for the bodies of Miss Marion Watty and R. F. Richards, who are supposed to have been drowned in Wolf Lake, Dorion township, on Sunday, has so far been fruitless, and there now seems to be no doubt whatever that drowning was the fate of the missing couple whose upturned canoe was found on Sunday night.

POSTAL STRIKE

take the responsibility. It might be," he added, "that the postal workers would put themselves in a position where 'parliament can only do one thing.'"

T. L. Church, Conservative of North Toronto, initiated the discussion on a motion to adjourn. It held the house all afternoon and was continued into the evening.

Right Hon. Arthur Meighen, opposition leader, argued that the facility with which the government had met the demands of highly-paid officials for more pay had considerable to do with creating dissatisfaction among lower paid employees. He charged that the government, by its vaccillating policy, was inviting a strike and that Premier King had never risen to discuss the subject without casting aspersions on the civil service commission.

Colciliation Urged.

Mr. Church said that business men of Toronto were very much alarmed at the prospect of what might happen. In many cases the scale of wages recommended by the commission was lower than that which the employee was receiving. The last thing that a large number of these men wished to do was to go on strike. He poiated out that there had been no opportunity to discuss the matter on the post office estimates, so he was forced to move for the adjournment of the house. He pressed the government to do something to prevent a strike and suggested the appointment of a conciliation board or a select committee of the house which would be instructed to report within ten days.

The motion was seconded by W. F. Maclean (Conservative, South York), and the prime minister then spoke.

Premier King said that the resolution proposed was quite inaccurate in saying that the government had received an application for an amendment to the revised schedule of wages or a warning of a strike within 48 hours. It should be made perfectly clear that the government had received no official communication from the officers of the postal workers since the schedule was sent to them. On the other hand both the minister of labor and the postmaster-general had intimated to them that they would be glad to receive them in conference and had expressed a hope that a strike would not be called without more careful consideration.

W. A. Boys (Conservative, South Simcoe), made a plea for rural mail carriers. These employees worked every day in the year with the exception of Sundays and New Year's Day, and they received $900. They rendered a great service to the farming community. When demands of postal workers in cities were being considered, sure these employees should also be given consideration.

Speaker Lemieux reminded Mr. Boys that the motion before the house applied only to salaried officials. He asked the members to refrain from discussing matters outside those indicated in the motion.

Mr. Lancelot was not opposed to the payment of fair salaries but he asked the house how many people on the farms were earning as much as the lowest provided for in the civil service commission schedule. He thought that if postal workers in Montreal gave up their positions it would not be difficult to get a thousand people to replace them.

Too Much For Movies.

Mr. Lanctot expressed the view that the people of the cities spent too much money going to movies, that they stayed up too late and smoked too many cigarettes. In the country the people spent their money on buying bread and meat, and some times a little molasses, and consequently it did not cost them as much to live.

While of the opinion that every man engaged in honest employment should be paid enough to give his family a fair living, and put by something for a rainy day, John Pritchard (Progressive, North Wellington), said he did not like to hear employees of the government telling parliament what it should do.

Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen said that he favored fair salaries for government officials but that question was not at issue. However, the facility with which the government had met the demands of highly paid officials for more pay had had very considerable to do with creating dissatisfaction among the lower paid employees. He had always supported the principle of having the general scale of wages investigated by an impartial tribunal. That principle had been established seven or eight years ago. The government nevertheless had the power of revising the findings of that tribunal. If the government desired the scale raised or lowered and would take the responsibility for it, the commission would follow the advice of the government. The late government had accepted the advice of the commission and had presented a united front to the service throughout the country.

Inviting a Strike.

He did not know whether there would be a strike but the government by its vacillating policy was inviting a strike. Every effort was being made to incite or excite the service against the commission. The premier had never risen to discuss this subject without casting an aspersion upon the commission. In such circumstances could it be expected that there would be content in the service. The service had been given to understand that if they made enough trouble the commission would be swept away and their liberty would be complete.

Hon. George P. Graham said that in Mr. Meighen's attitude to the question the government was damned if it did and damned if it didn't. The leader of the opposition condemned the government for upholding the civil service commission.

Mr. Meighen said he would defy any member to say that he had made such an inference. Mr. Graham said that many members might easily have got such an inference from Mr. Meighen's speech. However, the government was behind the commission and was prepared to stand by what it had done in this matter of the postal strike.

It believed that the best friends of the postal workers were those who counselled them not to strike. If the postal men, however, insisted on putting the business of the Dominion in a turmoil, they must be prepared to stand the responsibility. "Even the postal workers," said Mr. Graham, "might place themselves in a position where parliament can only do one thing—and that thing might be the one thing the postal workers do not desire."

Strike Breakers Ready

REGINA, Sask., June 18.—(Canadian Press).—In anticipation of a postal employees strike, scores of Regina men are applying for civil service application forms and filling them in, in hopes of securing a post vacated by a striker.

Mr. Graham pointed out that the government could not amend the civil service commission's wage schedule. It could approve or reject, reject it would have been to delay the settlement further. Another report along the same lines would have been brought down, probably. What the government did was to submit the question to another board, and that board, with few minor changes, approved the commission's rulings. Then it had brought the board of audit and the civil service commission together in the council chamber and had the whole matter threshed out. The civil service commission was the proper authority appointed by statute to deal with such a matter and the government must stand by it.

Incite To Strike.

"Some things have been said here today which will not mollify the people inclined to strike," said Mr. Graham. They will rather incite them to strike.

He regretted that so much had been said in parliament which tended to make the situation more difficult. He did not know what more the government could do. Perhaps if the whole wage report of the civil service commission were brought before any drastic action was taken, parliament in its wisdom might find some solution nearer to the wishes of the postal workers. But a strike at this time would not assist parliament in finding solution.

He remarked in passing on the publicity given the wage schedules of the civil servants. As a head of a big department he found this did not always work out for the best. When the average civil servant asked for higher wages, it was on the ground that so and so who worked beside them got more.

News Of Bailieboro And The District

BAILIEBORO, June 18.—The young ladies of the village and immediate district have organized a soft ball team, and are looking forward to having a good time this summer playing the other teams of the neighbouring towns and villages.

On the Mail Route.

Mr. Wm. Parsons who draws the mail on rural route number one has recently purchased a fine new grey mare from Henry Barnard, and has put his own driver out to pasture for the summer.

His former driver has travelled this route for several years without having had any other to change of for even a few days, and certainly deserves the rest.

Mis Kathleen Dawson who has recently graduated for a nurse in Nichols Hospital, Peterboro, is spending a few holidays at her home here.

Dr. E. Summeville of Toronto was a guest of friends in Bailieboro

ALL GIRLS "NICE."

LONDON, June 18—Edward Wander was given a small fine recently for telling a girl customer in his shop that she was nice. Wander protested that he was not flirting, but called all girls "nice" as a general business policy.

Suggests a Way Out

OTTAWA, June 18.—(Canadian Press).— Roch Lanctot, (Liberal, La Prairie) suggested in the house yesterday afternoon that members of the senate and the house should cut their sessional indemnities by $1,500 each and that the amount should go to the postal workers.

COMMONS OPENS

but the Laborites did not precipitate that fight.

Passing on to ask what the Dominions themselves thought of this question, the Colonial Secretary quoted Hon. E. Lapointe at Ottawa, to the effect that Canada was giving Great Britain a preference "of her own free will—(This sentence drew appreciative cheers from the Conservative benches)—but mainly because it suited Canada to do so," continued Thomas, still quoting Lapointe. The finish of the sentence drew delighted cheers and laughter from the Ministerial side. In other words, continued Mr. Thomas, this Canadian minister says: "Oh, no, we shall not be offended or upset; we shall not look upon it as an insult or slight. We recognized that Britain has the right to do what she thinks best."

Mr. Thomas proceeded to quote, 'Hon. G. P. Graham, in the same debate in the Canadian Parliament, that 'Canadians believed, and it had turned out to be true, that giving a preference to the Mother Country would mainly benefit their own country. (Loud Labor and Liberal Cheers.) Does it not fairly indicate, asked Thomas, that it is not only unwise, but untrue to suggest that Canada looks upon the proposal to kill the new preference scheme as an insult to herself?

Mr. Thomas then quoted former Premier Hughes of Australia, who had said that "Australia could not give a preference unless she were satisfied that it would be a good thing for herself."

"The only object," he continued "in thus quoting is not to set one party against another, but to show that all Dominions are compelled to do, as we are doing, what is best for their own people."

Not a Party Matter.

Mr. Thomas, after deprecating the making of Empire development a Party matter, preceeded to speak of the necessity of improving the Imperial conference so that they would be really representative of all shades of opinion in the countries concerned. On this question he had expressed himself earnestly some little while back, and, if possible, he was even more earnest to-night. Was it fair, he asked, to bring Dominion statesmen here for weeks and months, and then, when they have returned to their own countries, to find that their proposals, for some reason or other, have been rejected by the people here.? "Would it not help," he asked, "towards the real unity of the Empire if we took into such councils, not merely the premiers and ministers for the time being, but also the Opposition leaders.?"

The first difficulty he knew, would be to get the responsible leaders of the Opposition to assume such a responsibility, for they preferred to leave it to the Government in power.

Touching incidently, but emphatically, on the Lausanne Treaty debate in the Canadian House of Commons, Mr. Thomas urged: "There is no one who can read that debate without being not only disturbed, but positively alarmed. Some solution to the problem must be found. I have discussed it with responsible people from the Dominions, who are convinced that some change, such as I have indicated, is necessary to make the conference more real and effective than in the past."

Mr. Thomas passed on to mention the objections of Premier King to the proposals for establishing an economic committee of the Empire because the terms of the reference were too wide. It would give the committee a roving commission. Mr. Thomas said the Government was prepared, if the Dominions wished it, but not otherwise, to consider the appointment of a committee in different lines

Sir John Simon, who spoke for the Liberal Free Traders, maintained that the preference system, as practiced in the Dominions, was quite different from the preference Britain is now asked to adopt. "We impose no import taxes except for revenue," he said, "but the Dominions adopt a high tariff wall as the very basis of their fiscal system." The preference given by the Dominions, he said, tended to decrease expenses to their own consumers, whereas the preferences given by Britain tended to increase its own consumers' burden. The food taxes were the most objectionable of all. He rejoiced that the British Chancellor of the Exchequer was doing his best to get rid of them. To talk about preference without food taxes, was dodging the issue. There was no such thing here now as an anti-Dominion policy, but a great inter-locking system of imperial preference would at once raise the question: "What are we going to get in return for what we grant elsewhere."

Look Into Labor.

T. Johnston (Labor) said he understood that Australia could raise about ten per cent. of the currants and dried fruit Britain consumed. The only other competitor was Greece. He was told that conditions under which they worked in Smyrna were not those of 44 or 60 hours a week. They worked all the hours God sent them and a few more. (Laughter.) In some districts they were still war prisoners and were subjected to the lash. It was the business of the labor government to examine the origin of Britain's imports if they are going to be a labor government at all. He disagreed entirely with the proposals of the liberal party who are only concerned, he said, with cheap imports. The socialistic viewpoint was that they ought to preserve the higher standards of civilization from the lower.

Haydon Guest, secretary of the newly formed labor commonwealth group, who has just resigned his private secretaryship to John Wheatley, minister of health, announced his intention of voting for the first four resolutions and he hoped the other labor members would do the same as a demonstration of their desire and intention to make the nationals ain the British commonwealth more united. He believed the preferences should be coupled with so kind of guarantee concerning the conditions of life among the working people. He advocated closer association with the brother commonwealths in the development and expansion of their enormous resources with the deliberate object of raising the standard of life among the people. (Opposition cheers.) They would not be able to solve the question of the migration of races unless the Empire was much more solidly organized.

Captain Wedgwood Benn (Liberal) contended that far from promoting imperial concord the four years of preference had promoted discord.

Laurier Lauded.

Major G. C. Tryon (Unionist), in winding up the first day's debate for the opposition reminded the house that it was a French-Canadian and Liberal orime minister, Sir Wilfrid Laurier, who first actually put preference into operation in modern days. A. W. Haycock (Labor) interrupting, asked "why?"

Major Tryon—"Because he iwished for a united Empire and he put the mother country ahead of other countries."

Mr. Haycock, interrupting agatn, said Sir Wilfrid Laurier got his mandate from the Canadian people on a non-protective tariff. He won his 1906 electiom on a free trade ticket and when he came into power he introduced the preference in order to throw dust into the yes of the people who elected him.

"I think a charge like that," said Major Tryon, "against a great leader of a British people should not pass without comment in this house. I am a Conservative and Laurier was a Liberal, but I believe him to have been as straight and honest as any man. What Laurier did was to reduce dutes in order to give a preference and that is what we are asking this house to do."

Mr. Haycock rose as if to reply but Major Tryon refused to give way unless the former wished to apologize.

PAWNING IS POPULAR.

LONDON, June 18. — Many London society women habitually pawn their jewels and other precious possessions when they are going on a trip. Not wishing to leave their valuable in an empty house, they put them in a pawnshop, where they are assured of good care.

MINE WORK FILMED.

WASHINGTON, June 18.—A series of educational films showing work in the mineral mines of the country, will be distributed through the department of the interior. The Bureau of Mines has prepared nearly 100 educational pictures in the last few years.

WOMEN SEEK VARIETY

WASHINGTON, June 00.—With $75 with which to buy a suit, the average woman will prefer to buy three $25 suits, caring more for varied appearance than the wearing qualities of her garments, according to Mrs. Mary S. Woolman, of Boston, who appeared before the House Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce in opposition to the truth-in-fabric bill.

Results Will Be Exhibited at the School Fairs in Fall

TWEED, June 18.— The chickens hatching to -day in the incubator at the Consolidated school. The eggs are sold to the school children by the representative of the Department of Agriculture, Mr. Atkin of Stirling. The chickens will be cared for by the children and exhibited at the School Fair in the fall.

The School Garden

The school garden is growing splendidly, the cabbages and tomatoes just transplanted from the hot bed, look very sturdy. In former years the garden has suffered sadly from marauders so that little harvest was reaped by the owners of the plot. Every effort will be made this year to save it. A community plot of cabbages and tomatoes has been set out. These will be used in the hot lunch kitchen next fall and winter.

Mr. J. J. Leworthy has sold his home on River street to Mr. H. Sayers who expects to move into it very soon.

Ken and Co., have enlarged their window space. This change gives more light to the store and greatly improves its appearance.

Mrs. Rowe, teacher of Agriculture in the Consolidated School has resigned her position her and has been accepted on the staff of Connaught school in Ottawa.

HUDSON DID NOT ACT

Hon. A. S. Hudson Says His Partner Alone Acted in Home Bank Inquiry.

OTTAWA, June 18. — In the House of Commons yesterday afternoon Hon. A. B. Hudson, Liberal member for South Winnipeg, stated that though a partner of W. J. Symington, who was retained by the government as counsel in the Home Bank inquiry, he was in no way a partner in that transaction. Mr. Symington's retainer was purely a personal one, said Mr. Hudson.

Hon. Ernest Lapointe, Minister of Justice, confirmed Mr. Hudson's statement. Correspondence carried on at the time Mr. Symington was retained had been between the department and Mr. Symington personally; and no communication had passed between the department and Mr. Hudson.

Mr Hudson said that he was making this statement because of a question asked in the house on Monday in regard to his connection with Mr. Symington. The answer to the question might create the impression that he and Mr. Symington were partners in representing the government in the inquiry, he said.

SMUTS DEFEATED

South African Party 25; Labor 18; Nationalists 12; a majority of the old parliament was wiped out with General Smuts.

The fact that the South African party headed by General Smuts apparently will have a greater number of members of the new Dominion Parliament than any other group has caused some satisfaction to adherents of the Smut's policy of a close union with the mother country although the Nationalists headed by General Hertzog undoubtedly will be able to cause considerable trouble. The Nationalist favor an out and out policy of secession from the empire and independence. They are largely the old Dutch Republic which fought against the British Empire in the Boer War. The election generally has been considered a straight out between Smuts and Hertzog, the two outstanding political leaders of the country, with the Labor organization supporting Hertzog.

The Laborites are headed by Colonel W. Cheswell and compromise British, Dutch and Foreign elements as well as some of the native negroes who make up about one half the population of this vast country.

WAGES NOT ALL.

The old argument as to the relation of wages to industrial and commercial prosperity is being carried on with great vigour in the United States just now, and the usual wide difference of opinion between Labour leaders and economists is in evidence.

Labour sees in higher wages a panacea for all the troubles of the race.

Labour leaders argue that big wages mean greater trade and general prosperity.

And yet it is not the money received that matters, but what that money can purchase.

The National City Bank of New York puts it neatly in the statement: "It is not money-wages that count, but what the wage-earner finally gets for his money-wages."

That seems sound logic.

Higher wages mean nothing to the recipient if they are accompanied by a corresponding rise in the prices of the commodities he has to buy.

Certain trades may temporarily benefit, but only at the expense of others.

It is a self-evident fact that no group can experience permanent benefit at the expense of any other group, and that there must be a fair exchange of goods and services through industrial society as the price of prosperity even for the strongest groups.

PARLIAMENT'S RESPONSIBILITY.

The Civil Service Commission has laid down a scale of wages that it considers fair remuneration for the services of the postal employees, having regard to the qualifications of the latter and the privileges they enjoy in regard to holidays, clothing and sick leave.

The scale is not acceptable to the letter carriers and the postal clerks, who are preparing for a strike

The Government declares that it has no power to overrule the findings of the Civil Service Commission, or to pay more wages than authorized by that body.

That is true—but if the Government has no power Parliament undoubtedly has, and there is a feeling abroad that Parliament should either condemn or approve the decision of the commission—rather than be content to pass the whole responsibility on to that organization.

The people have a right to look to their representatives in Parliament for action when trouble of this nature is on the horizon.

If the commission's decision is just the representatives of the people should say so, and see to it that preparations are made to deal with the situation created by the walk-out of the postal employees.

On the other hand, if these representatives believe that the schedule of wages is not satisfactory they have power to make the necessary amendments.

UNPRECEDENTED PROSPERITY.

Canada should be broadcasting messages of optimism these days instead of the gloomy statements so many people seem to be fond of uttering.

The rush across the line has turned into an old boys' trek back to the Land of the Maple.

The boys and girls are coming home.

Hundreds of thousands of American tourists have their eyes upon Canada.

The advance guard is here now, and every day the number is increasing.

That means more business for merchants, more orders for manufacturers, more work for Canada's workers, more money in circulation.

The crop prospects, too, are excellent.

The West is optimistic about the size and quantity of the crop.

And better still, higher prices for wheat are prophesied.

Dr. David Friday, Director of Research in the National Transportation Institute, Washington, declares that wheat will sell in the United States at $1.25 a bushel before election day, and at $1.35 a bushel before Christmas, and that agricultural discontent in the West will be greatly lessened.

That is good news, for what applies to the United States in this connection applies equally to Canada.

If wheat rises to $1.35 a bushel over the border, Canadian farmers can look for a similar price for their wheat.

With a good harvest and better prices in sight Canadians can look forward to the future cheerfully.

Sir John Aird, President of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, and one of the shrewdest observers in the country of financial and economic conditions, has given out a statement on his return from Europe that should cheer the whole country.

"I am very optimistic," he declared, "and I believe that we are now proceeding toward an era of unprecedented prosperity."

Let Canadians generally adopt that attitude and there will be nothing to worry about.

WAR AND PROFITEERS.

The drafting of dollars and property as well as soldiers is recommended by Bernard M. Baruch, former Chairman of the United States War Industries Board.

Most people will agree with that programme.

If it is fair to conscript men to fight it is fair to conscript the wealth of other men who by reason of age or infirmities cannot be expected to fight.

But when one United States writer declares that if dollars were drafted for the next war the same as men for the army, there wouldn't be any "next war," the Examiner cannot follow him.

The old argument that wars are started by munition manufacturers and other "capitalists" eager to make money out of the opportunities offered by a conflict between nations is nonsense.

No profiteering manufacturers thrust Great Britain into the World War.

The invasion of Belgium was the final factor in the decision made by the British Government on August 4, 1914.

No profiteering manufacturers prompted Canada to offer her thousands of soldiers.

It was the knowledge that the Empire needed them that sent Canada rushing into the fray.

Profiteering there was, as in every war, but profiteers did not cause the war—or any war for that matter.

However, Mr. Baruch's plan of Government fixing of prices commands attention. He says:

"Prices of materials, commodities and, in fact, all things would be declared fixed as of such and such a date, and it would be illegal either to buy or sell at a different price.

"The excess proportion, if any, of the profits in industry and internal revenue would go to the prosecution of the war.

"If such an organization, which we were approaching at the end of the war, had been put into effect at the beginning, the cost of the war in my opinion would have been not more than one-half of what it was, and there would not have been charges of profiteering and economic chaos after the war."

All very true. The trouble is that the whole idea is too sensible to be put into effect.

THE WHEAT PRODUCTION OF CANADA.

Some remarkable statistics have lately been presented in regard to the wheat production of the United States for the present year that has had a buoyant affect on the price of wheat in Canada, says the Brantford Expositor. It is estimated that the yield in the United States will be considerably under the average. This shortage of perhaps 150,000,000 bushels, will have a favorable reaction on the price of wheat as far as Canada is concerned. More and more it has come to be recognized that Canada is bound to take a leading place in the exportation of wheat. Within the last month five large American grain firms have decided to open Canadian offices and carry on a large part of their operation in Canada. The movement northward is ascribed to a sharp decline in the volume of the transactions on the New York Produce Exchange, and the steady increase of business done in Canada.

This development, taken in connection with the decision of the Spillers Company, one of the largest grain concerns in Britain, to establish a huge concern in Canada as a base of shipment from Vancouver to the Orient, and also through the Panama Canal to Europe, is a splendid tribute to the future of the Canadian wheat and flour trade. It means prosperity to Canada. For two seasons now the Dominion has been the largest wheat exporting country in the world. One of the chief reasons given by the managing governor of the Spillers company is the marvelous expansion in the consumption of wheat that is taking place among the 500,000,000 people in China and Japan. This trade is expected to show extraordinary growth.

In a table prepared by Sir James Wilson, one of the leading British staticians, the total amount of the world's wheat production available for exportation for the year ending July, 1924, is estimated a t130 millions of quarters. Of this Canada is credited with 42. The Argentine and the United States come next with 28 and 24. In 1922 the United States had 27.5, Canada 23.1 and Argentine 14.8. During the five years previous to July, 1914, Russia headed the list with an average of 20.5, the United States, Argentine and Canada following with respectively 13.4, 11.8 and 10.3.

THE CHURCHES SPEAK AGAIN.

The Private Bills Committee at Ottawa, and the Commons itself, has had an expression of opinion from the people most interested in church union—the votes taken in the various church gatherings, says the London Advertiser.

These votes are significant because they record the fact that the churches want union. Their representatives have spoken in a vote that is large enough to carry conviction, and it removes any doubt that the Private Bills Committee may have had as to the desire of its petitioners.

The will of the majority of the people is a cornerstone in the structure of equity that can hardly be overlooked.

In view of this vote the Private Bills Committee should cease making or considering amendments that can only have the effect of producing a situation not acceptable to the majority of the people with whom they are dealing. The committee should realize that it is taking to itself powers that the church will not admit it possesses. Principal Oliver of Saskatoon stated the case well when he said: "We repudiate the spiritual leadership of the Private Bills Committee." And so they should. The Private Bills Committee was asked to do a certain thing—facilitate the coming together of three churches. The request was reasonable, and the churches had a perfect right to advance it. The Private Bills Committee of the Ontario Legislature was wrong when it sought to alter the measure the churches had brought before it, and the Private Bills Committee at Ottawa was in error when it sought to place its own interpretation on a measure that in its original form represented the express desires of the great majority of the church members.

The votes of the churches represented in the gatherings of Methodist, Congregational and Presbyterian churches give the Private Bills Committee new light on the matter, and it is a verdict that they cannot very well overlook.

One of the outstanding features of the taking of the vote at Owen Sound was the attitude of the moderator, who asked that there might be no applause, "as this is a matter on which we all feel deeply, and as it is certain to cause pain to many I would ask the assembly that there should be no demonstration whatever when the vote is announced." It is that spirit of kindly consideration that will do much to make possible a desirable settlement of present and future problems.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

TORONTO, June 18.—The cattle demand at the Union Stock Yards on Monday was not too good, except for export, but the smaller supply permitted of sales of 3,200 head and this left only a few over 200 on hand at the close. Receipts yesterday morning were 51 cars, 745 cattle, 572 calves, 987 hogs and 206 sheep and lambs. There was another delivery later in the day, with an estimate of an addition of about 500 cattle. Rogers and Maybee took 700 for export on Monday, and the top price for a load of $8.60 a cwt. was paid to Chas. Meggs, of Paris.

H. P. Kennedy, who is shipping from the west, bought four loads of steers here as a filler for spaces contracted for. There was not much life to the market for butchers and buyers are holding off to make the hang as shot as possible, during the hotter weather. Some good bulls were on sale and J. B. Shields refused $6 a cwt. for an extra choice Hereford. Cows are down in the extreme, 25 cents a cwt. this week, but this decline is most evident in those off the grass and not fat.

Stockers, feeders and springers are a poor trade. With abundance of grass, this is not quite understood, but the demand for springers has lessened owing to the over supply of milk. There are several loads of stockers on the market, some of which have been held for sale for three weeks. Exporters are buying a few cattle in the medium weight butchers' class, and this is a sustaining factor in the good to choice butchers.

A small bunch of choice butchers went to a Kingston buyer at $7.75 a cwt. but other choice steers and heifers sold at $7.50 and this price was paid for odd lots of exporters. Frank Hunnisett paid $7.25 for a rather nice load of butchers. Medium and common killers were not too strong and some mediums sold at and below $6 a cwt. One top cow made $6.50 but the run of good cows did not cross $5.75. Although trade is slow the offering of less than 1,000 head is not burdensome.

Calves gave evidence of a little firmer undertone and bunches of good vealers sold at 9½ cents. A few choice calves reached 10 and 10½ cents. Medium calves were about 8 cents.

Lambs were a shade stronger than on Monday in the asked prices and some choice sold at 16½ cents. Bunches a little off from the tops brought 15 to 15½ cents. Sheep were easier at 6 cents and yearlings sold at 12 cents.

The only price on hogs in the quotation of the packers which is now set at $7.50 a cwt. f.o.b. Sales are taking place above this, but the figures are known only to the buyer and seller. One seller said he obtained $7.75 a cwt.

A THOUGHT

SOMEONE

When you're happy and contented,
And your sky is always blue,
It's kind of nice to know there's someone
Glad to share it all with you;
And when little troubles gather,
And your sky is no longer fair,
It's kind of nice to know there's someone,
Someone who will sure to care.

Someone to love and cheer you,
Sometimes when things go wrong;
Someone to snuggle near you,
Someone to share your song,
Someone to call you sweetheart,
After the day is done;
Someone to miss you, someone to kiss you—
Just someone.

And when some duty takes you
On a journey far away,
It's kind of nice to know there's someone
Thinking of you every day;
And when your journey's ended,
And you're speeding homeward too,
It's kind of nice to know there's someone
Waiting there to welcome you.

Liver Trouble the Cause

Mrs. A. C. Brown, Oromocto, Ont., writes: "I have been troubled with my liver for a few years back and was so bad I did not feel able to do my work.

I had severe pains in my stomach so bad I could hardly stand them at times; coated tongue; bad taste in the mouth, especially in the morning, and had a yellow and sallow complexion.

I had read a great deal about Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills and decided I would try a vial, and after taking two or three I found I was greatly improved, and can truthfully say that I felt more like living and can now do my own work without any trouble."

NEWS INTEREST FROM CAVAN

CAVAN, June 18.—A happy family re-union picnic was held at the home of Mr. A. E. Hunter, Cavan on Thursday afternoon in honor of Rev. Dr. R. J. Hunter and Mrs. Hunter of Corur D'Alene, Idaho, who are visiting their brothers and sisters around the old home.

The weather was ideal for the occasion and the spacious lawn was beautiful with flowering lilac and honeysuckle, and the happy faces and joyous laughter, made it a social gathering, nto to be forgotten in years to come.

After-dinner speeches were made by Dr. Hunter and Rev. Mr. Craw, of Springville, who was a classmate of Dr. Hunter's at Knox in their college days. Mr. Craw told some breezy briefs from the General Assembly at Owen Sound, from which he had returned that morning.

Dr. Hunter related a few interesting experiences of his life since he last met with them.

Anniversary Services.

The Cavan Methodist Sunday School held their annual anniversary services on Sunday, June 15.

Rev. Mr. Rowland of Omemee addressed the children. Although he spoke to the children there were many things that the elder people could take from his sermon.

His sermon was taken from First Samuel, the third chapter, the first ten verses.

He admonished the children to always be on the watch against the temptation to sin in any form. He advised the children that just as Samuel was ready to answer the Lord when he called so must they be ready and on the watch when duty calls or wrong allures them.

The choir rendered "In the Days of thy Youth." Remember the creator" and the congregation and children joined in the singing with the choir for the other hymns.

In the evening Mr. Rowland spoke from Acts 20:24. "But none of these things move me, neither count I my life dear unto myself, so that I might finish my course with joy."

Paul endured many forms of temptations and persecutions, but he endured all in order that he might finish his course with joy and complete the ministry which he had receved of the Lord Jesus.

He cited soldiers in the great war as examples of enduring hardship and in many cases dying because they felt that duty had called them.

The choir rendered excellent music. A quartette was sung by Mrs. Kennedy, Miss Tinney, Mr. Sutton and Mr. Staples entitled "Nearer Home." The anthem "When my soul reaches home" was particularly good. Another anthem, "Praise Him" was sung by the choir, Miss Tinney taking the solo part.

A Garden Party.

The garden party on Friday evening at St. John's Church, Ida, was a great success.

The tables looked very pretty with their gay decorations and they were laden with a bountiful supply of good things to eat.

The play given by ythe "All Saint's Dramatic Club" of Peterboro was real good.

Messrs. T. McCamus and Claire Windsor sang several songs which were much enjoyed and heartily encored.

The stage was well lighted by three gasoline lanterns, kindly loaned for the occasion.

The total receipts were $167.

G. K. FRASER ELECTED

delegate as a director of the Association.

Regrets at being unable to be present at the meeting were read by the chairman from H. Brimmell of Lindsay and D. Reid Wren, of the city.

City Clerk Armstrong was asked to act as secretary of the meeting, in the absence of Leon Fraezr, and officiated in his usual thoroughly satisfactory manner.

The minutes of the last annual meeting were read by Mr. Armstrong and confirmed.

G. K. Fraser, the president, in his opening remarks, spoke of the need of co-operation in every municipality and county and township in the work of the Trent Waterways Development Association, and stressed the necessity of getting away from petty local jealousies. His report for the past year was presented as follows:

President's Report.

I am to-day submitting my fourth annual report, believing that it closes a year significant of unforseen development.

By this I mean that during the past year particularly the attention of other districts, the province, and even the Dominion, has been concentrated upon the problem of developing one of the most profitable industries in the world, that of the tourist traffic, and it has been forcibly brought to attention that Central Ontario is one district of the Province at least, that recognized the desirability of developing the tourist traffic. and has now been in the business for four years.

In last year's annual report I mentioned that the Ontario Government was getting out 10,000 sixty-page booklets for distributions. These booklets have been printed and distributed throughout Canada and the United States.

Since the last annual meeting your directors have held another meeting at Orillia, and decided not to issue another pamphlet for 1924. This naturally reduced the expenditures of the Association. Forty thousand pamphlets were printed and issued during 1923-24 as follows:

In United States. C.P.R., 4,500; C. N.R., 4,500; Rochester, 200; Yacht Clubs, 7,000; Motor Clubs, 4,000 Motor Club manufacturers, 2,000—a total of 22,200.

In Canada: C.P.R., 3,500; C.N.R., 3,500; Yacht Clubs, 2,000; Motor Clubs, 1,000; Boat mfrs., 1,000; Municipalities, 5,500; Office Use, 1,000; Miscellaneous, 800—Total 17,800.

The Canadian National Railways and the Canadian Pacific Railway have during the past year issued special folders on the Trent Waterway, advertising summer resorts touched by these railways.

At our last executive meeting it was decided to issue a book of charts covering the whole Trent Waterway This has not been completed but is gradually being compiled, and we hope to have it ready by 1925.

Although we have so far not been able to secure charts of the entire navigation route of the Waterway, yet I am led to understand that everything is being done to complete them. So far charts are available rom Trenton to the west side of Balsam Lake.

I think we should again urge upon the Department the desirability of completing the entire route as early as possible.

During the past few years there has been practically no new construction work done on the Trent Waterway, and I believe that now the government should be urged to complete at least one lock on the Severn Division, and it should be brought to the notice of the government that if work is not completed here at once thousands of dollars that have been already expended on these locks will be a total loss.

Since the last annual meeting the marine railways on the Severn Division have been enlarged to take a boat of 56 feet length by 13 feet 5 nches beam.

Your Association has been very successful in securing a considerable amount of publicity and I must again refer to our active Honorary President, Senator W. H. Bennett, as having been particularly energetic, and has been urging different engine manufacturers to contribute ads in motor boat magazines.

Motor Boating has had a two page article in the last issue on the Trent Waterway, with a map. Other motor-boat magazines have had small articles. From all of this free advertising we have had a considerable number of enquiries.

Exhibits Successful.

We were also again successful, through the particular efforts of the Deputy Speaker of the House of Commons, Mr. G. N. Gordon, K.C., M.P. for West Peterborough, in securing the exhibit of the Department of Railways and Canals at the New York Motor Boat Show in January. Your president and secretary attended the full time at the exhibit, with a representative of the Department of Railways and Canals from the Peterborough office. Your secretary was able to attend, and did wonderful work, thanks to the co-operation of the municipalities in financing his trip.

Direct results were obtained during the exhibit this year and a great number of cruiser owners definitely stated that they would be through the Waterway this year. At the last annual meeting I suggested that the secretary attend the National Motor Boat Show in New York, and I know that any expense incurred by sending our secretary has more than paid for itself in the results that we have obtained.

We tried to interest the Provincial Government with our advertising at the Motor Boat Show, and a deputation waited on them, asking them if they would stand the expense of putting two aquaria at the Exhibition, containing live bass and maskinonge. They agreed to help the Association out to the extent of $250, but it was found that owing to the shortness of time arrangements could not be completed for this exhibit.

Our secretary, at the expense of the Provincial Government, gave a lecture and showed the motion pictures of the Trent Waterway at the Detroit Yacht Club in July of last year.

General.

Last year it was suggested that there would be a little more enthusiasm in the interest of the Association if the directors representing various municipalities would form a small sub-committee, which would stimulate the interests of the entire community in the Association.

We are receiving confirmation on all sides that we are working along the right lines, but it is up to everybody to develop it. We are now four years ahead of any other organisation, and I believe the only onganisation of our kind in the Province, or in Canada.

Before closing, I believe I am expressing your thoughts when I that that we are indebted to all those who have contributed so much to the success already obtained by the Association, and that it is our hope that this cordial co-operation may continue.

I wish also to express my personal appreciation for the support given to me during the past four years, and it is my sincere hope that the Assocation will redouble its efforts during the coming years and place Central Ontario in the enviable position as the summer playground of the North American continent.

At the conclusion of Mr. Fraser's report, which was greeted with applause, Mayor A. J. Meyers of Campbellford, expressed appreciation of the work for the Association carried on by Mr. Fraser by the honorary president, Senator W. H. Bennett, of Midland. His remarks were seconded by G. J. Overend of Orillia.

E. A. Tanner of Lakefield, spoke with regret of the illness of Mr. Leon Frazer and hoped it would be of short duration. "He is at all times an obliging and painstaking officer," said the speaker, whose remarks were seconded by Mayor A. J. Meyers of Campbellford.

Alex. Kay Reported.

An interesting report of the work of the Association at the New York Motor Boat Show in January last was given by Alex Kay of the Trent Canal staff, who attended the show as representative of the Dominion Government, with G. K. Fraser and Leon Frazer, representing the Trent Waterways Development Association. Held for eight days in the Grand Central Palace, from 10 a.m. to 11 p.m., the show was extremely successful. Mr. Kay spoke of the great interest taken in the Association's exhibit, which occupied a space sixty-five feet in length, by visitors to the show, and of the thousands of inquiries received and answered by himself and his companions. Over 10,000 pamphlets were distributed to information-seekers, and much interest was manifested in the model of the Lift-Lock, loaned by the Imperial Tobacco Company, the mounted fish loaned by various citizens, with many from the late Edwin Elcome, taxidermist, and the illustrated pictures of Stoney Lake and the Severn division, loaned by the Canadian Trade Commissioner in New York.

Mr. Kay emphasized particularly the need of "something live to look at" in such an exhibition, and the necessity of trying to induce the Government to send down live fish to next year's show. Mr. Fraser explained that representations to the Government along this line had been made, and the sum of $250 promised by the authorities to defray expenses. The Association had found that this amount would not cover the large expense of taking bass and lunge to New York in the special quarters that would have to be provided for them, but hoped to induce the Government to do something along this line, as they could carry it through at less expense.

Senator Bennett, of Midland, urged the necessity of approaching local members of Parliament to use their good offices for the cause, also to impress upon them the necessity of going ahead with the work of the canal, particularly on the Severn division.

Senator Bennett's report.

Senator Bennett also reported on the fine condition of the two big marine railways in his district, one taking five thousand feet of lumber in a big motor boat recently. He also spoke of the magnificent future in store for Lake Simcoe as a summer resort, and reported prices on south shore lots at the present time as running from $25 to $30 a foot, frontage.

Even the Indians on the Reserve said the speaker, were making money out of increased traffic in that district, selling reservation lots for $30 a foot, frontage. Some impressions of the northern end of the Canal followed, with a record of two men from Pittsburgh, who have a summer resort in that district and brought parties of 250 tourists, in three relays, to their place last season, "making a total of 750 people brought in by these two men alone."

Beautify Waterfront

G. J. Overend of Orillia reported 28 summer cottages built in his town since the first one went up, four years ago, and G. K. Fraser, said that the Burleigh Falls Fishing Club, organized three years ago, had 735 people under canvas there last year, "and expect 1735 this year." Mr. Fraser also spoke of the resolution passed a meeting of the executive in Orillia recently, when municipalities were urged to keep their water clean and their watertronts inviting Mr. Overend said that the Orillia Horticultural Society was making a business this year of beautifying the water-front, and went on to urge the need of co-operation and freedom from petty jealousies. "When a boat comes your way, induce them to go along. Tell them to go and see every bit of the Waterway, right up to Georgian Bay."

Senator Bennett said it was not only a question of boats coming in, but also of motor cars and people, and Mr. Fraser alluded to the efforts of the C.P.R. and C.N.R. Railways to boost the Trent Waterways in their newspaper advertising. Mr. Overend said that 5,000 people were added to the roll of Orillia's population in summer visitors last year, and E. A. Tanner of Lakefield, commented on the number of cars, many of them from distant sections of the continent, passing through the northern village every year ,in increasing numbers, a fact which he attributed to the excellent propaganda of the Association.

Mr. Overend of Orillia, expressed the appreciation of the Society for the good work of the Chamber of Commerce in Peterboro and of Mr. Kay's co-operation at the New York show. His remarks were seconded by Mr. Tanner and Mr. G. K. Fraser added a special cordial speech of appreciation to Mr. Kay.

Mr. F. D. Kerr, K.C. who came in late, and who was re-elected as first vice president, spoke briefly, remarking on the wonderful asset the country possessed in the Trent Canal Waterway, not only from a financial viewpoint, but as a tourist resort. He thoroughly believed that it was a money-making potentiality, and that the Governments of the day were "slowly, gradually but surely" realizing this fact.

Those present at yesterday's meeting included the following: Alderman Walter Stocker, representing the city council, T. J. Carley and E. Tiers of Fenelon Falls, G. K. Fraser of Burleigh Falls, Senator W. H. Bennett and J. W. Bald of Midland, J. B. Hanley and John Tool of Midland, George J. Overend of Orillia, W. C. Moore and G. H. Potts of Bobcaygeon, H. M. Warnock of Penetanguishene, E. A. Tanner, W. J. Charlton and W. W. Leonard of Lakefield, G. A. Kingston, J. L. Dorie and Mayor A. J. Meyers of Campbellford, Reeve Chas. Davidson of Campbellford, F. D. Kerr, K. C. and J. Wells Fraser of Peterboro S. R. Armstrong was also present.

WHAT IS THE USE OF LIVING?

What is the use of living when a woman gets up in the morning as tired as when she went to bed at night with headache, backache, dragging-down pains, nervous, irritable and despondent? These are all symptoms of ailments peculiar to her sex which makes life a burden. Every woman in this condition should rely upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, a good old-fashioned remedy made from roots and herbs. It contains no narcotics or harmful drugs, and for fifty years has been restoring women to health and strength and the joys of living.

SWEDEN SENDS MACHINERY TO POWER PLANTS

Campbellford Power House on Trent Canal Well Under Way.

150 MEN AT WORK

Work at Dam Nine Expected to Start Soon—Big Expansion.

CAMPBELLFORD, June 18.—The machinery required for the new Hydro power house at Dam 8 has been unloaded here, and the work of moving it to its final destination will soon begin. This outfit, which was contained in 102 heavy cases, was purchased by the Hydro from the Swedish General Electrical Company of Sweden, the firm which has furnished the machinery for all power houses on the Trent Canal, and which is regarded as the best obtainable in the world. It will be placed in position by S. Sundstrum, an experienced machinist in the employ of the Hydro, assisted by James R. Russell and other local men.

Well Under Way.

Work on the new power house, which is being put up by the Hydro Commission, is now well under way, the massive frame-work being completed. The building was inspected yesterday by T. H. Hogg and C. D. Trimble, hydraulic and construction engineer, respectively for the Hydro, with headquarters in Toronto, who were shown over the ground by A. L. Malcolm, resident engineer. The general foreman of this work is George Pierce, who has a long record in the employ of the Hydro, being formerly stationed at Ranney Falls.

When the Sinclair Construction Company were given the contract, about a year ago, for making the excavation for the tail race and for the foundation for the power house, Mr. Pierce was recommended to them as a man skilled in that class of work. He installed the machinery required and superintended operations until the work was stopped early in the winter by a sudden rise in the water of the river. When the Henderson Co. of Toronto were given a sub-contract by the Sinclair Company for the cement work on the foundation for the power house, Mr. Pierce remained as overseer. He desumed his connection with the Hydro when the erection of the superstructure was started.

Excavating the Tail Race.

It was only recently that the water was lowered sufficiently to permit the resumption of work on the tail race, which is now more than half completed. The process is slow and costly. Sixteen small holes are drilled, at certain distances apart, and about 25 feet deep, into the solid rock. These are filled with dynamite and exploded, this being called "springing" the holes. The [illegible] cavities thus made are charged with about a ton of dynamite, and the very earth seems racked by the subsequent explosion. A steam shovel then removes the debris from the channel.

150 Men at Work.

There are about 150 men at work on the tail-race and power house at present. Two-thirds of these are taken care of in the company's boarding houses, the rest going to their homes in Campebllford every evening by auto. A new $5,000 residence has been erected as the home of the operator of the power house when completed. This plant will have a capacity of about 10,000 horse-power.

The length of the tail-race is 3,200 feet, its width 33 feet and its average depth over 20 feet. The total of solid rock to be excavated is 90,000 square yards.

At Dam Nine.

Work on the new power house at Dam 9, which will be constructed by the Hydro throughout, will begin on Monday. The tail race at that point is nearly finished, the contractors being the Lumsden Company of Toronto. This was a lesser job that the one further down, the cubic yards to be removed being only about 30,000.

The extension of the Hydro system in this district has given profitable employment to a large number of hands all through the dull winter season and now that operations are in full blast aagin, nearly 250 men are on the payrool at both plants.

New Auto Injured.

There was a collision Monday on the Grand Road near the railway crossing, between Walter Covert's ice wagon and Dr. E. F. Richardson's new sedan, and as usual the car got decidedly the worst of it, one side being badly stove in. No person was injured.

Some people who witnessed the accident say that Mr. Covert was on the wrong side of the street and instead of watching the road was giving his attention to some men who were unloading Hydro machinery in the railway yards. Dr. Richardson was able to use his car after it had been given mechanical first aid.

Lifebuoy is pure—as fine and bland as soap can possibly be. Its creamy, wholesome lather comes from rich, natural, skin-nourishing oils.

Lifebuoy protects.

The protective element of Lifebuoy is indicated by the cleanly, antiseptic odour.
The odour vanishes after use — but the protection of Lifebuoy remains.

Warsaw Correspondence

WARSAW, June 18.— The annual meeting of the Warsaw Woman's Institute was held on Thursday afternoon. Among the work done during the past year was: Assisting at the school fair, making quilts for the Armenian Home, quilt and blankets for a family newly arrived from England, dishes for one who had lost everything in a fire, assisted a mother and children who were in need, gave an afternoon to sew and mend for the family of one of the members who had passed away, sent flowers to several who were ill.

The old officers were re-elected by acclamation, viz.: Pres, Mrs. Thos. Cooper; vice, Mrs. Richard Batten; sec.-treas., Miss Cressa Crowe; librarian, Mrs. Wm. Selkirk; auditors, Mesdames Thos. Crowe and David Miller; directors, Mesdames James Moore, Lawrence McCracken, David Miller and Wm. Selkirk.

The main part of the social on Friday evening will be a play, "Pa's New Housekeeper."

The department delegate, Mrs. MacDonough, gave a talk on 'The Standard of Efficiency of Institute Members." She spoke of the election just held. It is wise to keep a president, for a few years, not too long, but a good secretary could not be kept too long.

In speaking of the work of the delegates, she thought perhaps more time should be given to discussion, as we get only the delegates' point of view.

The summer series are the result of weeks of work in the department and the delegates have to plan to get away from home. She spoke of the demonstration classes, of the travelling library, of the free circulation of literature by department. Until recently the department sent out literature to be distributed. Now it does not do so, as it realizes that often what is sent out is not valued, but it is published and any one may have it for the asking.

First requirement is the 25c. annual fee, something easily forgotten, it may be given to secretary any time or place. Secretary has to remember, if she does not there may be trouble.

Second standard is an interest in home-making. Our motto says for "home." Home making and housekeeping are different things. Everything in a house may be beautiful and in perfect order, and the mother cross and irritable. That has no home atmosphere. Far better not to have a home too fancy and have a home atmosphere of love and sympathy. Sometimes it would seem the home was more for the casual caller than for those we love.

Third standard, we shoud understand the organization to which we belong and have faith in its promoters. Mrs. MacDonough sketched the history of the beginning of the Institute in the home of Mrs. Hoodless twenty-seven years ago. There are now over thirty thousand members, and if each one did her very best to carry on work, more work would be done. Why join the Institute? Do I really need it for myself or for others? To many women it is the only social life and it appeals to all classes of women, of whatever creed or station in life. We do need to know more, and need a deeper symptahy. Most of us need broadening and the Institute is the place.

General Booth's last message was the one werd, "Others." Sometimes there have been strange motives for joining. We must really wish to be useful and do our part. Cultivate the ability to make others feel at home. Every one needs companionship and sometimes a little sympathy brings out great good in others. If you want some member to assist, or do some work, do not just 'drop a card.' Manage to actually see them.

Fourth, standard. Member must assume responsibility. Do work to be done willingly, as a privilege. We cannot neglect our own homes. The question is, "Where do our home duties stop?" They certainly do not all centre inside our own line fence. Outside of our home our first claim is our church, but at that we do not come in contact with all. As citizens we owe a debt. It is our object and duty to help on the good of the community. Boys and girls are our first thought. They go out of the home life into the school life. Mothers have a right and a duty to look after schools. One home cannot do much, but the Institute can get to work. The church cannot. A child sent to school is like an hot-house plant, being set out directly. One teachers told the speaker that our schools lack mothering. We would not even thing of letting the father do all the caring for a child, yet we send the little ones to a school controlled by three men, whose one aim often is—to keep down expenses. Lady Byng said that she found Canada had ministers for many things, but no minister of "child welfare. There are some supervised playgrounds, but many countray people say, "oh there is no need here." Discoveries have been made that girls were learning to smoke, boys have even been found with a bottle of whiskey, and many other things happen, when the children are left wholly to themselves. It has come to a point where closer scrutiny of school life is absolutely necessary. Criminals are not made at once. The germs are sown in childhood. Can we measure in dollars and cents, what it means to have our boys and our girls do what is wrong, look lightly upon any kind of evil?

Conference Notes.

Rev. T. G. Weir gave a sketch of the doings at the conference for his sermon Sunday evening. Mr. Weir is to remain.

Make Whey Butter.

Warminster cheese fatcory is making whey butter as usual this summer. The cheese make is not as large this year as last. Many farmers are feeding veal calves. They sell through the co-operative. Henry Batten is the salesman.

Late Planting.

Some few farmers were putting in barley last week. Potatoes are practically all in. Corn planting will be finished this week. Some few had it in quite early. Like everything else, corn planting is late.

Safety First.

Albert McQuaig made ensilage of sweet clover last summer. He fed it to his cattle until some time in February; each animal got one half bushel at each feeding. They liked it, ate it up clean and did well on it. In February they noticed some mouldy spots and fed no more, but drew the six feet of feed that was left out on to the land. They lost no cattle .They decided it was safer to sacrifice the ensilage than run the risk of losing their cattle.

Personals.

Mrs. George Bullock, Lakefield, visited relatives in this district last week.

Miss Hazel Brown, who has spent her holidays with her grandmother, and mother, returned to Toronto on Sunday.

Mrs. Thos. Cooper entertained Mrs. MacDonough during her stay here.

WARRANT MADE FOR MATTHEWS

He Is Now Being Sought on a Charge of Violating the Secret Commissions Act.

CIRCULARS ISSUED

TORONTO, June 18 (Canadian Press). — Upon instructions from Attorney-General Nickle, a warrant for the arrest of former Assistant Treasurer Charles A .Matthews, Jr., has been issued by the Ontario Provincial Police.

The charge is that of violation of the Secret Commissions Act.

A thousand circulars announcing the issuance of the warrant and the desirability of Matthews' apprehension were sent broadcast to police departments all over the continent yesterday afternoon by Provincial Police authorities.

The circulars are headed, "Wanted for Violation of Secret Commissions Act," and bear a recent photograph of the farmer Assistant Treasurer, a replica of his signature, and his description.

To assist the police officers of other towns in identification, the following added information is given in the circular:

"Wears glasses at times, heavy cigarette smoker, likely to show a nervous disposition when spoken to by an officer. Has a good education and was very popular. Co-operation of all Police Departments looking to the early arrest of this man is desired."

Although it was on 28th March, 1924, that Matthews eluded Provincial Police officers detailed to shadow him, this is the first definite move on the part of the Government to secure his apprehension.

The circular which was sent broadcast yesterday asking for his arrest, is dated 16th June, 1924, only Monday last.

It has been stated around the Parliament Buildings that the Government was desirous of giving Matthews an opportunity of returning voluntarily, and thus bettering his position, but no official statement has ever been made by a member of the Government.

Assistant Treasurer Matthews left office at the Parliament Buildings about the middle of March following sensational evidence at the night sitting of the Public Accounts Committee, in which he was accused of participating in a three-way split of an $11,000 profit on a Provoincial Bond transaction.

The evidence also involved L. C. Mason, a distant relative of Matthews, who disappeared about the same time, and is believed by Provincial Police, to be with the former Assistant Treasurer.

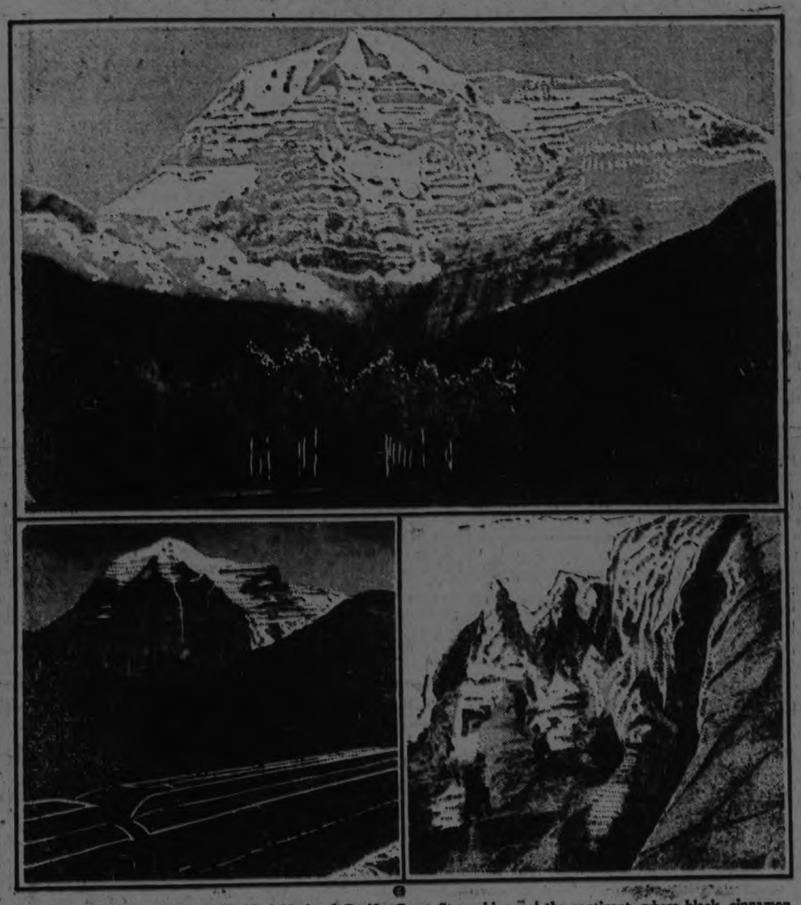
HIGHEST PEAK IN CANADIAN ROCKIES



The Alpine Club of Canada will this year hold its annual camp at the foot of Mount Robson, the highest peak in the Canadian Rockies, which towers 13,068 feet above sea level.

Mount Robson Park, named from the mountain which it surrounds, is a favorite stopping place for tourists from United States points who make the Triangle Tour of the Canadian National Railways, which embraces Vancouver, Jasper and Mount Robson Parks and Prince Rupert with a journey over the inland seas of the Pacific coast on one of the Canadian National Pacific Coast Steamships.

Among other things, Mount Robson can be regarded as the most frequently photographed mountain in the whole of Canada, the Continental Limited of the Canadian National Railways stopping for five minutes at the foot of this monarch of the Rockies in order that tourists who are passing through may secure photographs showing its lofty, snow-capped peak.

Just outside of the boundaries of the National Park is one of the finest big-game hunting grounds of the continent, where black, cinnamon and grizzly bear abound and where other big game, such as big-horn mountain sheep and mountain goats, are to be found in great numbers. Hundreds of hunters annually make Mount Robson their headquarters for their excursions into the passes of this region after big game, for here excellent accommodation may be secured either during the summer tourist season or later in the fall when the hunters are out after their quarry. This year the Alpine Club of Canada will camp at the foot of Mount Robson.

IN MILLBROOK AND DISTRICT

Special Sermons in the Churches—Good Music.

MILLBROOK, June 17.—A ringing note of optimism was contained in the message brought by Rev. Dr. R. G. Hunter, of D'Alene, Idaho, to the congregation of Grace Presbyterian Church on Sunday morning, his text being, "We are Able," from Numbers 13 : 32.

"Bring God into your undertakings and you will never say, 'I can't'. There isn't anything that Jesus wants you to be and do if you count Him in." The unlimited power operating in nature is God expressing Himself, and surely there is equal power in the spiritual realm, believing prayer being the medium which brings it for our help.

If God says, "Thou must", He also says, "Thou canst", and herein lies the promise of the ultimate success of the problem of missions, of the triumph of prohibition, and the development of genuine Christian character. "If God be for us, who can be against us?"

Burbank speaks of "the creative shock of a new life" working a transformation in nature, and probably Christ had a somewhat similar thought in His mind when He said to Nicodemus, "Ye must be born again". Regeneration—a change that never fails to fill heaven with rapture, though it may be ridiculed upon earth. It is like a little wheel being belted up with the great dynamo of Almighty Power. Life, light, vigor, usefulness, hope, happiness, and dignity, germs of immortal progress, all are produced to regeneration by the omnipotent agency of the Holy Spirit. Set and nourished by the grace, faithfulness, and power of God, He will not fail to cherish and invigorate, bringing them forward to great ultimate fruitfulness, stately splendor, beauty, and incomprehensible glory.

The special musical numbers at the morning service included a duet, "Ever Near," by Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Johnston, and a quartette, "Have Faith in God", by Rev. G. S. and Mrs. Gervan, and Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Johnston. Mrs. Johnston presided at the organ for the hymns, Miss Hansman relieving her for the other selections.

About Fools.

"If we understood God's plan as He dovetails His work done in Ontario to-day with the missionary work of, say the Apostle Paul, we should no longer blame God for things we don't understand."

Basing his remarks upon two identical passages, Psalm 14 : 1, and Psalm 53 : 1, "The fool hath said in his heart, There is no God", Rev. H. Arthur Barton, of Ottawa, in elaborating his subject, "Some fools I have met," while preaching to a large congregation in the Methodist Church on Sunday evening, made the above statement in describing one class of "fools" who deny the existence of Providence because His ways are at times "past finding out."

The Bible is not silent regarding "fools" who act as though "at the core of their mental apple" they have the conviction that there is no God. The book of Proverbs specializes in descriptions of such persons, and as the speaker proceeded with his sermon, there seemed no class omitted, no chance for any to hide behind some favorite theory, or fallacious teaching—all were torn down and the error exposed for the flimsy protection which it really was. To deny the fact of God is to lay the foundation for many other fallacies, aside and simply says, "In the beginning, God." He who created the brain of an ant, and flung out the solar system from His hand, is interested in things small, and things big, and has no boundaries to His power, or His existence.

Where shall be classed the man who says, "I can dodge consequences"? Sow a deed and it will always germinate though a long time may elapse between the doing and the full-blown results which are sure to come. God is not mocked, whatsoever a man soweth that shall he also reap". There is a harvest to money wastefulness, to squandered time and opportunities, and when "the gilt wears off the brass", there comes the bitter harvest of that travesty upon genuine love—infatuation.

To have a closed mind to all new truth, or to judge solely by outward appearances, measuring worth and character by the place held in the world's spotlight, is to bear the stamp of a fool. So also does the one who rushes headlong into the policital, or religious views of another forgetting that no sect, or society, or institution has all the truth, or all the error.

"The way of a fool is right in his own eyes", is descriptive of the man who won't change, who will not see the way of reason until "the crepe is on his door knob, and the hearse stands waiting at the door. He that being often reproved, hardeneth his neck, shall suddenly be destroyed, and that without remedy."

What shall that one be called who insists he "can squeeze the juice of happiness out of the peach of wrongdoing," and there shall be no reckoning? But the greatest fool of all is he who says he has never been a fool, living merely for self and shutting the door to God and His claims. A new beginning is his only salvation. "If any of you lack wisdom, let him ask of God, and it shall be given him."

Be Careful What You Wash Your Child's Hair With

If you want to keep children's hair in good condition, be careful what you wash it with.

Do not use prepared shampoos or anything else that contains too much free alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and is very harmful. Mulsified cocoanut oil shampoo (which is pure and entirely greaseless) is much better than anything else you can use for shampooing as this can not possibly injure the hair.

Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in. Two or three teaspoonfuls of Mulsified will make an abundance of rich, creamy lather, and cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. The lather rinses out easily, and removes every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excess oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves it fine and silky, bright, fluffy, wavy, and easy to manage.

You can get Mulsified cocoanut oil shampoo at any drug store It is inexpensive, and a few ounces will last for months. Be sure your druggist gives you Mulsified. Beware of imitation. Look for the name Watkins on the package.

The car will be a regular part of the train in the future.

CAMPBELLFORD AND DISTRICT

Interesting Facts About the Bay of Quinte Conference.

CAMPBELLFORD, June 18.—At the morning service in the Methodist Church the pastor, Rev. W. Elliott, gave some very interesting facts about the Bay of Quinte Centenary Conference held last week.

In 1824, August 25th, the first Bay of Quinte Conference was held in Halloweil, now called Picton. In June, 1924, it was held in Picton.

There were two bishops, George and Heading, and Wm. Case was the secretary. In 1824 there were two districts—Niagara and Bay of Quinte—with members comprising 6,072 white, 22 colored and 56 Indians, making a total of 6,150. Number of preachers, 26. In 1825 Egerton Ryerson was ordained as a preacher. In 1829 the Christian Guardian was first published in York and seven hundred dollars given to start it. Now it has grown to a large establishment, known as the Methodist Bookroom.

In 1839 the following resolution was passed regarding temperance: "Resolved, that viewing the evils of intemperance ,its ravages upon the healthful constitution of the body, its destruction of the religious feeling and moral principle of the mind, its blighting effects upon the domestic comforts and opening prospects of life, and its prevalence in many parts of this Province, this conference feels it to be an imperious duty to use their best endeavors both by precepts and example to check its progress, and finally to deliver the country from the fatal scourging of so dreadful a plague."

The first Methodist Church in Canada (Upper and Lower) was built at Hay Bay in 1792. On Wednesday, June 4th, an excursion was run to Hay Bay and services were held in the church and dinner served to between six hundred and seven hundred people. Addresses were given by Dr. Chown and Dr. Endicott. A cane made from some of the wood in old Hay Bay Church is given in charge to the different presidents of Bay of Quinte Conference for the year each one holds office.

The membership of the church had grown from 6,150 in 1824 to 407,264 in Canada at present. The number of preachers from 26 to 2,504. The number of conferences from one to twelve, and from two districts to one hundred and forty-one.

Bishop Hughes of Boston, who is going to Chicago, was the guest of the present conference in Picton, and all were delighted and thrilled with his sermons.

The Sunday School in the Methodist Church will be held at ten o'clock in the morning during the summer and will begin next Sunday, June 22nd.

Young People.

The Young People's meeting was held on Monday night. The 3rd vice-president had charge of the programme. Miss Payne and Miss Mary McGregor each played a piano solo and Mrs. C. W. Turner read the topics, a short one on the trinity of friendship and the other on the faith of Henry Ford.

June 23rd will be the closing night till September, and this will be a social evening for all the members.

Fruit Late.

Strawberries are a lot later this year than last. One grower said the other day that last year this time he was selling his early berries, and this year they will not be ready for some time yet.

The early garden parties of the churches will not be able to serve them this year.

JUNE SESSION

Lakefield bridge, adding the balance on hand from the current rate of one mill last year. The present current rate of one mill this year will not only build Lockie's bridge (North Monaghan) but will assist in meeting the emergency.

I was very favorably impressed with the satisfactory report from the Department of Highways with regard to the county roads in the County of Peterborough, and it is an evidence that the different committees and commissions are behind, and working in conjunction with, the superintendent of our county roads.

With regard to the House of Refuge it would be presumptious to make any lengthy remarks for you may expect a concrete report from the chairman (Mr. Lillico) who is sparing no pains to bring about the best results.

In conclusion I cannot express myself adequately for the forbearance and unstinted assistance you have given me and I again thank you for the honor you have conferred upon me.

Appoint a Committee.

On motion of Messrs. Rye and Wilson, Messrs. Smithson, Curtis and Pakenham were appointed a committee to deal with the Warden's address, with Mr. Smithson as chairman.

Communications were received and referred to the various committees for consideration.

A letter was read from E. W. Oliver of Selwyn, embodying a claim of $5.50 against the county for damages sustained to his buggy, attributed to holes and rough roads. It was interjected that the claimant was barking up the wrong tree and the matter was referred to the Smith township council.

A communication from the clerk of Wentworth county was read, asking the Peterborough county council to endorse a resolution passed by the Wentworth council. The Ontario government has cancelled the grant of 10c. a day on the maintenance of inmates in County Homes for the Aged and Infirm. The Wentworth county council passed a resolution praying the government to continue the grant and asking all the counties of the province to co-operate with them by endorsing their resolution and by interviewing their local members for the Provincial House.

Tenders Received

The advertisement calling for tenders for the $20,000.00 worth of debentures to be issued for Lakefield bridge construction by the County providing for repayment over a period of 20 years with interest at the rate of 5 1-2 brought no less than 21 bids. Three of them could not be received. The tender of Mathews & Co. Ltd., Toronto, which was about an equal $100 higher than any of the others was accepted. Mathews & Co Ltd., offered $20,384.00 which was 1.92 per cent above par value.

Mr. R. F. Downie, one of the County public school inspectors, briefly addressed the Council. Mr. A. Wilson, chairman of the Educational Committee in responding, stated that he was pleased to be able to say everything was running smoothly and satisfactory in reference to the County public school inspection.

Grant to Ploughmen

A deputation from the Peterboro Ploughman's Association, headed by President C.E. Moore appealed to the Council for the usual grant of $150.

Mr. Moore in soliciting the help of the County thanked the Council for last year's grant and the County's past assistance. "You are all acquainted with the nature of our work and those who saw our matches know they were worthy of your past donations," said Mr. Moore. It was pointed out that the ploughing was good and that the matches held by the local association were featured by large attendance, demonstrating the educational value of the contests.

Mr. J. J. Duffus stated that the matches had been supported by the citizens of the City of Peterboro entirely with the exception of the grants reecived from the County and the surrounding municipalities. "It was a purely agricultural offer," said Mr. Duffus "and I think it should receive your consideration. The attendance at the last contest excelled the East York match and the results were fully better," he concluded.

Messrs. Sidney Bennett and Harvey Webber were the other delegates. Mr. Bennett remarked that at last year's ploughing match a thirteen year old boy came within 1 point of winning the sweepstakes.

A resolution was passed on motion of Messrs. T. Lillico and Wm. Brown that the Ploughman's Association receive the usual annual grant of $150.00.

Chemong Bridge Again

Mr. Ed. Corkery, Reeve of Ennismore, pressed the Council to go as a Deputation to Ottawa on Thursday next for the purpose of obtaining Government assistance for the construction of the proposed permanent Chemong bridge.

The Warden asked if sufficient benefit would be derived to merit the long jaunt to Ottawa in the midst of the session.

To this Mr. Corkery replied that he was receiving the co-operation of Mayor Turner and that Deputy Speaker G. N. Gordon was anxious for the Council to meet the Minister of Railways and Canals on the matter.

The Warden then suggested that the members of the Council consider the matter over night so that a definite decision could be arrived at first thing this morning.

Another important item of business to be considered at this sesison of the Council is a revising by-law providing for the lessening of the mileage in the County Road system, with a view to centralizing expenditure on roads taking care of the heavy traffic.

KING GETS DEGREE

OTTAWA, June 18.—(Canadian Press).—Premier King left Ottawa yesterday afternoon to receive the degree of L.L.D., at Yale. He is expected back on Thursday.

Her Heart was bad, and a constant backache made her household work a painful and wearisome grind, says Mrs Eliza Ann Burns of 123 Arthur Street, Ottawa.

She took two bottles of PHOSPHO-COD and she writes: "I have had the results from PHOSPHO-COD that it was supposed to give—the best."

Wouldn't this world be a happy place to live in if every time we bought something we were sure that it would give us exactly the results that it is supposed to give—the best. Mrs. Burns read the advertisements of PHOSPHO-COD. She believed what we said about this wonderful up-building tonic and health restorer and she believed the startling testimonials we published from time to time to be true statements of facts. Her faith saved her. She bought one bottle of PHOSPHO-COD and she hadn't taken half of it before noticing a marked improvement in her condition. She writes: "I used to have palpitation of the heart and severe pains in the back, especially on getting up in the morning. After taking half a bottle of PHOSPHO-COD, the pains in the back disappeared and my heart troubled me very little. After taking the full bottle my heart seemed much better and my cough disappeared entirely. I continued treatment and now after having taken two bottles of PHOSPHO-COD, I feel better than ever. PHOSPHO-COD is certainly a good medicine; it has certainly proved to be the best medicine I have ever taken and I am pleased to be able to recommend it to all who are in need of a right good bracing and up-building tonic."

Remember this! PHOSPHO-COD is not a secret medicine, but a scientific compound of well-known remedies used the world over by the best doctors to assist Nature in building and strengthening the body. The names of these remedies are printed on the label.

Thousands of men and women are loud in their praise of PHOSPHO-COD because it has given them better health and more strength, pep, energy; a better digestion and proper elimination.

If you wish to obtain the same benefits, take PHOSPHO-COD for a few days and note the change—you should be more cheerful, happier, and feel that life is really worth living.

PHOSPHO-COD is for sale by all good druggists. In Peterborough and the district, you can always get it from the druggists mentioned below.

FABLES ON HEALTH

"When you want to land a big order for your firm what do you do?" asked the physical director of Mr. Mann one evening.

"Why, go after it with both feet."

"Exactly," agreed the director. It's the same way with good health. You have got to go after it. Now they tell us that all men are born free and equal. But that doesn't apply to health. Our ancestors had something to do with that.

"The trouble is that most people think health is merely freedom from disease. It is more than that; it's keeping well and also being able to enjoy life. Keeping life at the maximum vigour is the job, old top.

"People with health know that the best part of it is the happiness it brings.

"What I'm trying to get at is the ounce of prevention you hear so much about. Whether it be the teeth the eyes, the ears, or the beginning of any trouble . . . hit it quick. GO AFTER HEALTH.

In business you first want to know about the market. In health you want first to know about yourself. So the first step in going after health is to find out exactly what is your present condition.

"Have an inventory taken of yourself. AND IF YOU HAVE HEALTH SEE THAT YOU KEEP IT."

THE COACH'S JOB

Something of the taskmaster, the general and the diplomat, and a lot of the doctor must be hidden away in the man who would be the coach of a successful football or track team.

Emergencies of all kinds are his daily routine. A thorough knowledge of first aid is as essential as a knowledge of the game played by his men.

Bumps, bruises, strained ligaments and muscles are every day happenings, but the coach never becomes contempiuous of them. He knows that if neglected, they may result in anything.

Trainers everywhere keep Absorbine Jr. in their lockers. They use it not only for sprains, cuts and bruises, but for the skin and blood protection of its disinfecting properties. In one convenient container it combines the functions of a number of preparations.

It is the first of all the First Aid requisites in use in all of the leading athletic clubs.

And there are just as many everyday uses for Absorbine Jr. in the homes of Canada as there are in the training camps. Always "jump to it" in case of emergency. $1.25 at your druggist.

CLAIRMONT-LONERGAN NUPTIALS

A lovely wedding took place at eight o'clock this morning at St. Peter's Cathedral, when Mary Frances, daugther of late Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Lonergan of Peterboro was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Edward Walter Clairmont B.A., son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Clairmont, of Gravenhurst. The ceremony took place within the sanctuary, which was beautifully decorated with pink columbia roses, and was performed by Rt. Rev. M. J. O'Brien, D.D., Bishop of Peterboro, in the presence of a large number of relatives and friends of the contracting parties. Assistants for the Nuptial Mass were Rev. Michael O'Brien of Huntsville and Rev. K. Corkery of Cobourg. Others guests in the Sanctuary were: Rt. Rev. Mgr. McColl, Rev. P. McGuire, Rev. John J. O'Brien, Rev. J. Bench of Oshawa, Rev. Gerard Maher of Bracebridge, Rev. J. McCauley of Ennismore, and Rev. P. Costello. Lohengrin and Mendelssohn's wedding marches were played by Miss L. Hurley, and, during the ceremony, the Children's Choir of boys and girls, directed by Rev. J. Finn, sang an opening hymn in English, also three Liturgical Mot ets and a Sanctus and Agnus Dei in Latin, from the Mass of the Blessed Virgin of the Twelfth Century.

The bride, who entered the church on the arm of Mr. John Corkery, Sr. wore an exquisite gown of ivory kitten's ear crepe, simply but effectively designed. The sleeves were long and the neckline in the batteau style. The draperies of the skirt were caught at the left side with a large ornament of pearl and diamante. Pearl ornaments on the shoulders held in place the long court train, with spoon-shaped end and lining of heavy white georgette. A long white tulle veil, daintily embroidered, was arranged in Juliet cap fashion, with a delicate wreath of orange blossoms and pearls. White kid slippers and white silk stocking completed a beautiful costume, the only ornaments being the gift of the bridegroom, a white gold bar pin, and a long string of pearls. The bride's bouquet was a shower of ophelia roses and lily of the valley.

The bridesmaid, Miss Emma Corkery, wore a lovely dress of peach georgette, made in bouffant style with ostrich feather trimming over a silk slip of the same shade. Her hat was a leghorn, with band and facing of peach georgette, two large flat velvet flowers of the same shade on the left brim. Her flowers were columbia roses.

Two small daughters of Mr. J. R. Corkery, Catherine and Margaret, were charming little flower-girls, wearing dainty petalled frocks of organdie, the former in orchid the latter in rose color. They wore narrow head bands composed of lily of the valley and green ferns, and carried baskets of pink sweet peas and valley lilies.

A brother of the bridegroom, Mr. Frederick Clairmont of Toronto, acted as best man. Ushers were Dr. Richard Sheehy and Mr. Emmet Sheehy.

After the ceremony, a reception and wedding breakfast was held at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. John Corkery, 487 Gilmour street. The guests ,numbering nearly one hundred were received by the bride, assisted by Mrs. John Corkery and the bridegrooms' mother, Mrs. Joseph Clairmont of Gravenhurst.

The rooms were prettily decorated with iris and pink roses and the bride's table, centred with the cake, was arranged with pink roses in a silver basket. Catering was done by Messrs. T. H. Hooper and Sons.

The clergy present included the Bishop and the priests present at the ceremony also, Rev. J. Finn and Rev. J. Collins, Rev. P. McGuire acted as toastmaster, and speeches were made by Bishop O'Brien, Monseigneur McColl, Rev. J. Bench, Rev. M. O'Brien, Rev. J. McAuley, Rev. J. J. O'Brien, Rev. G. Maher, Rev. P. McGuire, Dr. J. V. Gallivan, R. Sheehy, Sr., H. Ryan of Toronto and J. Clairmont, Sr. J. R. Corkery, Jr. responded to the expression of thanks to his parents.

During the reception, two very sweet vocal solos, "Until," and "I Love You Truly," were sung by Miss Ernestine McManus, who wore a pretty dress of salmon-colored satin trimmed with gold, and orchid hat. Miss Florence Giroux acted as accompanist.

Mr. and Mrs. Clairmont left on the afternoon train, to spend their honeymoon in Toronto, Hamilton, Niagara Falls and Buffalo. They will reside in Gravenhurst.

The bride travelled in a handsome outfit of brown and sand. Her dress was of cocoa canton knife-pleated crepe, with separate panel at back and front, and smocked yoke. Her hat was a small shape of cocoa braid trimmed with a pheasant feather, and her wrap was of sand tricotine with wide bands of cutwork embroidery, outlined with braiding in self color, and with lining of cocoa canton crepe. Bronze kid pumps and bronze stockings were worn.

The bride, who has a large number of handsome gifts, testifying to her popularity and the high esteem in which she is held by the community.

HALLELUJAH WEDDING HERE

A Hallelujah Wedding is at any time a unique ceremony, but such a wedding when the couple are Salvation Army officers, is still more interesting. Such was the case at the Temple last evening, when Capt. Henry J. Parnell, at present the officer in charge of the Salvation Army corps at Mimico, was united in matrimony to Captain Martha E. Edwards, lately officer in charge of Trenton corps. Both are from Peterborough, the bride's parents reside in East City, and the bridegroom's home is on Park street north.

The singing of a hymn, "Lord, we ask Thy richest blessing, on our Comrades we unite," lined out by Col. Martin of Montreal, opened the service. A prayer invoking God to "hallow the ceremony with His presence, and prosper and bless the couple who were to start the new life," offered by Mrs. Col. Martin preceded the reading of the Scripture by Mrs. Brig. Walton of Toronto. Previous to the ceremony proper, Brig. Walton of Toronto, read the orders affecting marriage as it affects o cers of the Salvation Army, charging each of the couple with "that this union shall in no way hinder either in further service as officers of the Salvation Army." Then, solemnly, the reading of the service to each, and the audible answer of both, the Brigadier declared them man and wife.

With all the publicity of Salvation Army weddings, one wonders if any ceremony of this kind could have been more fittingly concluded than this one. The newly wedded pair, their friends, guests and the congregation, knelt and sang the 23rd Psalm, and one felt that the singing was one huge prayer, and the sentiments of Brigadier Walton's benediction brought out a crowd of Amens from all over the building.

Representative speakers in well-chosen words made references to each of the couple. Mrs. Lang of Peterborough, on behalf of the Corps Cadet Class, of this city; Bandmaster T. W. Robinson, on behalf of the band; Capt. Peasey who supported the bride, spoke of happy associations with Mrs. Capt. Parnell, as an officer with her; Capt. J. Woods, Territorial Headquarters, Toronto, spoke of happy days in the Training College, with Cap. Parnell, Col. Martin, divisional commander, Montreal Division, representing that section of S. A. warfare; Brigadier Walton, division commander, West Toronto, welcomed Captain and Mrs. Parnell to his division, as they will take charge of Mimico corps.

Congratulatory telegrams from far and near were read by Commandmant Smith, who also voiced greetings of the Peterboro corps.

Com. Sowton, Chief of the S. A. work in Canada East, wired:

"The Chief Secretary joins Mrs. Sowton and myself in wishing you both every blessing on this your wedding day. May the joy of the Lord be your portion continually, and your united efforts for Him result in many souls finding the way of peace.—Commissioner Sowton."

Short speeches by both bride and bridegroom brought the service to a close. Music during the evening was provided by the Temple Band, resplendent in their new uniforms, while the singing of the Songster Brigade also was highly appreciated:

Among the guests were:

Mr. and Mrs. H. Pernell, Peterboro; Miss Margaret Parnell, Rochester, N.Y.; Master Melville Parnell, Peterboro; Mr. and Mrs. Edwards; Mr. and Mrs. Hapcroft, Master Kenneth Hapcroft, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Edwards, Miss Louise Edwards, Miss Cynthia Edwards, Mr. Charles Morrison, Peterboro, Col. and Mrs. Martin, Montreal; Brig. and Mrs. Walton, Toronto; Comdt. and Mrs. Smith, Peterboro; Adjt. Buntin, Windsor; Capt. H. Payton, Smith's Falls; Cadet Broomer, Brantford; Capt. Ellis, Toronto; Capt. Hart, Belleville; Capt. Court, Trenton. Lt. Yost, Toronto; Mrs. Smith, Cadet Spicer, Mrs. Barry, Mr. and Mrs. McCannon, Mrs. Newton, Trenton; Mrs. Digby, Mrs. Stitt, Miss C. Walton, Toronto; Mr. James Clarke, Mr. Dave Clarke, Peterboro.

The couple left for their honeymoon trip to Ottawa on the night train and were accorded a hearty send off by relatives and friends.

BOURNEMOUTH, England, June 18. — Bournemouth citizens are circulating a petition demanding the removal of two peacocks that were brought here by the Town Council to beautify the city. The nocturnal cries of the two birds can be heard from one side of the town to the other, and one of the pair frightened an elderly spinster by appearing in her parlour window recently.

Paul In Possession

By RUBY AYRES

Copyright, 1924, by The McClure Newspaper Syndicate

The story thus far:

"Abide with me, fast falls the eventide—" Over and over again the plaintive tune was borne to the dying ears of John Collinge. Then the bells were silent—and in the following silence he died. He left behind him Wanda Griffin, his adopted daughter—as selfish and unpopular as he himself had been—and his son Paul, with whom he had quarreled, and who was consequently abroad. After his death Wanda felt (for the first time in her life) remorse, but it did not prevent her from being as bad-tempered as ever, and Bertram Lindsay, the family lawyer, found her as difficult to deal with as ever. Clare Garnet, Wanda's one friend, comes to visit her. Miserable and lonely, Wanda left the house and wandered into the rose garden, still thinking of the dead man. Then she caught her breath. Calmly picking some of the choicest blossoms stood a man. She went forward quickly. "How dare you pick my roses?" she asked. "Your roses?" repeated the man. "And who the devil are you?" "How dare you speak to me like that?" panted Wanda. "Who are you?" But even before he answered her she knew that he was Paul Collinge.

TODAY'S INSTALMENT.

V—THE WILL.

They were back at the open library window now, and Wanda entered a little ahead of Paul.

"He's come," she said. "I found him in the garden, picking the roses."

Mr. Lindsay rose from his chair, but Clare Garnet stayed where she was, her eyes very bright and interested as she looked at Paul.

Mr. Lindsay greeted him heartily.

"Welcome home, my dear boy. I am only sorry you could not get here a little sooner."

Wanda laughed rather cruelly.

"I don't suppose Paul wanted to see Uncle John again any more than Uncle John wanted to see him," she said, bluntly, and walked out of the room.

Paul looked after her with raised brows.

"What a very disagreeable young lady," he said.

Mr. Lindsay introduced him to Clare.

"I am just staying here with dear Wanda for a few days," she said in her sweetest voice. "The poor girl is so distressed. She could not bear to be alone in the house."

Paul glanced at Lindsay.

"Is it true that she and my father were devotedly attached?" he said, cynically.

There was a little uncomfortable silence, then Mr. Lindsay said:—

"You knew your father better than I did."

* * *

Paul dragged forward a seat and sat down.

He looked a very large person in the twilight.

"Well, what is the position here?" he asked in his blunt way. "I understand that my father adopted this girl. Is that so?"

Mr. Lindsay bowed rather nervously. "There is a will," he said, half apologetically.

"Out of which I am cut with the proverbial shilling, I suppose?" Paul submitted whimsically. "Well, it's no more than I expected."

He spoke callously, but he was not callous. He had strained every nerve to get home in time to see his father again, and it had come as a blow to him to learn in the village that he was too late.

"Well, you may as well tell me what the will says," he said after a moment. "And anyway, I suppose I can stay a few days? Miss Spitfire will extend hospitality as far as that, won't she?"

"The will has not been read," Mr. Lindsay answered. "I waited till you were here."

"I see. Well, in that case there is no need to wait any longer, is there?" Paul said coolly.

Mrs. Garnet interposed.

"But have you had any dinner—aren't you famished? Do let me ring and order you something."

Paul smiled and shook his head.

"Thank you, I had a meal on the train. Let's get the business done, Lindsay."

"Just as you like, of course. I have the will here with me."

Mr. Lindsay looked a little agitated; he appealed to Clare.

"Miss Griffin should be here."

"I will fetch her."

When the two men were left alone Paul looked at Mr. Lindsay with a comical smile.

"She's prepared to hate me, eh?"

Mr. Lindsay tried to evade the question.

"She has been shockingly spoilt; she does not know what it is to be denied anything."

"It's quite time somebody told her what it is then," Paul said, grimly. "She ought to have a few years of roughing it as I have—she ought to——" he broke off as the two women came back again.

Wanda looked pale and defiant; she st down beside Mrs. Garnet, her hands clasped in her lap.

"Mr. Lindsay is going to read my father's will," Paul explained. "I thought you would like to be present."

"Like to be present!" she echoed angrily, then with an effort she controlled herself. "You are very kind," she said with sarcasm.

Mr. Lindsay was arranging papers at a table. He cleared his throat once or twice nervously before he began to speak.

Wanda kept her eyes fixed upon him; she felt painfully excited without knowing why; once when she met Paul's eyes her heart began to beat angrily. She had always known she would dislike him, and now they had met she hated him.

* * *

Mr. Lindsay began to speak.

"There are only a few lines of this will which was made on—let me see—the Wednesday before Mr. Collinge died."

Wanda gave a little violent movement, then sat very still again, and Mrs. Garnet sat forward, additional interest in her eyes.

Mr. Lindsay read the first few formal sentences, and Wanda listened as if in a dream. The legal phrascology meant nothing to her; she was only impatient because she supposed it was a necessary part of what was to follow.

". . . I herewith revoke all other wills and bequests which I have made, and leave my entire fortune and all my possessions to my only son Paul.—Nicholas Collinge."

A Recital

Between four and five hundred people assembled in the hall of the Conservatory of Music last evening for the song recital by pupils of Mrs. Dorothy Allan Park. The programme, which was long but very interesting, went through in brisk fashion. Selections ranged all the way from the pretty, tuneful melodies of Wilfrid Sanderson to numbers sung in French and Italian, with one effective rendition in Latin. The appreciative audience paid full justice to the efforts of the large class ot pupils, each of whom sang as if their individual hearts were in their work. Good stage presence and easy delivery are attributes of Mrs. Park's pupils, whose splendid training has evidently placed their voices carefully. Their attention to tempo and rhythm, their clear intonation and pleasing phrasing, makes their work very attractive. Altogether, it was a very artistic recital and the different solos, duets, quartettes and sextettes were heartily applauded.

Two attractive selections were the choruses by the lady pupils, the four-part rendition of "Sylvia," and the final three-part chorus, "By the Gypsy Fire," being much enjoyed. The two duets, an Il Trovatore selection, "Home to Our Mountains," by Mrs. Hazel D. McClelland and Mr. Stanley Willis, and an Italian number, "Solenne in quest'ora" from Verdi's "La Forze del Destino," by Messrs. M. H. Park and R. A. Brown, were beautifully sung, as was the opening quartette, "Oh, Hush Tee, My Baby," sung by the Misses Geraldine Collins and Bertha Bill, and Messrs. S. Willis and R. A .Brown. A sextette, "In This Hour of Softened Splendor," by Mrs. Ford Turner, the Misses Mabel Gardiner, Frances Robertson, Alice Price, and Messrs. Park and Brown, was another exceptionally good number.

An out of the ordinary selection was the Bach-Gounod "Ave Maria" sung in attractive fashion and pretty voice by Miss Geraldine Collins, with double grand piano accompaniment by Mrs. Park and Mrs. Evans, with violin obligato by Mrs. J. Foster, who played the lovely, well-known prayer in splendid tone.

The songs by the gold medallists of the programme, Messrs. M. H. Park and R. A. Brown, were delivered in their usual splendid style. Mr. Park singing "Vainement, ma bien-aimee" from "Le Roi d'Ys", and Mr. R. A. Brown singing a selection from Gounod's "Queen of Sheba," "Sous les pieds d'une femme."

The programme, each individual number meeting with much-deserved applause, included the following solos: "Who'll Come Maying With Me," by Miss Berenice Cain," "My Dear Soul," by Miss Nettie Nelson, "Love is Mine," by Mr. Kenneth Jarvis, "Husheen," a delicate, vibrant lullaby, with violin obligato by Mrs. Foster, sung by Miss Leah Black, "Mother, My Dear," by Mrs. Bertha Hill, "At Dawning," by Mrs. Leila Spriggs, "The Piper of Dreams," by Miss Helen Lytle, a double number, the recitative, "And God Created Man," and the aria, "In Native Worth," sung by Mr. Stanley Willis, "When the Swallows Homeward Fly," by Miss Frances Robertson, "To Music," by Miss Mary Elliott, "At Sunset," by Miss Alice Price, "Then Weep! Thou Grief-Worn Eyes," by Miss Ina Allen, "O, Ma Lyre Immortelle," by Mrs. Ford Turner, "Love's a Merchant," by Miss Mabel Gardiner, and "The Nightingales of Lincoln's Inn," by Mrs. Hazel Davidson McClelland.

Accompanists for the evening were Mrs. Park, Mrs. G. G. Evans and Mrs. M. C. Mackinnon, all of whom received lovely floral tributes, as well as the lady soloists. At the conclusion of the programme, Mrs. Park entertained her pupils in the Art Room of the Conservatory, Mrs. R. Gliddon pouring coffee at the table, prettily centred with lily of the valley.

CHURCH UNION DEBATE

OTTAWA, June 18.—(Canadian Press).—The expected debate on church union was not proceeded with last night. When the bill was called for consideration in committee it was allowed to stand, probably owing to the absence from Ottawa of the prime minister.

COUNCIL MAKE MONEY GRANT TO FALL FAIRS

Fair Board Deputation Before County Council -Norwood School Problem.

LAKEFIELD BRIDGE

It was deputation morning at this morning's session of the County Council,

Mr. W. E. Pakenham, Reeve of Norwood, introduced Mr. Squires, as representing the Norwood Board of Education. In addressing the Council, Mr. Squires solicited the county's assistance for the purpose of aiding the Norwood Board to remain in a position so that they could continue Upper School work in the Norwood High School.

Mr. Squires stated that because of the congestion in the Universities the High School standard had been raised. The High School Inspector's report stated that the number taking Upper School work and the results obtained justified continuing it. Of the 18 attending the Upper School only six are resident in Norwood, the others coming from all parts of the county, said Mr. Squires, including some from just south of the City of Peterboro.

Mr. Pakenham assured the Council that the $800 grant asked for was urgently needed.

It was asked by Mr. T. Lillico if this Norwood High School grant was to be chronic, or was this the last year that the Board expected county assistance.

Mr. Squires replied that we will have to turn the children down if we fail to obtain sufficient finances; the Peterboro Collegiate will not accept county pupils.

It was interjected by Mr. W. A. Anderson that probably the Board could stand a reduction in the grant this year.

It was moved by Mr. Lillico that the Board receive $800.

Mr. Strickland opined that since the work of the Board benefits the county, we should assist the Board.

Mr. H. B. Rye said he was satisfied that Norwood needed the grant and seconded Mr. Lillico's motion.

The motion carried.

Roads and Bridges.

The Council then went into committee of the whole on roads and bridges. Mr. Wm. Brown presided. Mr. Brown presented the following report as chairman of the Roads and Bridges Committee, outlining the committee's inspections of the various bridges and their recommendations:

To the Members of the Standing Committee on Roads and Bridges.

Gentlemen,—Your chairman has endeavored to lend all assistance possible to the various committees deputed to look into various bridge conditions in order to report at this session.

Taking the same in order as they are printed:

Clause 7, January session Roads and Bridges Committee report: Referring to Newell's bridge in Asphodel, I ascertained at the time of the inspection that the same is not a county bridge, but I will be pleased to hear from those who accompanied Mr. Scott as to the most advisable thing to do.

Clause 8, referring to Douglas Bridge, Dummer, I understand this bridge has been inspected heretofore and also the engineer requested to examine the same. I find he has done so, and prepared plans that he thought advisable for the situation, but at the same time, if you do not choose to build that class of a bridge, no charge will be made for either examination or plans.

It does not appear good business to expend so much money where the traffic is limited, yet after all have given their views on the matter a better conception of conditions will be within reach of a majority of the Council.

Clause 9, referring to the Bensfort and Wallace Point Bridges. We met the Reeve from South Monaghan at the bridges and he decided to bring the Warden with himself to Peterboro, to meet the members of this Council, when in session, and all matters can be adjusted in a short space of time.

Clause 10, referring to Perry Creek Bridge. The visiting committee vested authority in Mr. D. Brown to have the bridge made safe for traffic.

Clause 11, referring to the proposed sidewalk in connection with Alma Street Bridge. I am surprised that such was not provided at the time of construction, especially when economy was practised to the finest point in building the bridge narrow, leaving it a thing out of the question for a pedestrian to cross on the bride with safety. It appears to be one of the main thoroughfares and a sidewalk consistent with the material in the bridge would be more in touch with other local improvements.

When down at the boundary bridges at the instance of Mr. Smithson, we visited the Baseline bridge and those who were there, certainly thought it required immediate attention. The conditions can be discussed at this session, when authority can be given Mr. Smithson as to what course to pursue.

Your committee viisted the Hastings boundary bridges on Deer river at the eastern part of Belmont. Several of the members of Hastings met us there and Mr. Breckenridge will explain the reasons for the action taken from the fact that he is familiar with the conditions and when he is so doing I would request him to bring up the Freeman bridge. Other bridges that I have not referred to will no doubt be brought forward by the respective Reeves and I can assure that I will do my utmost to assist, but the only thing I regret, is, that I can never repay you who accompanied the Warden and myself on those inspections, for the courtesy and advice given.

The Council discussed the advisability of using part of the old Lakefield bridge structure for building a small bridge in place of the present shabby affair called Douglas' Creek bridge. Warden Coughlin stated that Mr. McNab advised him that this could be done.

Mr. Hawthorne remarked that the present bridge is in bad shape and that something must be done to take care of the local traffic.

Before any decision was reached on this matter Reeve J. Strickland of Lakefield, moved that the deputation from the Lakefield Agricultural Society, who have been waiting for some time be heard. The motion carried and Mr. Strickland introduced the deputation, remarking that the Society were asking for a grant of $300. Before taking his seat he advised the Council that the Lakefield deputation had already pared their estimates, thus saving the Council that trouble.

Mr. Galvin in addressing the Council, stated that "the Lakefield Agricultural Society had started on the roadside and its progress had been slow but steady." "It is the oldest Fair in the county," said the speaker, "and I feel that it will yet hold a one week's show." "Improvement in agriculture, particularly in stock, has been largely brought about by the influences of the agricultural fairs," said Mr. Galvin.

Mr. Braden, secretary of the Society, reminded the Council that the hand of Providence had been against the show, for it had rained on three consecutive show days. "We are burdened wtih a $3,000.00 mortgage," said Mr. Braden.

It was pointed out by Mr. Strickland that the cause of the Society was worthy of assistance and that the Ontario Government had taken the stand that the fall fairs must be continued in the interests of agriculture. He then moved that the Council grant the Society $300.00.

Reeve Morley Smithson, of Otonabee, stated that he would support the motion if the Council would make a similar grant to the Keene Society.

Mr. Anderson said that he considered Keene and Lakefield had fairs about equal.

This brought Mr. John Clark to his feet, who remarked that Galway was still on the map. "We have not looked to the Council for assistance, have built our own grounds and have a show equal to either Lakefield or Keene," said Mr. Clarke.

The respective merits of the three shows were discussed from all angles and after motions were withdrawn and amendments made, an amendment to the amendment of the original motion carried on motion of Messrs. Lillico and Hawthorne, embodying a resolution that Lakefield, Keene and Galway agricultural Societies each receive a special grant of $200. Each of these societies will also receive the usual annual grant of $75.00.

Mr. Ed. Corkery, just as adjournment was suggested, asked that the Council decide whether they intend to take the proposed trip to Ottawa to-morrow in refernce to the Chemong bridge scheme. The memwa to-morrow in reference to the advisability of the trip at this time and the matter was left over until the afternoon session.

FARM NEWS

PROVINCE HAS ASSURANCE OF BETTER TIMES

Reports to Department of Agriculture Are Encouraging on the Whole.

FALL WHEAT GOOD

Pastures Improved by Warmer Weather and Cattle Improving.

The following is a summary of returns made by the Agricultural Representatives to the Ontario Department of Agriculture.

Pastures have been much improved by the warm weather, which has prevailed during the week, and milk production has been increased.

Considerable corn, buckwheat, millet, and annual pasture crops have been put in during the week to take the place of spring grains that had been delayed in sowing.

Fall wheat is looking well, taking the crop as a whole, and is making good growth with the favorable weather now prevailing. The present prospects are for a good average yield.

Middlesex.—There appears to be prospects for a light crop of Baldwins; Greenings and Spies fair; Snows and McIntosh good; early apples abundant.

Lincoln.—There is considerable showing of peach leaf curl on orchards where spraying operations were not properly done. On the whole, however, in sprayed orchards we have considerable better control of this disease this year than in previous years.

Prescott and Russell.—Bees are doing very well, although they have missed part of the dandelion crop, and swarming is about three weeks later than usual.

Timiskaming.—In travelling through the district during the past week, I find that there is quite a lot of hay on hand, with little prospect of it being moved before new hay is on the market. I believe that this is one of the things that will induce farmers to keep more live stock in the future than they have done in the past.

Lincoln.—We have a few more men looking for jobs than there are vacancies to take them. With the coming warmer weather these extra helpers will be readily absorbed. Wages still remain from $20 to $35 per month, depending on experience.

In Peterboro County

Peterboro.—Cheese factories and creameries are now receiving a very heavy supply of milk. The flow is probably about now at its heaviest. Cheese is slowly increasing in price this week selling at between 15c and 16c a pound, with butter at from 25c to 35c a pound.

Glengarry.—Milk production is now equal to last year, but perhaps there is less milk being made into cheese. Cheese jumped a cent last week to 15.7-8 cents, and that has gone a long way to make farmers feel better.

Middlesex.—Live stock are not doing any too well on pasture. Grass is poorer than usual at this time of year, but there is a larger area of grass per animal than previously.

York.—Some of our best dairy herds have only been turned out during the past week. Pasture is poor compared with other years and will not stand much cropping.

South Simcoe.—There was a large shipment of stock from the county last week. Duntroon shipped 73 hogs (20 graded selects), $9.20 per cwt. being received for the selects and $8.40 for thick smooths. Five choice butcher steers were also shipped, for which 8c per lb. was received. 82 hogs were shipped from Creemore, with 26 selects, which sold for the same prices as those from Duntroon. There were also heavy shipments of stock from Alliston—23 cattle, averaging 1115 pounds, sold for $7.50 per cwt.; one cow sold for 6½c, while 10 poor steers sold for from 3c to 5c per lb. Some 215 hogs were shipped out, selling for $7.50 on the flat rate. Calves ranged all the way from 5c to 8c per lb.; seven choice lambs, averaging 60 lbs., each sold for $19.50 per cwt.; three lighter ones brought $17 per cwt., one yearling ewe at 12c and two old sheep at 6c a lb.

Victoria.—More lambs than usual are being marketed owing to the good prices. Sheep seem to be the most popular kind of live stock at the present time.

Sheep Cause Interest.

Peterboro.—The rush of stock is about over for the present. Most of the veal calves and hogs have gone out. Interest is increasing in the sheep industry, while the hog industry at present is very unstable.

Timiskaming.—Live stock that was not wintered very well is now showing up to better advantage owing to the fact that they have been on pasture for a number of weeks. Pasture is good at the present time, and there seems to be every prospect of it remaining so for some time.

Fort William.—Dairy cows are selling at from $80 to $100. The summer price for milk has been set at 24c per gallon. Milk production is about normal, and it is in good demand. The average production of twelve herds in the Slate River locality for the month of May was a little over 700 lbs. per cow.

INCREASE ACREAGE IN ALBERTA

CALGARY, June 17.—During the past week there has been an excellent amount of precipitation practically all over Alberta, and latest reports are to the effect that crops are coming along in an exceedingly fast manner. It is estimated that there is a slight increase in acreage compared with last year when Alberta harvested the largest crop on record for the Province.

POWER OF DOLLAR.

"During the first two months of this year the purchasing power of the farmer's dollar has stood at 74," reports C. R. Arnold. "Since 1913 the farmer's purchasing power has been above 100 for only five years."

Says He Gave Moonshine To His Tubercular Cows

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., June 18.—George Washington Smith, Sr., of West Brookfield, on trial in the United States District Court here, charged with illegal possession of liquor, testified that he was in the habit of drinking liquor and that he had, with beneficial effect, given moonshine liquor to cows he owned that showed tubercular symptoms. He owned twenty-six cows, he said.

HEAD LETTUCE NEEDS CULTURE

THIN REGULARLY

MILLBROOK, June 18.—A gardener of many years' experience, who has had continuous success in raising head lettuce, gives the following directions for unfailing results: A trench four inches wide and the same depth should be dug, filling three inches of it with well-rotted manure, and the remaining inch with loose earth.

Sow the head lettuce seed in a drill along the centre and when the plants come up, thin to about six inches apart. As the heads form thin out alternate plants, leaving last heads twelve inches apart, and keep well watered. Artificial fertilizer may be used if manure is not available, keeping them fed from first appearance above ground. Ground partly shaded is an advantage. The secret of success is an abundance of water and fertilizer.

Thinning out of any vegetables should be done regularly, watering the ground first so as not to disturb the remaining plants, and doing the work in the cool part of the day. Peas, beans, parsley, and turnips soon deteriorate from overcrowding. Carrots when young make a delicious vegetable cooked till tender and served with white sauce, or they may be used in soups. Thin out the rows frequently.

Beet greens are so generally appreciated that this vegetable is usually thinned out as soon as possible. An application of common salt, half an ounce to the square yard on the surface of the soil, after thinning and before hoeing, is decidedly helpful for this, and other vegetables of the same class.

There is still a scarcity of potatoes being offered locally, the price now being $1.75 per bag, as compared with $1.25 two or three weeks ago.

Eggs are 23 cents, creamery butter 35 cents, and dairy butter from 25 to 27 cents.

Wheat at $1.00 per bushel is certainly underpriced but there have been times when one-quarter that amount was all that was offered. Robert McCamus was one of the pioneer settlers who came out from Ireland and took up land in Cavan Township. His descendants, Reeve J. L. McCamus, and T. W. McCamus, are still among the most prosperous farmers of this neighborhood, the latter occupying the original homestead. Their sturdy pioneer ancestor related as a fact that in 1820 farmers taking wheat to Smith's Creek, now Port Hope, were told that tea, sugar, and other groceries, were cash articles, and could not be exchanged for wheat—the latter was a drug on the market at 25 cents per bushel.

The country grows in beauty daily, spring grains, while backward for this late in the season, have a healthy appearance on the whole, though there are occasional "spotty" fields where evidently all the seed planted has not given an even growth.

Maples have fully leafed out but there are some trees which show the effects of the late frosts, the browned and withered appearance of the branches looking almost as if scorched by a hot fire. The abundance of fruit blossoms should promise a good yield next fall, crab-apple trees being especially covered with bloom.

LOCAL CROP REPORT.

It is reported by L. Kemp, of Douro Township, that the crops in that district are very good, and that they have improved greatly in the past two weeks. They expect to have a bumper hay crop this year, and the fall wheat and peas are looking fine. Rain is still needed as the ground is beginning to dry up again.

Daniel Hayes, of Otonabee, states that the crops in that part of the country are fair, but that the fall wheat in the lower land will be late this year. The fall wheat on the higher land is very good, but could be better.

The crops of North Monaghan are reported by T. Lush, of that district, to be very good generally. Everything is nice and green at present and has grown considerably in the past week. Most of the crops are looking very promising, and with plenty of rain there should be a very good growth.

WAYSIDE TREES ARE SUGGESTED ALONG HIGHWAY

Seventy-Five Years Ago the Plan Was Broached and Dropped.

MATTER FOR REGRET

Banner Fruit Crop Presaged in Northumberland This Year.

COBOURG, June 17.—If the advice of "Working Farmer," who wrote to the Canadian Agriculturist 75 years ago upon the subject of planting trees by the wayside had been followed, there would be few travellers upon the highways who would not find it possible to be regaled by fruit. The article states that the practice of setting out fruit trees along the roadside cannot be too highly recommended. Reference is made to the practice of doing this, carried on then by some European countries, and particularly Germany. The owner of the farm adjoining the line of fruit trees puts a mark upon every third fruit tree, which signified that it was his property, according to the European custom, and no traveller was supposed to touch that tree, but the other ones public property.

Many of the larger sort of fruit trees, the article concludes, "are highly ornamental and afford fine shade."

If the amount of bloom is any criterion of a good crop of all kinds, then certainly Northumberland County will have a banner crop of fruit this year, both small fruits and apples, pears, etc. A visitor looking at the apple bloom said it reminded him of the Annapolis Valley, where there is evidence also of a good crop. Strawberries in this locality are late, being now just past the height of bloom. Small fruits of all kinds will be about two weeks later this season than usually.

Looking Backward.

In 1850 the bacon hog was eveidntly largely unknown. Weight seemed to be one of the points forcibly impressed by the Canadian Horticulturist, the leading farm journal of that day and possibly the only one published in Upper Canada. The issue of February, 1850, says:

"The Amherstburg Courier observes that a fat hog was recently killed at that place, bred by Mr. Louis Bouise, that amounted to the enormous weight of 763 lbs., the animal being only two years old.

"We likewise notice in the Long Point Advocate that Mr. J. B. Carpenter killed a hog weighing 710 pounds. We should like to be informed of the breed of these animals, and the mode in which they were fattened. In many parts of the country too little attention is paid to these matters, the consequence is a coarse kind of animal of stunted growth.

"Since writing the above we learn from our excellent contemporary the Maine farmer, that a hog only fourteen months old was recently slaughtered weighing 522 pounds. The same paper states the weight of another pig only ten months old was 410 pounds, which afforded 45 pounds of lard. By careful calculation the actual cost of the pork was a fraction short of four cents per pound.

"The Massachusetts Ploughman, the editor of the Horticulturist continued, contains a good practical article on the important matter of fattening hogs, and in order to help agriculturists of well nigh three-quarters of a century ago, he passed the article on. It was as follows:

"Hogs should be fatted in the shortest possible time. A good appetite in the animal is the first requisite, and therefore everything should be done to promote it. Give him that which suits his palate best, and he will soon gain a good appetite; put molasses into his food rather than that he should not eat all up clean. Both molasses and sweet apples on many farms cost but little, and they are excellent to mix with pig feed. Feed full and with strict punctuality. Ashes containing charred coal, salt, rotten wood, peat, etc., thrown into the pen, help to quicken the appetite and promote the health of the animal.

The writer goes on to show that a fifty pound pig purchased live weight at 4½ per pound and costing $2.25, could be fattened at a total cost of $16.89. The pig when ready for market is supposed to have attained a weight of 411 pounds and the market price for the fattened animal is $26.71, giving the farmer a net profit of $9.82, which certainly could not be said to be an excessive one.

The article concludes as follows: "No account is made of skim milk, which on most farms possesses no exchangeable value, and the refuse of many things are consumed by swine that would otherwise be totally wasted Generally hogs do better together than one alone, provided there be room and accommodation sufficient. They seem to love society, and after a short acquaintance become peaceable and quiet and attached to each other."

PURE BRED STOCK SCARCE IN CANADA

OTTAWA, June 18 (Canadian Press).—Less than five per cent. of the farmers in Canada are breeders of pure bred stock, Hon. Duncan Marshall declared at the organization meeting of Eastern Ontario Ayrshire Breeders' Association here yesterday. Breeders of such animals, he added, are helping to raise the quality of the grade herds all over the Dominion. The idea was not only to produce good-looking animals for show purposes, but also something that was a revenue producer in milking qualities.

Dr. J. H. Brisdale, Deputy Minister of Agriculture, announced that the Government was arranging to get accreditation for the man with the small herd, and that it was now possible for breeders in a small way to get their herds accredited against tuberculosis.

FARMERS' PLIGHT SEEN IN SURVEYS

Prices for His Products Have Not Kept Step With Those He Pays.

As a result of the study of the price trends of ten crops and five classes of live stock and of live stock products for the last five years, the National Industrial Conference Board has come to the conclusion that while those things which the farmer buys had increased more than 100 per cent. in price in 1920 over 1914 and stood about 86 per cent. higher in 1923, the value of an acre of his crops stood only 31 per cent. higher than in 1914. Furthermore, the purchasing value was only 71 per cent. of the 1914 value.

"The principal crops and live stock products, when analysed by value an acre or in prices per pound for the last five years, show equally striking results," the statement made public yesterday continues.

"They show, for example, that the products other than dairy products which are now at a fairly high level are the industrial raw materials—cotton, wool, and flaxseed, and not food. Thus the farmer's debt to industry, which has acted as a saving balance in his present unstable condition, becomes readily apparent.

"Furthermore, any increase in the purchasing power of forage crops is only apparent, and not actual, inasmuch as they are fed to animals rather than sold, and food animals are still at a low level. This really might represent a loss to the farmer, if he has to feed high-priced forage, either raised or purchased, to animals which he will be able to sell only at a low price.

"Statistically the study differs from most data used to show the purchasing power of farm products, which have been criticized by economists, educational and banking authorities, because:

"The Board has used retail prices of selected article bought by farmers, instead of the more easily quoted wholesale prices, which are used so frequently and erroneously.

The value of all crops raised is figured by the acre instead of by the bushel standard, because the yield may vary for causes outside the farmer's control.

"The price of farm products used is the price to the farmer, rather than the market price, which includes relatively high freight rates and other factors.

"Even with this statistical care employed, the relatively poor showing which the farmer makes in a period otherwise prosperous is still not a measure of his financial position. Such a measure would take cognizance also of the farmers' gross income, minus what he pays as interest on mortgages and bank loans, taxes and labor, to arrive at the amount actually available for his operating and living expenses.

"For several years the view has been widespread that the farmer has not been bearing his share of the burden of contributing towards the support of the governments. It will doubtless come as a surprise to many economists, as well as authorities on agriculture, to learn that as a matter of fact the farmer appears to be overtaxed rather than undertaxed.

"The conference board in its exhaustive analysis on tax burdens and exemptions, finds that as a matter of fact the farmer is paying more than his share of the nation's tax bill, and has been for some time."

POOL CONTRACTS LEGAL

Saskatchewan Farmers Have 6,150,000 Acres Under Contract.

REGINA, Sask., June 18 (Canadian Press).—Contracts signed by Saskatchewan farmers to deliver their wheat to the wheat pool organization are now legal. Directors of the organization gave an official estimate of the acreage now under contract, of 6,150,000, well over the objective of 6,132,000 acres.

NO EARLY POTATOES

Bailieboro Folk Retarded in Planting Operations by Rain.

BAILIEBORO, June 18.—There is a very poor prospect for a crop of extra potatoes this summer. Owing to the long continuous spell of wet, cold weather during the past two months, it has been impossible for the farmers to put as much time onto their root-ground as they should have to prepare it and put it in shape to receive the seed.

The majority of farmers in South Monaghan are only beginning to plant their potatoes, corn and other roots this week, and in a great many cases the ground is not prepared as well as the farmers would have liked it

CROP THE GARDEN THROUGH SUMMER

Succession Cropping May be Carried on in Smallest Garden.

Succession cropping, as it is commonly understood in garden practice, consists simply in following one crop closely after another, in this manner getting continuous cropping throughout the entire growing season. Commercial gardeners follow this plan, but farmers, villagers and suburbanites do not to the extent they could and should do.

There is another form of cropping, known as double cropping, which consists of starting more than one crop on the land at the same time. In the first case as soon as one crop is off, another crop is planted. In the second, two or more crops are planted in alternate rows, one crop maturing and being out of the way before the other or more slowly growing crop begins to yield its harvest.

The point is to keep the garden busy all summer. Find a crop that you like for taking the place of these early crops now matured or over with for this year. Combination without end may be mentioned which are to be found in common use all over the country. In selecting the crops for this system personal taste will largely guide in the case of home gardens, while in commercial gardens market requirements will receive first consideration.

A few illustrations may serve to emphasize the points in question and guide those who have not heretofore followed this practise. As succession crops, early cabbage may be followed by cucumbers for pickles, late beets or string beans, all of which may be removed in time to be followed with a cover crop such as rye or vetch to add to the humus supply of the garden soil. Peas may be followed by late cabbage; lettuce and radish by almost any crop that does well during the hotter portions of summer, such as cabbage and the cucumber, which may be removed in time for a late crop of turnips, winter radish or fall lettuce.

A common double-cropping combination is cabbage, lettuce, radishes, all started at the same time. The radishes will come off first, lettuce will require five or six weeks, after which the ground is totally occupied by the early cabbage. In cutting the cabbage, every third head may be cut as early as development will permit and tomatoes started in their places. If preferred, beans, beets or celery may follow, which in turn may be followed by a cover crop if more vegetable matter is needed for the soil. Radishes may be planted in potatoes. Sweet corn may be planted in the potato rows after the last cultivation of the potatoes.

ORCHARDS GOOD

Strawberries Form and Give Indications of a Splendid Crop.

BETHANY, June 17.—Rain would be very welcome in this vicinity to bring the crops and other produce along. All crops are showing up well with rye over a foot high. Lambs have survived the wet cold spring with few fatalities. Orchards are showing a magnificent bloom, and the recent frosts does not seem to have affected them any. Strawberries are forming, and indications show that an abundant supply of wild berries will be available, unless the weather later on becomes very dry and dries them up.

ROSENEATH HAS PROSPECTS FOR A BANNER YEAR

Fair Board Gets Into Harness and All Pull Together for Success.

CHANGE THE DATE

Many Improvements Suggested and Made by the Directors.

ROSENEATH, June 17.—At the directors' meeting of the Alnwich Agricultural Society, held at Roseneath on Thursday, Mr. Charles Brown, first vice-president, brought forward the proposition of changing the date of the Fair from October ninth and tenth to the sixteenth and seventeenth.

For the past few years Warkworth has held the first Thursday and Friday; Norwood the second Tuesday and Wednesday, and Roseneath the following Thursday and Friday, making a circuit which seemed to work out well in every respect. This year, Norwood, on account of the freak of the calendar month, took the 14th and 15th, and Warkworth took their dates, and this left Roseneath sandwiched between their date, the ninth and tenth being set by the Central Fairs Association.

Mr. Brown thought this would not work to advantage, as the main feature was being the last Fair of the district and nearly the last in the Province. He advocated dropping the date back one week. The secretary did not think this should be done without the consent of the board of the Central Fairs Association. At first, there was considerable objection, on account of this act putting the Fair so late in October, and in all probability cold weather.

After much discussion a motion was made by Messrs. W. J. Jibb and Chas. Grigg that the Society change the date of the Fair to the 16th and 17th, and that the secretary write the secretary of the Central Fairs Association asking for sanction.

Wm. Arnold moved that the Society stay with the old date, but this did not receive a seconder, and the motion was put before the directors and carried by a substantial majority, several not voting at all, not knowing, on the spur of the moment, which would be to the best interest of the Society.

To have a drawing contest was discussed and several thought that it would be an added attraction, but it was left until later in the year to decide.

The custom has been that the treasurer and secretary have been at the Town Hall on an afternoon, about two weeks after the Fair to pay out the prize-money. This custom originated when the treasurer, in the absence of a local bank, paid the prize winners in cash, and, as time progressed, and a bank started up, all money has been paid by cheque. However, with the Fair progressing in size every year, the old customs have still prevailed, although fifty per cent of the cheques have to be mailed. The treasurer, Charles Grigg, thought this was no longer necessary, and made a motion seconded by F. J. Slade, which carried, that the treasurer would mail cheques to all prize-winners within sixteen days after the Fair.

It was moved by F. J. Slade, seconded by W. J. Jibb, that the vice-president and secretary engage two ladies to revise the ladies' work of the prize list, this revision being subject to the consent of the board. The reason of this was that in some classes no change has been made for a number of years, and many of the sections have outlived their names and are entirely out of date.

There was a fairly good attendance—twenty-two in all—and the members are going at the business with a vengeance hoping to make this year (1924) the banner year of the Fair.

The different committees of management were appointed as follows:—

Light Horses—W. J. Jibb and Albert Halstead.

Heavy Horses—Robert Carstairs and J. T. Drope.

Beef Cattle and Sheep—Jas. Grieves, H. Mouncey and Harry Coyle.

Sowing Their Wild Oats Brought Them a Penalty

REGINA, June 18.—Most men have been accused of sowing wild oats at some time or other, but few have been penalized by the law for so doing. John Klassen and his son, however, have both met with that fate. They were fined $5 and costs in a Swift Current police court. The information was laid under a little used section of the criminal code. The exact offence was sowing wild oats on a section of land near Blumenhoff, Sask., belonging to Jacob Klassen.

FUTURE BRIGHT FOR YOUNG MEN

This is the Time for Young Men to Prepare for Farming.

MESSAGE TO BOYS

When any particular line of business goes into a depression the tendency is to shift to something else. That is true of agriculture and at the present time there is a shifting in this great industry which is tending to reduce production and lead to a general re-adjustment. Many who are inefficient are being forced out which means that the really good farmer will be relieved of this competition.

The future of agriculture should be of a particular interest to young men having a liking for farm work. It is a basic industry, and if we can take any lessons from history the present depression is almost certain to be followed by a swing in the other direction. In discussing this question in a bulletin issued recently, G. F. Warren, one of the leading authorities of the country on agricultural economics, has the following to say:

"This is a good time for a young man to prepare for farming. One who studies agriculture now probably will be ready to start farming when he can buy a good farm business at a low price. From the long-time point of view, farming promises as desirable a mode of life as ever. The present panic is causing the loss of the life-time savings of thousands of thrifty persons who happened to start farming too recently to be out of debt., but the man who begins when prices are at the bottom may actually profit by the disaster to agriculture.

"Wages are good so that one can earn money rapidly during vacations. Probably it will be a long time before there is a better opportunity to save money out of wages, provided the worker is willing to go without some of the things that are not necessary for his health or education. Many persons always spend all they earn as soon as they get it, if they have not spent it before. They prefer temporary pleasure to future happiness, or may be carried along by their associates rather than control their own lives. The young man who plans to be a farmer must have more self-control. He must pass by the shop windows, see things that he desires and keep his money in his pocket, because he wishes to save it for future needs. One who plans to control his own destiny rather than always depend on some one else for his income should keep an account of his receipts and expenditures and occasionally go over the expenses and see which of them he would not prefer to exchange for the cash that they cost. The safest investment of time and money for a young man is an education. We hear men regretting all kinds of expenditures and mistakes of the past. Have you ever heard a man regret that he studied so long?"

What Professor Warren has to say should be of particular interest to high school boys and young men just now concerned with educating themselves for their various callings in life.

Bethlehem is the centre of the mother-of-pearl industry.

IMPROVE BASIS OF CREDIT WAS PROPOSAL MADE

Legislative Effort to Help Farmers Have Failed, It Is Found.

ALL YEAR REVENUE

Diversified Farming Must Supply Solution of Great Problem.

By J. W. TYSON,
Editor, The Financial Post.

WINNIPEG, June 17.—If there is a barren field of credit in the financing of agriculture in Canada, which is not being served by the short-time or long time mortgage loans of the trust, loan and insurance companies, there has been displayed on the part of the representatives of these latter institutions, at the annual meeting of the Dominion Mortgage and Investment Association, a disposition to do everything possible to meet that situation. Throughout the various sessions there has been in evidence a keen desire to do anything in reason on a sound basis to help solve the problems of the farmer. But the bulk of the evidence submitted would indicate that the real need of the situation is to improve the basis of credit rather than to extend the facilities for making loans.

A thorough survey has been made by the Association of conditions in the United States and New Zealand, and the conclusion is that the legislative efforts in these countries to help the farmer by loans based on public credit, have merely resulted in increasing the obligations of the man on the land without making his operations profitable, and at the same time increasing the tax burdens of the whole community.

The positions of the farmers in Western Canada is regarded as being better than is the case of the farmers in the States, and some other countries, in that their credit position has not been impaired to the same extent and their interest obligations are not so heavy. Further, it has been pretty convincingly shown that such legislative efforts as have been made in Canada to supply this so-called barren field of credit, have not worked to the permanent benefit of the community, because many loans made have not been justified on a sound credit basis, and losses resulting will have to be met from the public purse.

All sides of the farm loans question have been considered and discussed by competent agricultural and financial authorities at the various sessions of this convention, and the chief point which has been developed is the need to make farming profitable on the basis of the present investment and to increase that investment only where such increase gives reasonable assurance of a fair return. In a word, the answer given by most of the speakers to the question of improving the position of the farmer was diversified farming—cattle, sheep, hogs and poultry, to provide a source of revenue all year round to meet carrying charges and expenses and give the farmer a good living and a fair profit on his investment.

CROPS TRENT RIVER ARE VERY PROMISING

TRENT RIVER, June 17.—Dairy butter is selling at the stores for 35c; eggs, 22c and 23c.

The early strawberry blossoms have been frost killed, but the late variety are coming on fine, and prospects look good for an abundant crop.

Mr. Tom Tyler, of the 14th Concession, reports clover looking fine.

Mr. James Longmuir, of Havelock Road, has rye coming on fine, and balance of the crop not looking as good as it should be.

Fresh green onions seem a good crop and quantities are brought in for sale.

One cubic foot of salt water weighs 64.3 pounds.

Goin' Barefoot

The grass is all dewy, and gee, but it's cool. It's smooth and it's soft and it beckons. It makes a man wish he was back there in school to go barefoot for just a few seconds.

The sandpile looks tempting when kids are at play. You've seen 'em and you'll understand. Oh, just to go barefoot for even a day and go milling around in the sand.

Perhaps it has rained and your driveway is muck, and puddles of water are oozing. If you could just take off your stockings—what luck! You'd do it if you had your choosing.

The carpet at home is a velvety thing like a spreading of lawn that's uprooted. It makes a man feel that he'd just like a fling at paradin' upon it, barefooted.

Say, man, when these things are a-calling to you, just park yourself down on the floor, and joyfully do what the little folks do; take stockings and shoes off once more.

Modern Methods Pay

Because he has succeeded in introducing modern agriculture into India despite 5,000 years of tradition pointing to the contrary, Sam Higginbottom, Presbyterian missionary, has been awarded the Emperor of India gold medal. In one demonstration he used modern methods in that adjoining, producing twenty-eight bushels to the acre in one case and only six and one-half bushels to the acre in the other. He proved his case by results.

We do not propose to suggest that Canadian agriculture is 5,000 years behind the times. But it has been shown that by the use of scientific methods the output and profits of the average Canadian farm can be increased. This refers not only to a higher yield per acre through crop selection and cultivation, but to stock and poultry raising, dairying, wool growing, etc.

With increasing capital investment, high interest rates, wages and other costs, farming to-day is primarily a business proposition requiring business methods to insure success. Proper management is highly important. The banks, the loaning companies and all forms of business coming in contact with the farmers should aid in the advancement of business methods on the farm, for the benefit of the farmer.

BRADLEY WON A PITCHING DUEL FROM CURLERS

Second No Run, No Hit Game Pitched by Maple Leaf Twirler.

GREAT EXHIBITION

Only a Wild Pitch in Last Evening Broke the No Run Tie.

A wild pitch to Dave Grant in the Leafs' half of the seventh, with one down and Frank Scully on third put an end to a pretty pitching duel at Exhibition Park last evening and gave Maple Leafs a win over the Curlers, by a 1 to 0 score. The outstanding feature of the contest was the brilliant pitching by Carl Wood for the Curlers and "Chuck" Bradley for the Leafs. Next came the clean hitting by Delahaye who had a double and a triple.

Wood fanned ten batsmen, issued one pass and yielded six hits. Bradley whiffed eighteen Curlers, gave one pass and allowed no hits. It was great work by two of the young twirlers who are ebing developed in the ranks of the City League. It was Bradley's second no hit, no run performance in two seasons.

Curlers never had a chance to make the circuit, only two batsmen finding the way to first. Baker tried to stretch his pass to a berth at second, but Delahaye's perfect peg to Franks found the second baseman waiting for the runner.

The Leafs got a man to third in the first, following a pass to Delahaye, and Hall's double. Wood fanned Scully to retire the side. With two out in the third, Delahaye doubled and went out attempting to pilfer third. The Leafs' catcher made a bid for a run in the sixth when, with one down, he hit for three bases. Hall slapped a hot drive at the pitcher, and Wood caught Delahaye away from third and threw him out at the plate. Hall was thrown out at second on a neat peg by Baker.

Scully started the seventh with a clean single to left. Holland also hit safely, Scully making third, while Holland went out at second. Then along came the disastrous wild pitch by Wood, allowing Scully to score.

RICKEY ADMITS HE PULLED A BONER

Brings Back a Catcher He Fired Five Years Ago And Now Calls Him a Star --- Enters Second Youth Is Possible Explanation.

BY BILLY EVANS

Wise men change their minds; fools never—or words to that effect. Anyway, Miguel A. Gonzales is a big league catcher once more.

How many ball players have returned to the big circus on the brink of the 40-year mark? Not many.

Yet, Mike Gonzales, voted the best minor league receiver by every major league scout who toured the American Associations last season, is back in the National League as a first-string catcher for the St. Louis Cardinals.

Branch Rickey, director of the Cardinals, is the one who fits the "Wise men change their minds; fools never" phrase.

Shifted Catching Staff

Rickey had his own ideas about catching and catchers. He wanted a man of his own pattern and Gonzales and Snyder were part of the Miller Huggins' regime.

The Louisville Colonels had Vernon Clemons. Rickey wanted him and he acquired the husky catcher by trading Dixie Davis and Bruno Betzel to the Colonels.

With Clemons installed as the first-string receiver Frank Snyder was traded to the Giants for Ferdinand Schupp, while Gonzales was sold for $10,000 cash.

For five years Clemons handled the bulk of the catching for the Cardinals. Gonzales became a bench warmer for McGraw and later was sent to St. Paul in the American Association.

Rates Gonzales a Star.

Time brings many changes. Clemons has lived his life as a big league in Rickey's opinion and another catcher was needed. He sought Mickey O'Neill of the Braves and "Butch" Henline of the Phillies, offering Milton Stock as his bait. Naturally Dave Bancroft refused to part with O'Neil and Fletcher refused to consiler any trade proposition for Henline.

What was next All of Rickey's friends advised him to dicker for Gonzales, and the Superbas, who had bought the Cuban during the winter from the Cincinnati Reds for $10,000 grabbed the balt.

Thus, Gonzales returned to the manager who had cast him aside five years ago. And Rickey now says that there isn't a catcher in either big league who is more valuable than Gonzales.

Rickey ought to know as he was a catcher when he was a young star in the American League almost 20 years ago.

CHICAGO WON ON PHILLIES' ERRORS

Five Errors and Eight Passes to Batters Gave the Cubs a Plum.

PHILADELPHIA, June 18—(Canadian Press).—Although outhit, three to one, Chicago defeated Philadelphia yesterday, 6 to 5. The Cubs made but four hits, but they took full advantage of the poor playing by the Phillies.

Five errors and eight passes to Chicago batters were too big a handicap for the local sluggers to overcome, and although twelve hits were made off Victor Keen, the home team could not produce a punch good enough to win. Score:

BROKE EVEN.

BOSTON, June 18. — (Canadian Press). — Pittsburgh and Boston broke even in the Bunker Hill Day double-header here yesterday. The Pirates won the opening contest, 5 to 2, while Boston captured the second, 1 to 0. Good pitching marked both contests, but sloppy work by Boston outfielders marred the first game. Sensational catches by Bigbee and Carey at opportune moments saved the day for Pitcher Ray Kremer in the first game. Scores:

BROOKLYN, June 18—(Canadian Press).—Brooklyn made it two straight from Cincinnati by winning yesterday, 5 to 4. Four errors, combined with four hits off Benton, gave the Dodgers the game in the sixth. Roush hit a double, a triple, with two on bases, a homer, and drew a pass.

CRESCENTS BEAT KIWANIS 12 TO 3

Losers Blew in Sixth to Allow Seven Runs—Masterson Starred.

In a Midget game at the Exhibition Grounds last evening the Crescents came through with another win when they trounced the Kiwanis by the score of 12 to 3 in a seven inning contest. The Kiwanis worked very nicely until the fifth innings and held the heavy hitting Crescents to five runs and seven hits but they blew completely in the sixth and seventh when three runs crossed the plate in the sixth and four in the seventh. The Kiwanis scored one in the third and two in the seventh but could not overcome the big lead set up by Crescents. Casey Masterson who was on the mound for the winners turned in a whirlwind of a game and struck out sixteen men in the seven innings he pitched but was touched for four scattered hits. In the first two innings he fanned his opponents in order while he duplicated the feat in the fourth when the three men to face him watched the last one zip past. Spry for Bob Mackey's outfit also turned in a nice game but his team mates gave him rather ragged support at times when a snappy play was needed to do the trick. He fanned 10 and allowed 13 hits. A number of these could have been made into put outs had his fielders been on their toes. Bannon for the Crescents came through with a triple while Starr also clouted the old pill for three bags. The teams lined up as follows:

BACHELORS BATTLE THE MARRIED MEN

Roseneath Batters Go Over .400 in League Baseball —Lively Contests.

ROSENEATH, June 18.—The fans were provided with a great snappy game of baseball when the married men of the local team trimmed the bachelors to the tune of six to four in a five inning contest. The battery for the married men were Thackeray and Leach while Wilson and Dunnett performed for the losers. These games are creating considerable interest and will likely be continued as they give all the players a real workout. Either team would make any team in the league step to beat it and a real nine can be picked from both. A win from Colborne when they meet that team on the latter's grounds on Wednesday will put them a tie for the leadership of the league. The team is playing good ball and batting like fiends four of the players batting 400 and over and eight 300 and over. Bart Thackeray is the real leader with the willow having a percentage of .444 and playing in all the games. Bates is also batting .444 but has only played in 2 games, Shearer and Moore are the other ones in this class. Shearer leads in extra base hits having a three bagger and two bagger to his credit .B. Thackeray is second with two-two baggers and R. Thackeray, Leach and Davey have one each. Davey leads in run getting with six, followed closely by B. Thackeray and Baker with five apiece.

The following is the official standing of the players batting in the four league games played:

TIMELY TIPS TO AMATEURS

SAYS JOE DUGAN
Third Baseman, New York Americans.

It is an old theory in baseball that pitchers and catchers should study opposng batters in an effort to learn their strength, weakness and mannerisms so as to minimize their effectiveness.

I am not positive that a third baseman can greatly profit if he will study the stance of the batters and their manner of holding the bat.

This is a great advantage to a third sacker in coming in on a bunt.

A majority of batters have a certain style they affect when intending to bunt.

If a third baseman is familiar with this peculiarity he can get the jump on the batter and often break up a play that might otherwise be successful.

Use your head.

BANKERS HELP GENERALS STEP FROM BASEMENT

McPherson Rapped One for a Circuit and Williams Made Three-Bagger.

SCORE WAS 6 TO 1

Whitehouse Whiffed Nine and McDonough Fanned Eight in Good Game.

The Bankers lost a hard fought game to the C.G.E. last night when they were defeated by the score of 6 to 1. Frank Whitehouse on the slab for the Bankers pitched nice ball until the seventh inning when the first man up drove out a triple, followed by a double, a single and a home run by Scotty McPherson and before the side had been retired four runs had crossed the plate winning the game in great style.

The Bankers were leading 1 to 0 until the sixth innings but the Generals got down to business and made a proper job of it when they scored one in the sixth and four in the seventh. Jack McDonough on the mound for the Electricians was as wild as a Zebra. He passed eight men in the seven innings he twirled but was only touched for three scattered hits. He pitched good and bad ball, but managed, with the support of his teammates, to come through with a timely win that derricked the Generals out of the cellar position in the Mercantile race. He fanned eight men, while Whitehouse on the mound for the Bankers succeeded in whiffing nine of his opponents.

Whitehouse's speed and stuff worked nice for the first five innings but when the C.G.E. got to him they hit him hard and often and registered six hits, including a home run, a three base hit and a double that had a lot to do with the C.G.E. piling up their runs.

McClarty who did the receiving for the Bankers turned in a nice game of ball and held up Whitehouse in great style. He also clouted out two nice hits and scored his team's only counter. Whitehouse also came through with a double but was left stranded on the bases when his teammates went out in order before the rapid fire of the C.G.E. twirler. Freddy Jones at second base was the outstanding player of the game. He had three neat putouts without a slip, while his brother Joe Jones in left field reaped in a high fly that looked good for three bases. Herbison in the left garden for the Bankers also turned in a nice fielding game.

HORNSBY TELLS HOW YOU JUDGE PITCHERS' BALL

Crowd the Plate Against the Curve and Stand Back For the Fast One.

STUDY THE STYLES.

Absolute Confidence in Your Ability is Essential to Swatting.

By ROGERS HORNSBY.
Champion Batsman, National League.

Ability to hit is a gift of nature. A majority of the leading batsmen in the history of the game have been natural hitters.

R. Hornsby.

Few players become great hitters with a made-over style. By that I mean an entire change of position at the plate from the one that was natural for the player to assume.

Often batters have profited greatly by remedying a certain fault in their style. Such batters, however, are rarely classed as great in the art of hitting.

Ty Cobb bats just the same today as when he broke into the American League. Hans Wagner never tried to polish his rather awkward style. Both Cobb and Wagner must be listed as natural batsmen of great ability.

The selection of a bat that suits your grip and is properly weighted is as necessary to good hitting as the natural swing, nature's gift.

Get a bat that you can grip easily and swing without any great effort. Too many batters make the mistake of using too heavy a bat in the hope that the added weight will get more distance to their drives.

Step Straight Into the Pitch.

Step straight into the pitch, go on through with your swing when you are ready to meet the pitch. Try never to pull away from the plate. In so doing you force the arms to do the work and lose the power of the follow-through that comes from the body motion.

Because home-run hitting is a popular fad at present, do not jeopardize your batting form by trying to get extra distance to your drives.

Accuracy at the plate gets far better results in the long run than taking a wild swing at every pitch. Make the pitcher get them over. Try to get him into a hole and when you do, never fail to pick on the cripple. That is one of the things that makes a great hitter, getting a working margin on the pitcher and taking advantage of it.

Do not neglect your batting practice and do not go about it in a careless fashion. Have an objective at the bat, try to place your drives. It helps the eye and the swing, develops co-ordination.

In batting practice I make it a point to try to so meet the ball that it goes directly back at the pitcher. I have always figured that driving the ball directly through the box over the second base, called for perfect timing from every angle of batting.

Must Study Various Pitching Styles.

There are various types of pitchers. It is up to the batsman to study the style that is before him in each game.

With a fast ball pitcher I stand considerably farther away from the plate than with a curve ball twirler. It is well to crowd the plate on the curve artist.

Watch your front foot. Batting form largely hinges around the front foot. Move in with it, never pull away.

Develop absolute confidence in your ability. Make it a point to regard all pitchers in the same light. Don't get the habit of forming a dislike to bat against certain twirlers.

When you step to the plate, feel that the pitcher is worrying about your hitting the ball far more than you are thinking about the possibility of your not getting it safe.

Such a mental attitude is a distinct advantage to the batsman.

PLAN HOT GOLF LINKS.

HONOLULU, June 18.—One of the most remarkable golf courses in the world is being built almost at the mouth of the boiling, seething volcano of Kilauea. The fiery pit of of the volcano itself ma e one of the hazards of the course. Besides the chance of losing a ball in the molten lava there will always be the possibility of an earth tremor adding to the excitement of a good game.

Leverette fanned Bluege five successive times, while Friday held the Sox to four hits in eleven innings, during which he walked 14 men and hit one. Incidentally, Ray Schalk made two errors. PRINCE OF WALES WON CHAMPIONSHIP

Last Night's Statement That Queen Mary Won Honors Was Mistake.

The announcement in last night's edition that the Queen Mary School had been the successful winner once more of the Public School baseball league was a big mistake as the Prince of Wales boys were the ones who came out on top this season and Queen Mary held last place with King Edward. The last two schools named for the last five years have been the leading teams but this year they fell to pieces and never got a look in. Prince of Wales made a great showing this year when they lost but one game all season.

	Won	Lost
Prince of Wales	9	1
Central	6	3
King George	3	4
Queen Alexander	3	5
Queen Mary	2	5
King Edward	2	5

Do You Know Baseball?

By BILLY EVANS

QUESTIONS

1. Only four innings of a game are played when rain caused the umpires to suspend play and later call off the game entirely. Should the records made by the players in the four innings of play be included in the official records?—B. B.

2. What are the rights of the batsman in stepping out of his box? If the pitcher is in motion and for some reason the batsman desires to step out of the box, has he that right? What is the umpire's duty?—J. S.

3. Batter strikes at ball, which hits plate, bounds into fair territory, then rolls foul half way between home and first base. Is it a fair or foul ball?—J. S.

ANSWERS

1. Four innings do not complete a game; hence, no consideration is given the records made by the players in the abbreviated contest.

2. The batsman has no right to leave the box for any reason, once the pitcher has started his delivery The umpire should declare the pitch either a strike or ball. If the pitcher is merely facing the batsman and hasn't started his delivery, the batsman can step out of his box by requesting the umpire to call time.

3. It is a foul ball, having settled in foul territory before passing first base.

WALLACE STROKES THE OLYMPIC CREW

Former Peterboro Boy with Varsity Eight Chosen for France

IS FINE ATHLETE

His many friends in Peterboro and throughout Otonabee will be interested in knowing that Lawrie Wallace, former Peterboro boy, and son of Mr. T. J. Wallace, formerly of the local Public Schools staff, is a member of the Varsity crew which is to represent Canada at the Olympic games.

Lawrie was born in Keene in 1901 and received his early education in the local schools. He is an honor graduate of the University of Toronto, 1920, and of Osgoode Hall, 1923, and has a fine record as an athlete.

He played middle wing for the Varsity Rugby team, Dominion champions in 1920, and held a similar position with the Argonauts when they won the Dominion honors in 1922.

Wallace stroked the University of Toronto junior eight when they won the Canadian championship in 1920, and the U. of T. senior Dominion champions, now chosen as the Olympic crew.

The Toronto Telegram pronounces him one of the finest strokes who has rowed the Henley course.

DESIGNATED TODAY THE ROTARY IDEA

Ten Thousand Rotarians from Some 28 Countries Are Gathered Together in Toronto.

TORONTO, Ont., June 18.—(Canadian Press).—To-day is designated "The Rotary Idea" Day on the programme of the Rotary International, for which approximately ten thousand Rotarians from some 28 countries are gathered together in Toronto to attend the four-day convention, which opened yesterday. The many addresses delivered during this morning's session had as their theme "The Rotary Idea," coupled with business methods.

The wide field of Rotary International was probably best illustrated by six addresses on the subject, "Business Methods and Rotary." Donald A. Adams, New Haven, Conn., dealt with North America; Marcel Frank, Paris, France, with Continental Europe; Vivian Carter, secretary, Rotary International, British Isles, with the British Isles; Dr. Julio Hernandez, Miyares, Cuba, with Latin America; Arthur J. Hutchinson, Auckland, New Zealand, with the Antipodes, and T. Miyaoka, with Asia.

"What is Business Methods?" was the subject of an address by Raymond M. Havins, Kansas City, Mo., chairman of the Business Methods Committee, while Merle, Thorpe, Washington, D.C., editor of the Nation's Business, used as his subject, "Business is Business."

During the morning the Canadian delegates met to elect the Canadian Advisory Committee for 1924-1925.

The afternoon was devoted to special assemblies for smaller groups, while ten district dinners and the British Empire dinner are scheduled for 6 p.m., with the president's ball to-night.

HISS TWO HELD FOR THE DEATH OF LATE BOXER

Bill Brennan Murder Stirs Boxing Fans All Over the Country.

TROOPER DIED.

Tragedy Due to "Bouncing" of Men by the Heavyweight.

NEW YORK, June 18. — From a crowd which collected on curbs, tenement fire escapes, and in windows a cat-call from two thousand throats went up when two men accused of the murder of "Bill" Brennan, heavyweight pugilist, were ushered into the Homicide Court to be arraigned before Magistrate House.

Many in the jeering throng had come from Washington Heights, in the section where Brennan had his home and his Tia Juana cabaret. They were infuriated by developments that indicated that O'Neil and Picli, former prize fighter and race track tout respectively, had murdered for no better reason than a passing resentment.

The two men gave these names when arraigned on a murder charge, in which Brennan was named as William Shanks, his true name. No charge based on the fatal shooting of James Cullen, Brennan's State Trooper friend, was made.

Cullen died on Monday.

His Brother Killed.

The two men, who will be indicted on Thursday by the Grand Jury, repudiated the names given by them at the time of their arrest. "James Hughes," accused of the actual shooting, admitted that he is Terence O'Neill, thirty-five. "Frank Rassi" corroborated the police identification of him as Joseph Dioli, of 334 Sixty-fifth Street, where, last New Year's Day, he killed his brother Santo and wounder his mother.

Assistant District Attorney Hannis produced a bench warrant for Pioli's arrest on this charge, issued on 7th March last after an indictment had been found. The magistrate set the hearing for 23rd June.

Though both men were sullenly secretive before the bench, Pioli blurted out one sentence as he was whisked to a Police Headquarters automobile.

"I never shot Bill Brennan. I never knew him."

Slain for Ejection.

Detectives corroborated the latter part of his statement. They said their information showed that the couple had been roughly expelled from the Tio Juana by Brennan two hours before the crime. Waiters said the two had insulted a woman guest.

As Brennan expelled the couple, O'Neill, according to a waiter, reached for a coat pocket, with the gesture of a man gripping a pistol, and muttered:

"Watch out, Brennan. We don't always have to get them with our fists."

Brennan's body was transferred from the morgue to his home. His council of the Knights of Columbus will have charge of his burial in Calvary. There will be a requiem mass at the Church of St. Rose of Lima.

BILLIE EVANS SAYS

Back in 1894 Hugh Duffy, then with the Boston Nationals, turned in a batting average of .438. At that time it was the highest mark ever reached for a single season's play. Moreover, it hasn't been equaled since.

Duffy's sensational clouting that year still ranks without parallel in baseball's annals. It is one of the few records hung up by the old-timers that hasn't been beaten. It still looks good to lead for a while, too.

The nearest approach to Duffy's mark was made by Willie Keeler in 1897. "Wee Willie", at that time with Brooklyn, hit .432 or six points less than Duffy. Jesse Burkett with Cleveland in 1895, reached the .432 mark. Those three performances stand as the best on record.

Duffy, in compiling his .438 average, made 236 hits in 539 times at bat. He had a base total of 372. He was in 124 games, scoring 160 runs. His total base record was especially noteworthy.

In 1923 the great Babe Ruth only amassed a 399 mark, 27 more bases than Duffy got despite the fact that the Bambino was in 28 more contests than the old Boston player.

Duffy, in his 124 games, only failed to hit safely in 17 of them. Not once did he go three days in a row without connecting for a hit. On one stretch he batted safely in 27 straight tilts, getting five swats in six trips to the rubber one day.

He also grabbed 10 safe blows in 14 times at bat over one three-game span.

Over a 30-year drive Hugh Duffy's .438 performance has withstood all assault. It has held the topmost rung regardless of the terrific cannonading of some of the hardest hitters the game has known. From present indications it isn't in much danger of being toppled, either.

McADOO'S CAMPAIGN ENTERS FINAL PHASE

Several Thousand Will Turn Out to Greet McAdoo on His Arrival at Los Angeles.

NEW YORK, N.Y., June 18 (Canadian Press). — The campaign of William G. McAdoo for Democratic nomination for President enters on its final phase with his arrival from Los Angeles to-day to take advisory charge of his forces.

Several thousand, it is anticipated, will be at the depot to greet Mr. McAdoo, who will be accompanied by his wife and two daughters.

The welcoming delegation will form a parade and conduct the former Secretary of the Treasury to the Hotel Vanderbilt, which will be his home during the convention.

He has engaged the suite formerly occupied by Enrico Caruso, and there will take place the conferences with his campaign managers that will do much to determine his success in the forthcoming battle.

PETERBORO TO HEAR SOLOIST

Ernest Naftzger of Boston Will Arrive Here in the Very Near Future

In the near future, Peterboro people are to be favored with the opportunity of hearing an exceptional singer in the person of Ernest W. Naftzger, of Boston. Mr. Naftzger is possessed of a very unusual natural voice of the most pleasing quality, trained by some of the best masters in the United States and Europe. A high baritone equally good in dramatic or lyric song.

When Mr. Naftzger was but 21 years of age, Dr. J. Wibbur Chapman, the evangelist, chose him as his leading soloist among many competitors. Mr. Naftzger sang with him for eight years during two campaigns around the world. The Melbourne Argus, Australia, states that "it is conceded that Mr. Naftzger is without a peer as a singer," while the Boston Globe is responsible for the statement that "he sings with all the dramatic fire of a trained elocutionist."

Mr. Naftzger is passing through from the east to Pittsburgh, where he has a three months' engagement, and has consented to stop off in Peterboro for June 29th and 30th, when he will sing in Murray Street Baptist Church.

CAR STOLEN FROM HASTINGS GARAGE

Robbers Entered Garage of Warden Fowlds This Morning at 2 o'Clock and Made Off With His Car.

HASTINGS, June 18 (Special to The Examiner). — Warden Fowlds had the misfortune to have his Master-Six McLaughlin car stolen last night.

The robbers forced their way into his garage about two o'clock this morning, when the electric storm was at its worst.

The car was slipped out to the road, and in a few minutes the thieves were away at a flying speed.

Neighbours who live close to Mr. Fowlds state that the car headed toward Warkworth at a terrific speed.

The burglars were not seen, but it is thought that it was the same men that broke into another garage last night and also made their way into the Canadian National Depot and made off with some small change.

The number of the car was 192-158 and was a 1920 model with a dark green body. It also had a bumper on the front and the top was of a fawn colour.

Mr. Fowlds did not know of the robbery until this morning when he went out to get his car to go to Belleville, and found it was not in the garage.

He notified the police, and a warning was sent out to all the towns along the line, but no clues have yet been found.

BELLEVILLE TO BUILD MEMORIAL

The Memorial Will Take theForm of a Log Cabin Such as Those Built 140 Years Ago by the U.E.L.

CORNERSTONE LAID

BELLEVILLE, Ont., June 18. — Emblematic of the sturdy spirit of the United Empire Loyalists who forwent the comforts of their ancient homes in New England and migrated to the wilderness of an unknown country, there to hew out new lands from the grip of the primeval forest and plant the seeds of civilization for future generations to reap, will be the memorial to be erected in Belleville in memory of the first settlers who came to Quinte shores 140 years ago. . When the memorial is complete it will take the form of a log cabin, a venerable relic of the pioneer days which now have almost ceased to exist, but which a few decades ago was to be found in profusion throughout the land. In only one way will this memorial of pioneer days differ from its rude predecessor. It will have a corner stone. This stone was laid this afternoon by Past Grand Master Most Worshipful Brother W. N. Ponton, and it will stand at the entrance to Victoria park on the old Kingston road with all the symbolism which Masonic ritual implies. There were many prominent speakers at the ceremony, for the leaders of Masonry from all over the province were present for the event, but it remained for Right. Hon. Sir George Foster to strike the deep pioneer note in his address. Sir George scored in no uncertain terms the men and women who devote their time to golf, the movies and motoring. "There are higher things in this world than motor cars, movies and golf," he emphatically declared. "We can learn a real lesson from the lives of the pioneers. They built for not only themselves, but for the future. Their life was in their home. The present tendency in life all too often seems to be what can we get out of it, not what will we leave behind us when we pass. The heart of the nation is in the home. Can it be on the golf course, in the cinenma shows and the motor car. We are builders of a nation, and we cannot build if we spend our time in seeking pleasure. If you must play golf play it a little, and if you must go motoring take an hour or so to do it, and if you must go to the movies spend ten cents to go if you think you ought to. We should not forget the story of the old pioneers. Theirs was a life of purpose. They builded homes and laid the foundations of a new nation in a new world. Their pleasures were simple and their lives were simple and they builded well and truly."

Col. Ponton, representing the Grand Master of the Province, also paid tribute to the memory of the pioneers and said that the Canadians of to-day must keep the home fires burning, keep the community fires burning and the patriotic fires burning. He said that the order stood for one flag, one fleet, one throne and one God and that it was the duty of every patriotic citizen to guard them all. As a nation we are continually laying a corner stone, the corner stone of the development and character of the nation.

Among the other speakers who M. Logan, Grand Secretary, of took part in the programme were W. Hamilton, General Ryerson, of Toronto, Right Worshipful Brother W. S. Morden, President of the U. E. L. Association of Canada, Rev. Dr. Blagrave of Peterborough, and Col. S. S. Lazier. The famous Masonic hymn, "Oh God Our Help in Ages Past" was sung by A. F. Stillman, superintendent of the Canadian National Express.

In the evening the grand pageant illustrating the coming of the white man and of the development of Belleville, from the landing of the United Empire Loyalist settlers until to-day was given. More than six thousand people crowded the Exhibition grounds to witness it. The story was told in various episodes. The scenes depicting the drawing of lots for the land whereby each settler was given an equal opportunity to secure the most promising sections, the great influx of settlers that followed when ground was broken and the growth of settlements into villages, then into towns and lastly into flourishing cities, the story ended with an attempt to visualize the future when another two score years have passed.

The feature of the morning programme was a parade of decorated cars and floats. Plentifully interspersed with military bands. Miss Gwen Lazier, courier, who rode to Washington with an invitation to President Coolidge to attend the celebration and Allen Dempsey, who walked to Toronto distributing invitations to the various municipalities to be present, headed the procession. The decorated motor car group was headed by Mr. D. McMillan, superintendent of the Canadian National Railways. The unique feature of the parade was that put in by the Canadian National Express. The days of the old pony express were faithfully depicted by horse, rider and mail pouch, while behind, gaily decorated, was one of the big express trucks now used. More than fifty cars and trucks were in the procession. The feature of the programme to-morrow will be addresses by Hon. Dr. Cody and Principal Grant of Toronto, and W. D. Robb, vice-president of the Canadian National Railways, an old Belleville boy.

THEATRES AT THE CAPITOL

BIG PROGRAM AT CAPITOL TO-DAY, FRIDAY, SATURDAY

An exceptionally attractive and well arranged program will provide entertainment for Capitol patrons the last three days of this week, commencing to-morrow. Tom Mix and his famous horse, Tony, will be seen in Mix's latest picture, "A Rough Riding Romeo," in which the famous star is reported to do some remarkable stunts. Stan. Laurel will provide the comedy, in his latest laughing-hit, "The Soilers," a burlesque on "The Spoilers." This is one of the best comedies Laurel has ever made. Another of the popular novelty reels, "Sing 'Em Again," in which the audience joins in the chorurs of old-time song hits, a Felix the Cat cartoon and the Capitol Magazine, complete an excellent program.

TOM MIX TO BE SEEN HERE IN "MILE-A-MINUTE ROMEO."

Defying death, by riding amidst a drove of wild horses, under the belly of Tony, his famous horse, to escape his pursuers, Tom Mix will burst into the Capitol Theatre tomorrow for a three-day engagement of "Mile-A-Minute Romeo," his most recent William Fox effort.

Demonstrating a decided penchant for thrills, this production is pronouncedly the only one in which Tom Mix exposes his entire bag of equestrian tricks.

The story is by Max Brand, an author who has long been noted for ability in western dramas. It provides Mix with opportunity to display those talents by which he has become so widely recognized.

An erring father, a daughter with romantic aspirations, two villains instead of the customary one and Tom Mix, from the basis of this production's merits. Comedy relief is provided in scenes showing a cross-country run staged by Tom Mix.

Betty Jewel, J. Gordon Russel, James Mason, Duke Lee and James Quinn are the principal players. The production was directed by Lambert Hillyer.

AT THE ROYAL

BOOTH TARKINGTON, AUTHOR, PLEASED WITH HIS SCREEN VERSION OF "BOY OF MINE," ROYAL TO-MORROW.

The following is a copy of a letter received by J. K. McDonald after preview of latest picture, "Boy of Mine," at Indianapolis on November 23rd, 1923:

4270 North Meridian Street,
Indianapolis,
November 23, 1923.

Dear Mr. McDonald, — You will probably have seen this morning's Indianapolis papers by the time you receive this, and the notices certainly ought to please you.

When a picture's pathos makes a group of newspaper reporters cry visibly and sniffle audibly, as "Boy of Mine" did, last night, and then brings shrieks of delighted laughter from everybody, the producer ought to be satisfied.

In the matter of "Penrod and Sam" I wrote you that I had so little to do with the success of the picture, which was merely founded on outlines of mine, that I felt able to congratulate you, as a spectator, more than as a participant in the creation of the picture. I could praise the result without being thought pleased with my own work.

This is still more the case with "Boy of Mine." The picture is so dignified and yet so humorous—so touching and yet so immensely truthful—that any writer might indeed be pleased to have his name associated with it; but it is far more such a picture as I believe the best sort of picture should be, than it is actually a thing for which I am entitled to claim credit. And in point of fact I have had very little indeed to do with its obvious success; therefore I feel entitled to congratulate you and your associates upon the creation as well as the production of what seems to me a very handsome work of art, which has nevertheless those elements of popularity necessary to commercial triumph — not an easy or frequent combination, as we all know.

I congratulate you most heartily. It was difficult to imagine your following "Penrod and Sam" with something better but you have obviously done so.—Sincerely, (Signed) Booth Tarkington.

BUILDING OPERATIONS BRISK IN VICTORIA HEIGHTS.

There seems to be more activity in the building of new homes in Victoria Heights this year than any other part of the city. At the present time there are under the course of construction seven new first-class houses, and the real estate firm of H. McCannan & Co., who are handling this property, report that there are still a number of houses yet to be started and a number of people inquiring about lots to build on. The situation of this property being in the residential section of the city, and also an extension to Gilmour, Homewood and Weller Streets, Walkerfield Avenue being a new street, and with the sewer and water now laid to street line of each lot, together with the price that the lots can be purchased at, makes it most inviting to those contemplating buying lots to build their home. Good profits have been made by people buying lots on property such as this is, as the building of good homes, together with the building of sidewalks and grading of the streets increase the value of each lot. 1d-144-2433

SHOULD DECORATION DAY BE POSTPONED?

Dearth of Flowers for Sunday Next. Other places have made change to week later.

Those who have knowledge of the supply of bloom for Decoration Day, have given to The Examiner their opinion that there will be little or no bloom available for Decoration Day on Sunday next.

Enquiries all over the country bring out very few sources of supply of cut flowers, and it is well known in the city that the bloom here is very very backward, and practically nothing available this week.

The Oddfellows in the city, who name the date for Decoration Day, it seems, might be doing a service to the whole community and district if they followed the example of numerous other places and the day was postponed a week later, because Decoration Day does not mean so much when there is a dearth of flowers.

It is understood that June 29th is Decoration Day for the Great War Veterans, and the suggestion is made why not have a joint Decoration Day on this occasion, and on June 29th, when there will be an abundance of bloom, inexpensive, as a great deal of it would be furnished from the local gardens.

It is a matter that those in charge of Decoration Day could carefully consider in the interests of the day.

GETS YEAR IN GOAL ON PERJURY CHARGE

LINDSAY, June 17. — A man named Leveley, who last year was sentenced to a term at Peterborough for robbing summer cottages, was, with his wife, sentenced this week to a year in the Ontario Reformatory for perjury. Their three children were placed in charge of the Children's Aid Society a few days ago, and it was on this occasion that both swore their children were with them in Coboconk when they visited that village and attended a dance. The evidence in connection with the case was of a revolting nature.

CRICKET NEWS

The third and final match between the Grove school of Lakefield and the Peterboro C. C., was played on Tuesday afternoon, June 17 and resulted in a victory for the Grove school, after the closest match of the season, the win being the result of the unusually small margin of 3 runs. Due to the lack of rain the crease was a typical bowlers' wicket, and the scores were all low. Peterboro batted first and Foster and Thorpe's wickets fell for a total of only 4 runs. The partnership of Stuart and Capt. Langley, brought the total up to 19—but after Langley was bowled by Hall the remaining batsmen were disposed of for the remarkable total of one run. Foster and Dyer, bowling for Peterboro were equally deadly. Capt Barnard was clean bowled by Dyer's first ball while Rogers was bowled by Foster's first ball, nad the first three wickets were down by 3 runs. Careful batting by Loosemore combined with very loose fielding by Peterboro, however saved the day for the school. The detail score was as follows:

Peterboro C. C.:
Thorpe b Massey	1
Foster b Hall	2
Stuart b Hall	10
Langley b Hall	5

MAKING MONEY MAKE MONEY

Brief but Important Lessons in Finance, Markets, Stocks, Bonds and Investments.

There probably would be fewer business failures if every man would analyse his own pusiness prospects before jumping into business for himself.

In how many cases does the average man bother to investigate his own business thoroughly before starting in? The percentage of failures is enough evidence to show that very few really analyse their prospects. Yet it is evident that in a highly competitive world a man must have some sort of advantage to succeed.

There are probably only two real reasons for believing that a business can be successfully started. One is that you have superior salesmanship and therefore can give better service. This means that you have the personality to go out and beat the other men in that line, at their own game.

The second reason for starting a business is that you have some sort of natural advantage.

JUNIOR BATTLE THIS SATURDAY

Lakeviews and Crescents Clash In Important Game of the Junior City League Series.

The big game of the junior series takes place on Saturday afternoon at Riverside park, when the Crescents and Lakeviews hook up for another battle. It will be a battle between a pair of southpaws and should be a humdinger. Frank Whitehouse has returned from his visit to London and should be in the best of shape for Saturady's fixture. He has had about two weeks' rest and with a little practice should be at the top of his form. If he can hold the Crescents on Saturday it will make the race for the city honors all the closer, while if the Crescents come through with a win it will put them off for a good start, as they have already defeated the Lakeviews in two games and tied them in one. In the first game they won by the score of 4 to 2, while in the second the Crescents came from behind and tied the score up, 4-4 in the last innings. In the last game the two teams battled it out in great style, but the Crescents once more came out victorious when they won by 3 runs to 2. Chuck Bradley, one of the nicest little pitchers in this city, will do his stuff for the Crescents. Last evening in the Maple Leaf game he won his game from the Curlers by the score of 1 to 0. Twenty-one men faced him during the game and eighteen of them watched the last strike tear across the plate. This is his second no-hit, no run game, and he set up a record for Peterborough twirlers last night when only two men reached first base and both of them got no farther. The three men who were not struck out last night got off very lucky. He passed one, another rolled one to second and the third struck out, but Delahaye threw wild over first basee. This will be a game worth seeing.

WEDDING BELLS

SUCEE—WATSON.

A quiet but pretty wedding was solemnized on Tuesday afternoon, June 17th, when Evelyn Mildred, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Watson, of Highland Grove, Ont., was united in marriage to Herbert Walter Succee, of Peterboro. The ceremony took place at four o'clock at the Knox Manse, and was performed by the Rev. M. C. Mackinnon.

The bride was charmingly attired in a midnight blue satin draped with georgette with white shoes and stockings, with hat and gloves to match. The bridesmaid, Miss Alma Succe, sister of the groom, wore silver grey canton crepe with hat to match and white shoes and stockings. Mr. Samuel Watson, brother of the bride, acted as best man.

WARSAW YOUTH HELD ON A THEFT CHARGE

LINDSAY, June 18. — Edward Richter, a sixteen-year-old farm hand, who had been placed on the farm of Walter Brien, of Verulam, this spring, was arrested at Warsaw on Monday and brought back to Lindsay by Provincial Officer Storey to answer to the charge of theft. The youth stole a horse, light wagon, set of harness, collie dog and two blankets. He was remanded for a few days until some inquiries are made regarding his history.

CONSERVATIVES IN CONVENTION ARE OPTIMISTIC

New Deputy Speaker and New Member Required if Voters Do Duty, They Say.

OFFICERS RE-ELECTED.

Ask Liberals to Join in Presenting Redistribution Suggestions.

(By a Staff Reporter)

HAVELOCK, June 19.—The executive of the Liberal-Conservative Association of East Peterborough, will ask the executives of the Liberal Association in the ridings to join with them in sending a deputation to Hon. G. N. Gordon M.P. to urge that in the proposed redistribution of the electoral divisions the county boundaries be followed and that the two Peterboroughs be retained as one Federal constituency.

A resolution unanimously adopted at the annual meeting of the Conservative Association of the East Riding held here yesterday afternoon containing the same request will be sent direct to Premier King at Ottawa.

Roland B. Denne and Frank R. Kitney of Peterborough, attended the meeting and took a prominent part in the discussion on the redistributing issue.

President was Absent

Vice President, Col. R. E. Birdsall presided in the absence of President H. G. Fitzgerald of Norwood, who sent a letter regretting his inability to be present. When the meeting was called to order promptly at 2 o'clock there were seated on the platform with the presiding officer and Secretary Matthew Elliott, W. H. Bradburn, M.L.A. Colonel T. D. Johnston, M.L.A., Hon. James Lyons, Minister of Forests and Mines in the Ontario Cabinet and J. A. Sexsmith, ex-M.P.

The Debate on Redistribution

The matter of redistribution was brought up when Colonel Birdsall and Mr. Sexsmith, who formed a special committee to take up this question with Ottawa were asked for a report. Mr. Sexsmith frankly admitted that he had done nothing, being convinced that it would be a waste of time to take any action.

Colonel Birdsall said that he had met Representative Brethen and had been told that it was too late to do anything.

Mr. Sexsmih reported that he, too, had seen Mr. Brethen who assured them that the farmer members of the committee of Parliament would oppose any attempt to make any changes in the political boundaries of Peterborough County.

Where West Riding Stands

Roland B. Denne told the meeting that he had come from Peterborough to report the action taken in the West Riding. Mr. Gordon had been asked to stand for the maintaining of the county lines instead of butch-

SMUTS LOST HIS SMALL MAJORITY

Combined Attack of Nationalists and Laborites Brings His Downfall.

LONDON, June 19 (Canadian Press). — The general elections in South Africa, which Premier Smuts called because he did not command a sufficient majority in the Assembly to meet the combined attacks of the Nationalists and Labourites, seem destined to bring about the fall of his administration.

The latest returns available in London indicate that the combined Nationalists and Labourites have already gained fifteen seats from the Smuts party.

Thus, the Premier's small majority of seven or eight in the last Assembly has been completely wiped out, while many of the leaders of his party have suffered defeat.

There are still thirty-eight results to be heard from, but it is not believed these will change the general situation.

It is not yet known whether Premier Smuts will resign on the outcome of the elections, or will elect to meet the Assembly and await defeat on a vote of confidence, before his Government resigns.

It is probable that if he resigns he will be succeeded by a coalition ministry, headed by the Nationalist leader, General Hertzog.

But there is an important provision in the pact entered into by the Nationalists and the Labourites, whereby they agreed to work together in the elections for the overthrow of the Smuts adminstration, that in the event of a Nationalist victory there should be no attempt during the life of the newly elected Assembly to test the question of the secession of South Africa from the Empire.

Thus, this question, which is one of the principal planks in the Nationalist programme, cannot be decided without another general election.

MAYOR TURNER PAID RESPECTS

With Aldermen Stocker and Jones He Visited Belleville Yesterday.

CIVIC BANQUET.

BELLEVILLE, June 19. — (By a Staff Reporter).—"The message I bring you is one of the kindest thought and good wishes for the success of Belleville, from the council and citizens of Peterborough," Mayor J. J. Turner told the city of Belleville yesterday through the city fathers gathered in the magnificent auditorium of the school for the deaf.

The occasion was a neighborly visit paid by His Worship and Aldermen Robert N. Jones and Walter Stocker on the occasion of the celebration of the anniversary of the settlement of Upper Canada by United Empire Loyalists. In the hall were gathered two hundred representatives Ontario municipalities, including Mayor Hiltz of Toronto and mayors aldermen, councillors and wardens of a score other cities and districts.

Mayor Turner was invited to speak to the toast to Canadian Municipalities and in a scintillating speech short and to the point, he set before the representative audience an ideal that has its head in the heavens but its feet firmly planted on the bed rock of common sense. "We are not envious of Belleville in her successes," His Worship said, "because we are all linked up together as neighboring municipalities. Your success is ours and if you are prosperous, Peterborough is prosperous. By boosting you we boost ourselves."

Congratulating the city on the wealth of its industries, which he said are world widely known, Mayor Turner reminded his attentive audience that the greatest product of any municipality is its young men and women. They should be so train ed that when they carry the name Belleville to the ends of the world it will be a synonym for integrity and success.

Other Speakers

Mayor Hiltz in an impressive address pointed to the loyalty to the motherland exhibited by the United Empire Loyalists when they faced the vigors of the unknown to live under the flag they loved. That is the patriotism that is needed today he said. "When the history of Canada is written in imperishable volumes there will be no brighter story than that of the loyalty and patriotism of the United Empire Loyalists." The celebration then going forward would, he thought, turn people's minds to the significance of the scenes they witnessed in pageant and would help toward the great unity and concord for which the brave founders of the country stood.

W. D. Robb, vice-president of the Canadian National Railway, told of his experience in Belleville, where he climbed from apprentice to his present commanding position, vice-president of Canada's railway, the same road he started work on as a boy. He spoke of the achievements of Sir Henry Thornton and of the success of the enterprise under his care, and urged the municipalities represented and Canadian as individuals to get behind the man who was bringing order out of chaos in so remarkable a manner.

PREFERENCE VOTED DOWN BY COMMONS

British House Defeats Resolutions Adopted by Empire Economic Conference.

LONDON, June 19.—(Canadian Press).—Following a two-days' debate on the question of adopting the preference resolutions endorsed by the Empire Economic Conference last October, the House of Commons last night took a vote on the first four conference resolutions relating to preferences in the British market on dried fruits, tobacco, wine and sugar, and defeated all four by a narrow majority, and leader Baldwin of the Conservative party, who has championed the resolutions, agreed that no purpose could be served by voting on the remainder of the conference programme. The vote was 278 to 272.

TO SUBSIDIZE STEAMER LINES IN MARITIMES

In Spite of Opposition Objection Items For $143,500 Carried In Supply.

BENEFIT 7,,000 PEOPLE.

Every Line From St. John Seemed to be Subsidized, Member Said.

OTTAWA, June 19 (By Canadian Press).—In committee of supply the house of commons considered yesterday afternoon a vote of $50,000 to subsidize steamship service between Pictou Souris, and the Magadeln Islands. Thomas A. Low, minister of trade and commerce, explained that the increase this year of $26,000 was due to the improved service that was being established this season. In answer to questions by Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, the minister explained that a ten year contract had been entered into. There had been three tenders made, two of $50,000 and one of $24,000. Mr. Meighen read from a prospectus issued by the company which had received the award. He asked what predestination had enabled this company to sell bonds to build a ship that would operate on this service. Mr. Meighen pointed out that Mr. William Fraser was president of the company—"the right bower of the minister of militia," he added.

The minister of trade and commerce said there was nothing whatever in the prospectus that condemned the government. The 7,000 people on the Magdalen Islands were entitled to the best service it was possible to give them.

The item was allowed to stand to permit the department to bring down some further information.

Another One.

An item of $65,000 was considered for a steamship service between Quebec, Matashquan, Harrington, and points on the north shore of the Gulf of St. Lawrence.

F. J. Pelletier (Liberal, Matane), complained that he had got scant attention from the Minister of Trade and Commerce when he approached him with suggestions for improvement in the ferry service to the North Shore. There had been no money for much needed extensions in the service. But the department meantime was doubling the appropriations for other similar services. We wished to register the dissatisfaction felt by his constituents in the service they were getting.

Mr. Low protested that he had never failed to listen to any suggestions brought to him by Mr. Pelletier. The department wished to do everything possible for the residents on the North Shore.

A series of questions as to why the contract for this steamship was made for so long a period as ten years culminated in an attack by Right Hon. Arthur Meighen who said Mr. Low

PROTECTION MONEY PAID BY BANDITS

New Evidence in Trial of Hochelaga Bank Hold-up Gang.

MONTREAL, June 19—(Canadian Press).—J. A. Marchessault, business partner of Louis Morel, who is charged with five others with the murder of Henri Cleroux in the Hochelaga Bank collection car hold-up of April 1, drove Morel several times in March to the vicinity of Lincoln Avenue, Morel always stopping the car a little distance away from where he wished to go, Mr. Marchessault testified yesterday afternoon.

He identified Serafini as one of a group of men who were at Morel's place several times when he went there. He identified amongst clothing produced in court, a coat and sweater which he said Morel was wearing about April 1.

"Watch what you are doing, or we'll cut your —— throat," V. Falcon, president of Robertson Motor Car Company, was told by one of the men now in the dock, when he made enquiries looking to recovery of his car which had been stolen by the holdup gang in order to carry out the robbery of the collection car, according to Niegro's story.

Mr. Falcon gave evidence yesterday afternoon and told how his car had been finally returned to him after he had threatened to have someone arrested.

Under cross-examination by Alban Germain, K.C., for the defence, Ciro Niegro told how the holdup gang undertook to pay ten per cent. of the loot from their projected holdup in Toronto to Tony Frank, Frank Gambino and Mike Valentino for protection. When the holdup failed their protector brought them back to Montreal and paid the cost, Niegro affirmed. He told of various holdups in this city where protection money was paid.

DIVIDE LABOR AMONG JUDGES

Tommy Church Declares Toronto Judges Have Too Much Work—Bill Introduced.

SUGGEST REDUCTION.

OTTAWA, June 19 (Canadian Press).—A Bill to amend the Judges Act in regard to the residence of county or district court judges in Ontario, was given a second reading in the House of Commons yesterday afternoon without debate, and was then discussed in committee.

The Minister of Justice, Hon. Ernest Lapointe, explained that the Bill was designed to co-operate with the Province of Ontario in reducing the number of county judges.

An Ontario Act provides for the consolidation of two or more counties to form a judicial district, and the object of the present Bill is to permit the Governor-in-Council to fix a place of residence for a district judge at any place within the district, whereas at present he is required to reside within a county.

T. L. Church (Conservative, North Toronto) asked when the Minister was going to reduce the number of judges in Ontario and what steps he was going to take to relieve congestion in the Toronto Courts. He said that while 66 judges in the Province handled 60,533 cases in a year, six judges in Toronto handled 28 per cent. of these cases. He remarked also that some judges had so little to do that they were able to take one or two holidays a year to serve on political commissions.

W. A. Boys (Conservative, Simcoe) protested against Mr. Church's suggestion that the county court judges had nothing to do. In his county at least, two judges were kept busy. He agreed, however, that some steps were necessary to relieve conditions in Toronto.

Sir Henry Drayton (Conservative, West York) emphasised the congestion of the courts in Toronto.

The Minister of Justice agreed that the County of York judges had been kept very busy. There had been frequent suggestions recently regarding increase in salaries for the judges, but he would hesitate to open the question at this session.

Harry Leader (Progressive, Portage La Prairie) believed the judiciary was over-manned.

Shaw Says Even Parrots Are Using Poor English

LONDON, June 19. — The campaign against the slipshod use of English has found a vigorous exponent in George Bernard Shaw, who, in an address before the English Association, deplored what he characterised as the increasing use of "parrot talk" and the "mumble, mumble" of hostesses.

The parrot, Mr. Shaw said, learned words and phrases distinctly at first, but gradually modified them so that eventually they became unintelligible.

Slovenliness of speech, Mr. Shaw asserted, should be discouraged, for it tended to destroy the variety and music of language.

A "correct language," he said, did not exist. He said the need was for a standard actor, whose English is absolutely unchallengeable, to set before people a standard and say:

"That is good enough. If you come within a certain distance of that you will be all right."

COUNTY COUNCIL DISCUSSES BRIDGE

Douglas' Bridge in Dummer Needs Rebuilding, But No Funds Are on Hand.

The County Council upon resuming session yesterday afternoon, immediately went into committee of the whole on roads and bridges.

Chairman Wm. Brown's report was adopted on motion of Messrs. Duncan Brown and W. E. Pakenham after the report had been discussed clause by clause.

Several resolutions were passed advising repairs on various bridges throughout the County and committees were appointed to investigate repairs urged by the representatives of the various townships. The recommendations of the committee will have to be considered in open Council and may be upset or approved.

The replacement of Douglas' Bridge in Dummer was considered at length. This bridge is reported to be beyond repair. The traffic however is merely local and the committee on roads and bridges did not advise the re-building of this bridge at the present time.

The Warden stated when this matter was under discussion that, "The question to be decided is whether the County can afford to build a concrete bridge this year as urged by Mr. Hawthorne in view of the fact that the County has assumed heavy expenditures in the building of the Lakefield and Lockie's bridges."

Mr. Smythe, superintendent engineer of the County Highway System for this district was present and was called uopn on several occasions to participate in the discussion when engineering problems faced the members.

It was announced that Messrs. Fowlds and Anderson of the United Counties' Council for Northumberland and Durham would be present to confer with the Council on the matter of the Bensford boundary bridge.

At 4 p.m. the committee rose and the Council adjourned to accept the invitation of the Suburban Area Commission to view the Norwood Road which is in the course of construction. The Warden in mentioning the invitation at the morning session stated that "The chairman of the Commission was anxious for the Council to see the work being done so that they may know how the County's money is being expended."

RECOVER LOOT FROM HOLD-UP

About $3,000,000 Represented—Enough Evidence to Charge Eight Men.

ONE IS DYING.

CHICAGO, June 19. — Much of the $3,000,000 loot obtained in the hold-up last Thursday night of a Milwaukee and St. Paul railroad mail special has been recovered, and the Chicago policemen and postal inspectors expect to find an additional substantial quantity to-day.

Enough evidence has been obtained to justify charging the eight men under arrest in connection with the hold-up with the robbery, and the three women as accessories, according to the police.

Three other men are sought.

J. H. Wayne one of the suspects, found with five bullet wounds and thought to have been shot during the hold-up., was reported dying.

Sixty-one mail bags, $100,000 worth of non-negotiable securities and $5,000 in $5.00 bills taken in the hold-up have been recovered, the last item apparently having been overlooked by the bandits.

A check-up of pouches recovered indicates that the bandits took a package containing $500,000 in Liberty bonds, shipped from a New York bank to St. Paul, more than $500,000 in Liberty bonds of denominations smaller than the $1,000 bonds in the New York package and approximately $100,000 in currency.

IRON BAROMETER IS CLIMBING UP

Steady Increase Since February is Further Swelled in May.

OTTAWA, June 19 Canadian Press. — The production of pig-iron in Canada, which has been improving steadily since February of the current year again advanced to 84,987 long tons in May, an increase of 1,112 tons over the April output of 83,675 tons.

The increase was in the basic and malleable grades while foundry iron showed a decline. Basic iron advanced 6 per cent. to 69,229 tons, malleable iron rose 96 per cent. to 5,510 tons, and foundry, after falling off 44 per cent. in April as compared with March, again dropped 35 per cent. to 10,248 tons.

The cumulative production for the five months ending May at 370,142 tons was the highest recorded for this period in the last three years, and equalled the output for the same period of 1920.

The average monthly output was 74,000 tons for the first five months of the current year; 67,000 tons in 1923; 33,000 tons in 1922; and 51,000 tons in 1921.

Farmer Skinner, the champion mean man, hired a country youth to help him with his work, and as the boy turned up at 6 o'clock, they at once sat down to breakfast. After the boy had eaten his fill, the farmer suggested that while they were about it they should eat dinner. The lad agreed, and managed to get down a little more. Seeing that his new helper was by this time quite replete, Skinner suggested eating supper and thus get the day's meals over.

"All right," gasped the boy, and swallowed a mouthful of bread.

"And now," cried the farmer, thinking of his saving in food, "let's get to work."

"Not likely," answered the boy; "I go to bed after supper."

MEXICO WARNED TO LET BRITON CUMMINS ALONE

Mission Will be Sent to Investigate Trouble With British Representative.

BREACH OF COURTESY.

MacDonald Intimates That Further Insults Would Bring Different Action.

LONDON, June 19. — Prime Minister MacDonald reiterated in the House of Commons yesterday that the Government had decided to send a special mission to Mexico City, which, among other things, would be charged with an investigation of the Cummins affair, but, he said, if further insults were offered to Mr. Cummins, now the British representative, the mission would not be sent.

He left the inference that in such a case Mr. Cummins would be withdrawn, making recognition of Mexico by Great Britain, which Mexico is clamouring for, indefinite.

While full reports have not been received of everything leading up to the affair, it is believed among Cummins' colleagues in the foreign service that his personality had a great deal to do with it. Cummins is one of the most unusual men in the British foreign service, and has insisted while in Mexico, despite the old order of things in British diplomacy, on handling the situation in his own way.

Astounded Older Diplomats.

At times his methods astounded the older diplomats, but he had a record for success, being on friendly terms with nearly every faction in Mexico, and he did not arrive at that status by dilly-dallying with them at all.

During the Villa troubles he was received cordially in Mexico City's official circles, and equally cordially in Villa's dining-room, where, incidentally, it is understood, he often obtained information of equal importance to other countries as to his own.

Those here who knew the situation are wondering whether for once he became too blunt in his observations in official quarters, but have not overlooked the fact that possibly his curiosity led him to ascertain facts that might become extremely embarrassing to the Mexican Government.

Of course, that is mere conjecture in the absence of complete reports, but it is a vehicle for conversation in diplomatic quarters.

FUND TO PROVIDE FOR POSTMASTERS

Biennial Convention of Association Discusses Beneficiary Fund—Injustice Aired.

MONTREAL, June 19—(Canadian Press)—Postmasters from every province in Canada attending the biennial convention of the Canadian Postmasters' Association in session here yesterday afternoon discussed a motion advocating the formation of a beneficiary fund to endow the widows of postmasters in case of death and to provide for postmasters who might lose their positions. The matter was held over for further consideration. T. J. Cumberland, of Pincher Creek, Alberta, presided, and among the speakers were J. B. LeClerc, St. Boniface, Man., and A. C. Kolb, Herbert, Sask.

That a personal injustice and an affront to St. Boniface had been made by the authorities of the Winnipeg postal division was the declaration made by J. B. LeClerc. He put the facts of his case before the representatives at the meeting, charging the Winnipeg postmaster with conducting an underhand campaign at Ottawa against the St. Boniface Post Office. Those present on Tuesday unanimously declared that, according to the facts which Mr. LeClerc had brought forward, he was certainly suffering an injustice. It was not an isolated case, it was stated, several other complaints of a like nature having been unofficially voiced.

The members of the association passed a resolution giving the St. Boniface postmaster their moral support in his presentation of his grievance before the authorities at Ottawa.

POSTAL STRIKE PARALYZED MAIL IN BIG CITIES

Government Announced 24 Hour Reprieve, But Workers Walked Out Yesterday.

JEER AT POSTMASTER.

Contradictory Reports Led to Demoralization—No Toronto Mail.

MONTREAL, June 19 (Canadian Press).—Despite a last minute move toward conciliation by the Federa Government and reports from Ottawa that a postal strike throughout the Dominion had been averted for at least 24 hours, the postal service was practically demoralized here between five and six o'clock yesterday afternoon.

Union officials here received no official word of postponement from their representatives who had been in conference with the Government throughout the day, and, in consequence, the strike was called here at five o'clock as per schedule.

Within an hour 700 postal employees had assembled at National Syndicate Hall here, and work in the bigger offices was practically at a standstill. At the main post office a handful of clerks cleared the main wickets, but the internal machinery was stalled.

At 6.30 last night, Postmaster Gaudet addressed some five hundred workers at the main post office, demanding their return to duty on pain of dismissal. The order was met with "boos," while, at the same time, officials of the railway postal clerk's union were busy instructing the membership not to take out mail cars until definite word of postponement was formally received by the unions.

At Ottawa.

At Ottawa, J. E. Archer, secretary of the Dominion Federation of Postal Employees, stated that the Government proposition was "being put to the men" by means of telegraph and long-distance telephones. The various local unions throughout the country were advised of the Government's offer. The delegation of the Union which met the Government here yesterday held itself in readiness for further conferences with the Government.

Meantime, the men were all prepared to answer the call to go out on strike when word was received from the Union that a 24-hour postponement had been decided upon.

At Fredericton.

Postal employees at Fredericton decided they would not go out on strike, even if the conference being held at Ottawa to avert a strike were barren of results, it was officially stated yesterday afternoon.

At Peterboro.

No notice of cancellation of the strike order having reached here, the workers left the office at 5 o'clock according to schedule. They were recalled when a telegram from the secretary of the Union conveyed news of the postponement.

Very little mail was received on the Toronto trains, a score or so of pieces replacing the usual hundreds. The staff remained on duty through the night awaiting telegraphic confirmation of the new strike order.

At Toronto.

Despite the Ottawa despatch, stating that the postal strike had been deferred 24 hours, Toronto postal workers, in conformity with instructions for a walk-out at 5 o'clock yesterday, went on strike at a massed meeting, and will remain out until settlement is made, said a despatch from Toronto.

Government's Plan.

An Ottawa despatch says two new proposals were made by the Government as follows:—

1. Where any postal employee, under the new wage schedule, will receive less than his present salary, plus the 1924-25 bonus, the bonus will be continued until the salary revision for the entire service has been consummated.

2. When the revision is complete, opportunity will be given to postal employees, or to employees in any other Government department, to present their objections to the new schedule to a sub-committee of the Covernment, "and to discuss such matters of differences as fully as may be necessary to ensure a thorough understanding."

Conferences between representatives of the Dominion Federation of Postal Employees and acting Postmaster-General Charles Stewart, Hon. James Murdock, Minister of Labor; Hon.

Finds Kellogg's Bran "Easy way to avoid constipation" after suffering for years

Constipation is a dangerous disease. It can lead to many others. Twenty years' suffering with constipation undermined this man's health. Kellogg's Bran restored it—as it has done for thousands. This is what he says:

"Dear Sirs:
After eating Kellogg's Bran twice a day for one month I find it not only an 'Easy Way to Avoid Constipation,' but an easy and most pleasant way to cure it. I have been troubled with constipation . . . for more than twenty years . . . after adopting the milk and bran diet I find my stomach greatly improved, and find it a specific for constipation.
. . . I deem it only justice that you should know what your product has done for me, and what it is capable of doing for others."
(Name and address on request.)

Kellogg's Bran relieves mild and chronic constipation because it is ALL bran. It brings sure results. It sweeps, cleans and purifies the intestine in nature's own way. Don't experiment. Only ALL bran can be 100 per cent effective.

If eaten regularly, Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled, is guaranteed to bring permanent relief—or your grocer returns your money. You should eat two tablespoonfuls daily—in chronic cases, with every meal.

The flavor is delicious—nut-like—cooked and krumbled. Enjoy it with milk or cream, sprinkled on other cereals, cooked with hot cereals, or in the delightful recipes on every package. Made in Toronto, Canada. Sold by grocers everywhere.

WARKWORTH TIE WITH COLBORNE

Leadership of Northumberland League Eualized by Warkworth's Victory Wednesday.

TRIM COLBORNE 15-8.

COLBORNE, June 19. — Warkworth are tied with Colborne for the leadership of the Northumberland League as a result of yesterday's game here, in which Warkworth defeated Colborne by the score of 15-8.

Leach, for the visitors, yielded six runs in the first two innings, partly due to his own ineffectiveness and also to several costly errors behind him. He found himself in the third and from then on had complete command of the game. He fanned seven of the local batters in three innings and his total number of strikeouts for the game was thirteen.

Ives pitched the first five innings and was touched for ten runs. He gave four passes and had no strikeouts on his sheet. Miles followed him and held Roseneath for two innings. In the seventh they filled the bases, but a triple play killed their rally. In the next frame Roseneath got to him for five runs, Thackeray and Davey driving in two each, and Bates scoring Davey on his fifth hit. Davey's work at shortstop was spectacular, and Bates was the chief clouter. In six trips to the plate he garnered two doubles, three singles and a walk.

Batteries—Roseneath: Thackeray and Leach; Colborne: Mayhew, Ives and Miles. Umpires—Macklin and Cowie.

SENATE TALKS DISPUTES ACT

Report of Conciliation Board Before Changes in Standin Re-warmed.

SOME RESTRICTION.

OTTAWA, June 19.—(By Canadian Press)—The Senate devoted the whole of yesterday's session to a consideration of the industrial disputes act which had been before a special committee to hear evidence from employers and employees on the proposed amendment. The amendment proposed would place a penalty on the employers for violation of the restriction against making any changes in wages and conditions pending the decision of the conciliation board Under the act such changes were forbidden and while a penalty was imposed on employees for violating it, there was no penalty on the employer. The necessity for such penalty it was pointed out by Senator Robertson, was due to the tendency of a decrease in wages where formerly the wages change had alway been upwards.

Senator Beique moved an amendment that the penalty on either employer or employee for violating the act by making changes while a dispute was under consideration by a conciliation board, be restricted to 30 days from the time the conciliation board was established. It was pointed out that this might have a tendency to make for disagreement rather than agreement after 30 days period had expired if the dispute had not already been settled. The Beique amendment was lost by 31 to 13, and the amendment which does not permit of any changes until the report of the conciliation board, was carried by 28 to 15.

Some Restrictions

Senator Beaubien proposed an amendment restricting the operation of the industrial disputes act in the case of mining to coal-mining only. It was pointed out that this had been the practice. Advocates of this change felt that as long as the opportunity for the application of the act to other mining remained possible, it might retard our mineral development.

This amendment was defeated by 18 to 13.

Hon. Mr. Webster (Stadacona) presented an amendment placing the appointment of the third member of the conciliation board where the other two members failed to agree on the appointees in the hands of the chief justice of the province wherein the dispute was, or if the dispute affected several provinces, the appointment to be made by the chief justice of Canada. At present, in such cases, the Minister of Labor recommends the third member of the board to the government and he is appointed by order in council.

This amendment was defeated by 16 to 14.

The bill was then adopted and will be before the senate for its third reading to-day.

When the senate convened, Hon. Mr. Griesbach said that there was great interest in the branch lines bill and he thought that steps should be taken to give the assent of the senate at once to those which had been agreed upon in committee.

Senator Dandurand said he would bring the matter before the senate and the bills to be reported would be dealt with as soon as possible.

HEARST BACKING GOVERNOR SMITH

Powerful Democrat Reported in New Pact With Opponent in Politics.

HYLAN IS MEDITATING.

(Special to the Examiner)

NEW YORK, June 19.—Three New York newspapers to-day declared that a peace pact was about to be entered into between Governor Smith and William Randolph Hearst whereby the publisher would support his erstwhile political enemy for democratic presidential nomination. Hearst's own newspaper, "The American," made no mention of the subject.

While it is generally agreed that Mayor Hylan is acting in the role of mediator betwen the governor and publisher, George E. Brennan, Illinois Democratic leader, was said to heartily favor a Smith-Hearst armistice. Brennan, who is behind Smith for the Democratic nomination, also is friendly politically to Mr. Hearst who has supported city and county tickets in Chicago. The Hearst-Smith feud was said often to have caused Brennan embarrassment because of Illinois warm support of New York governor.

According to the "Times" the new Smith-Hearst agreement is about to be consummated by which publisher will not actively oppose Governor Smith for the Democratic nomination or for election, should he be nominated.

RESORTS AT TRENT RIVER FILLING UP

Weather Has Been Ideal For the Opening of the Fishing Season.

TRENT RIVER, June 19.—The weather continues ideal for the busy week with the tourists who are enjoying every minute fishing in the daytime, returning home for hot dinner at night, and the balance of the time spent in telling the usual fish stories of how many big ones they almost landed, but there have been a great number of pickerel and bass caught.

Cedar Isle is booked up for guests for two or three weeks. Thirteen applied for accommodation on Monday, but Mr. Wight had to refuse, but some of the party went to Havelock to get rooms, returning here in the daytime for the fishing.

The Sedgwick House is also accommodated to the full, and doing a rushing business in ice cold beverages.

Miss Bessie G. French has rhubarb growing in her garden, the leaves of which measure 26 inches long and 34 inches wide.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred. Phillips, of Campbellford, and Matthew Dickey, of Chebogan, Ill., were visitors on Monday with Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Tyler. Mr. Matthew Dickey is an uncle of Mr. Tyler's, and they have not seen each other in about 30 years.

Miss Whibbs, of Indian River, is spending a few days with her father at "Athlone."

The members of the Bon-Ton Orchestra are returning to Whitehall Gardens to resume playing for the big dance to-morrow night, having been engaged to play for four nights in Belleville during the big U.E.L. celebration there.

ering up East Peterborough. He suggested that the meeting should go on record by the adoption of a resolution.

Mr. Sexsmith protested vigorously against the proposal to take Douro Lakefield and Otonabee from East Peterborough, and placing the remainder of the riding in Hastings. He believed that the city of Peterborough could do more than any other municipality to keep the county intact as a Federal riding.

The unit of representation, he said, could not be followed out. It was not adhered to in Toronto and other places and there was no reason why it should be insisted upon in Peterborough County.

Mr. Sexsmith was in favor of calling a public meeting to protest against the proposed alterations but Mr. Denne said that the bill now in committee might be passed by the House before such a gathering as Mr. Sexsmith suggested could be held.

After E. C. Squires of Norwood has spoken in support of the proposal for maintaining the county as one riding, Col. Birdsall offered the suggestion that the County Council now in session be memoralized to ask Parliament to leave the county intact. This action will be taken.

The Resolution.

Elias Williams then brought in a resolution, seconded by Mrs. Alex. Matheson, that the County of Peterboro be left as one riding and that a copy of the resolution be sent direct to Premier King. This was adopted unanimously.

Mr. Williams made another motion which he amended at the suggestion of Mr. Denne, to provide that the executive ask the executive of the Liberal Association to cooperate by sending a joint committee to wait on Mr. Gordon personally to urge that the wishes of the majority in this matter be given effect. This motion, too, prevailed without dissent.

The Speeches.

After W. H. Bradburn, M.L.A., had spoken in favor of one county and one riding, and had commended the record made by the Ferguson Government at the recent session of the Legislature, the chief speaker of the day, Hon. James Lyons, Minister of Forests and Mines, was introduced by the chairman. The Minister gave a clear and concise statement of what had been done at the last session, dealing specially with affairs relating to his own department. He has unbounded confidence in the future of New Ontario, and predicted that, in a few years, it will be the leading mining district of the known world.

The Drift to the U. S.

The migration of so many of the brightest of Canada's young men to the United States, Mr. Lyons said, is easily explained. Ontario has a superior educational system, and the graduates of our schools and colleges have to seek positions with large industries such as exist across the line, in order to utilize their education. In order to keep these young men here, home industries must be established. Raw material, instead of being exported, should be manufactured here.

There is ore enough in the nickle mines of Sudbury to keep all the plants there going at capacity for 100 years. Northern Ontario has the greatest gold fields in the world. In a few years, these fields will produce more gold than all the other gold mines on earth. There is no danger of the supply being exhausted in 50, some say in 100 years. Over two hundred million dollars worth of silver has been mined since the discovery of that metal at Cobalt in 1903, and the supply is practically unlimited.

Capital is Needed.

What Ontario needs is capital with which to develop her resources. That was why Hon. Charles McCrae went to England, to give the people of England a true conception of what this country can do. Mr. Lyons is confident that British capital will be interested and that there will be a marked increase in the development of Ontario's resources within the next few years.

More Population Essential.

The population of Canada, considering that it is a new country, has not shown a satisfactory increase. More people must be induced to come here to supply the market for labor and to build up a home market for agricultural and industrial products.

To Tax Lands.

Mr. Lyons explained the Act passed at the last session providing for a tax on the lands that are held in fee simple, a tax that will yield a large revenue to the Province. Two districts that will be affected are Rondeau Park, near St. Thomas, and a 10,000-acre tract in Northern Ontario, purchased a few years ago for 50 cents an acre, and recently sold for $114,000.

Messrs. Bradburn and Johnston.

"The representatives sent by the two Peterboros to the Legislature, Mr. Bradburn and Col. Johnston," said the speaker, "have given you splendid service. There were few contentious matters before the House, so that members had not so many opportunities to discuss public affairs as they would have had if the Opposition had been stronger, but your representatives did good work in the committees."

The Tax Burden.

"It will be impossible," Mr. Lyons said, "to get out of the burden of taxation for some years to come. All the Government can do is to check extravagance, levy no new taxes and practice economy in every Department. By so doing, they hope to lighten the burden. While following this policy, the Government will endeavor to establish efficiency as it was never known before in the public service.

"Every Department has been reorganized by the present Government."

In Mr. Lyons' own Department, 1,200 employees have been let go, and in this way a big reduction has been made in the expenses. Tom, Dick and Harry, every man who was a friend of the late Government, was given a job.

"We have no desire," continued the speaker, "to parade the misfortunes of the U.F.O. Government. What we want to do is to give the people quietly an idea of the inefficiency of the past administration so that they may the better appreciate what is being done now."

Time Not Opportune.

At a time when the United States is building up its tariff walls to protect the industrial, agricultural and labor interests we should not stand idly by and admit American products. The Ottawa Government is trading the prosperity of Ontario and Quebec for the support of the West. Mr. Lyons predicts victory for the Conservative party at the next Federal election.

Col. Johnston's Address.

Col. Johnston, East Peterboro's representative in the Legislature, said that it was too much to expect a fair deal from the Ottawa Government in the redistribution issue. The Liberals are going to make all the political capital possible out of that measure. If the County of Peterboro is made into one riding it would be as fair a unit as any in the province. Mr. Gordon's aim seems to be to make a safe seat for himself. If however the voters of Peterboro County do their duty at the next election an new Deputy Speaker of the House and a new member for the riding will be required.

Work of Recent Session.

Reviewing the work of the recent session, Colonel Johnston said it was hard to get evidence but he believed that in the late government there had been more dishonesty in the Highway Department than in any other branch. The work done during the session will be fruitful in the future, although Provincial Treasurer Price had not been able to get his expenditure down to as low as he had hoped for.

The system of bookkeeping has been simplified so that when the reports are printed the people will have no difficulty in understanding them.

The expenditure on highways was cut down to five and a half millions but another million and a half had been added to take care of the unemployed.

Larger grants will be made to the secondary roads so that the people will be convinced that the Highways Department does not exist to build speedways. Good roads are needed but the entire cost of these cannot be taken over by the government.

The system of school grants has been changed, the idea being to give the weaker schools more help.

The Mothers' Allowance and the Workmen's compensation act have been amended but the investigation into irregularities took up so much time that it interfered with other matters that could have been dealt with.

The development of New Ontario is of vast importance as a market can be found there for the agricultural and other products of the older part of the provnce.

"In the matter of redistribution," continued the speaker, "the government is going to load the dice. But in spite of this we are going to have a new helmsman at Ottawa. The Liberals may butcher the ridings and try to save themselves, but the people of Canada will not stand for their manipulations."

The constant fear of tariff changes the speaker added, had an adverse effect upon business.

Officers Re-Elected.

On motion of E. C. Squires the officers were re-elected as follows:
Pres., H. G. Fitzgerald.
Vice-Pres., Col. R. E. Birdsall.
Secretary, Matthew Elliott.
Treasurer, T. P. Lancaster.

Mr. Lancaster is at present in England and C. H. Brewster of Havelock, was elected to act as treasurer during the absence of the former.

Resolution Adoped.

Secretary Elliott read the following resolutions, all of which were adopted:

Tendering the thanks of the party to E. C. Squires for his faithful and efficient services as secretary of the organization for 14 consecutive years;

Expressing confidence in Premier Howard G. Ferguson and ex-Premier Meighen.

Mr. Squires made an appropriate acknowledgment of the compliment paid him by the members of the party he has served so long.

TRIAL EQUALLED OLYMPIC RECORD

Hester of Toronto Made Same Time in 100 Metre Dash.

MONTREAL, June 19—(Canadian Press).—The equalling of the Olympic record for the 100-metre dash by G. Hester, of Toronto, was the feature of the Canadian trials yesterday for the Paris games. Heater, who was left at the post in Tuesday's dash, was given a chance to show what he could do in a special race. He won easily from a field which did not include C. Coaffee and J. Armstronrg, of Manitoba, who beat him on Tuesday. Hester and Coaffee however, came together in the 200-metre final and provided a great race, with the westerner the winner by an inch.

The Toronto sprinter led to a foot from the finish, when Coaffee passed him in the jump for the tape. The other contests on the card yesterday afternoon did not provide anything remarkable in the way of times and distances, the field events showing Canada a long way behind the United States in this class of sport. In the 800 metres, J. McKay, Ontario, won when he let loose a spurt which easily left the field behind. The ten thousand metres was easy for J. Cuthbert, Ontario. He lapped all but the veteran Marathoner from the maritimes, V. McAulay. J. Barnes, Ontario, met with staunch competition in the 1,500 metres from B. McIrvine, Manitoba, for three-quarters of the distance. McIrvine opened up a good lead, but petered out when Barnes caught him with his dazzling sprint in the ball lap.

AN AWFUL ATTACK OF PIMPLES ALL OVER HIS FACE

Pimples breaking out on the face and other parts of the body is a sure sign that the blood is not in proper shape.

While the skin is the object of the attack the real seat of the disease is in the blood on account of the entire circulation being poisoned.

Burdock Blood Bitters quickly and effectually banishes pimples and all other skin diseases as it goes right to the root of the trouble by cleansing and enriching the blood.

Mr. Conad Anderson, Kelfield, Sask., writes:—"A year ago I had an awful attack of pimples. They broke out all over my face and I could not get rid of them in any way. One day a friend told me about your Burdock Blood Bitters and let me have a bottle he had to spare. After using it I noticed a change, so I bought three more bottles, and now I don't know there is such a thing as pimples."

B.B.B. is manufactured only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

Balloon tires are called "comfort tires" in England. But they're not widely used. Only some of the larger cars have adopted them, and then only as optional equipment.

Every Dollar Comes Back

A Young Man and His Future — With Substantial Dividends

He takes his first step in business affairs, is examined by the doctor, and creates an estate of $5,000 in event of death.

He improves the shining hour and impresses upon an important person that he is in possession of an "estate."

His tendency to save and invest is noted by his employers.

He finds his savings of great assistance in buying a home.

And as time goes on he is enabled to enjoy many of the good things of life.

Have you ever heard of an absolutely safe investment, which does not require the deposits to be continued if you become totally and permanently disabled, but, instead, pays you a monthly income as long as you live?

Which requires no further deposits in event of death and pays immediately the full amount you had set out to save?

Or, at the end of 20 years, absolutely guarantees to return to you every dollar you have deposited in annual premiums, along with substantial dividends?

We have such an investment to offer.

The Capital Return Policy

issued by the Canada Life Assurance Company, is a Contract which provides—

1. Immediate Life Insurance protection for your home.

2. Cash values, available in emergencies, which, with the substantial dividends added at stated intervals, make your policy a valuable business asset.

3. At the end of 20 years you can draw out all you have paid in, along with dividends, which have been compounding at interest,—

Or, you can take a Special Cash Guarantee, along with the accumulated dividends, and continue the policy (fully paid for) earning dividends as long as you live,—

Or, this Special Cash Guarantee may be applied to increase the amount of your policy—for example, a $5,000 policy would be raised to more than $7,500.

And in addition—

Suppose some day before reaching age 60 you should become totally and permanently disabled through accident or illness. Immediately all further deposits would cease, and you would receive $50.00 a month as long as you live—and the $5,000 would be paid in full at your death. (This feature is added for a small extra payment yearly, which is not returnable with the regular deposits.)

BOOMING THE TRENT WATERWAY.

The Trent Waterway Development Association which held its fourth annual meeting on Tuesday is an example of what can be accomplished by intelligently-directed co-operative effort.

The Association is made up of representatives of the various municipalities along the route of the Trent Canal and it has produced splendid results out of comparatively small expenditure.

Its publicity efforts have been cleverly planned and the charms of the rivers and lakes along the Trent waterway have been brought to the attention of thousands of people, especially across the border, with the result that tourist traffic both by motor car and train have shown a steady increase.

The display made at the New York Motor Show is an example of the enterprise of the Association for it introduced the Trent Waterway to many wealthy sports-men seeking new fields to visit and a number of smart motor craft will tour the waterway as a result.

The Association is urging the Government to complete the canal, an effort that should have the co-operation of the whole district through which the waterway runs.

The completion of the northern end of the canal system would immediately increase the traffic to record proportions.

NO CAUSE TO WORRY.

Figures given out from the Census Bureau's bulletins analyzing the population of Canada on the basis of origin and birth place show that Canada has no real cause to fear over-population by foreign stock.

The Dominion is still overwhelmingly British.

Of the 8,788,483 people living in Canada when the census was taken only 890,282 were born outside of the British Empire and of this number large proportion came from the United States.

Figures of the immigration in the decade are illuminating.

The population of Canada increased by 1,581, 840, the Canadian-born accounting for 1,213,065 while immigration from the British Isles showed a total of 220,887 and natives of other British countries 10,388.

During the ten years only 137,550 came into Canada from countries outside the British Empire and 70,-344 were from across the border so that in a decade our foreign-born population, excluding those from the United States, only increased by some 67,000.

The foreign-born problem may become serious in time but the census figures indicate that it is of little real importance just now.

THE AGE OF DEMOCRACY.

Ramsay MacDonald, Prime Minister of Britain—son of a peasant.

President Coolidge, head of the United States—son of a farmer.

Premier Herriot, of France—son of a poor officer, nephew of a cook.

Chancellor Marx, of Germany—son of a poor professor.

Add to the cases of these great nations the case of Russia, and it will be seen that the only great power in the world which is not now ruled by graduates from the proletariat is Japan, says the Ottawa Journal.

Clearly the age of democracy has arrived, to the extent at least that poverty or an absence of what is called social status, or both combined, offer no barrier to the ascent of human beings to the highest positions that can be attained in the civilizations in which they happen to be born.

Only within the past half a century has such a world-wide condition become possible. The world has been moving fast. Few of us have sensed the pace, because all of us are moving with it. But the ideas of privileged caste which had governed most of mankind throughout most of earthly history up to a point within the lifetime of many of us have within a comparatively few years met a tremendous smashing.

A WARRANT AT LAST.

A warrant has been issued for the arrest of Charles A. Matthews, former Deputy-Provincial Treasurer.

The only thing wrong about this action on the part of the Attorney-General's Department is that it is many weeks too late.

Matthews, it was evident was in a position to tell many things about the financial operations of the province during Peter Smith's regime and before that period.

Perhaps nobody was more closely in touch with the details than the Deputy-Treasurer.

Yet no effort was made to hold him, beyond issuing instructions to the police to keep an eye on him.

Matthews eluded the officers and disappeared on March 28th.

Now, nearly three months after, there is a warrant for his arrest.

The delay is difficult to explain.

Matthews should have been available for examination before the Public Accounts Committee and ready to testify in any court actions that have arisen out of the revelations made before that Committee.

Yet he was allowed to make a clean getaway and until now there has not even been a warrant issued in connection with his disappearance.

The lack of speedy action gives point to charges that there has been more anxiety to nail Peter Smith's hide to the fence than to investigate some of the transactions that occurred before the ex-Provincial Treasurer was entrusted with the financial administration of the province.

An ex-political boss is supposed to have led the Chicago train robbers. It was generally thought political bosses got their money more smoothly than that.

HONOURING THE PIONEERS.

The United Empire Loyalist celebration at Belleville has been based upon the idea of paying honour to the memory of the heroic pioneers of Eastern Ontario who carried a province out of the wilderness and laid the foundations for the heritage enjoyed by the Canadian of today.

There is too little of that sort of thing in Canada—too little thought of the debt owed to the men and women of yesterday who made the prosperity of today possible, too much emphasis placed upon modern difficulties that are really nothing in comparison to the obstacles overcome by our ancestors in this province.

The Belleville Committee did well to make this feature the predominant note in the celebration and are fortunate to have had as one of their orators Sir George Foster who seldom fails to leave a thought that sticks in the mind of his hearers.

His tribute to the virtues of Ontario's pioneers will not soon be forgotten.

"There are higher things in this world" declared the veteran staesman "than motor cars, movies and golf."

"We can learn a real lesson from the lives of these pioneers."

"They builded not only for themselves but for the future."

"Their life was in the home."

"The present tendency in life all too often seems to be what we can get out of it, not what we will leave behind when we pass."

"The heart of the nation is in the home—Can it be on the golf course, in the cinema show and the motor car?

"We are builders of a nation and we cannot build if we spend our time seeking pleasure."

"We should not forget the story of the old pioneers. Their's was a life of purpose. They built homes and laid the fundations of a new nation in a new world. Their pleasures were simple and their lives were simple. And they builded well and truly."

TRADE WITH THE WEST INDIES.

Is it blindness or stupidity that is the cause of Canada's neglect of one of her most profitable trade opportunities? How does it come about that the trade of the Dominions with the West Indies, which seems to appeal for expansion with every argument, is not making the progress that it may reasonably be expected to do and that in some branches of this trade Canada is being ousted by the United States?

Mr. Hance Logan, the member for Cumberland, did a distinct service to this country by drawing attention in the House of Commons last night to certain discouraging and disquieting facts about our trade relations with these islands. His figures were set forth so clearly and the manner of their arrangement was so concise that the lesson of our neglected opportunities should be driven home not only to the Department of Trade and Commerce, but to every exporter and importer in the Dominion.

The British West Indies, with British Guiana and Bermuda, rank among the oldest and proudest possessions of Britain's great colonial Empire. They form with Canada an integral part of the British Commonwealth of Nations. The government of the islands is based upon the British colonial system, which has been tested in war and by privation and suffering, and has emerged as a model of government. The people of the islands are loyal to the British flag and they laugh to scorn the inspired paragraphs that appear from time to time in certain American newspapers suggesting that the islanders should hand themselves and their possessions over, either piecemeal or in whole, to pay for a debt which Britain contracted in saving the world from Teutonic domination.

Everything seems to point to the ease with which trade between ourselves and our blood brothers of the West Indies could be expanded and developed. Yet there are figures contained in the last volume of statistics of our commerce that should make us pause. These figures Mr. Logan quoted in his speech and it is well that they should be set clearly before the public. Into Bermuda last year Canada sent a little more than a million dollars' worth of her products, while the United States in the same period sent over four millions worth. Into Jamaica Canada sent approximately $2,750,000, while from the United States came into Jamaica nearly $9,000,000 of goods.

It is to be expected that the trade of the United States to Cuba, Porto Rico and the Virgin Islands will be larger than the trade of Canada with those islands, but on the same basis it might be reasonably supposed that the bulk of the trade of the British West Indies would be within the Empire. Figures show that the purchases from the United States by Porto Rico, Hawaii and the Philippines for the twenty-five years preceding possession amounted to about $500,000,000, whereas purchases from these possessions during the twenty-five years succeeding acquisition by the United States amounted to over $3,350,000,000.

Political union between Canada and the West Indies, which has been the dream of a small group of enthusiasts for the last quarter of a century, seems to be outside the sphere of practical politics. But commercial union is feasible and would be of supreme importance to this Dominion. Last year we imported into Canada tropical and semi-tropical fruits from the United States to the value of about $100,000,000. Every cent's worth of this trade could have been done with the West Indies.

Something must be wrong with us when we neglect so valuable a trade. Is it the hustle of the Americans and their business enterprise which we lack? At least our apathy should not continue now that the situation has been revealed to us so clearly.—Montreal Star.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

"Stop, Look and Live", the Kiwanis Club's new warning to Peterborough people is to the point. It is necessary to do the first two if we want to do the last.

The Progressive Party now has a Ginger Group. It needed one.

Advices from the fruit belt indicate a record strawberry crop. Now watch a famine in berry boxes develop.

We'd better not send any more lacrosse or hockey teams to Britain. If steer-roping is bracketed with Spanish bull-fighting what would they say over there of a well-contested championship hockey game? asks the Globe.

The Federal Parliament may not be prorogued until the middle of next month. So far as length of service goes the members will earn their indmenities this session.

WISE AND OTHERWISE

Nothing can take a man off his feet like a comfortable chair.

One of the great reasons for wanting to go somewhere is not being invited.

Following in someone else's footsteps will never get you ahead of anyone.

Bathers are in favor of permanent waves at all beaches.

A success is a self-starter and a failure a self-stopper.

It's the radio's fault when a man stays at home, and says he has been to church.

The rich girl can well pick daisy petals and say, "he loves me; he loves my money."

Driving a wife or a horse too much may make them throw a shoe.

One thing a lot of people have an easy time getting on is loafing.

It must be awful to be a neighbor's child because they never will amount to anything.

Trouble is brewing in some countries while brewing is trouble in America.

Hot air and cold feet are usually pals.

Every man is boss in his own home—when the family is away.

Money may not go any farther, but you can, if you get any.

It's a good idea to see things as you travel along, for life is a one-way street.

Nicest thing about being a man is you don't have to stay home after washing your head.

After having it six months, many autoists almost know the number of their license plate now.

A THOUGHT

ON ANY SIDE STREET.

Most of the crimes of this country are matters of small margins. When trouble comes to you, who read this, it is reasonable to assume that you have resources or relatives that can help, but not so with very poor people. They have margins that are pitifully narrow.

Let the poor wage-earner, the head of a family, get hurt while at work, or the mother get sick with her cares and hard work, and you will find that the margins are all too small.

Then poverty sets in, and the children step out on the street and answer the call of crime.

Charity is the greatest and the first of all, but a systematic training of the public in the idea of thrift, would obviate much of the necessity for charity and most of the reason for crime.

The public could well afford to pay for a national propaganda on thrift. I do not mean for one single week, but for fifty-two weeks in the year.

This idea of talking about saving but seven days out of 365 days, means that people may forget during the other 358.

The successful propaganda is the persistent propaganda.

Then there is another side that looks like this: There are people who conceal their poverty by extravagance—people who are worse off than poor—they are in debt.

They strive to keep up appearances through splendor and servants. They are always trying to support the present situation by some temporary scheme.

It is better to get down to hard pan and start with your feet on the ground than to sit out on a limb that is worm-eaten with extravagance.

Extravagance invites corruption. Poverty incites crime. Thrift insures independence.

Let our schools teach more thrift and less Latin. We can learn enough Latin on any side street.

An honest countenance is better than a letter of introduction.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

TORONTO, June 19.—Of the 1,000 cattle on sale at the Union Stock Yards on Tuesday 820 were sold. The late delivery for the day left just about 1,000 to be added to yesterday's receipts which were 46 cars, 309 cattle, 312 calves, 1,681 hogs and 564 sheep and lambs. Slowly prices are adjusting themselves to the lessened demand, and yesterday' ands Tuesday afternoon's business show a decline of a full 25 cent a cwt on all exporters and butchers. The easier market gave a little zip to trading yesterdy morning and stuff moved rather free.

The exporters were buying a few to carry for next week. Three of the best finished steers on the market this season were bought at $8.35 a cwt. These belonged to E. E. McIntosh, of St. Marys, and weighed 1,307 each. Another bunch of steers was taken for export at $7.65 and some heifers over 1,150 lbs. each cost $7. The packers were operating in the 800 and 900-lb. handyweights and a load of even mixed butchers sold at $7.

My Experience is that DR. CALDWELL'S LAXATIVE SYRUP PEPSIN Is just what you need

This Will Make Digestion Easy

WHAT the dyspeptic needs is not soda and charcoal and breath perfumes but a medicine that will help his bowels to move regularly, for dyspepsia and constipation are allied. If you will take Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin systematically as the directions on the package call for you will soon digest your food properly and pass it out normally, and heartburn, belching, dizziness, nervousness and bloating will vanish. In time you can dispense with all medicines as Laxative Syrup Pepsin will have exercised the intestinal and stomach muscles so they act for themselves. Mr. E. N. Gagni, 338 St. Patrick St., Ottawa, Ont., Mrs. Uhriah Stewart of Crousetown, N. S., and hosts of others will verify this.

World Acclaims Success

Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin is the prescription of a well-known physician of that name who practiced successfully for 47 years. It has been on the market 30 years and is today the largest selling liquid laxative in the world. Thousands of families have it in their medicine chest ready when any member shows signs of dyspepsia, constipation, torpid liver, sour stomach, biliousness, coated tongue, offensive breath, headaches and such ailments that indicate deranged stomach and bowels. Many serious diseases are prevented by this timely aid.

Formula Plainly Stated

Have no hesitancy giving Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin to anyone young or old. It is a mild, gentle laxative free from narcotics. It will not cramp or gripe. The formula is on the package, a compound of Egyptian senna with pepsin and simple aromatics. A bottle can be had at any drug store and averages less than a cent a dose. Economical for families and fully guaranteed. You will find it a great improvement in taste and action over castor oil, or "candy cathartics" made from coal-tar that cause skin diseases, calomel that loosens the teeth, salts in water or powder that concentrate the blood and dry the skin.

AMERICAN WOMEN INFLUENCE STYLE

The French Even Copied The Bobbed Hair From Visitors in Paris.

By MARIAN HALE.

Nowhere has the American woman stamped her own particular indefinable personality more indelibly than in Paris.

French designers and costumers say it is an acknowledged fact in Paris that it is the American women who are influencing French styles instead of the Parisians.

The tailored suit so popular this season in Paris is an American style made popular by Americans and in turn created in Paris for them.

Parisians themselves had never cared for any type of clothes but the most feminine and intricate until they became influenced by the simplicity which the American woman loves.

The boyish frocks worn so generally on both sides of the Atlantic are just Paris adaptions of the frocks Americans have worn for years.

Perhaps the most revolutionary thing the American woman did was to start the rage in Paris for bobbed hair. No Frenchwoman ever did this until she saw the Americans doing it.

Her hair has always been her pride. She has given more attention to her coiffure than to her millinery. But today French girls and matrons are shearing their locks just as recklessly as we are over here, and there is no difference in the type of cut.

The reason for this is, of course, the way the Americans have been traveling since the war. During the summer months last year there were more Americans than Parisians in Paris. This year they are planning for at least 100,000 of us.

The American Women's Club in Paris, of which Mrs. Albert N. Connett Jr. is President, is making elaborate plans to entertain their countrywomen and to offer to them the hospitality and the friendly service that is so grateful to a stranger in a strange land.

Associated with Mrs. Connett as directors of the club are: Mrs. Henry Conkling, Mrs. Laurence V. Benet and Miss Jessie Patterson, all American women who were socially prominent in the United States before they moved across the sea.

CATTLE, GRAIN AND PRODUCTS

cline to 17 and 21c advance.

Unusual scarcity of offerings in the corn market appeared to frighten traders who had contracted to make deliveries in July and September.

Flurried bidding from such individuals ran the prices up rapidly, and with speculative demand broadening out it was only after the ascent had mounted to 3½c a bushel that any reaction took place.

Knowledge that other markets were outbidding Chicago in the country and that cash corn was up 5c at St. Louis, with all grades selling above 90c, added to the tension here and talk in some quarters that the recent big advance of wheat might be rivalled by corn.

A sharp advance in wheat quotations at Liverpool was quickly reflected by the wheat market here, especially as Winnipeg prices showed greater strength even than Chicago. It was said that through purchase of future deliveries foreigners had obtained a large quantity of United States wheat and would exchange the future for the cash grain when wanted. Heavy profit taking sales however wiped out much of to-day's maximum advance in wheat here.

Oats as a substitute for corn attracted numerous buyers. Provisions averaged higher owing to an upturn in hog values.

COUNTY BRIDGE BEING REBUILT

Detour Has Been Provided For Traffic—Decoration Day.

LAKEFIELD, June 19.— The county bridge has been closed to traffice now for about a week as it is being rebuilt. The detour is marked out and the tide of traffic both foot and vehicle goes over the dam which has been prepared with a plank floor and wooden railing to serve as a temporary bridge. As the dam can only accomodate vehicles going in one direction at the same time, two young men have been appointed to regulate traffic, there are Messrs. Charles R. Armstrong and William Sullivan, both returned men. They have been working in six hour shifts but may alter this to twelve hours shifts. They are proving capable and are constant in their attention to duty. They report their greatest difficulty in watching small children who seem to naturally gravitate to the danger points. Two alcoves have been provided to allow foot passengers to step aside for vehicles. The new road which turns on the curve at the high level bridge requires careful driving but with reasonable care the road is very good, and every precaution has been taken to insure public safety.

Decoration Day.

With a sweet toned band to lead the parade, the I.O.O.F. Lakefield Lodge No. 358 made their annual pilgrimage to the two cemeteries on Sunday afternoon and decorated the graves of their fellow members whose bodies lie in the Garden of Sleep. Reverently and quietly they marched carrying the flowers which are the outward and visible sign of rememberance of those who have left the early lodge and passed the great divide. Scores of motor cars and hundreds of people from the village the country surrounding and from Peterboro came and a quiet reverently behaved crowd it was as this was the day of rememberance and who has not some one to remember of the host who are gone "beyond the river." Since last year the list has had one added, Melville Pammett, who died this spring in Peterboro and who was well knows in the village.

At the Lakefield cemetery, Rev. Walter Cox, past Grand Master, addressed the Oddfellows and their friends. Mr. Cox is a silver tongued speaker and his words were a comfort to the sad-hearted and an inspiration to both Lodge members and others who were gathered there. The music was furnisehd by the Salvation Army Band of Peterboro. The names of those whose graves were decorated were: Wm. Curry, George McWilliams, Gordon Roseborough, James Jory, William Hamilton and Melville Pammett at the Lakefield Cemetery and Milton Nelson at the Hillside Cemetery.

Public Appearance.

On Friday evening last the Citizens Band made its first public appearance on the village streets and ar good crowd assembled to enjoy their music. Although the organization have only had a few weeks practice they gave an enjoyable concert. As this was the first appearance there was a little nervousness evinced by some of the younger players but this soon passed off and the Band retired to the hall with the praises of their fellow citizens ringing in their cars. One public spirit gentleman presented them wth a cheque for $25 as an evidence of his appreciation. One lady remarked on the splendid progress made in such a short time and expressed her feelings in this manner: "those are the boys we ought to help, they help us and we should help them in return."

The officers of the Band have promised that their second public appearance will follow shortly which will delight the people.

FORCE REDUCED.

OTTAWA, June 19.—(Canadian Press).—The recent reduction in the permanent force of Canada totalled four officers and 176 non-commissioned officers and men, the minister of defence informed W. G. McQuarrie, Conservative members for New Westminister, in answer to a question yesterday.

DIAMONDS AT WEMBLEY.

Mining Scene Transplanted From Africa—Pottery Bounces on Floor.

Tut-ankh-amen's tomb, perfectly reproduced is among the attractions in the Amusement Park.

The teakwood pagoda in the centre of the Burmah Pavilion has seven roofs, a distinction allowed only to Royalty in Burmah.

Pottery, apparently frail and breakable, yet elastic and able to bounce when thrown on the ground, is shown in the British Guiana Pavilion. It is made from tree sap.

Among the scenes of Australian life is a perfectly reproduced submarine pearling bed, with a diver at work. The scene is inspired by the pearl diving industry of Queensland.

A boat load of blue clay was brought from South Africa to show the diamond industry. Visitors see the diamonds being washed from the clay in the West African Pavilion.

In the Sarawak Pavilion there is an interesting model of a ship loading oil into her hold through submarine pipes.

The Palace of Arts includes period rooms which show the fashion of British furniture from 1750 up to the present day.

MERCHANTS PROTEST.

Strong Opposition to Suspension of Crow's Nest Agreement.

CALGARY, Alta., June 19.—(Canadian Press).—Strong opposition to any extension of the suspension of the Crow's Nest agreement after July of this year, is voiced in a resolution passed at the conference held here by western representativs of the dominion executive council, retail Merchants' Association of Canada.

The representatives present also put themselves on record as favoring an improvement in the facilities for preventing the smuggling of goods from the United States in Western Canada, a matter bitterly complained of by the Manitoba delegation. A third resolution passed by the conference approves of closer cooperation between the association in each of the western provinces and calls for a standardization of service.

J. H. King, Minister of Public Works; and Hon. A. B. Copp, Secretary of State, opened yesterday morning in the office of the Minister of Labor shortly after ten o'clock. They continued until nearly one o'clock, when they were adjourned to allow the members of the cabinet to discuss the matter in full cabinet council. For more than an hour consideration was given by the Government to the situation, and finally the matter was left with a sub-committee.

The result of the deliberations of the sub-committee was the drafting of the letter in which the two new proposals were made. This, it is stated, constituted the final offer of the Government.

At about three o'clock in the afternoon, representatives of the Dominion Federation of Postal Employees again met Hon. Charles Stewart and Hon. James Murdock, and were given the Government's proposals. They were then left alone in the office of the Minister of Labor to discuss the matter and decide what course to pursue. Their deliberations lasted for a long time, and it was not until a quarter to five, just fifteen minutes before the strike order would go into effect, that they emerged.

The Acting Postmaster-General informed the press that further consideration was being given to the Government's proposals, and the strike had been called off for 24 hours.

Up to the Men.

J. E. Archer, secretary of the Federation stated that the government proposition was 'being put to the men' He was not recomending that they either accept or reject it,butwas leaving them free to choose the course which they would pursue. By means of telegraph and long-distance telephone, the various local unions throughout the country were being advised of the Government's offer, and the members of the delegation, the majority of whom will remain in the city until the matter is decided, were holding themselves in readiness for further conferences with the Government.

Typical Instance.

The proposal of the Government in regard to continuation of bonus, when the salary recommended by the Civil Service Commission is less than the salary being received by the employes, plus the 1924-25 bonus, will apply more particularly to the smaller salaried employees. The following may be regarded as typical. In the case of the postal helper whose salary, plus 1924-25 bonus, at present runs from $1,093 to $1,456 a year, the salary recommended by the commission is minimum $1,020, maximum $1,260. In this case, the bonus would be continued. The present salary of the per annum, when the bonus is taken into consideration. The salary recommended by the Civil Service Commission is $1,080 to $1,440. The bogus would also apply in this case. The postal chauffeur is now paid a minimum salary, plus bonus, amounting to $1,215 and a maximum of $1,458. Under the Civil Service Commission schedule he receives a minimum of $1,140 and a maximum of $1,440.

The railway mail clerks' salary, plus 1924-25 bonus, runs from $1,155 to $1,654. Under the Civil Service schedule the minimum would be $1,080 and the maximum $1,740. The bonus would be continued in the case of a number of clerks of this class.

RAILWAY CLERKS WORKING

TORONTO, June 19. — The Toronto postal workers met at various stations in the city early this morning but did not re ort for duty.

After discussing the situation informally the men made their way to the Labor Temple, where a meeting was scheduled for ten o'clock.

'The attitude of the railway mail clerks has changed considerably over night and the prospects are that the clerks of four or five districts will soon be on the street," said Gordon R. Jackson, of the Dominion Railway Clerks' Federation, this morning shortly after he had returned from Ottawa.

The railway mail clerks worked throughout the night on receipt of information that a walk-out had been deferred for 24 hours.

"OUT OF THE SERVICE."

OTTAWA, June 19. — At 10 o'clock this morning, the government had received nothing new in respect of the postal strike situation throughout Canada.

Everything depends upon the decision arrived at by the postal workers themselves this morning.

"This much is certain: Those who go on strike at ten o'clock, if any, read themselves out of the civil service," one member of the Cabinet intimated emphatically late last night and that no striker would return to his position.

It is believed that his remark does not apply of course to those who, largely through misunderstanding left their posts last (Wednesday) evening.

TO SUBSIDIZE

had tied the hands of parliament for ten years when according to precedent such contracts were never made for more than five. Parliament was supposed to be able to scrutinize such votes as this every year but when the government was bound by contract it was as difficult to deal with the estimates as for a camel to get through the eye of a needle.

The vote carried and the item of $50,000 for the steam service between Pictou, Souris and the Magdalen Islands, was also passed. A number of smaller items carried with practically no discussion. When a vote of $8,500 for a service between St. John and ports on the Bay of Fundy and Minas Basin was under discussion, Lucien Cannon (Liberal, Dorchester), asked why every line running out of the city of St. John seemed to be subsidized. "In the province of Quebec we can't get anything," he said. Mr. Manson explained that these services were run out of St. John for the benefit of the smaller places at which the boats touched. The item carried.

FISHERMEN BUSY IN LOCAL WATERS

Rice Lake Had Large Share on Opening Day.

BAILIEBORO, June 19. — The fishing season opened on Monday morning, 16th June, and although there was a strong wind blowing, making the lake very rough, there were a number of boats to be seen on Rice Lake.

For nearly two weeks previous to the commencement of the fishing season, the men who run boat liveries along the lake front had their boats all booked.

The majority of fishermen reported on Monday evening that the fish were biting very poorly. Some of the boats landed with only a few bass after a long day's fishing, while in one boat that landed at Barnard's Landing two splendid maskinonge were noticed ;another party caught a lunge weighing about 17 pounds, which seemed to be the largest fish that had been landed by the fishermen on th north side of the lake.

FABLES ON HEALTH

CATCHING COLDS.

The popular idea that colds originate with drafts was accepted by Mr. Mann of Anytown, as well as by most people.

As a matter of fact, this is a greatly exaggerated notion.

There is a prevalent and unreasonable prejudice against air in motion. A gentle draft is always welcomed by the health seeker.

The trouble is any draft is mistaken for a dangerous one.

Strong drafts that some in contact with an exposed part of the body, causing a chill, are likely to bring bad results. Persons over-sensitive to drafts are generally people unaccustomed to ventilation.

People well acquainted with plenty of ventilation are not likely to be the ones getting colds from drafts.

The sooner a person gets well acquainted with air in motion the sooner he is likely to be able to face drafts—even strong ones.

Colds are far more likely to arise from catarrhal conditions, or lowered vitality, or infection than from drafts—especially mild ones.

ROSENEATH RYE GOOD.

ROSENEATH, June 18.—The rye in this district is looking fine and growing at a fast rate. Mr. George Clarke, a two hundred acre farmer, has a field of rye which measured 80 inches on Saturday. Mr. Clarke had measured it a week earlier and he found on Saturday that it had grown 25 inches in seven days.

Nearly every farmer has his root field in first class condition and some have t all planted.

The strawberry patches in this district are looking fine and all indications point to a bumper crop. Mr. Thos. Ingham, a retired farmer in the village, has a small garden lot in strawberries out in flower and the equal to it for clossoms and cleanliness is hard to find. He also runs a hot-bed, on a small scale, of tomatoes and cabbage plants which he has no trouble to dispose of a one cent each.

QUEBEC BRIDGE COST

OTTAWA, June 19.—(Canadian Press).—Maintenance and repairs of the Quebec Bridge cost $18,884 in 1922 and $10,598 in 1923, it was stated in the house yesterday in answer to a question.

HEART WAS SO BAD HAD TO SIT UP IN BED

Mrs. O. E. Fitzgerald, 106 Ross St., St. Thomas, Ont., writes:—"In the Fall of 1921, I was taken ill with my heart, but I did not pay much attention to it. I kept on with my household duties, but seemed to become worse and worse, and finally had to call in a doctor. He said I was all run down and was a nervous wreck. I had a severe pain in my chest which would move over to my heart and it became so bad I could not lie down, as when I did I had such a smothering feeling I would have to sit up in bed till it passed away.

I tried reveral remedies, but with no good results. Finally, I was induced to try Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. I took 7 boxes, and I am now as well as I was 30 years ago, and I am now 65 years old."

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are 50c. a box at all druggists or dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

GOOD RED BLOOD A REAL NERVE TONIC

Weak, Watery Blood the Source of All Nervousness.

"If people would attend to their blood, instead of worrying themselves ill," said an eminent nerve specialist, "we doctors would not see our consulting rooms crowded with nervous wrecks. More people suffer from worry than anything else."

The sort of thing the specialist spoke of is the nervous, run-down condition caused by overwork and the many anxieties of to-day. Sufferers find themselves tired, low-spirited, and unable to keep their minds on anything. Any sudden noise hurts like a blow. They are full of groundless fears, do not sleep well at night. Headaches and other nerve pains are part of the misery, and it all comes from starved nerves.

Doctoring the nerves with poisonous sedatives is a terrible mistake. The only real nerve tonic is a good supply of rich, red blood. Therefore to relieve nervousness and run-down health Dr. Williams' Pink Pills should be taken. These pills enrich the blood, which tones the nerves, improves the appetite, gives new strength and spirits, and makes hitherto despondent people bright and cheerful. If you are at all "out of sorts" you should begin taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

You can get these pills through any dealer in medicine, or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

The gross earnings of the Canadian National Railways from January 1 to June 14, 1924 have been $103,995,611., being a decrease of $937,667.30 as compared with the corresponding period of 1923.

JANNETVILLE NEWS

JANETVILLE, June 19.— The trees planted in and around the new park are putting forth a vigorous growth, and they are giving promise of a life of health and beauty in themselves, and great pleasure for the coming generation, who may live to enjoy their sylvan splendour. The best grass seed procurable has been sown and the park opened for baseball. The first game was played between Yelverton and Janetville last Wednesday evening, resulting in a victory for the latter of three runs to one.

A fine snappy game was played last evening between Janetville and Velentia, resulting in a victory for the home team.

Great Garden Party.

The annual garden part in connection with Janetville Methodist Sunday School was held last evening on the church lawns. The whole affair was unique in every particular. The grounds in the rear of the church are beautifully sheltered and shaded, and were illuminated for the occasion. The entire area in the centre was seated leaving aisles around the sides for promenade. ranged that the acoustics were almost perfect.

For more than five hours the people were entertained at the tables and with one of the best programs ever offered in Janetville. Miss Whiteside of Little Britain was the elocutionist for the occasion, and delighted her audience. Mr. Wesley Staples of Lindsay acted as chairman, and filled every minute between numbers with his usual wit, wisdom and philosophy.

Rev. Mr. Walker of the Presbyterian Church made a neat, pithy, complimentary address, while the pastor of the Methodist Church spoke of the coming glory and power of the United Church of Canada when organic union comes. No form of social iniquity or moral corruption will stand before the mightly onslaught of a church armed to the teeth with the panoply of God. The Male Trio delighted the audience with their selections, Miss Bessie Bradburn's instrumental solo, and Miss Richardson's Girl Chorus were real hits.

The financial part was most successful, amounting to over $200.

The Sabbath services were conducted by Mr. A. W. Herries of Toronto, and were reasons of great spiritual blessing.

Y.P.S. Contest.

A contest based on attendance has been carried on during the past year between the "Reds" and the "Blues" the Reds winning by a small margin. The winners are to be entertained by the losers next Friday evening at the lake, and as the pastor is on the losing side he will put up the ice cream as his share.

The Crops.

It has happened. What? The old man Winter caught the fever, his temperature rose to 107 and he died. Summer reigns in his stead. The earth is full of moisture and warmth. The crops are simply forging ahead. There is more real growth in one week now than we would have in three weeks of hot sun and dry earth. The farmers are beginning to feel rich, and everybody feels happy. The hay may be a little light, but all the rest is promising an abundant harvest.

LAFOLLETTE IS OUT.

Wisconsin Senator Refuses to Run For Presidency on Farmer-Labor Platform.

ST. PAUL, Minn., June 19.—(Canadian Press).—Senator Lafollette was eliminated last night as a possible presidential candidate of the National Farmer-Labor Progressive Convention. William Mahoney, a leader in the Farmer-Labor Party of Minnesota, announced this, saying he had been assured the Wisconsin Senator did not wish his name to be even considered.

NO HUMILIATION DAY.

OTTAWA, Ont., June 19.—(Canadian Press).—Local Chinese state that they are not going to make any demonstration regarding the new immigration registration decree which requires every one in Canada of Chinese origin to register before June 30 under heavy penalty. While they feel their position no less keenly, it is stated they are not going to manifest it outwardly by observing "humiliation day."

DON'T FORGET THAT—

The right time to apply the brakes is just before you have to.

Everybody has the right of way but you.

The route of the skidding cars is always a fresh trail into the- unknown.

A wise driver considers his brakes of chief importance before he starts off for the day, and then forgets them. Vice versa for the average.

Contrary to the old maxim, what a motorist sees is invariably what does hurt him.

You can't afford to take chances. There are too many others doing it for your own safety as matters stand.

Your car can seldom give you the thrills that any speeding ambulance stands ready to give you any time.

Motoring is as safe as you make it.

GAS IN THE STOMACH IS DANGEROUS

Recommends Daily Use of Magnesia to Overcome Trouble, Caused by Fermenting Food and Acid Indigestion.

Gas and wind in the stomach accompanied by that full, bloated feeling after eating are almost certain evidence of the presence of excessive hydrochloric acid in the stomach, creating so-called "acid" indigestion.

Acid stomachs are dangerous because too much acid irritates the delicate lining of the stomach, often leading to gastritis, accompanied by serious stomach ulcers. Food ferments and sours, creating the distressing gas which distends the stomach and hampers the normal functions of the vital organs, often affecting the heart.

It is the worst of folly to neglect such a serious condition or to treat with ordinary digestive aids which have no neutralizing effect on the stomach acids. Instead get from any druggist a few ounces of Bisurated Magnesia and take a teaspoonful in a quarter glass of water right after eating. This will drive the gas, wind and bloat right out of the body, sweeten the stomach, neutralize the excess acid and prevent its formation and there is no sourness or pain. Bisurated Magnesia (in powder or tablet form—never liquid or milk) is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take and the best form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with

The Moa, a giant bird, twice as tall as a man, is among the wonders in New Zealand. This bird is now extinct although it roamed Maoriland about the time when the first white men went there.

THERE'S MONEY IN RADIO.

Gross income of the Radio Corporation of America rose from $4,000,000 in 1921 to more than $26,000,000 in 1923.

During 1923, it is estimated, the radio business went above the $250,000,000 mark in total sales. Conservative estimates for 1924 put the total sales figure at $400,000,000.

And this is only an "infant industry."

Making wash day pleasant—

Just use Rinso where you used to use bar soap—for soaking, boiling, or in your washing machine.

THE hardest part of wash-day, rubbing, rubbing, rubbing, has given way to the new method of soaking the clothes clean with Rinso.

This wonderful new soap gently loosens the dirt and a thorough rinsing leaves things white and glistening as you never could get them before.

Only spots where the dirt is ground-in, such as neck bands, cuff edges, and the like need a light rubbing, and a little dry Rinso rubbed on these spots quickly makes the dirt disappear.

VOICE OF PEOPLE

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir: Passing along George street between Hunter and Simcoe streets, my attenton was drawn to the windows of a prominent gents' furnishings store.

The display, which I could not but help notice, is not very common these days, so much so that I felt myself impelled to look again for I beheld a window full of garments all boldly labelled "Made in Canada," or "Canadian Made."

What a refreshing sight it was to see these words displayed so prominently in a merchant's window, particularly when the majority today insist on goods NOT Canadian Made.

The courage of those responsible for that window is most commendable, and they deserve to be "sold out" as an expression of an appreciative public.

Could not this selling of Canadian Made Goods become a malady, so to speak, so that it might spread from merchant to merchant. Our present government are held responsible by many for present trade depression —this may or may not be correct, but one thing is certain: the real remedy is in the hands of the public, the "man on the street," of whom we hear so much.

Let him and those connected with him insist, when purchasing, on Canadian made goods in preference to all others. It should not matter whether the expenditure be five cents or five dollars, the principle should always be applied.

Short time and lack of employment would very soon disappear.

Rotary and Kiwanis Clubs attempt and achieve many things. Is not the purchasing of things "Made in Canada" something really worthy of their attentions?

It is consistent "plugging" that will bring the desired result.

Yours very truly,
D. G. MELTON.

Sir,—Will you please reprint the following letter from The Mail and Empire of Tuesday:

ALCOHOL AND CANCER.

To the Editor of The Mail and Empire:

Sir,—With regard to your editorial, "Seeking a Cancer Cure," it may be said that the medical profession is at sea as yet concerning it and frankly says so. Recently I wrote to the New York Cancer Hospital and to the Bellevue Hospitals Corporation asking if there was any evidence of the relation of alcohol to cancer, and my replies were that so far as they knew there was none. I followed this up in other cases, and always the reply was, "No evidence whatever." Now, for thirty years I have observed as a layman not wholly ignorant of pathology that total abstainers furnished 90 per cent. of the victims of positive cancer. I took no note of hard drinkers, as they may have anything, being in a state of complete degeneration, cellular and otherwise. I have in thirty years never found a moderate or occasional drinker of spirituous liquors with cancer. Now, alcohol is the greatest solvent known, and as a deterrent of decay is unrivalled, as our anatomical specimens testify. With the advance of total abstinence has kept pace the alarming advance of cancer. Moreover, alcohol serves in nature a purpose other than chemical: Like insulin, it indicates clearly a positive purpose. I have written numbers of prominent investigators, and not one was prepared to say that it might not be so.—Yours, etc.,

Mrs. M. Chevalier, Belle River, Ont., writes:

"For eight years I suffered from despondency and nervousness. Sometimes I could not sleep at night for worrying and the next day I would be so tired that my work was a burden to me. Paul In Possession

By RUBY AYRES

Copyright, 1924, by The McClure Newspaper Syndicate

The story thus far:

Abide with me, fast falls the eventide——" Over and over again the plaintive tune was borne to the dying ears of John Collinge. Then the bells were silent—and in the following silence, he died. He left behind him Wanda Griffin, his adopted daughter—as selfish and unpopular as he himself had been—and his son Paul, with whom he had quarrelled, and who was consequently abroad. After his death Wanda felt (for the first time in her life) remorse, but it did not prevent her from being as bad-tempered as ever, and Bertram Lindsay, the family lawyer, found her as difficult to deal with as ever. Clare Garnet, Wanda's one friend, comes to visit her. Miserable and lonely, Wanda left the house and wandered into the rose garden, still thinking of the dead man. Then she caught her breath. Calmly picking some of the choicest blossoms stood a man. She went forward quickly. "How dare you pick my roses?" she asked. "Your roses?" repeated the man. "And who the devil are you?" "How dare you speak to me like that?" panted Wanda. "Who are you?" But even before he answered her she knew that he was Paul Collinge. When the will is read Wanda is left without a penny.

TO-DAY'S INSTALMENT.

VI—"I'LL MARRY HIM!"

There was a dead silence. Nobody moved or spoke. Wanda had gone quite white, and Clare Garnet had flushed in agitation. Only Paul seemed unmoved, though he turned quickly and looked at Wanda.

Then Mr. Lindsay cleared his throat and rustled the parchment. "That is all," he said rather constrainedly. "The will is duly signed and attested."

Wanda sprang to her feet.

"You mean that I am to have nothing—nothing!" she said shrilly.

Mrs. Garnet took Wanda's hand and held it.

"But this is unfair, most unfair," she protested in her soft voice. "Mr. Collinge always gave Wanda to understand that she was to be his heiress."

Mr. Lindsay looked distressed.

"That is the will," he said painfully. "I remonstrated with Mr. Collinge, but I regret to say without avail."

"And what is to become of me?" There was a frightened note in Wanda's voice, and her voice shook.

Mr. Lindsay glanced at Paul, but did not speak, and Mrs. Garnet said again: "I am sure something will be done for you, Wanda dear. Don't be so distressed. I am sure when Paul—"

Wanda broke free of her friend's hand.

"Oh, let me alone!" she stormed; she looked like a young fury as she stood there, her cheeks crimson, her eyes wild. She turned to Paul, who sat with his arms folded on the chair-back, apparently moved.

"You knew about this—you knew!" she said. "You knew about this when you spoke to me as you did just now in the garden. You knew you had come home to turn me out."

"Wanda, dear!" Mrs. Garnet protested.

"It's true, he did know!" Wanda said again, excitedly. "He always hated me for being here, I know. I daresay if the truth is known he set his father against me. That's why we had that quarrel. It was something he said to bring it about."

Paul spoke then for the first time; his voice was quiet, but there was a little gleam in his eyes.

"I thought you told me that my father was very fond of you," he said.

Wanda burst into angry tears and ran out of the room, and with a little shrug of helplessness Mrs. Garnet followed her.

Paul looked at Mr. Lindsay and laughed.

"She wants teaching a lesson. What a woman!"

"She has her good points," Mr. Lindsay protested painfully. "But when a girl is allowed to run wild and have her own way in everything——"

"I will soon cure her of that!" paul promised grimly.

* * *

He rang the bell.

"I suppose I may consider myself master here?" he said depreciatingly.

When the servant came he ordered whiskies-and-sodas. He stayed talking to Mr. Lindsay for some time, then drove to the station with him.

"I've left my luggage there," he told the chauffeur. "We can bring it back with us."

Mr. Lindsay made a last appeal as they parted.

"Be kind to Miss Griffin, Paul."

"Kind!" Paul smiled grimly. "Has she ever been kind or considerate to anyone in all her life?" he asked. "I doubt it."

He drove back to Grey Chumley feeling tired and a little depressed.

Manlike, he hated scenes, and he knew that Wanda was going to be his stormy petrel.

Well, all she needed was a firm hand, and she should get it from him.

He rather liked Clare Garnet; she was pretty to look at, and he found her restful.

"I hope she'll stay as long as Spitfire does," he thought as he went into the house again and upstairs to his father's room.

The two men had not met for nearly thirteen years, and there were many painful emotions in Paul's heart as he stood and looked down on his father's dead face.

"Who had put them there?" he wondered. "One of the servants possibly, or Mrs. Garnet; certainly not Wanda."

The house seemed very still, and he wandered restlessly into the garden.

It was quite dark now, and the summer night was fragrant with the scent of many flowers.

A fierce sort of joy took possession of him as he realized that his wanderings were at an end; that this fine old house and garden and the wide lands stretching all beyond it were his.

He turned slowly back to the house, looking up at its ancient walls and mullioned windows with pride.

There was a light burning at one upstairs window which stood open, and as he drew near to it he heard a voice —Wanda's voice—speaking rapidly and clearly, each word being wafted down to him distinctly.

"I daresay I was silly to lose my temper, but it was such a blow! Uncle John always told me Grey Chumley was to be mine. I suppose he altered his will after we quarrelled. I was a fool, but I daresay if I could have the time over again I should do just the same thing."

Mrs. Garnet spoke then, but Paul could not hear what she said, and he was moving on again when once more Wanda broke out:

"He's just a bully, like his father! I knew by the way he looked at me when we met in the garden that we should hate one another, unless I was clever enough to manage him." She laughed. "Well, we shall see! It will be my wits against his, and by the look of him I should say he's only an overgrown sort of schoolboy whom any woman could manage if she tried."

Paul gave a little inarticulate exclamation, and his hands clenched themselves into fists, and Wanda went on, unconscious that her voice carried so faithfully through the stillness of the night.

"Of course, the best plan would be to marry him. Not that I could ever care for a man of his type, but I'm not going to lose Grey Chumley! It would kill me! I love it—I love every stick and stone of the place." She laughed unhappily. "It's the only thing in all the world I do love, and if the only way I can keep it is by marrying Paul, well, I shall have to marry him, I suppose."

Here Mrs. Garnet spoke again, but her voice was low and inaudible, but Paul guessed that she made a protest, for Wanda laughed scornfully.

"Not want me! Goodness! Do you think I can't make him want me if I choose? Well, we'll see."

Paul moved on, his steps making no sound over the soft grass.

"Yes, we'll see!" he told himself grimly. "It's a game that two can play, my lady!"

MRS. MISENER'S ACHES AND PAINS

Vanished After Using Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

"Branchton, Ont.—"When I wrote to you for help my action was mostly prompted by curiosity. I wondered if I, too, would benefit by your medicine. It was the most profitable action I have ever taken, I heartily assure you, for through its results I am relieved of most of my sufferings. I have taken six boxes of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Tablets and a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Blood Medicine, and I can honestly say I have never been so well before. I had suffered from pains and other troubles since I was fifteen years old, and during the 'Great War' I worked on munitions, and, in the heavy lifting which my work called for, I strained myself, causing inflammation from which I suffered untold agony, and I often had to give up and go to bed. I had doctored for years without getting permanent relief, when I started to take your medicines." — Mrs. GOLDWIN MISENER, Branchton, Ont.

Sick and ailing women everywhere in the Dominion should try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound before they give up hope of recovery. C

MEAT.

Vegetarians have a novel new argument in this: The crop of seven-tenths of the tilled land of farmers are fed to animals. Meat-eating is an expensive habit. The argument on the other side is that meat is concentrated vegetables. Every one, however, should eat less meat in summer. It's a cold weather food. In warm weather Nature intends us to eat vegetables, particularly leafy ones. That's why she grows them in summer instead of winter.

TRAFFIC ON TRENT INCREASED IN MAY

Eighty-one More Vessels Locked Through Than in Same Month Last Year.

Navigation on the Trent Canal set out during May to establish an active year of usefulness. According to the report of the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, the number of vessels that registered through the Trent Canal was 167, as compared with 86 in May last year, an increase of 81, or close to one hundred per cent. gain. The number of passengers declined from 442 to 180, but the total tonnage of freight jumped from 836 tons to 2,761 tons as May's contribution to the year's local shipping activities.

Although there was a marked increase in the number of vessels locking through the canal, their aggregate tonnage was only 4,957 tons, as against 4,227 tons during May, 1923.

A Little Bit of Everything

RADICALS.

Hard times seem to make Americans conservative instead of radical. The Labor Year-Book says the Socialist party in 1919 had a membership of 104,822. A period of business depression followed. The Socialists started 1924 with a membership of only 12,000. At the same date the Workers' Party had about 15,000 members.

On the other hand, how many people have so-called "radical" political beliefs privately, even if they don't register them openly? People do not always vote as they think. Lacking the courage of their convictions, they play safe.

ROYAL.

The crown prince of Uganda, East Africa, is doing janitor work in Atlanta offices to help pay for his college education.

A good thing for the more than three million people he will rule later if he lives. From America he will take home democracy, along with schooling—and, even better, scientific and industrial knowledge to better his country and make it more prosperous.

The way is being paved for him. His father uses a flivver for a royal car. It's a changing world.

RENT.

House rents, averaging the whole country, have increased 85 per cent in the last ten years. So reports National Industrial Conference Board. The estimate is extremely conservative.

On the other hand, the landlords are being paid in dollars that are worth only about 50 cents apiece in buying power. They're in the same boat as the rest of us. The so-called high cost of living is really just a shrinking of the dollar's buying power. Prices have doubled. And every wage, every salary also should have doubled. Has yours?

EXCITEMENT

Nine-tenths of firemen die of heart failure, according to Fire Chief Daggett of Springfield, Mass. He has been checking up. His estimate sounds a bit excessive.

But a fireman usually is expected to be on his way to the blaze twenty seconds after the alarm gong rings. Excitement and rush throw a heavy strain on the heart—not only in fire fighting, but in all ways of living. Heart disease is one of the leading death causes, and increasing swiftly. A result of living fast.

HOAX.

The more than twenty nations that engaged in the World Fair had combined national wealth of 630 billion dollars in 1914. The wealth of these same nations is now 619 billions, Bankers' Trust Co. estimates.

That'd make it seem that the real cost of the war was only 11 billions, which is ridiculously low. The answer is that national wealth is figured in dollars that were worth 100 cents apiece before the war, but worth only 50 cents now.

If you salted away $1000 in the bank in 1914, it's worth only $500 now, in buying power, and the other $500 has disappeared. How do the thrift preachers answer this?

The boll weevil bug is estimated to cause an annual loss of more than $2,000,000 to growing cotton in the United States.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

By Olive Roberts Barton

CUTIE COTTONTAIL DISAPPEARS

"Are you looking for somebody-"

"Please give me half a pound of lard," said Cutie Cottontail one day, bursting into Mister Bags' store in the woods, and pushing the door open so hard that it went ting-aling-aling for five minutes nearly.

"You get it, Nick," said Mister Bags; "I'm busy."

"And put it into one of those little wooden things, will you," panted Cutie. "You know—like a little boat."

"All right," said Nick, wondering why Cutie was so particular. "But run straight home with it, for it's a warm day and it will melt."

Nick measured out the lard and wrapped it up and gave it to Cutie and away the little rabbit boy went like the wind.

"I wonder what he is in such a hurry for," laughed Mister Bags. "Pickles and porcupines! It's the first time in all my life I ever saw that youngster move like that, except one day when Wasp Weasel chased him."

Everything in the store went on as usual after that. Mrs. Chipmunk came in to buy some moth-balls to put away her winter clothes, and Mrs. Groundhog wanted some tender flannel for flannel cakes, and Daddy Cracknuts came in for some tobacco for his pipe, and Mrs. Owl telephoned for an order of groceries, and no one had time to think any more about Cutie and his lard, until the telephone went "ting-aling-aling," and when Nancy answered it, it was Cutie's mother.

"Did Cutie go to the store for some lard about an hour ago?" she asked.

"Yes, ma'am," said Nancy. "And he was in an awful hurry. He hardly gave Nick time to wrap it up. He just grabbed it and ran."

"Well, he didn't run home," said Mrs. Cottontail. "And neither did the lard, although as it's such a warm say, it's probably nothing but grease by this time, and running over everything else. I'm making doughnuts and I need it. I wonder where that little rascal is!"

"We're not very busy just now," said Nancy. "Nick and I can go and hunt for him if you like. Maybe he has stopped to play."

"Like as not," said Mrs. Cottontail severely. "I'll be much obliged if you do."

Off started the Twins, and they looked and looked and looked for Cutie Cottontail. But nary a hair of him could they see anywhere. He seemed as though the earth must havt opened up and swalled him.

"I wonder if Wasp Weasel——" began Nancy, a dreadful thought coming into her mind.

"There's something. What's that?"

They had come to the edge of the creek and there lay the lard on the bank wrapped in a large green leaf. But no Cutie and no paper, and no little wooden holder!

"What do you suppose can have happened to him?" she cried. "Cutie; oh, Cutie. Where are you?"

Just then Mosey Mud Turtle poked his head out of the water.

"Are you looking for somebody?" he asked. "If it happens to be Cutie Cottontail, I saw him sailing off in a boat two hours ago."

Nick knew now why Cutie was so anxious to have the lard in a wooden thing "shaped like a boat.

LOSE WEIGHT

One cup strawberries, ½ cup rolled oats, 1 cup cream of asparagus soup, 2 ounces cold boiled tongue, 1 cup cabbage, carrot and pepper salad, 1 cup consomme, 1 cup vegetable dinner, 1 small cottage pudding with 2 tablespoons maple sauce, 1 pint skimmed milk, 1 tablespoon croutons with cream soup, 1 bran roll.

Total calories, 1133. Protein, 219; fat, 303; carbohydrate, 611. Iron, .0206 gram.

Serve the vegetable dinner on crisp pieces of toast. Choose vegetables of contrasting colors to enhance the beauty of the dish. Carrots, asparagus or string beans, tiny onions or cauliflower and diced new beets served on a bed of spinach or beet greens on toast is as attractive as it is good for you. The toast makes you "chew," to put it plainly, and also makes you feel as if you were really eating something.

Remember that your reducing diet is unusually high in protein and that in order to prevent trouble you must indulge in meatless days occasionally and that every day you must have plenty of bulky vegetables.

Plenty of water and thorough mastication of food as well as the proper kinds of foods are as necessary in the reducing diet as in the gaining diet.

You know you can eat candy and pie and cake if you want to, but about one bite use up at least 100 of your precious calories without furnishing you with any tissue-building material.

GAIN WEIGHT

One cup strawberries, with 1 dessertspoon sugar, 1 cup rolled oats with 6 dates and 1 tablespoon sugar and ¼ cup cream, 4 tablespoons hashed-brown potatoes, 2 eggs scrambled, 1 cup cream of asparagus soup with 2 tablespoons whipped cream, 2 ounces cold boiled tongue, 4 tablespoons creamed potatoes, 1 cup cabbage—carrot and pepper salad with 2 tablespoons French dressing, 1 cup consomme with 2 tablespoons tiny noodles, 1 cup vegetable dinner on toast with 2 tablespoons Hollandaise sauce, 2 fried bananas, 1 cottage pudding with 4 tablespoons maple sauce, 2 corn meal muffins with 1 tablespoon rhubarb marmalade, 2 tablespoons croutons with cream soup, 2 slices whole wheat bread, 2 bran rolls, 4 tablespoons butter, 1 pint whole milk, 4 tablespoons chocolate bread pudding with 1 tablespoon hard sauce.

The croutons for the gaining diet are always well buttered.

Fried Bananas.

Allow two small bananas for each person. Remove skin and scrape. Dip in lemon juice. Roll in fine sifted bread crumbs, dip in egg beaten with 2 tablespoons milk and roll in coarse stale bread crumbs. Fry in deep hot fat and drain on brown paper. One egg and one and one-half cups coarse crumbs will prepare six small bananas.

SHEEP IMPROVEMENT

PRESENT TREND OF PROGRESS IN SHEEP BREEDING.

Fewer Breeds and Better Breeding — The Down Breeds Becoming More Popular — Relative Standing for Prolificacy.

The world ever clamors for something new. It matters not in what sphere our lot is cast, the call for the production of new materials is always upon us, and the man who does not progress loses the race. Perhaps many people still believe that there is room for new breeds of live stock and that Canadian breeders and investigators should be bending every effort to producee Perhaps new breeds could be produced to meet certain special conditions better than they are now met, but the writer believes that greater progress for the good of the live stock industry would follow a policy of fewer breeds with better breeding. For concentrated effort, for uniformity in output, for competition in world markets, for most profit to the farmer and greatest satisfaction to the consumer, we already have too many breeds in some classes of stock. True, there is room for all the breeds, but because we have wide acreage and somewhat diversified conditions is no reason why those acres should be grazed over by, and be growing feed for, anything but the most suitable breeds from the viewpoint of both producer and market man. The day of keeping a breed because our "likes" so dictate should be gone forever, and the breed, whatever it is, should win its place only through its ability to produce, at a profit to the breeder, the highest grade product in demand by the consumer. In short, markets are exerting a greater influence than ever before in breeding work, and there is no doubt that such influence must continue.

Fewer Breeds and Better Breeding.

Keeping this in mind the progress being made in animal breeding is not so much toward the production of more breeds but rather toward early maturity and improved type in the breeds already in existence. If we had fewer breeds we could make more rapid progress. Indications are that certain breeds must gain the ascendancy, and these will be those which are bred to supply what the consumers want and at the same time pay the feeder highest returns for his effort. New breeds may come, as did the Corriedale sheep in New Zealand, to fill a special want, but better individuals and stronger strains in the best breeds we have is the goal of the present-day breeder in Canada. New Zealand wanted a sheep that flocked easily. They wanted a bigger sheep than the Merino with a better grade of wool than the Lincoln, so they made a dual-purpose breed by crossing Lincoln rams on Merino ewes and practicing careful selection. The production of Persian lamb in Canada is another case where certain methods are followed to produce a special article. The writer has heard that a certain well-known professor in one of the leading United States Colleges is at present busy in the making of a tailless breed of sheep to get around the trouble of docking; and by selection, it is said, progress is being made.

The Down Breeds Becoming more Popular.

So far as sheep are concerned, breeding work is pretty largely confined to selection in our recognized breeds with the idea of meeting the market. Now, that market demands the finer and medium grades of wool and the eighty-four pound slamb, and it would appear that so far as markets for mutton sheep are concerned the Down breeds may get the inside track. Fifty-six per cent. of a lamb carcass is leg and back. Thirty-six per cent. is fronts, and 7 per cent. is flank. We are after the biggest possible percentage of leg and back, which sell for just twice as much per pound as front quarter and eight times as much as flank. Progress is only made by keeping weight and type

So far as fleece is concerned, the fine the quality the better.

Experimental work in flushing ewes has proved very profitable in increasing prolificacy.

Relative Standing for Prolificacy.

From a study of 500 yearlings in each breed mentioned, the following conclusions are warranted:

1. The relative standing of the breeds of mutton sheep in Canada with regard to prolificacy is: Dorset Horn, 161.6% increase; Leicester, 154%; Hampshire, 149%; Suffolk, 148.2%; Lincoln, 144.8%; Shropshire, 143.6%; Southdown, 142.2%; Cheviot, 139.8%; Cotswold, 138.0%; Romney Marsh, 113.9%.

2. The average increase for all breed. of mutton sheep in Canada is 144.6%s

3. The average increase for all long wool breeds of mutton sheep in Canada is 138.5%.

4. The average increase for all Medium Wool breeds of mutton sheep in Canada is 148%.—Wade Toole, O. A. College, Guelph, Ont.

QUEBEC, June 18. — The Hon. Sir Charles P. Davidson, in an interview yesterday, declared that he was absolutely against the linking up of the St. Lawrence with the Great Lakes as it amounted to the handing over of Canada's patrimony to the United States.

"With their millions the Americans would soon have complete control of Canada's great waterway, and would use their power to further their own interests without any consideration for this country," he said.

Happy thrift

HAPPY thrift doesn't mean doing without what you want. It means doing without what you thought was what you wanted—and found wasn't. It means doing without such mistakes before you mistake them.

The only insurance against buying wares you don't want is knowing wares advertised. You can depend upon home furnishings, clothes, foods you see pictured and described everywhere. They are what other folks want, buy and are thrifty about. Wide enjoyment lowers their prices. Thrift again! And they serve to the very limit of their claims.

ONE BAG OF MAIL INSTEAD OF NINETY ELOQUENT OF EFFECTIVENESS AND EXTENT OF POSTAL WORKERS' STRIKE

Night Staff of Local Post Office Completed Sortation Early This Morning as Last Gesture Before the Strike Order from Toronto Went Into Full Force—Some Offices Delayed Walking Out Until This Afternoon

EVERY TORONTO OFFICE SILENT

Although the strike of the postal workers was declared last night and virtually went into effect then, it did not actually close down the operation of the local office until this morning when the night staff of four men completed the sorting of the last trickle of mail.

The disruption of the department's efficiency as manifested through the regular and expeditious delivery of the daily flood of letters and parcels was first felt last night when only one bag of mail was received from the midnight trains, instead of the usual piles numbering from seventy to ninety bags. Sortation was a snap for the night staff who are accustomed to working themselves out from beneath piles of letters, bundles and parcels which to the unin itiate and inexperienced seem to present a hopless task; but the few stray bags that were deposited at the post office last night not only presented a simple and easy task but indicated conclusively the completeness of the tie-up of the Post Department's affairs in this section.

42 Men Out Here

This morning the forty-two employees of the local office, twenty-five carriers and seventeen clerks held a session at the Labor Hall, and afterwards issued a brief statement to the Examiner. Meanwhile the Office sounded hollow and empty in the comparative silence which was broken only by the enquiring public. Post Master John Corkery and his assistant Mr. Charles Lacheur, a stenographer and one girl clerk comprised the abbreviated staff. The night employees had sorted the night mail and distributed around the boxes whose holders this morning found evidences of normal conditions until they missed pieces of mail which they were expecting.

"Your letter is no doubt in the Toronto office," was the explanation Mr. Lacheur gave to one early enquirer who by telephone last night had been assured of the arrival this morning of an important document.

Collect Local Mail

There was no congestion of mail except that which was outward bound. At noon Post Master Corkery told the Examiner he had not received any definite instructions from Ottawa as to what actions he was to take. He had been informed that the Montreal employees were back to work and that two hundred returned in Toronto, while the mail clerks on the trains had not joined the strikers.

Went to Ball Game

The local Postal Workers ceased work at five o'clock yesterday afternoon and the day staff went to the ball game. While there they received a telegram intimating that the strike had been postponed twenty-four hours. They immediately returned to the Post Office, but later in the evening came a telephone message definitely and finally calling out clerks and carriers.

A committee from the men stated to the Examiner at noon to-day that many persons had wrong impressions of their cause, They are not demanding higher wages, they said, but were trying to retain their bonus which had been completely off. Their first bonus was cut twenty-five per cent. and later decrease of 33 1-3 per cent was made, and finally the last fraction of the bonus disppeared. The men said they admitted that the cost of living had declined somewhat since the war, but the decrease was not such that it justified the withdrawal of al the bonus. They asked as an illustration of their complaint, why they should be deprived of their entire bonus while the members of Parliament kept their own specially augmented salaries .The men declared that they were in earnest about the strike which had been postponed in the hope that their claim would be adjusted. The entire force walked out this morning .They will meet again this evening at 8 o'clock in their head quarters at the Labour Hall.

INFORMATION FALSE.

MONTREAL, June 19.—Thirteen hundred Montreal postal employees went on strike this morning, following the receipt of a message from Toronto branding the order to defer the strike for 24 hours as false. There are about 4,000 postal men on Montreal Island. The message read:

"Toronto, Ont., June 18, 11.01 p.m.
"Secretary, Dominion Postal Clerks' Association, Montreal.

"Instructions from Canadian Federation. Information warranting deferring walk out 24 hours is false. In effect from 5 p.m., June 18. Dominion Postal Clerks' Association urge all postal clerks immediately to comply with the strike order and cease work as from 5 p.m., June 18. Toronto out one hundred per cent. (Signed) B. B. Redditt, R. S. Bartlett, R. E. Hall."

QUITTING AT KINGSTON.

KINGSTON, June 19.—It was announced that the strike of mail clerks, letter carriers and transfer men would take place at noon to-day and that the walkout would include 90 per cent. of the staff; four or five mail clerks and three or four letter carriers would remain on the job.

100 PER CENT. EFFECTIVE.

ST. CATHARINES, June 19. — The postal strike eventuated here this morning 100 per cent., effective upon receipt of notice that the 24 hour postponement order sent out last night was false. There was nothing for the men to do anyway as the only mail to arrive this morning was a small quantity from the United States.

LONDON SITUATION.

LONDON, Ont., June 19.—With approximately 70 postal clerks on strike and railway mail clerks of the London district still at their posts, letter carriers this morning refused to deliver mail, and business houses and private citizens went to the Post Office for mail, where a part staff remained at work.

COMPLETE AT HAMILTON.

HAMILTON, June 19.—The tie-up of Hamilton Post Office is almost complete. Out of 243 employees 200 are out on strike. All but five letter carriers joined the strike. Those who remained on duty are mostly clerks. Even firms which get their mail through boxes were not able to get anything out of the Post Office after nine o'clock.

STRIKE IS PARTIAL.

TORONTO, June 19.—A partial strike of postal workers is in force throughout the Dominion. At 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon orders issued by the executive of the Workers' Federation for a walk-out became effective, only to be countermanded by a telegram from Ottawa announcing that the strike would be postponed for 24 hours, pending the outcome of negotiations then in progress between representatives of the workers and the Dominion government.

In Toronto and in several other large centres this postponement was not acted upon, and in many places the tie-up of the postal services became absolute. In Montreal it is reported that, while most of the workers have left their posts, some are still remaining on the job. Throughout the west, however, the walkout of the men is reported to be general, with the exception of Saskatoon, where, it is stated, the postal workers have voted against a strike and will remain on the job. At an early hour this morning a last minute attempt was being made at Ottawa to reach a basis of settlement, but the men's executive officers have been called back to Toronto headquarters and an accommodation appears to be unlikely under the terms at present offered. The Government has also stated its intention to meet the challenge of the men and improvise measures to keep the postal service operating:

DICTATED BY TORONTO.

TORONTO, June 19.—The postal strike in Toronto is a real thing. The tie-up is complete. Out of 1,700 workers in Toronto only ten were on duty last night, and these ten worked with the consent of the strike committee. They are mostly watchmen. Every post office in the city was dark.

At 5 o'clock last evening all the postal clerks, porters, chauffeurs, transfer agents and letter carriers walked out. They will not return until their demands are met, according to the expressed opinion of the officials in charge of the strike.

The strike at first was thought by the men to be the result of a muddle. A little after 5 o'clock a telegram was received from B. B. Redditt saying the strike had been deferred for 24 hours. The men at this time were out and were gathering in large numbers in Bayside park.

Some Returned.

When Redditt's telegram from Ottawa was read a few of the workers wandered back to their posts at their wickets in the terminal station. These wickets had been closed and were re-opened for a short time, but were soon closed again when a definite statement was passed around that the men were acting under the orders of the Toronto committee which had decided to strike and have no further delay.

While the men were at Bayside park, L. R. Crawshaw, acting secretary of the Board of Trade, arrived with another telegram telling of the deferring of the strike for 24 hours.

"Are you going out in face of that message?" he asked, when he learned thier intentions.

There was a cry of "yes" and the men cheered.

THREATENS WHOLE COUNTRY.

TORONTO, June 19. — Postal service in Toronto is almost entirely suspended, as the result of the strike of all classes of postal employees. At other points in the Dominion also the postal workers have quit work and the situation generally is threatening all over the country.

The foregoing sums up the position of affairs early this morning, following the more or less abortive efforts yesterday of the postal federation union officers and the government at Ottawa to come to an agreement in the matter of wage schedules. It was thought last evening that the strike had been postponed for twenty-four hours by an order of the Federation officials. The men in Toronto and other points, however, declined to act on the postponment order and stopped all the works at 5 p.m. as originally ordered.

KINGSTON OFFICE OPEN.

(Special to The Examiner.)

KINGSTON, June 19.—Although the postal workers walked out at Toronto, Hamilton, Montreal, Brockville and other points on Wednesday night, the Kingston workers remained on their jobs and business was carried on as usual at the Kingston post office and up till Thursday morning. The only change in the situation was that only about one half the usual amount of mail arrived at the Kingston post office, due to the fact that the mail did not come through from the points where the men were on strike, the Kingston letter carriers started out on their rounds at the usual time this morning but it was stated that they did not intend to return for the afternoon rounds.

It was ascertained that the letter carriers had received notice to go out on strike at five p.m. on Wednesday and were all in readiness to go out, but that the postal workers received a telegram from Ottawa stating that the strike had been called off for twenty-four hours and for this reason they did not go out on strike. Postmaster James Stewart has received word from Ottawa to put on men to fill the places of the present workers in case they go out on strike. The department has a list of men ready to take positions providing there is a walk-out. The carriers who go out on strike will also be notified to send in their uniforms.

WORK IN OWEN SOUND.

OWEN SOUND, Ont., June 19.—All members of postal service in Owen Sound are at work as usual this morning, although a telegram has been received by clerks in the office that the strike is on.

Mail carriers are delivering mail this morning but none was received from Toronto last evening. The carriers are divided on the question of a strike and no vote has been registered as yet.

OUT AT SAULT STE. MARIE.

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont., June 19.—The mail carriers in the Sault are on strike this morning.

HALIFAX WAITS ORDER.

HALIFAX, Nova Scotia, June 19. —The postal men will strike if ordered to by the national executive. Otherwise they will remain at work, with the exception of the railway men, who have definitely decided to remain at work, declared E. W. Melvin, secretary of the Halifax branch of the Postal Federation of Canada this morning to the Canadian Press.

IDLE AT ST. THOMAS.

ST. THOMAS, June 19.—Every postal carrier in the city answered the strike call at midnight and not a letter was delivered this morning. Only a few of the clerks are working and the mail is reported to be accumultaing in large quantities.

APPLY FOR POSITIONS.

TORONTO, June 19.—Postmaster W. E. Lemon stated this morning that new men would be taken on immediately. Many applications for positions had been made, he said, some in writing, while others have applied personally. He intimated they would be started as sorters, the delivery of letters being a later consideration.

An estimate that from 1,000 to 1,100 men were on strike from the General Post Office was made by E. J. Westman, assistant postmaster. He stated that no attempt would be made to deliver mail for several days. He expressed the opinion that the public would have to call for mail at the branch post offices if the strike continued.

Post Office Advertises.

In an endeavor to fill the places of the striking postmen here, the Toronto branch of the Post Office has advertised in the newspapers for postal helpers, who will begin work immediately. They will be paid at the rate of eighty-five dollars a month. Preference will be given to those who have already passed their Civil Service examinations, the advertisement reads.

FIVE AT BRANTFORD.

BRANTFORD, June 19.—Seven men in all were at work at Brantford post office this morning, postmaster and assistant, two clerks, and three letter carriers. Some of the newspaper mail was sorted, but the only letters sorted last night were available for delivery. Local clerks went out at 5 o'clock last night, but returned at 5.10 when word of delayed negotiations was received. Further instructions came at 11.30 last night and the night staff promptly ceased work. Most of the mail bags were unopened this morning.

QUIT AT WINDSOR.

WINDSOR, June 19.—Every letter carrier in the Metropolitan district, taking in Windsor, Walkerville and Sandwich, is idle to-day and only a handful of clerks remain on the job.

Five senior clerks were working at Windsor office, three at Walkerville and one at Sandwich.

BUSINESS AS USUAL.

GUELPH, June 19. — At 10.15 there were no signs that the postal clerks were contemplating going out on strike. Enquiries at the post office showing that the clerks were sorting mail as usual and the carriers making their rounds. It is understood, however, that as soon as the mail at present in the office received before ten o'clock, is distributed, there will be a cessation of work on the part of all hands with the exception of the deputy postmaster.

AWAITING REPLY.

OTTAWA, June 19.—The Government is still awaiting reply to its proposals for ending the strike.

The Cabinet Council is in session over the situation. An effort is being made to fill the jobs of the men on strike.

QUOTES MURDOCK.

TORONTO, June 19.—"Well, if that is your attitude you will be out till hell freezes over."

This was the declaration, says the "Toronto Teelgram," this afternoon of Hon. James Murdock, Minister of Labor, as expressed to Frank Shea, of the postal clerks, in a long distance conversation over the telephone late last night.

Mr. Shea related the conversation to the mass meeting of postal workers here to-day. The remark of the Minister was in reply to a statement of Mr. Shea that the men were out and intended to stay out until they got what they were after.

STUDENTS SHOW GLIDDON TOUCH

Three Senior Pupils Exhibit a Talent and Art in Recital.

BRILLIANT PLAYING.

An interesting recital of difficult music was given in the hall of the Conservatory of Music last evening by three senior piano pupils of the director, Mr. Rupert Gliddon. The audience, although not large in numbers, was very appreciative of a finished and artistic programme given by three young ladies: Miss Elizabeth Webber, Miss Kathleen Sutton and Miss Agnes Grant, assisted by Miss Mathilde Masson, who sang several pretty songs.

A brilliant quality marks the playing of Mr. Gliddon's pupils. With a confident, firm, clear touch that produces a bell-like, ringing tone, a free wrist movement and facile fingering, their individual interpretation of their various numbers made their programme eminently satisfactory and pleasing. Exacting music by master composers of pianoforte music was rendered with ease and skill, the majority of the selections being played from memory with an absence of self-consciousness that marked the efforts of all three players.

The brief, enjoyable programme opened with an extremely difficult selection, in Schumann's "Faschingsschwank aus Wein," the delightful description in tone of a Shrove Tuesday masquerade festival. This was played by Miss Elizabeth Webber, almost entirely from memory, who rendered the nobly fantastic music of the great composer, whose work is marked by original treatment, with finished case. The opening movement, described by Mr. Gliddon in a few words, illustrates the arrival of the festive groups, its reiterated, light chords accenting the gay atmosphere. The Allegro is followed by the Romanza, in which the fortune-teller's glimpse of the future is pictured in dreamy, romantic melody. The lengthy number ends with a scherzino intermezzo and finale, gay and bright.

Two charming numbers, "Le Fileuse," by Raff, and the "Rigoletto Fantasia," of Verdi-Liszt, were Miss Kathleen Sutton's contributions to the programme. A smooth, even silvery quality in tone was manifest in the first number, a spinning song, its interweaving symphonies wrought with dainty, charming cadenzas of rippling sweetness. In the second number, a showy selection, heavy, accented chords merged in brilliant fashion into intervals of delicate trills.

Miss Agnes Grant, the third member of the trio, played a group of difficult selections, in a manner fully equal to the demands of different types of exacting music. Two characteristic compositions by Chopin were played, a "Polonaise Militaire" and a "Berceuse," followed by the "Cantique d'Amor," by Liszt. Music of romantic mould was in this group. The "Polonaise" was a martial, robust number of ringing arpeggios, and the lullaby which followed illustrated effectively in its dreamy, murmuring cadences the chromatic difficulties of the work of their composer. Liszt's "Song of Love" was beautifully played.

Miss Mathilde Masson, who received a bouquet of beautiful roses, sang very acceptably, her pretty, expressive tones being heard to much advantage in two solos: "On the Wild Rose Tree" and "Love's In My Heart," with their accompanying encores, the dainty little "Philosophy" and "When Love is Kind." Mrs. G. E. Porter played Miss Masson's accompaniments.

YOU'LL BE PLEASED WITH IT.

When "tea" is ordered many clerks always send RED ROSE TEA because they know it always pleases.

Her Heart was bad, and a constant backache made her household work a painful and wearisome grind, says Mrs Eliza Ann Burns of 123 Arthur Street, Ottawa.

She took two bottles of PHOSPHO-COD and she writes: "I have had the results from PHOSPHO-COD that it was supposed to give—the best."

Wouldn't this world be a happy place to live in if every time we bought something we were sure that it would give us exactly the results that it is supposed to give—the best. Mrs. Burns read the advertisements of PHOSPHO-COD. She believed what we said about this wonderful up-building tonic and health restorer and she believed the startling testimonials we published from time to time to be true statements of facts. Her faith saved her. She bought one bottle of PHOSPHO-COD and she hadn't taken half of it before noticing a marked improvement in her condition. She writes: "I used to have palpitation of the heart and severe pains in the back, especially on getting up in the morning. After taking half a bottle of PHOSPHO-COD, the pains in the back disappeared and my heart troubled me very little. After taking the full bottle my heart seemed much better and my cough disappeared entirely. I continued treatment and now after having taken two bottles of PHOSPHO-COD, I feel better than ever. PHOSPHO-COD is certainly a good medicine; it has certainly proved to be the best medicine I have ever taken and I am pleased to be able to recommend it to all who are in need of a right good bracing and up-building tonic."

Remember this! PHOSPHO-COD is not a secret medicine, but a scientific compound of well-known remedies used the world over by the best doctors to assist Nature in building and strengthening the body. The names of these remedies are printed on the label.

Thousands of men and women are loud in their praise of PHOSPHO-COD because it has given them better health and more strength, pep, energy; a better digestion and proper elimination.

If you wish to obtain the same benefits, take PHOSPHO-COD for a few days and note the change—you should be more cheerful, happier, and feel that life is really worth living.

BEE-KEEPERS MEET

Demonstration on Chas. Gouett's Farm By Inspector Agar of Guelph.

The Bee-keepers of Peterborough County met yesterday afternoon at the apiary of Charles Gouett, fifteen miles from the city, on the Otonabee-Douro boundary. Thirty-five members were present, including eight women who were reported to be enthusiastic and efficient beekeepers. William Agar of Brooklyn, Government Inspector fo Apiaries in Eastern Ontario, gave a demonstration of the care and handling of bees, with special instruction for those who were just starting this work. Mr. Tom Shields, representing the Ontario Honey-Producers' Co-operative, referred to the splendid success of the first year of the producers' association. Their product sold in Europe at a premium. They handled more than five million pounds in their first year, and demonstrated the advantages of thorough and expert grading of thier product.

Mr. and Mrs. Gouett served lunch at the close of the afternoon's discussion.

BOBBED HAIR.

Many of those who have bobbed hair have discovered that in wearing a boudoir cap at night, heat is created which takes the curl out of the hair. As some means of retaining the coiffure must be used, the ingenuity of milady with her hair bobbed has hit on the idea of using two double mesh hair nets. This device keeps the coiffure intact, and yet, because it keeps the hair cool, retains the wave and curl put in by the hairdresser.

BLACK CREPE.

A black crepe gown has circular ruffles of white crepe around the waistline and tiny white buttons from collar to hem in the back.

VISITORS SNATCH DECISION FROM PETES IN NINTH

Oshawa Win Exciting Battle From Home Talent by 6 to 4 Score.

LEGON LOCAL STAR.

Petes' Left Fielder Shines Both at the Bat and in the Field.

Reg. Fair, Oshawa's centre fielder, seldom a lusty club-swinger against the Petes and "Kip" Rowden, second sacker of the motor town crew, always a dangerous hitter, broke up a perfectly good ball game in the ninth inning of last night's fixture at Riverside Park and Oshawa won by 6 to 4 after one of the most exciting games of the season.

The Petes were in front in the first inning then Oshawa took the lead three times in succession, only to have the home talent tie it up in their half of the inning on each occasion and finally in the final frame when the fans were looking for a glorious finish with the Petes grabbing the decision in the ninth came Fair and Rowden with their extra base hits and blooie went the old ball game.

Fair opened the sad doings with a rousing triple and after Morrison had been retired Rowden nipped a fast double into left and the visitors had won. Rowden came home himself on an error but his counter was not needed for the Petes were stopped completely in their half.

Like on the last occasion when Oshawa played here it was a big day for the batters rather than for the pitchers. Heckman for the Petes and Dainty for the visitors were nicked for twelve safe blows each and the motor crew won because they bunched theirs more effectively, combining four hits for two runs in the third and bunching a double and triple in the ninth for two more. Heck struck out nine men and Dainty eight and the former passed only one batter as against three by the Oshawa southpaw.

It was a good day for batting averages and Red Legon and Jimmy Hall for the Petes with three hits out of four times up and Rowden of Oshawa with three out of five booted their marks while Micky Murray cashed in with a double and single driving in three runs.

Legon was the Peterboro hero of the day for in addition to his three hits he scored two runs, stole two bases and accepted four chances in left field, his running catch of Tyson's long smash in the ninth inning being one of the best fielding stunts of the year. Murray had a pretty catch of a foul fly in the ninth.

The Petes might have made it closer had it not been for taking too many chances in the fifth when three clean hits were wasted. Manager Solomon who was coaching on third sent Helson in to score on Hall's single to left, although the left fielder had recovered the ball before the runner reached third and Helson was out at the plate. With Legon next up a safety first policy might have been better for as it turned out "Red" opened the next frame with a single.

Petes Score First.

Rowden first up for Oshawa was thrown out by Holyman. W. Fair got a life on Helson's fumble but died stealing, Swanston to Johnston and Murray who drew a walk was also cut down at second when he tried to steal, Johnston taking the throw.

The Petes broke into the scoring column in their half. Legon started with a single to left and was sacrificed to second by Johnston. Swanston's infield out sent the lead off man to third and he sauntered home on Heckman's sharp hit double to right. Harrison fanned for the third out.

In the second Tyson flied to Legon, a nice catch by the left fielder. Roddick was tossed out by Helson. Wilson singled to centre, Hall nearly making a shoe string catch. Dainty rolled to Johnston for the third out.

For the Petes Helson grounded to Morrison. Holyman was safe when Wilson dropped Morrison's toss on a roller to short. Collins bunt to Dainty forced Holyman at second after which Collins died stealing.

Visitors in Lead.

Oshawa took the lead in the third. R. Fair scratched a hit on a high bounder to the box. Morrison bunted and got a single when Heckman failed to field the roller. Rowden's solid single to centre filled the bases with nobody out. W. Fair fanned but Murray came through with a double to left scoring R. Fair and Morrison. Tyson lifted a high one to Johnston and Roddick struck out.

The Petes evened the count in their end of the session. Hall was thrown out by Morrison but Legon singled to left and stole second as Johnston struck out. Swanston cut a single through short scoring Legon. Heckman fanned for the third out.

In Oshawa's fourth Wilson struck out. Dainty singled to right but was forced at second on R. Fair's roller to Holyman and Fair was forced in the same way, Holyman to Johnston.

The Petes threw away three hits and a great chance. After Harrison had fanned Helson singled to left, fast fielding by Roddick holding the drive to one base. Holyman popped to Murray, Collins singled to left and Hall followed with a single over Morrison's head. Helson was an easy out at the plate, Roddick to Morrison to Tyson, when he was sent home on the drive.

Once again the motor crew shot out in front in the fifth. Rowden opened with a single to centre and was sacrificed to second by Walter Fair. Murray singled to centre to score Rowden. Heckman intercepted Hall's throw-in and Murray was caught between bases, Collins coming in from right field to make the put-out. Tyson fanned.

Harrison Had Double

For the Petes Legon got his third hit in succession, a single to centre and Johnston sacrificed. Swanston hit to Morrison who tagged Legon on the line. Heckman drew a pass and Harrison boomed a long double over W. Fair's head scoring Swanston. Helson hoisted one to Murray retiring the side.

The sixth was scoreless. For Oshawa Roddick and Wilson fanned and Dainty flied to Legon.

For the Petes Holyman struck out, Collins flied to R. Fair, Hall singled over Morrison's head and Legon hoisted to R. Fair.

In the seventh R. Fair and Morrison struck out. Rowden was safe on Helson's miss of his roller and went to second on a passed ball but W. Fair struck out.

Johnston, first up for the Petes, fanned and Swanston grounded to Dainty. Heckman singled to right and went to second on a passed ball. Harrison struck out.

Murray lined to Hall to open the eighth but Tyson slashed a double past third. Webster batting for Roddick popped to Holyman. Wilson singled to centre and Tyson scored when Heckman took Hall's throw and threw high to Swanston. Wilson going to second, Dainty bounded to Holyman.

Dainty very kindly wild-pitched the tying run in in the Petes' half. Helson fouled to Wilson. Holyman drew a walk but was forced at second on Collins' roller to Morrison, Hall singled over Wilson's head, his third hit in a row and Collins sprinted to third, Hall stealing second on the next ball. Dainty decided that Red Legon was too dangerous to be trusted but in trying to pass him he threw a slow one over Tyson's head, Collins scoring. Legon got his walk and then Johnston rolled to Wilson retiring the side.

The Last Inning Disaster.

Oshawa jumped to the lead in the last sprint for the win, Reg. Fair first up shot a vicious liner between Legon and Hall for three bases. Morrison's weak roller extinguished him at first, Fair holding third. Then Rowden broke up the game with a slashing double to left scoring Fair. Rowden went to third on a wild pitch and when Holyman lost W. Fair's roller the Oshawa second sacker dashed home with the second win of the inning. Murray and Tyson flied to Legon, the latter catch of Tyson's long drive being a beautiful effort.

The Petes for the first time in the game failed to get a runner to first. Murray made a nice catch of Swanston's foul, Heckman was called out on strikes and Harrison fouled to Wilson.

Dundee Takes Challenge

Johnny Dundee Will Battle Kid Kaplan For the 125 Pound Crown.

NEW YORK, June 19.—(Canadian Press). — Johnny Dundee, world's featherweight champion, yesterday accepted Louis ("Kid") Kaplan's challenge for the 126-pound crown. The Meriden, Conn., challenger was recently selected by the New York State Athletic Commission as the logical contender for the title. The Commission informed the managers of the two principals that negotiations for a title match must be started immediately.

Frank Moody, English middleweight, and a licensed boxer in this State, was suspended indefinitely for engaging in a bout with Harry Greb, world's middleweight champion, at Waterbury, Conn., on June 16. Greb is under ban in this State.

KINGSTON TOOK JOY FROM LIFE AT BELLEVILLE

Won 6 to 5 at U.E.L. Celebration Before Thousands.

RALLY IN FIFTH.

C.N.R. Notables Played Opening Round—Dan Fanned.

BELLEVILLE, June 19 (Special to The Examiner). — Kingston took some of the joy out of the big celebration here yesterday afternoon when they trimmed the Grand Trunks by a score of 6-5.

The game was hard fought from the first crack of the bat, until the last out for Belleville. The Ponies notched two in the first frame, and maintained the lead throughout.

Belleville rallied in the fifth, when by a combination of hitting and errors they notched three.

Again in the eighth the Trunks scored a pair, but in the same frame Kingston scored the same number.

The proceedings were graced by the presence of Major F. L. C. Bond, general superintendent at Montreal District, C.N.R., who officiated behind the bat at the opening. W. D. Robb, vice-president of the C.N.R., pitched, and D. J. MacMillan, district superintendent here, at the bat. Dan fanned.

Oulette went the full route for Belleville, and performed rather creditably, but six errors at the wrong moments were too much for the Trunks.

When Kelly showed signs of blowing up in the fifth, he was relieved by Gallagher, who finished strong. Gallagher's place at left field was taken by Teeple.

Good ball featured the game in many spots, and the crowd, though disappointed in the result, enjoyed the play.

Neat work was displayed by the visitors when Batstone, Sommerville, and Jurvis pulled a double play. Steals were conspicuous by their absence, and base running was only fair.

Kingston's two runs in the first came from Nickle's healthy swat to left, which should have been a homer. Ground rules made it a double. Compeau followed with a smash to right, scoring Nickle, and Batstone's sacrifice brought in Compeau.

In the eighth Belleville had a grand chance to even up with two down. Hagerman hit to left field, and got to third when Batstone fumbled Williams' drive. Williams stole second and Meagher drove to left field, scoring both.

A. Weir was an easy third. Sommerville to Purvis.

Umpire Benson was called by Kingston for his decision in allowing Williams safe at home on this play.

GENERALS WON FROM COBOURG DYE COMPANY

C.G.E. Net 21 Hits and Pile Up 20 Runs, While They Held the Dye Mixers to 3 Counters.

USED THREE PITCHERS.

Art Primeau's Outfit Clout Out 10 Doubles—Hardill Bats 1000.

A ragged game of baseball was put up by the Dye Works team of Cobourg last evening in a Midland League fixture with the Canadian General Electrics. They were dead from their toes up and were walloped for 20 runs in seven innings, while they succeeded in registering three lone counters. The C.G.E. were never in danger and had the game their own way throughout. They hit everything the three Cobourg pitchers had to offer and registered a total of 21 clean hits, including ten doubles. The Dye Mixers did not have much to handle in the field as nearly every man up clouted out a clean hit, but at bat they were practically useless, and about all they did in this line was walk up, swing at three and trot back to the dugout, while the crowd that was of a fair size, sat and laughed at the way their players swiped at the ball.

The C.G.E. started off nice in the first inning when they scored two runs, and in every inning in the game, except the fourth, one or more runs crossed the plate. Cobourg's pitching staff was very weak, and although the team behind the pitchers were nothing to brag about, they only had four errors chalked against them. Bone head plays on the part of Cobourg also helped the C.G.E. to pile up their runs.

Bun Frost started on the mound for the C.G.E. and turned in a nice game. He pitched four innings, blanking the Dye Workers in both runs and hits, while he passed one man. He had plenty of speed and stuff, and worked nice in the pinches. He fanned six of his opponents, retiring the side in order in the fourth. Jeff Hardill took Frost's place on the rubber in the fifth inning, but did not get off so lucky in the three innings he pitched as Frost did. He fanned six men, but was touched for four hits and three runs, while he also passed two men. His fast ball was working nice, but he was a little wild, and several times he had three balls and no strikes on the batter and he would then turn around and strike him out.

Jeff Hardill led his team in batting when he batted one thousand, getting two doubles and a single in three trips to the plate. Abbie Rose and Eddie Dugan also got four hits apiece in five trips to the plate. Bob Ross caught a nice game throughout, while Herb Wolfe, in the left garden, had the feature catch of the game when he picked one out of a tree that looked impossible. Gord. Webb and Jack McCarney also made some nice catches, while Drope, in the left field for Cobourg, pulled down two hard flies. Shaefer, at third base, was derricked off the field in great style in the second innings when he began his usual crabbing at the rest of the players. He claimed that a bunt hit between the box and third was the pitcher's but he fielded it and then heaved it at the pitcher. For this he was yanked, and he well deserved to warm the bench for the rest of the game.

May Fling Javelin For Canada at the Olympiad

W. R. KENNEDY

MONTREAL, Can June 19.—A likely member of the Canadian Olympic track and field team is W. R. Kennedy of McGill University.

Kennedy was singled out recently by Capt. J. E. Cornelius, Canadian Olympic coach, as an athlete of great promise. Cornelius gave Kennedy some personal attention while here on a tour of inspection, and the McGill man responded impressively.

Cornelius, by the way, is a resident of Hamilton, Ont., and his appointment as Olympic coach was due to the fine success he had with the athletes at Hamilton Collegiate Institute.

CURLERS TAKE GAME FROM EAST CITY GANG

Beavers made Curlers go eight innings to win a 4-3 decision in a Midget series game at Exhibition Park last evening. BRITISH STARS OUTSHONE U.S. AT WIMBLEDON

Invaders Were Overwhelmed by Unfaltering Attack and Solid Defence.

TENNIS TOURNAMENT.

Even Molla Mallory Lost After Helen Wills' Defeat.

WIMBLEDON, England, June 19.—(Canadian Press).—British women overwhelmed the invaders from the United States in the three opening matches of the tournament yesterday afternoon. The United States champion, Miss Helen Wills, of California, fell before the steady and unfaltering attack and almost puncture proof defence of Mrs. Phyllis Covell, of England, in straight sets, 6-4, 6-4.

The English woman played with steadiness, fine courage and unfaltering judgment of timing and distance. From the first stroke to the last Mrs. Covell made no mistakes; everything that it was possible for her to reach she got her racquet on, and usually turned it at a forcing pace. Few of her drives went outside the lines of play, and still fewer of them were caught in the net. She simply stuck grimly with real British bull-doggedness to every play, plugging away at Miss Wills' backhand until the Californian girl was driven into error after error, both of timing and placing.

Those who have followed Mrs. Covell's playing for years said they had never seen her perform so well in the singles. Most of her past successes have been in the doubles. Yesterday she covered the entire court like a star of single encounters; she showed fine judgment in selecting the proper time to come to the net, putting many volleys beyond the reach of Miss Wills, who herself seldom resorted to the net game.

Miss Wills had recovered from her slight illness of Tuesday, but she played a wobbly game. Nothing went right for her. Except rare intervals her service flew too far beyond the net, or else plunged into it; her ground strokes were for the most part ill-timed.

Mallory Outplayed.

To the matches that followed the other British players brought the same resolute firmness, sureness of aim and certainty of pace that marked Mrs. Covell's triumph. Miss Kathleen McKane outplayed Mrs. Molla Mallory in almost every game, winning easily 6-3, 6-3. The United States ex-champion played well, and was never as wild as Miss Wills had been, but Miss McKane, who has added a great deal of speed to her strokes and footwork since last year, always found vulnerable spots, smashing low ground shots or crisp volleys at her opponent.

At times Mrs. Mallory rose to her best endeavors, comparable to the game she has played past years, but she was never able to quite able to catch up with Great Britain's ranking No. 1 player.

The doubles was a slam-bang sort of affair, with a great deal of volleying and played at a hard, fast pace throughout, but the English pair, Mrs. Covell and Mrs. Shepherd-Barron, played harder and faster than the Americans, Mrs. Marion Jessup and Miss Eleanor Goss, and never for a moment looked like losers. They won 6-2, 6-2.

The Feature Game.

In the feature event, Miss Wills began beautifully and with fine promise. Her very first serve in the opening game whizzed by her opponent for a clean ace. She won two more points immediately, making the score 40-love. Suddenly she began over-driving, usually with her backhand, and the score soon became deuce. She got the ad., but drove into the net to bring it back to deuce; Mrs. Covell got the next point, and Miss Wills double-faulted and the game was over and gone.

In the next game the pace quickened, Miss Wills driving harder, but less accurately. After they had carried it to deuce, Mrs. Covell eventually won on an ace.

Miss Wills tried two volleys in the third game, which she won on service. The fourth went to Mrs. Covell for a lead of 3-1. In this game Miss Wills netted five and shot two other points out on her backhand, which she was favoring, although her forearm strokes seemed to be more accurate.

At Deuce Twice.

Then came the critical fifth. If she won it, Miss Wills would have a chance to catch up; while, if she lost, it meant a score of 4-1 against her. She lost the game, after it had gone to deuce twice, netting several of Mrs. Covell's returns.

Miss Wills' failure to find a way over the net lost her the next game. Then, with the set seemingly gone, she launched an attack at the net on her own service, and with fine volleying won a love game.

Both played equally fast in the eighth, which reached deuce twice before Mrs. Covell won it, and with it the first set.

The Californian won the first game of the second set, but dropped the next three after running two of them into deuce. She won the fifth, but relapsed in the sixth, losing it without gaining a point, and she won only one point in the next.

Mrs. Covell now needed only one game for the match. The Californian girl began using her forearm at every opportunity and led an attack at the net. In this way she won two straight games, with only one point lost in each. This brought the score to 5-4, and aroused hopes that she might stave off defeat by winning the set and make a fresh start on the rubber. But it was Mrs. Covell's service, and she made the best of it by rushing to the net after each service, and finishing off Miss Wills by soft returns dropped just over the tape.

PONIES IN FRONT IN LEAGUE RACE

Kingston Half Game in the Lead as Result of Yesterday's Battles.

The hectic race in the Central Ontario League continues to grow in intensity and with the end of the schedule for the first half in sight, all four teams are still in the running.

The feat of Oshawa and Kingston in winning "on the road" from Peterboro and Belleville has tied the old dope up in a knot. The Ponies who early last week were in last place having lost four games in a row are now at the top of the heap as a result of three victories in succession while Belleville leaders a week ago are down in the cellar with the Petes and Oshawa tier for second. Here is the standing:

	Won	Lost	P.C.
Kingston	5	4	.556
Peterboro	4	4	.500
Oshawa	4	4	.500
Belleville	3	4	.429

The Ponies have but three games to play, home fixtures with Belleville and Oshawa and a game in Peterboro.

Of the Petes remaining four games three are away from home. The Solomon crew play in Oshawa Saturday, have a postponed game in Belleville on Monday, a regular scheduled game there on Wednesday and finish the first half with a home game with Kingston.

Oshawa have to play the Petes and Belleville in Oshawa and Kingston in the Limestone City while there is a tie game with Belleville to be played off if it affects the standing.

Belleville's five games calls for three home fixtures and two away from home.

So far as the Petes are concerned they have done better "on the road" than at home this season and they are still full of fight and very much in the running.

A number of fans will accompany them to Oshawa on Saturday.

Micky Murray did his bit to beat the Petes driving in half of the visitors runs.

Legon with .424 and Heckman with .333 are the only Petes in the .300 class although Hall is crowding the mark closely with .292. Johnston went hitless last night for the first time this season.

Do You Know Baseball?

By BILLY EVANS

QUESTIONS

1. With the score tied, ninth inning, pitcher fills the bases. He is taken out. Batsman hits safely on substitute pitcher, driving winning run across plate. What pitcher is charged with loss of game?—C. D. Y.

2. There is a runner on second base. The batsman hits a ground ball that strikes the base umpire working back of the pitcher on the foot. The pitcher recovers ball and throws runner out at third base. The umpire ruled that the runner who tried to go from second to third and was retired at that base should return to second. He ruled a dead ball and made the batsman hit over. The batsman on his second chance doubled, scoring the runner from second. What is the correct ruling?—M. D.

ANSWERS

1. In case you cite, the pitcher who put the runners on the bases is charged with the defeat, even though the hit that scored the winning run was made off the substituted pitcher. Scorers always strictly follow such a procedure in handling such situations.

2. When the umpire was hit by a batted ball, play was immediately suspended. The batsman was entitled to first base. No runners can advance on such a play except forced, therefore the runner originally on second should have simply remained on that base. The umpire erred in making the batsman hit over.

TWO FAST GAMES NEXT SATURDAY

Raybestos and Dyeworks and C.N.R. and C.G.E. at Exhbition Grounds.

Local fans will have an opportunity to see two fast games at Exhibition Park on Saturday afternoon. The opening performance will be a struggle beaween the Raybestos and Dyeworks, to keep out of the cellar. At their last meeting these teams played a ten innings game replete with sparkling plays and heavy hitting.

The second game will resemble a Central League affair as both C.N.R. of Cobourg and C.G.E. have several former seniors players in their ranks Three weeks ago in Cobourg, Punch Derry held the Electricians to two hits and he is in great shape and expects to repeat. The locals have their heaviest war clubs ready and are confident they can knock him out of the box.

The Exhibition Grounds has been made into one of the fastest ball parks in Ontario with plenty of seating accommodation and parking space. As there is no Central League game at Riverside Park, there should be a record attendance. The admission charged at these games is 25 cents including stand.

CANADIAN SOCCER TEAM LOST 6 TO 2

All Stars Beaten by Sydney Metropolitans—Have Good Record.

MANLEY, N.S.W., June 19.—(Special cable to the Canadian Press). — Canada's all-star soccer team went down to defeat before the speedy Sydney Metropolitans here yesterday by a score of 6 to 2. The Canadians, who were not playing their usual aggressive game, were outclassed in all departments. The Australians, after having enjoyed a long rest, played brilliantly. Three thousand persons attended. Bowman and Stobbart scored Canada's two goals. Mosher had an off day. The players who did the most effective work for the visitors, though they were not up to their usual standard, were Dierden, Stobbart and Anderson. The Canadians were obviously stale and played listlessly.

McLean, Lenning, Armstrong, Wilson and Hood did not play.

The Mayor of Manley delivered a warm address of welcome to the Canadian players before the game.

On Saturday, Canada will play the strong South Coast team. Canadians have now won six, lost three and drawn four.

ALL SAINTS' A. A. TEAM WIN THEIR FIRST GAME

The All Saints' A. A. baseball team made their 1924 debut last evening when they defeated the fast Reynalds' Bull Dogs at the Prince of Wales' grounds, the score being 15 to 10.

The teams were evenly matched, and good support was given the twirlers. The Bull Dogs led the scoring in the first counter, but the All Saints' came back stronger than ever. Parrington, Lewis and MacDougal did the twirling for the A. A. boys. All the pitchers pitched in fine style, using sharp breaking curves. Edgar, Reynalds and Goodson did the mound duty for the Bull Dogs. Their style was also good, but quavered at times. The game was close at times. Several times the Bull Dogs got men on third, but lacked the punch to get them home. Parrington's long homer in the third was easily the feature performance.

Score by innings—

Bull Dogs	3	0	0	3	0	0	3	0	0	—10
All Saints'	1	2	2	3	3	3	1	0	0	—15

Batteries—Edgar, Reynalds, Goodson and MacFadden. Lewis, Parrington, MacDougal and Hope.

Jopling's meat truck from Peterboro made a trip through here on Wednesday and intend to continue every week. This makes three butchers coming through here, one each from Lindsay, Omemee and Peterboro.

Dr. Garnet Perdue, of Toronto, spent the week-end the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Perdue.

Tourists Have Arrived.

Some forty tourists have arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thos. O'Neill for the season, and intend enjoying the waters of the Pigeon River. Mr. O'Neill has secured three motor boats for their accommodation.

Jos. O'Leary, the village merchant, has decided to sell gasoline. It will be a great convenience to the tourists and residents.

Mr. Geo. Ranson, who has a big patch of strawberries, reports they are well blossomed, and he expects an abundant crop this year.

The apple and plum crop in this locality promises to be a good one, as the recent frosts did not damage the fruit.

The recent rains were very welcome. Everything looks beautiful. The meadows are looking fine, but there is going to be no red clover in this part this year as the spring was too backward.

Mr. and Mrs. Simon Perdue, of Peterboro, were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Perdue.

WILLIAM DUNCAN AND EDITH JOHNSTON IN "THE MAN OF MIGHT"

Vitagraph Six Reels of Mystery—Thrills—Suspense—Action

Cast:

Eric Carter	William Duncan
Sally Benson	Edith Johnson
"Cutcheek" Mullen	Joe Ryan
Henry Kohler	Walter Rodgers
Dick Martin	Del Harris
Wo Chang	Frank Tokanaga
Pedro Santos	Otto Lederer

Synopsis

Existence of a map to buried treasure is disclosed when "Cutcheek" Mullen attacks Captain Benson, a retired seaman. Benson dies, and his daughter Sally, and Eric Carter, her sweetheart, determine to seek the treasure. "Cutcheek" attempts to prevent them from obtaining the map, which had been cut up and a piece given to each of six men who made up a party headed by Captain Benson. Indian attacks had forced Benson to give up the search. "Cutcheek" was one of the original group and now seeks to gain the treasure for himself. Sally and Eric find the surviving members of the original treasure party and invite them to join the new hunt. "Cutcheek" steals their sections of the map, and by misrepresentation obtain the key to the map from Pedro Santos, the sixth man. Sally and Eric and their companions, undaunted by the attempts of the outlaw to put them out of the way, withstand Indian attacks and innumerable other hardships, and finally come into possession of the treasure. The outlaws are overcome in a terrible battle on board a ship, when they attempt to steal the treasure, and Sally and Eric are able to bring their adventure to a successful end. The picture was directed by William Duncan.

AT THE ROYAL

BOOTH TARKINGTON'S MASTERPIECE, "BOY OF MINE," AT ROYAL TONIGHT.

Patrons of this theatre who had the pleasure of seeing "Penrod and Sam," the J. K. McDonald production which so recently carried the whole country by storm, are to have an even better treat in "Boy of Mine," another J. K. McDonald production, directed by William Beaudine and adapted to the screen from the pen of Booth Tarkington.

"Boy of Mine" is really the most human story Booth Tarkington has ever written. It is a simple story built up to a great climax on simple situations.

Unlike "Penrod and Sam" it is not a "kid" picture. The plot revolves about a typical American boy (Ben Alexander), but most of the principals in this great story are adults.

"Boy of Mine" is a result of Tarkington's appreciation of the way "Penrod and Sam" was produced. This famous author wrote "Boy of Mine" especially for this production and it has never been published. Chances are it never will be until the whole world has had a chance to see a screen version of the story.

In the notable cast of "Boy of Mine" are: Henry B. Walthall, considered by many to be the best American actor of the day; Irene Rich, one of the most beautiful, artistic and charming leading women of the screen; Rockliffe Fellowes, who play in "Penrod and Sam"; Ben Alexander, who tops every youthful actor of filmdom; Dot Farley, famous on both screen and stage; Gene Jackson, the little pickaninny who added many a laugh to "Penrod and Sam," and Lawrence Licalzi, a twelve-year-old artist who is rapidly forging to the front.

AT THE CAPITOL

BIG SHOW AT CAPITOL FEATURES TOM MIX WITH STAN. LAUREL COMEDY.

As well as Tom Mix in "A Mile-a-Minute Romeo," the Capitol will offer Stan Laurel in his latest comedy hit, "The Soilers," a Felix the Cat cartoon, "Sing 'Em Again," and the Capitol review on its bill, to day, Friday and Saturday.

CLEVER COMPLICATIONS ADD TO INTEREST OF TYPICAL MIX POCTURE OF FAR WEST.

Ingenious plot complications give "Mile-a-Minute Romeo", the William Fox production that opens today at the Capitol Theatre unusual charm for a Tom Mix picture. By which we mean, in addition to the breathless action and expected number of thrills, Tom Mix offers in this recent motion story of considerable interest.

One of the uncommon situations presented is the Machivellian scheme of exterminating two rivals by contriving to get them to fly at each other's throat.

The crafty lover informs both rivals separately that each has insulted the other. A gun fight ensues in which the rivals learn that they have been the dupe of the third rival, and that their fight was "framed" to kill either or both of them.

Lucky Bill, played admirably by Tom Mix is one of the dupes. Having wounded the other dupe in the "framed" fight he offers to compensate by helping the latter elope with the girl. He is double-crossed innumerable times and finally forgets his diffidence so far as to attempt to get the girl for himself.

In no previous production, perhaps, does Tom Mix display his horsemanship so skilfully. Throughout the production he is almost entirely riding—wild. We do not believe this situation makes it easy to emote and for that reason declare Mr. Mix's performance extraordinary. Betty Jewel, leading lady, is very satisfactory, as is the entire supporting cast. Lambert Hillyer is responsible for the good direction.

THE DESERTED VILLAGE.

(By W. H. Currie, in 'Canadian Forest and Outdoors')

"What happened here, old timer?
Where's the folks?
What struck the town—a Famine or the Flu—
That everyone should up and hit the trail
And leave the place to solitude and you?"

"Yes, stranger—'twas a famine cleaned us out.
When we located forty years ago
The country round as far as you cud see,
Was timbered jest as thick as trees cud grow.
Yes, Sir, there was a sight o' folks here then,
Had we bin wiser they'd a' bin here still,
But all we thought about an' all we did
Was cut the timber out to feed the Mill,
An' when we'd cut as far as we cud reach
An' nothing done to bring the young growth on,
The Mill shut down an' folks were forced to quit.
That's how it comes that all but me are gone.
I stick around because I named the place
That might ha' thriven had we only known
What we know now—Jest that you can't keep on
For years a-reapin' where ye have not sown."

APPEAL MADE FOR DELINQUENT BOYS

Rev. Father Bench of Oshawa Addressed K. of C. on Social Service.

An instructive address on Social Service, with particular application to the reclaiming of delinquent boys, was delivered by Rev. Father Bench of Oshawa at the season's concluding meeting of the Knights of Columbus on Tuesday night. For the success of this work, Father Bench emphasized the importance of a Juvenile Court, and declared that erring youths should be given every encouragement and consideration toward their return to normal living. Sentence to a reformatory should be the ultimate action. It should be resorted to only when all other efforts had failed. Father Bench asserted that reformatories did not reform. He urged the necessity of patience and perseverance with kindness and firmness in dealing with delinquent boys, and illustrated with instances from his long experience with the Catholic Charities Association of Toronto.

Father Bench expressed his admiration for societies such as the Kiwanis, Rotarians, Young Men's Board of Trade and others with the same purposes and objects which he had been associated with in Toronto, and while stressing the need of organization for social service, he had found that personal work was the most fruitful in the rehabilitation of wayward boys. Magistrates of Juvenile Courts were quite willing to commit such boys to the care and guidance of responsible men who volunteered their desire to attempt to save them for society and God so that they might be helped to grow up useful and honorable citizens. The Knights of Columbus, Father Bench suggested, had a work to do in this regard, and he assured them that they would experience a special satisfaction in helping under-privileged boys and those who went wrong, and that the individual member who undertook this service would be richly repaid with his successes, although he should be prepared for any disappointments which might be met with.

Father Bench was warmly thanked for his address which was a model of lucidity and packed with practical advice.

WEDDING BELLS

PALMER—ELLIOT.

A pretty wedding took place at All Saints' Church, on Wednesday, the 18th, at high noon, when Erma Willimena, daughter of Mr. and Mrs J. W. Elliott, of this city, was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Charles Richard Palmer, son of Mrs. Palmer and the late W. H. Palmer of Toronto. The altar was prettily decorated with ferns, palms and hawthorne buds and the ceremony was performed by the Rev. J. Douglas Paterson, rector of All Saints' church, in the presence of a large number of relatives and friends of the happy couple.

The wedding march was played by Mrs. Logan. During the service the bride entered the church on the arm of her father. She looked pretty in a gown of shell pink and silver lace with tulle veil arranged in coronet fashion and wreath of orange blossoms. She carried a large bouquet of ophelia roses and orange blossoms and wore the gift of the bridegroom, a gold bar pin set with diamonds. The bridesmaid, Miss Valeria Roseborough, wore a lovely frock of green canton crepe. Her hat was of white milan, trimmed with white silk and lily of the valley and white shoes and stockings to match. She wore the gift of the bridegroom, a gold bar in set with amber and pearls, and carried a bouquet of Columbia roses. During the ceremony, Miss Edith Tucker sang very sweetly, "Because." She wore the gift of the bridegroom, a silver bar pin set with diamonds. Mr Albert Palmer, brother of the bridegroom, acted as best man, his gift being a pair of gold cufflinks.

After the ceremony, a reception and wedding breakfast was held at the residence of the bride's parents, 253 Rink street. The guests, numbering about 60, were received by the bride, her mother, and the groom's mother, after which Mr. and Mrs. Palmer left on the afternoon train to Rochester, where they will spend their honeymoon. On their return they will reside in Toronto.

The bride travelled in a handsome outfit of grey canton crepe, with hat and shoes to match, and wore a navy blue wrap. The bride received many handsome gifts from her many friends and relatives.

The following out of town guests were present: Mrs. W. H. Palmer, of Toronto; Mr. William Elliott, Cavan; Mrs. Ruby Tippet of Cavan, Mrs. Kelly and daughter, Margaret, of Toronto; Miss Edith Watt, of Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. W. Williamson, Millbrook; Mr. and Mrs. Best Mountpleasant; Mr. and Mrs. A. Dilman of Little Britain, and Mr. and Mrs. E. Dilman of Little Britain.

PREPARED FOR STRIKE

Canadian National Telegraphs Ready to Relieve Postal Tie-Up.

MONTREAL, June 19.—Assurance to the public that the Canadian National Telegraphs are not only willing but are prepared to come to their aid in the emergency which has arrived through the strike of the postal employees throughout Canada, were given this morning by W. G. Barber, general manager, who is in Montreal on business. Mr. Barber said: "The Canadian National Telegraphs are so well organized at the present time that they can handle, without any delay or confusion, all the business that may be given to them, no matter how great the volume. The officers of the system realized some days ago that there was a strong possibility of a strike by the postal employees, and steps were taken immediately to organize the company for the pending crisis. All employees on leave were recalled, and all leave was cancelled until further notice. Instructions were issued to managers and superintendents across the Dominion to be ready to give the public a day and night service during this emergency, that would not fail to expedite the transaction of business throughout the country.

SPEED

Jules Verne created a sensation when he wrote his book, "Around the World in 80 Days." That seems slow now. The other day the king of England sent a telegram which, relayed, circled the earth and came back to him in 80 seconds.

Radio does the same thing in a fraction of one second.

In Verne's day fast transportation of the HUMAN BODY was the goal Our generation has concerned itself also with fast transportation of THOUGHT. Give us the radio movie and we can stay at home and see the world, also hear the sounds of the far-off places. And who knows but what even odors will come by radio?—the fragrant lotus bloom, the stench of the jungle, the aroma of liquor in Cuba.

THE POSTAL STRIKE

Parleys between the Government and representatives of the Postal Workers yesterday were unsuccessful, and the majority of the clerks and letter carriers throughout the Dominion are now on strike.

It strikes the average Canadian that there is something radically wrong when the business of a whole nation can be held up by any branch of the Government service.

The strike, no matter how short in duration, will cause general confusion and inconvenience, and in business circles may result in heavy losses.

In addition, the general public will feel the effect of the tie-up because of lack of information in regard to relatives, and travellers and visitors will be greatly inconvenienced.

The Government seems determined to fight, realizing that a surrender now would leave the door open for more demands in the future, and from other branches of the civil service.

The issue is simply whether the Government of Canada is to rule or whether the employees of any particular branch of the civil service are to be allowed to assume power.

If it is to be a fight, the Government should see to it that the struggle is not half-hearted.

The strike comes at a time when there are thousands of men out of employment.

If, as is intimated, the men now on strike, are considered as having read themselves out of the civil service then no time should be lost in replacing them.

The business of the nation must go on, strike or no strike. And every hour lost in inaction represents a heavy loss to the country.

CO-OPERATION IS URGED AT U. F. O. ANNUAL PICNIC

Co-operative Methods of Marketing Lauded by Organizer From Paris.

THE REFERENDUM

Rev. A. H. McConnachie Regretted Action of Farmers in Entering Politics.

(By Staff Reporter.)

The annual picnic of the combined U.F.O. Clubs of Cavan and South Monaghan took place yesterday at Wallace's Point, with an attendance of between five and six hundred people, a total made lower than usual on account of the annual picnic of the Peterboro U.F.O. Club, held yesterday, also in Smith Township. Speakers at Wallace's Point were Mr. John F. Martin, of Paris, Ontario, organizer for the U.F.O. Co-operative Company, and Mrs. F. Webster, of Oakwood, secretary of the United Farm Young People's Society for the County of Victoria. Rev. A. H. McConnachie, of Centreville, also spoke briefly. Others present on the platform were Mrs. J. White, of South Monaghan, a prominent member of the U.F.W.O. Club, and S. Staples, ex-M.L.A. for East Durham. E. Anderson, president of the combined South Monaghan and Cavan Clubs, occupied the chair.

The picnickers were made heartily welcome on the spacious and attractive premises at Wallace's Point owned by Mr. and Mrs. Cardwell. The weather was propitious all afternoon, a very light shower being the only intermission in a perfect picnic day, and merry parties enjoyed picnic suppers on the grass, and patronized extensively the ice-cream booth. Two baseball games, with a softball game by two competing teams of ladies, were played off before nightfall. A dance in the big dance hall on the grounds ended a pleasant day. c

Interesting Speeches.

A brief address by the chairman was followed by the speech of Mr. J. F. Martin, who spoke on the necessity of co-operative methods in marketing farm products, and the advantages to be derived from the system. Instancing the example of the manufacturers of farming machinery in eliminating competition and combining to sell their products at a fixed price, Mr. Martin said: "We should take a leaf out of their book and try and do the same thing."

LOCAL STRIKE ENDED TODAY

All Hands Reported for Duty in Peterboro Office This Morning.

CRISIS PASSED

The postal strike is ended, so far as Peterboro is concerned.

Postmaster John Corkery expressed his pleasure this morning in the agreement that brought all his men into the office to resume work at opening time. There was a meeting of the postal workers last night that lasted into the early hours of this morning. Mail carriers were out on their routes at 8.30, and the work had not become so badly disorganized, the Postmaster said, that it will not take long to get back to normal.

The telegraph offices in the city were kept busy yesterday with the extra work sent their way through the failure of the mails, and several firms sent messengers to Toronto to convey their private mail.

At noon to-day the committee representing the Peterborough Letter Carriers issued the following statement:

"For the benefit of the local labor unions and the public generally, the Letter Carriers of this city beg to state the reason for returning to duty after being called out by their Federated secretary, was the effect of a telegram being received by the Postmaster to the effect that the positions of the postal workers would be filled, which caused a certain number of the postal clerks to change their attitude in regard to remaining out, thereby causing the Letter Carriers to also return to duty as we could not carry on the strike without the support of the full local staff."

Signed on behalf of Local Carriers,

J. J. GRISDALE, Pres.
G. S. CARTER.
E. E. LEE.

Special arrangements were made by The Examiner to receive its news during the tie-up, and while by far the larger part comes by telegraph there is to-day the usual full complement of district news for the early mail edition.

FREIGHT BOATS RETURN PROFIT

Sir Henry Thornton Tells House Government Ships Made $78,026 in Year.

ESTIMATE APPROVED

OTTAWA, June 20. — (Canadian Press). — Eight grain steamers operated by the Government Merchant Marine made 107 trips, carrying 11,387,000 bushels, on the Great Lakes last season, Sir Henry Thornton told the House of Commons committee examining the Canadian National Railway and Government Merchant Marine account, yesterday. On these voyages the earnings were $585,288, and operating expenses $507,261. A profit of $78,026 was shown; this figure did not include interest charges, said Sir Henry.

The estimate of $900,000 for Merchant Marine was approvad by the committee.

The Hotel Scribe.

Major Graham Bell, Deputy Minister of Railways, said he had gone to Europe in the summer of 1923 regarding the purchase of the Hotel Scribe. He found that Mr. Aronovici, who had acted for the railway company in the purchase, had plans to rent the upper stories of the Hotel Scribe building to a hotel company at what would probably be considerable profit to himself. This was disapproved and the plan abandoned. Later Mr. Aronovici stated that he had no wish to make any money out of the thing. Major Bell made the arrangements for the formation of the company to make the purchase, and the necessary loans. He returned to Ottawa and received the informal consent of the Government to proceed with the purchase.

The difficulties encountered in getting the tenants out of the Scribe building were outlined. Major Bell had declined to pay to Mr. Aronovici commission on any transactions for which vouchers could not be produced. The final settlement with him was 1,735,000 francs. The total cost for the Hotel Scribe transaction was $2,700,000. Major Bell was of the opinion it was the finest site in Paris.

It was estimated that, by the time the offices were rented and occupied it would return six per cent. The alterations would cost between five and six thousand dollars.

Sir Henry Drayton asked if it was true that the matter had never been before the C.N.R. directors previous to its being made public in the House of Commons last June.

"That is correct," said Sir Henry Thornton.

Sir Henry Thornton declined to give the names of the two gentlemen who had given him the information he had regarding the value of the property. Sir Henry also objected to disclosing the name of the New York syndicate that had originally undertaken to finance the purchase. Later the deal had fallen through.

Three-tenths of the earnings of a Belgian convict are given to him at the end of his term of imprisonment.

CARE URGED IN LEPROSY STUDY AT CONVENTION

Ten Cases in New Brunswick and Nine in British Columbia, Says Doctor.

SMOKING DEFENDED

Canadian Medical Convention Heard Prominent Speakers at Ottawa.

OTTAWA, June 20. — (Canadian Press).—The Canadian medical profession were urged by Dr. J. D. Page, of the Federal Department of Health, at the Canadian Medical Convention here yesterday to investigate leprosy more closely so that they could diagnose the disease when a leper, not knowing what he was suffering from, came to the physicians for treatment.

He instanced the case of a girl visiting various doctors for two years before a correct diagnosis was made that she was afflicted with leprosy. At the present time there were ten cases of leprosy in New Brunswick, of which four were active, while there were nine cases in British Columbia, of which seven were active.

Smoking Defended.

The "athletic heart," like the strained heart, were myths, while evidence of tobacco causing a permanent disease of the heart was meagre, declared Dr. John Parkinson, of London, England, eminent authority on heart disease. He said that even excessive smoking did not injure the heart permanently, nor was there evidence to show that heart disease originated from smoking to excess.

The main causes of heart disease were rheumatic fever, known as heart fever, and syphilis.

He urged medical men to try and decide with accuracy whether heart disease existed or not. This was important, because by excluding heart disease, the patients were relieved in their minds and confidence restored. He deplored the tendency to reject men during the war on the slightest evidence of valvular disease, and added that the same process was going on in civil life. It should be a point of honor with the medical profession not to cause needless alarm in giving judgment which had neither discovered good ground for assurance of heart disease, nor omitted to sift the evidence, he said.

COUNTRY MAY LOSE ITS COAL RESERVE

Senator Pope Says Facts Are Being Concealed and Urges an Investigation.

OTTAWA, June 20. — (Canadian Press).—Senator Pope, in the Senate yesterday, spoke on his inquiry in reference to the alienation of coal lands within the national coal reserves in Alberta and also regarding the correspondence between the Government of Canada and that of the United States in so far as the Isenburg lease in this area was concerned. He gave notice of a special committee to inquire into the position of leases in the national coal reserve.

Senator Dandurand said that there were 200,000 acres in this coal area, and but seven leases amounting to 7,500 acres held by private parties. These leases were either in existence before the reserve was created or applications had been made for them. The Government was not in a position to deal with the international phase of the situation, but that he would give all other information asked for except that as regarded the correspondence with the United States authorities. He could not see the necessity of a private special committee.

Senator Pope felt the facts about this coal reserve were being concealed. These leases to private parties had been in arrears and had not been cancelled as had been done with the Isenburg leases. This discrimination had produced serious complications and the country was in danger of losing the whole coal area.

BRITAIN ASKS U.S. TO TAKE OVER EFFECTS

Cummins' Withdrawal From Mexico Necessitates Request for Protection.

MISSION CANCELLED

President Obregon Stopped Proceedings to Expel British Agent.

WASHINGTON, June 20 (Canadian Press). — Action of the State Department in instructing Charge Schoenfeld at Mexico City on Wednesday to take over the archives and effects of the British Legation contemplated only the actual physical custody.

So far as now is known the request for this action did not include the assumption by the United States of the task of watching over the interests of British nationals nor of exercising any other functions.

The British Government continues to retain in Mexico its Consulate-General and Consuls in various parts of the Republic. It is assumed here that the Consul-General in Mexico City will transmit to the Foreign Office whatever communications are necessary between the two countries.

The necessity for passing the custody of the Legation into the hands of the United States or those of some other nationality arose from the fact that Consuls do not enjoy diplomatic immunity as do diplomatic representatives.

Under the arrangement made, the British Legation now is under protection of the United States Embassy, and entitled to all the immunities of the Embassy.

CUMMINS WITHDRAWN.

MEXICO CITY, June 20 (Canadian Press). — Proceedings of the Mexican Government to expel Herbert C. Cummins, British Agent, were ordered stopped yesterday by President Obregon upon his arrival in Mexico City.

This action was taken by the President after he had conferred with Foreign Minister Aaron Saenz, and learned that Great Britain had ordered Cummins' withdrawal, to-day.

ACTION DEFENDED.

LONDON, June 20 (Canadian Press). — In the House of Commons yesterday Premier MacDonald defended the action of Agent Cummins in connection with the safety and well being of a British subject, Mrs. Evans, and read the letters regarding which the Mexican Government had complained.

The Premier declared the behavior of the Mexican Government, however regarded, had been excusable.

This evoked cheers from the House.

Mr. Macdonald indicated that there would be a cancellation of the British mission under Sir Thomas Hohler, which was about to proceed to Mexico to make inquiries with a view to Great Britain's formal recognition of the Mexican Government.

ONION LAKE, Sask., June 20.—(Canadian Press).—While Warren LaRoche, 58, operator of a muskrat ranch, was portaging a boat eight miles north of here on Wednesday a gun was discharged accidentally, fatally wounding him. His wife, a bride of a month from England, was with him and managed to get the boat back in the water to go for help. She knew nothing of boating, however, and the light skiff upset. Managing to make her way to the shore she wandered for miles through the dense bush, finally late on Wednesday night reaching a neighbor's house six miles from her own home.

CENTRAL EXECUTION

Petition From Women of London Asks for Central Place of Execution.

OTTAWA, June 20 (Canadian Press) —A petition asking for the establishment of a central place of execution in Canada was introduced in the House of Commons yesterday afternoon by J. F. White (Conservative, London) on behalf of the Union Mothers' Club of that city.

NO EXCUSE FOR IT

Have you discovered how little it costs to replace many of the parts onthe car that are giving trouble? If you haven't, the chances are that you are still making apologies for the worn and broken things about the car and are still ignorant of the pleasure of having your car ship-shape. For $35 it is possible on majority of cars to buy enough new parts to brighten them up considerably, which is a very small sum compared to what majority of owners lose when they trade in because they have to let the car go to seed. Nothing is more unsatisfactory in a car than door catches that do not work properly. People will go for months with something on this order and never know that for 85 cents or thereabouts and a half hours' time they could put the door in order.

POSTAL WORKERS' STRIKE ABORTIVE AS A RESULT OF SCATTERED ACTION AND REFUSAL TO OBEY UNION ORDER

Hon. Chas. Stewart to Carry Fight All the Way to the Striking Workers.

MAINTAIN SERVICE

Men Taken on to Replace Strikers Will Be Retained.

OTTAWA, June 20 (Canadian Press). — "The mail service of Canada must move. I am going to take, so far as I can, every legitimate means to move it."

So declared Hon. Charles Stewart, acting Postmaster-General, in the House shortly before dinner recess last night, when questioned on the Government plans in the postal strike.

Referring to the hope of settlement, he declared:

"If better judgment does not prevail, then I will fill the place of the strikers, and maintain a complete service."

He further stated that men taken on in this manner will be retained in the service if found satisfactory.

Mr. Stewart reviewed the negotiations of Wednesday closing with a government offer to maintain the present rates for the lower paid men with the addition of a promise to review the whole situaion after the revision of rates had been concluded for the civil service as a whole.

The minister said that the postal workers had gone out on Wednesday night in Toronto and Montreal, but that the Montreal workers had returned. He had issued a notice in Toronto that unless the men returned by ten o'clock yesterday morning the postmaster should obtain substitutes. Four hundred man hed applied and 180 employed in this manner in Toronto.

Up to 5 o'clock last night the federation officers had not persuaded the Toronto employees to return. The representatives of the Hamilton workers on the men's committee had resigned and intimated that he would try to prevent the men going out in Hamilton. They were out at present in Toronto, and London, in Windsor

AFRAID TO TELL BOY IS DROWNED

Saw Companion Drown But Feared He Would Be Whipped—Body Found.

OTTAWA, June 20. — (Canadian Press). — Eight-year-old Holland Foucault was drowned while playing with his companion on the shores of the Ottawa River on Wednesday evening, it became known yesterday.

Following notification of the disappearance of the boy made to the police by his mother, Raphael Morin, aged 9, who was last seen playing with the young lad, was questioned, and finally told how young Foucault had walked out on a plank overhanging the shore, and when nearing the end slipped and fell into the river. He said he was afraid to tell of the drowning because "he would ge a whipping."

The body has been recovered.

EDMONTON ELEVATOR

Vote of $1,000,000 for Erection of New Government Elevator Passed.

OTTAWA, June 20.— (Canadian Press).—A vote of 1,000,000 for the construction of the Government grain elevator at Edmonton was considered in the House of Commons in committee of supply to-day. Hon. Thomas A. Low, Minister of Trade and Commerce, stated that the elevator would have a capacity of 2,000,000 bushels. It was hoped that it would be ready by the time the next crop was moved.

This item was carried just before the house rose for dinner.

Have Striking Posties Violated Their Oath?

OTTAWA, June 20 (Canadian Press). — Have the striking postal workers violated the oath of office which all civil servants are required to swear on appointment?

This question is being asked by a number of people here who are familiar with the oath.

In the oath, the following words appear:

"And I do solemnly and sincerely swear that I will faithfully and honestly fulfill the duties which devolve upon me as * * * and that I will not ask, or receive any sum of money, services recompense or matter or thing whatsoever, directly or indirectly, in return for what I have done or may do in the discharge of any of the duties of my said office, except my salary or what may be allowed me by law or by an order of the Governor-in-Council."

It is held by some that in swearing to fulfill faithfully and honestly the duties which devolve upon him, the civil servant of any class or occupation, relinquishes the right to strike.

DEPLORE ACTION STRIKERS TOOK

Messages From Business Firms Urge Govt. to Take a Firm Stand.

EMPLOY LOYAL MEN

OTTAWA, June 20th.

Messages urging a firm stand in dealing with striking post employees are coming into the government. One from the Canadian Founders and Metal Trades Association states that the members of this organization "deplore the fact that public employees in the civil service should arrogate to themselves the power to strike and throw into confusion the already harrassed business and industrial elements of our nation." The telegram urges that steps should be taken immediately to fill the places of the strikers with "loyal citizens, who will have regard for the moral and public obligations undertaken in entering the public service."

BEACH METAGAMA TO SAVE VESSEL

Captain Forced to Run Ship Ashore After Collision — Flooding Fast.

NEW YORK, June 20.—(Canadian Press).—The following telegram was received from Montreal at 7.20 last night by the Canadian Pacific Railway Company here regarding the accident to the Metagama of that line which was in collision with the Italian steamer Cora Comus:

"The captain of the Metagama reports by wireless that the ship was struck in a fog by the Cora Comus at 8.45 a.m. and her bunkers were flooded. The Metagama, with 700 passengers aboard, is proceeding under her own steam to St. John's Nfld., and expects to arrive to-night and that all is well aboard."

Forced to Beach

With the water entering her hold gaining on the pumps, the captain of the Metagama was forced to beach the vessel on a shoal near the drydock upon her arrival in port, at St. John's, Newfoundland.

Cora Camus Arrived

The Italian steamer which collided with the Metagama seven miles off Cape Race in a dense fog yesterday, arrived at St. John's at six o'clock last night. Her forepeak was crumpled back to the forecastle head indicating the tremendous force of the impact of the collision.

Steamer to Assist

The Metagama of 7,484 tons, was bound from Glasgow for Montreal, while the Clara Camus, registering 4,416 tons was last reported as having arrived at Montreal from London on June 9. The steamer Rosalind bound from New York for St. John's went to their assistance.

And in Meantime the Strike Moves in Fog of Uncertainty as Isolated Branches Go Out.

FAR FROM UNANIMOUS

From all Over Country Come Reports of Dissatisfaction and Resumption of Work.

OTTAWA, June 20 (Canadian Press). — Definite word that the strike of postal employees go into effect throughout the Dominion at 5 p.m., yesterday afternoon, was received at the headquarters of the postal clerks here at noon.

A go-as-you-please attitude was shown in Ottawa as in other sections of the country. Not only separate branches of the union, but individuals in the branches, being left to follow their own inclinations.

The rumored general walkout of railway mail clerks in Toronto and Quebec City has failed to materialize, and all mail trains leaving these cities this morning were manned according to a statement issued by the Post Office Department shortly after noon to-day. Hon. Charles Stewart said that all mail trains throughout the Dominion were manned and there was practically no strike in this part of the system. A communique issued from the Department declared that the strike is petering out, according to telegraphic advices received.

Officials of the Toronto Post Office, under Postmaster Lemon, are making a strong effort to give a mail service to Toronto business houses and public institutions. At present an extended general delivery service is operating, which aims to distribute mail to banks, newspaper offices, municipal buildings, the Parliament Buildings, wholesale houses, brokers, insurance houses, and manufacturing concerns. It is the hope of the Postmaster that, if the strike continues for any considerable length of time, a system will be developed by which business houses and stores will be served through the general delivery wickets. When the sorting of the mail has been got well under way it is planned to send business mail out to the various postal districts of the city for general delivery service.

An ultimatum was issued by Hon. Charles Stewart, acting Postmaster-General, to striking postal workers at the conclusion of the Cabinet meeting to-day.

Postal workers are informed that they have until 6 a.m. standard time Saturday, June 21, to return unconditionally to work, provided positions are available. After that time no striking employees will be employed in the service under any conditions.

Mr. Stewart states that up to the present the Government has permitted strikers to returns to duty unconditionally, although no promise has been given for re-instatement. New employees have been taken on, and sufficient help is now available to man the service.

Neither Hon. James Murdock, Minister of Labor, nor Hon. Charles Stewart, acting Postmaster-General, would make any statement this morning as to what the Government proposes to do with the surplus men taken on in places where old postal employees later return to work.

MONTREAL, June 20—(Canadian Press).—Victor Gaudet, Postmaster of Montreal, was called from Ottawa to-day on the long distance telephone and given permission to reinstate all strikers who might present themselves for employment.

BRANTFORD, June 20.—(Canadian Press).—At 10.20 it was announced that a wire had been received from Ottawa to take back the strikers unconditionally, and the men at once took up their normal duties.

Shortly after that hour, Secretary Kelly announced that the letter carriers would NOT go on strike on account of having no support from the postal clerks. Those due for

When changing a right tire to the left side of the car the former inner side should be to the outside in its new position. This is necessary so that the tire can run in the same direction, a feature which is claimed to prolong its life. As the inner side of the tire will invariably be dirty this should be a simple way to keep the directions in mind. Also a gentle reminder to clean the tire and rim when mounted in their new position.

RAILWAY MAIL CLERKS VOTED FOR A STRIKE

Postal Workers' Strike Had Full Effect From Midnight in Toronto

COMPLETE TIE-UP

Stewart Will Not Consider Further Meetings with Federation

TORONTO, June 20.—(Canadian Press).—At midnight last night the strike of postal workers had taken complete effect in Toronto and despite last minute efforts at conciliation there was no indication of any improvemetnt in the situation.

Shortly after eleven o'clock Toronto district railway mail clerks, with only six dissenting votes at a meeting attended by more than 70 employees decided to abandon work. Clerks leaving Toronto on late trains were ordered from their cars and today the 163 members in the district will be on strike.

Representatives present from London district informed the meeting that their membership was willing to follow the example of Toronto.

Attempts to prevent a complete tie-up were made late last evening by officers of the Federation with T. L. Church M.P., actively intervening. In long distance telephone conversations both Hon. Mr. Stewart, acting postmaster general and Hon. Mr. Murray reaffirmed the stand which the government has taken. These statements were made to Mr. Church and to B. B. Redditt, Secretary of the Federation.

No More Meetings

Hon. Mr. Stewart when possibilities of a further meeting between officers of the Federation and the cabinet was suggested to him by Mr. Redditt, was of the opinion that such a meeting would be without avail. He referred the secretary to a staement made in the house yesterday afternoon.

Misread Telegram

Much excitement arose among the officers of the federation last evening when an announcement was made to the effect that the government had decided to accept proposals made yesterday afternoon by the employees. The statement was reported to have arisen through misreading a telegram sent by G. R. Jackson, Dominion president of federation for one said to be from Hon. Mr. Stewart. T. L. Church M.P., together with officers of the Dominion Executive immediately telephoned to Ottawa seeking confirmation but were bitterly disappointed.

Hamilton Men Return

HAMILTON, June 20.— (Canadian Press). Hamilton's striking postal employees voted to return to work shortly before midnight last night when J. E. Archer, secretary of the Canadian Federation of Postal Employees, informed the workers at a mass meeting held in the Labor Temple that the government had admitted in writing that postal salaries as recommended by the civil service commission were totally inadequate The night staff left the meeting to return to work at the Post Office.

When John A. Webber, was interviewed the Post Office immediately following the decision, Mr. Webber confirmed the mens' announcement that the strike was over.

"The men have accepted unconditionally," said Mr. Webber. It was further announced that all the men who left their jobs were to be reinstated. The strike breakers, who took yesterday's mail will be informed in the morning that their services are no longer required.

That the Government would introduce legislation immediately to reopen the whole salary question, was the announcement made by Mr. Archer to the meeting. The request was made by the postal employees and the men are quite satisfied with the action taken.

SASKATOON, June 20.— W. H. Smith, secretary of the local postal group of amalgamated civil servants association, stated last night that his men had voted against a strike, and were standing to their decision.

REGINA, June 20. — Charles Gardner, general secretary of the amalgamated civil servants last night adhered to the opinion that there would be no postal strike in western Canada. In the meantime the local Regina situation remains undefined as neither local branch of the A.C.S. nor its executive have held a meeting. It is predicted however that a general meeting of the local will be called some time during the next few days to consider the situation.

Representative members of the service are virtually unanimous that the Regina men will remain at their posts.

THE RAILWAYMEN.

OTTAWA, June 20. — Rumors that an order had been issued to the members of the Brotherhood of Railway Employees to refuse to handle government mail, in the course of the strike of the postal employees, were denied by A. R. Moser, the president of the Brotherhood. He stated that he had issued a suggestion to the railway officials that the railway employees should not be asked to act in place of striking postal employees, or in other words to act as strikebreakers.

ORLAND DEFEATED HASTINGS OUTFIT

Closest Game of the Season Took Place With Orland Winning by the Score of 4 to 3.

ORLAND, June 20.—The closest game of the season in this League was played here between Hastings and the home team, the latter winning by the small margin of one.

Herrington pitched a wonderful game, but was up against a formidable array of batters, having only four strikeouts added to his string of scalps. He walked Houlihan once, and hit no batters, which was evidence of his good control.

Scriver caught a good game, but got into a mixup with Downs at the plate, and then held the ball too long, finally making a wild throw to first, letting in two runs in the fifth.

The visitors made a nice double and did it very deliberately, Herrington to Cruickshanks to Steveson.

Ingalls, though a little wild at times, pitched as good a game as his opponent. It was a battle royal between southpaws.

He had six strikeouts to his credit and was debited with three men hit and one man walked.

Samis came into the limelight with a running jump, spearing with one hand a liner off Cruickshank's bat, heading off two runs and retiring the visitors.

Another feature for the home team was the remarkable record of Moran, who made four safe hits in four times to bat, and one was a two-bagger. Downs and Way also made two baggers.

During the fourth inning Hastings disputed the close decision of Umpire Cowan on first. It was hard to say just which was right, but Umpire Cowan had the satisfaction of having Mr. Hayes, of Toronto, who was a stranger to both teams, and who took the task for the balance of the game, saying he would have given the same decision. Umpire Wellman was good, and won the approval of both teams by his fair decisions. This finishes these teams for the series, the honors being divided equal.

The teams:

Orland—Ingalls p, Downs c, Way 1b, Houlihan 2b, Mulhall 3b, Samis and Belford ss, Beatty and Zufelt rf, Moran lf, Dawson cf, Samis and Zufelt subs.

Hastings—Herrington p, Scriver c, Steveson 1b, Cruickshanks 2b, D. LeMoire 3b, Collins ss, Lambert rf, P. LeMoire lf, Keogan cf, Clark sub.

By innings—
Orland .. .. 10102000—4
Hastings .. .. 20001000—3
Umpires — Wellman, Cowan and Hays.

DEMANDS ACTION IN DEVELOPMENT

Motion in Senate Urges Need of Immediate Action in St. Lawrence Plan.

OTTAWA, June 20 (Canadian Press). — Hon. J. D. Reid, former Minister of Railways, moved a resolution in the Senate yesterday asking that immediate action be taken by the Government of Canada in the negotiations with the United States for the development of the St. Lawrence Waterway.

He pointed out that this could not be an entirely Canadian project, as under a treaty with the United States that country had the same right in the use of our canals and the St. Lawrence Waterway as ourselves.

Under these circumstances, he could not see why we should pay the cost of the development of this waterway and the United States have the same right of use. He felt that in the interest of Canada this channel should be immediately completed.

Debate on the motion was adjourned.

POSTAL WORKERS

As regards the postal clerks, it was stated by D. McLarty, secretary of the Ottawa branch of the Postal Clerks' Association, that a meeting was held in the basement of the Post Office.

No vote was taken either way, and the understanding was that it would be left to each individual to decide for himself what his course of action should be.

Fred D. Taylor, secretary of the local branch of the postal porters, announced that the porters had decided they would strike if the other branches did, and if not, they would not.

F. C. Carruthers, secretary of the local branch of the Railway Mail Clerks' Association, announced that the railway mail clerks would NOT strike in the Ottawa district.

STRIKERS REPLACED.

MONTREAL, June 20 (Canadian Press). — The tie-up in the local postal service was complete at five o'clock yesterday afternoon, the walk-out of postal servants being complete.

At four o'clock a crowd of about fifty applicants for positions was gathered outside the office of V. Gaudet, who later yesterday afternoon announced that more than that number had been hired to replace the strikers.

He said he expected to have things running smoothly.

BONAVENTURE DESERTED.

MONTREAL, June 20 (Canadian Press). — The postal handlers at Bonaventure decided at 4 o'clock yesterday to go out on strike in sympathy with their fellow postal employees, leaving the despatch and receipt of mail bags for trains paralysed from 5 p.m. onwards.

The morning staff was reported to have been instructed not to report.

At the Windsor (C) Station everything was reported normal.

TRICKLING BACK TO WORK.

KINGSTON, Ont., June 20 (Canadian Press). — Yesterday afternoon several of the striking postal clerks returned to work, while at three o'clock there were ten letter carriers on the scene ready to work.

It was expected at the post office that the bulk of the employees would be back at work.

The strikers held a meeting in the Labour Hall at two o'clock, but nothing was given out as to the decisions arrived at.

Postmaster Stewart took a load of mail at noon to the outer station and deposited it on the trains going east and west.

BUSINESS AS USUAL.

ST. JOHN, N.B., June 20 (Canadian Press). — "Business as usual" was the rule at St. John Post Office yesterday, and all the clerks and letter carriers were at their posts.

MOOSE JAW AWAITS ADVICE.

MOOSE JAW, Sask., June 20 (Canadian Press). — Postal clerks have received instructions from the headqdarters of their union at Regina to stay on the job pending further advices.

The union in question is the Amalgamated Civil Servants of Canada, and its jurisdiction extends from Sault Ste. Marie to Vancouver.

Railway mail clerks and mail carriers are still performing their duties and awaiting advice from the respective unions.

CALGARY STAYS AT WORK.

CALGARY, Alta., June 20 (Canadian Press).—Local postal workers at a meeting held here yesterday afternoon reached a decision not to participate in the strike called from Toronto.

SASKATOON CALLS CANNY.

SASKATOON, Sask., June 20 (Canadian Press). — Sunday's strike ballot among the postal workers here was 65 to 25 against a walk-out, it was learned yesterday.

Employees in all branches of the service stated disinclinations to follow the lead of the East.

"There are 16,000 former British postal employees in Canada to-day ready to step into our jobs," said one union official.

UTIMATUM ACCEPTED.

ST. CATHARINES, Ont., June 20 (Canadian Press). — After being on strike since early morning, the local mail clerks returned to work late yesterday afternoon after they were lectured by Postmaster Carlisle, and given until four o'clock to return or their jobs would be thrown open to others.

There was no delivery yesterday, but it is expected that the delivery men will return to-day.

VANCOUVER MEN WORKING.

VANCOUVER, B.C., June 20 (Canadian Press), — Postal employees in this city are working as usual. A meeting has been called when the situation will be considered.

LETHBRIDGE FULLY MANNED.

LETHBRIDGE, Alta., June 20 (Canadian Press). — No vote on the wage dispute has yet been taken by the local postal employees, and yesterday all branches of the service were fully manned. Union men say the men are likely to remain at work unless the strike is declared Dominion-wide.

VICTORIA OPERATING.

VICTORIA, B.C., June 20 (Canadian Press). — Every branch of the postal service in this city was operating yesterday as usual, and nothing definite could be learned as to whether or not the men would walk out.

PORT ARTHUR PEEVED.

PORT ARTHUR, Ont., June 20 (Canadian Press). — As a result of general dissatisfaction among postal workers here because of premature walk-outs in the East, the local branch may not go out.

EDMONTON THINKS IT OVER.

EDMONTON, June 20 (Canadian Press). — Postal workers here are continuing their duties, but it is understood an important meeting is called when the strike question will be fully discussed.

REGINA CARRY ON.

REGINA, June 20 (Canadian Press). — There are no developments in connection with the postal workers here. Not a man has gone out on strike, and no statement has been issued by the Western headquarters of the men.

WINNIPEG STILL WORKS.

WINNIPEG, June 20 (Canadian Press). — Officials here of the postal workers' organisations declared yesterday afternoon that there would be no strike of the postal employees in Winnipeg. T. J. Kneeboне, secretary of the Railway Mail Clerks' Association said he had no request from the East to call out his men.

MAIL CLERKS AT WORK.

MONTREAL, June 20 (Canadian Press).—Shortly before seven o'clock last night it was declared at the four railway terminals of the city that all trains had carried their mails as usual, and that the regular crews would take out other trains scheduled to depart last night.

The situation in Montreal is vague, for statements of the officials of the Railway Mail Clerks' Union were definitely that the mail clerks would strike at six o'clock last night.

Efforts to replace the men already on strike in the general offices continue, and Postmaster Gandet announces that he has already engaged 150 men.

CO-OPERATION IS URGED

of marketing wheat by the farmer, he referred to the method pursued by the buyer, who always spoke in a pessimistic manner of prospects, and advised the farmer to take the price offered before quotations went lower. Following this method out with other farmers, the consequence was that the whole wheat produced in a district would be disposed of at a low price, because each farmer was afraid he would not get rid of his wheat before everybody else had disposed of their supply.

Two things must be remembered, Mr. Martin asserted; first—the creation of a demand; second—the elimination of competition in the marketing of farm produce. The farmer of Canada had created a demand for his wheat. In the past year the United States had purchased twenty million bushels of Canadian wheat to mix with their own, in order to compete with Number One Canadian Hard. "The United States must have our wheat to raise their grade, while we stand idly by and allow the world to think that they are growing as good wheat as ours when they are not doing any such thing. But, although we have created the demand, we have not eliminated competition in selling."

Dairy Products.

"The Ontario markets used to fix the price for the world's cheese," said the speaker. "Now New Zealand does it. They came over to Ontario about twenty-six or twenty-seven years ago and took seven of our best cheesemakers from Ontario to New Zealand, and they have built up a trade that has cut out our Ontario cheese. Their cheese is sold through one co-operative selling agency, and sold according to grade. We have always sold our propuct to the man who grades it for us, which means that it is to the buyer's interest, when grading, to grade it down. We farmers have never known, until we sold co-operatively, the real value of a single thing that we produced. The business man, when buying from us, has used our lack of knowledge for his own benefit. I don't blame him. That is only human nature, and it is the way that we farmers deal with one another."

"Now cheese passes through the hands of an independant grader, and we know what kind of cheese we have to sell." Mr. Martin referred to a meeting where cheese sold co-operatively, and graded into four grades, had eighty bids made for the total supply—a thing unheard of on the ordinary cheese board. The fact that there was only one seller and twenty-three buyers eliminated the usual competition by sellers to get rid of their product.

"Competition in selling breaks the market."

Mr. Martin spoke of a request received some years ago from Co-operative people in England, wanting to do business in cheese directly with Canadian Co-operative agencies. Their request had to be refused, because the Co-operative Company could not risk offending the exporters on this side. "If we had real co-operation from the sellers, if we knew that we could have depended on their loyalty in dealing with us. We could have gone ahead dealt directly id this manner; but we didn't, and so that chance slipped away from us."

Mr. Martin quoted the example of a cattle brander in the Woodstock district who wanted $90 for a cow, was offered $80, and got $99 when he sold the animal to the Co-operative Company, proving conclusively to the owner that his long experience in marketing marketing cattle still left him wide of the real value of such an animal by a margin of $9.

Regarding Fruit Markets.

Speaking of fruits, Mr. Martin instanced the sale of British Columbia apples in Ontario at $3.20 a box. These apples, grown in a province whose fruit district land brought $300 an acre, and shipped a distance of three thousand miles, had such an extensive market because ninety per cent. of the fruit-growers of British Columbia had signed up to sell their products through one co-operative company for a period of five years. And yet, in competition with Western apples, Ontario fruit had taken seventeen out of twenty-one prizes; and, las MM twenty-one prizes, and, last year, the the McIntosh Red of Ontario was declared by British judges to be the most delicious dessert apple in th e world.

When Canadian producers started selling wool co-operatively, leading textile journals declared the foolishness of the move, but contrary opinions were expressed by the same journals when it was found that the system was a success. "We created a demand for our wool by grading it, and not trying to sell to the mills wool that they will never use."

An instance of carelessness in handling wool was given in the case of the man who bound his product with binder twine and thought it quite good enough for the purpose. This binder twine, said Mr. Martin, creates a nap which sticks to the wool, and later creates a spotted color when the wool is dyed. "That shows the indifference of many farmers to their own betterment."

Live Stock Selling.

Shipments in co-operative live stock marketing had increased last year over the year before to the extent of fifteen trainloads, or about 595 cars, which was an encouraging factor, said Mr. Martin. An instance of efficient methods in the co-operative company's handling of stock was given in the diverting of about eighteen cars of hogs away from the Toronto market at a time last year when congestion was sending the price down. "By diverting these cars we saved farmers half a cent a pound on all hogs marketed in Ontario during that week."

The Egg Pool.

"The egg pool was started," said the speaker, "so that we might participate in the benefit of having eggs to sell when the price is high." Mr. Martin asserted that the pool had been instrumental this spring in halfing a falling market, when, by relieving a congested market, the price of eggs was raised from 18 cents a dozen to 26 and 28 cents.

It had also, he asserted, been of great benefit in eliminating the bad egg, and improving the quality of the product. When the pool began, seventy or eighty per cent of the eggs were Number Ones. A recent survey of one circle of fifty-one farmers showed a total of 642½ dozen eggs. Of these, 98⅓% were extras and firsts, 10 dozen were Number Twos, and there was one bad egg. "The times have passed when poor eggs will get by. The farmer has to produce good quality eggs, and gets paid for them accordingly."

Woodstock farmers who send over two cases of eggs on trial to England had started a demand for Canadian eggs in that country which was increasing in volume.

In conclusion, reiterating his plea for more interest in co-operative methods of marketing, Mr. Martin said: "We have found out that if we expect to take anything out we must put something in."

Mrs. F. Webster.

The address by Mrs. Webster was along on inspirational lines. Beginning and concluding with quotations of optimistic poetry, Mrs. Webster emphasized the need of constructive work and lack of destructive criticism, which had been a fault of the farmers' movement, she declared.

The need of more interest in and reading up of current events was also stressed; also the necessity for the right sort of leaders. The home should be open to the boys and girls, instead of allowing them to seek their entertainment elsewhere. "We have boys and girls in the towns that are as good as the boys and girls of the country, but, as a class, they are not as good."

Speaking of the coming plebescite on the O.T.A., Mrs. Webster pleaded with her audience to adhere firmly to the principles of the U.F.O. party, one of the planks of whose platform had been the prohibition of the manufacture, import and sale of intoxicating liquor. "The fight will be in the rural districts," said the lady, referring to the futility of the attitude of "letting George do it," and speaking of the influence exercised by each individual, "the influence which begins with our birth, goes with us through life, clings to us in death and reaches into eternity."

Rev. Mr. McConnachie.

Rev. A. H. McConnachie, speaking briefly, thanked both visitors for their serious and thoughtful addresses, and expressed his enthusiastic belief in the principles of the co-operative system of marketing farm produce. He said that, while farmers represented the largest body of industrial workers, they were the most poorly organized of workers. "Your are working in isolation on the farms, and your desperate need is for co-operation. The lack of it results in your being flayed by every Tom, Dick and Harry that comes along."

Mr. McConnachie expressed regret that farmers five years ago, instead of entering politics, had not specialized in co-operative selling, leaving their entrance into the political arena until such time as they were commercially powerful enough to make a successful bid for political honors.

He also announced the holding of U.F.O. Sunday on Sunday next, when the junior band of the Salvation Army will be in attendance.

Three interesting games, one of softball, and two games by men's teams, were played, particulars of which appear on the sport page of this issue.

CANADA GETTING HER STRIDE.

The Examiner said the other day that Canadians should be broadcasting messages of optimism, and every day supplies new evidence in support of such a statement.

Official figures from Ottawa show that Canada piled up a favourable trade balance in May of nearly $32,000,000.

The reinforcements from the granaries of the West turned the tide for the increase of over $30,000,000 in the exports last month is explained by the fact that there has been an outward movement of the remainder of last year's prairie grain crop.

The trade figures are encouraging.

The exports for May totalled $104,150,715, while the same month last year showed only $74,814,544. At the same time the imports showed a decrease of $12,000,000.

During the twelve months ending May 31 of this year Canada's exports reached a grand total of $1,009,715,880, as compared with $958,844,577 in the preceding twelve months.

The Land of the Maple is getting its stride.

Sir John Aird's period of "unprecedented prosperity" may be even nearer than most people think.

WHEN THE PUBLIC IS HIT.

Whatever may be the general opinion as to the reasonableness or otherwise of the postal workers' demands, there is undoubtedly a very strong feeling that the public should not be called upon to suffer inconvenience and loss because of the failure of the Civil Service Commission to satisfy the workers.

In all public utility positions, the Examiner believes, there should be included in the contract of employment a clause calling for the submission of disputes over wages and working conditions to arbitration.

All employees in public utility departments, whether Federal, Provincial or municipal, should, as a condition of their employment, promise to refuse to strike and to abide by the decision of an independent arbitration board when disagreements may arise.

The workers should have a right to air their grievances, they should be properly paid and have proper working conditions, they should have the right to appeal to arbitration, but when they go further than that and demoralize the business of and inconvenience the population of the whole country they are going further than is fair to the people generally.

The Examiner has more than once declared in favour of a non-strike clause in all contracts of employment for public utility workers, and the walk-out of the postal employees only strengthens the conviction that the public whose servants are such employees should be protected by such a condition.

SAFETY FIRST.

Mr. W. D. Robb, Vice-President of the Canadian National Railways, was one of the speakers at the Belleville U. E. L. celebration this week, and in the course of his address gave a very solemn warning to automobile drivers who try to race across a railway crossing in front of a train.

"I doubt," said the C. N. R. Vice-President, "if there is a motorist living able to estimate accurately the speed of a train when he is approaching a crossing at an angle. If he should succeed in this respect he will probably overlook the speed of his own automobile. The moment at which the crossing is reached is the sum of two speeds, that of the automobile and that of the train, and it is the failure to complete this mathematical problem which brings the inevitable tragedy at the railway crossing."

That is sound advice from an expert and should be heeded.

It is a risky game trying to judge this speed of two fast moving objects, when a failure to judge correctly means the death of the man who is making the attempt.

The minute or so the motorist has to wait for a train to pass means nothing so far as time goes, but everything when it is considered that it often stands for the difference between life and death.

Mr. Robb did well to take advantage of the Belleville celebration to place before a large crowd of people this important little lesson in safety first principles.

That it is needed the record of level crossing fatalities supplies only too convincing evidence.

THE SOUTH AFRICAN ELECTIONS.

The majority of Canadians have heard with regret the news that General Smuts' campaign in South Africa has been unsuccessful, and that his party will be unable to carry on the duties of government.

General Smuts has laboured so faithfully for a better understanding between Briton and Boer, and for a closer union of South Africa with the Empire that the realization that he has been rejected by the electors comes as a distinct shock.

The verdict, however, has not the significance that it might have had several years ago.

The triumph of the Nationalists does not interfere with the relations between South Africa and the Empire, and may be accepted largely as due to economic grounds.

It was necessary for the Nationalist leaders to scrap their republican plans in order to hold the allegiance of the Labour Party, the majority of whom are British and staunch in their loyalty to the Empire.

The campaign, therefore, did not hinge upon the possible severance of South Africa from the commonwealth of British nations, and while naturally the republican feeling will be bolstered up by the defeat of Smuts, there is, according to political observers closely in touch with the conditions, no reason to worry about South Africa's future as a member of the Empire.

Nevertheless Canadians will regret the defeat of General Smuts, and will hope that ere long he'll be back in the saddle again.

Belleville has succeeded in proving that a celebration can be made a success even in these modern days.

WHY THE FARMERS ORGANIZE.

The appearance of Hon. E. C. Drury at Pond Mills a few days ago, and his reference to various farm organizations, has given some of the newspapers in the Province a chance to have another fling at the Farmer Government in Ontario.

The U. F. O. Government in Ontario was not a perfect governing body. Unfortunately, we have not reached that stage in any department of endeavor. It was exclusive in its membership, and was open to criticism on that score. Some of its Ministers left records that will have to be justified before the courts. The charge is levelled at them that once in office they forgot the people who sent them there, and became obsessed with the idea of looking after their own interests. The future will tell to what extent those charges have been substantiated.

But the farmers' entrance into the field of practical politics was something more than that. It was the move on the part of the farmers themselves to focus attention on their situation as a class. That is why it was easy for them, to use a phrase much in evidence at the time, to feel the sense of class consciousness. They had the same problem. The farmers in Middlesex or Lambton had to meet the same baffling conditions as farmers in central or eastern Ontario, some hundreds of miles away.

That is why the farmer movement deserved more consideration at the hands of the public and through the columns of the press than an ordinary political upheaval. It was purely an effort to right very apparent wrongs, and it did not aim at inflicting a hardship on any other class in the community.

The fact that the conditions which called the U. F. O. into existence have not been set right can mean only one thing, and that is that the agitation will have to continue. The farmers have tried co-operative action, and they have proved the bona fides of their intention by sinking their own money in many of these schemes. Unfortunately, there has been a confusion of effort through the attempt in many cases to sell to the farmers rather than centralizing in an attempt to create an agency to dispose of farm produce to advantage.

It is easy enough to sit back and criticize, and Hon. E. C. Drury has had his full share of criticism. He made his contribution to the effort to right the wrongs that have seized the farmers of Ontario; he had no ulterior motive in so doing. He was called in to head up a Government that came into power on a few days' notice, and he had to work with the material at hand.

It is no reflection upon the ex-Premier or the U. F. O. movement that it failed to do for the farmers of Ontario what its sponsors had hoped for. There were wrong conditions to be remedied, and many of these conditions remain as unfavorable as they were; in fact, some of them are even more aggravated. There is still plenty of reason for the existence in even a more efficient and determined form of the farmers' organization.—London Advertiser.

BANDITRY AS AN ORGANIZED BUSINESS

The robbery of a Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul mail and express train by four carloads of armed bandits, and the taking of mail valued at two millions of dollars, shows how close rascality has come to being a highly organized and very renumerative piece of business.

The idea of recognizing robbery as an organized business is not pleasing, but for the moment it commands that standing by reason of the detail that was perfected for the robbery of one of the richest trains on the American continent.

Four loads of armed men in fast motor cars waited at a spot where the train was to cross a country road. Armed men had taken possession of the engine crew shorty after leaving Chicago, and the train stopped exactly where the robbers wanted it stopped.

Messengers and clerks in cars containing the desired bags extinguished the light, and refused to open the barred doors. The bandits had anticipated all this, and they did not even blow the doors open or knock them in. Gas bombs were thrown, through the windows, and the men on the inside were forced to escape or die.

Every known appliance that science has invented has been seized upon by the man who wants to break the law.

The officer of the law has no more chance in using destructive or protective methods or machinery than the bandits.

If the forces of the law buy a gun the robber can buy a gun; if the custodians of wealth, as represented in this case by the mail clerks on the train shut and lock the door on him the robber can hurl his gas bombs and make it necessary to open the door and probably the windows. As long as he has money the robber can be just as well equipped as the officer of the law. The only difference is that the police have access to a larger fund.

The law makes it very easy for those who want to fight it to arm themselves for the fray. It legalizes the sale of weapons. It maintains a great postal service that is used to distribute them.

It is possible for a bandit to use all these agencies, sanctioned by the law and maintained by the people, to arm himself to defy and possibly defeat the purpose of the law.

Banditry of a size practiced in the latest Chicago case brings the business into a new field. It is no longer a case of a man sneaking up a back alley, but the deliberate equipping of twenty or more men with all the machinery and deviltry they can command.

It is a humiliating thing that it is possible to so thoroughly tie up in a knot a whole train, with 70 clerks, all armed, rob it and put its treasures through a sieve, and ride off into the night. There is something lacking. If it has developed into a battle of wits, armament being equal, then the robbers have better brains than the forces of law and order.

Each few days sees lawlessness becoming a little bolder, a little more daring. Each success provides a reason for the next attempt. Law in United States is having the clenched fist of banditry shoved right close against its chin, and it has got to strike back faster than it has ever done before.—London Advertiser.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

Premier King went to Yale University to get his letters—but the people at home have to wait for theirs.

A lot of people will find a silver lining in the postal strike cloud by reason of the fact that bills are not coming in as fast as usual.

A Kingston woman celebrated her 100th birthday the other day. A century is a long time to live—especially in Kingston.

This Continent, says the Globe, will have to choose between civilization and the carrying of concealed weapons. It becomes evident that we cannot have both.

A THOUGHT

FRIENDS.

My friends are the birds and the singing grass;
The droning bees and the winds that pass;
The lisping leaves and the trembling trees
Lifting their arms to God's mysteries;
The dandelion whose gleaming gold
Is sunshine scattered upon the wold;
Lilacs, sweet at the fall of dew;
Mignonette and the wild rose, too;
Drifting clouds and the sun and moon;
The wan stars singing an age-old tune;
The winding path and the shadowy place;
The cool rain falling upon my face;
But folks are far too wise to see,
They think I am lonely—and pity me!
—Edgar Daniel Kramer.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, June 20. — (Canadian Press). — Heavy selling yesterday, due more or less to good rains in the northwest, caused wheat prices to drop about four cents after an early advance in which September delivery touched a new high price record for the season. Wheat closing prices were unsettled, 1 1-8c to 1 7-8c net lower, July $1.14 3-4 to $1.14 7-8 and September $1.15 7-8 to $1.16 with corn 3-4c to 1 1-8c off; oats varying from 1-2c to 5-8c decline, to a shade advance, and provisions two to 35c down.

It was only for a brief time at the start that the wheat market showed a decided upward trend. The temporary strength was ascribed largely to reports of hot winds in Kansas said to be the worst of the year. Higher quotations at Liverpool and Buenos Aires counted also in favor of the bulls. The rise, however, induced traders to take profits freely and on the ensuing reaction houses with eastern connections became aggressive sellers. Meanwhile, the fact was emphasized that moisture conditions in the domestic Spring wheat belt were favorable and the crop reports from the Canadian northwest suggested an outlook about equal perhaps to last year.

Late reports that the hot wave in the southwest was breaking acted as a curb to subsequent rallies in the wheat market and so too, did gossip that purchases yesterday for shipment to Europe included no United States wheat. Besides, the technical position of the market appeared to have been a good deal weakened by the recent advance of 13 1-2 and 14 1-2c from the low point of a week ago. Monday.

Summer temperatures in the corn belt and assertions that corn had been put up to an unprofitable feeding basis, had a bearish effect on corn and oats.

Provisions declined with grain and hogs. Packers sold lard.

Storekeepers Want to Close at Six O'clock on Four Days a Week.

LAKEFIELD, June 19.—The regular monthly meeting of the Village Council was held in the Council Chambers on Monday evening of last week. The members present were—Reeve Strickland (in the chair), Councillors Madill, Leonard, Moore and Tanner.

A petition was presented, signed by the majority of the merchants of the village, asking that shops be closed at 6 p.m. every day except Wednesday and Saturday, and days before holidays. It was pointed out that a by-law to that effect had been passed in 1918 and was still in force. The committee on by-laws is considering the matter of revision, and is to report at a special meeting of the Council to be held on June 23.

The Financial Committee presented their report and recommended the payment of the following accounts:—Lakefield News, printing, $132.95; Bell Telephone Co., $5.77; Sawyer-Massey Co., repairs, $4.83; W. J. Charlton, oats, etc., $11.50; U. A. Moore, plank, $22.03; Miss Sanderson, lay, $13.80; Pay roll, $276.90; Dr. Moore, services, $3.50; Dr. Smith, services, $11.50; A. G. Lowless, $9; L.H.E.P.C., street lighting, $308.34; Hall lighting, $25.99; Stable light, $2—total, $828.11.

The report was, on motion, received and adopted.

F. J. Lillecrop addressed the Council with reference to building a bathing house for the accommodation of the young people of the village. He also stressed the importance of advertising the village to attract the tourist trade. The Council then adjourned till June 23rd.

The annual union excursion of the Baptist, Methodist and Presbyterian Sunday Schools was held on Saturday last per steamer "Stoney Lake." The objective of the trip was Crowes' Landing, where dinner was served and games and races took place. Leaving there, the party enjoyed a sail round the lake returning to the village about 6 o'clock. There was a good crowd, and ideal weather prevailed and contributed a great deal to the enjoyment of the trip. Financially the returns were satisfactory.

Tree Struck.

During the thunderstorm last Wednesday, the high wind and uncommonly heavy rain dislodged a large limb off a giant in the grounds of the old Church of England, and a section of the tree, quite as large as an ordinary tree, was blown down. Luckily the tree fell inside the fence and no damage was done to life or property. Investigating the cause, one could see that the tree, which is of great age, is rotten at the heart, and the forces of nature merely hastened its fall.

A number of ladies, representing the W.M.S. of the Presbyterian Church, attended the annual meeting held last week in Norwood. Mrs. J. H. Chant, of the local society, was elected social service secretary for the Presbytery of Peterboro.

Among the local delegates were:—Mesdames E. W. Bailey, J. A. Porter, J. H. Chant, Charles Lake, Bruce Garbutt, Charles Thomson, Tucker, H. J. Sutton, and Misses Edna Blewett, Morrison and Stewart.

On Sunday morning, Rev. P. L. Jull gave an interesting account of the meeting of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church, held in Owen Sound, which closed its deliberations last week, to his congregation in the Presbyterian Church. This year's assembly, which may possibly be the last if the vote on church union indicates the trend of events, was especially interesting, and Mr. Jull's concise account of it was greatly appreciated. Mr. Jull clearly defined the position of those who entered the Union and also of those who preferred to remain outside.

Getting Ready.

The baseball team will play George Street to-night, and have been hard at practice all week to get in trim for a good game. Thus far the locals have had fair success, as they won from Curve Lake and Mackeys, but went down before last year's champions—the Coguawagas. Their game with their old rivals (Keene) is being looked forward to, as, for several years, a friendly rivalry has existed between these two oldest teams in the East Peterborough League.

The girls' softball team is shaping up well, and several snappy games with outside teams are in prospect. Last Friday a game between the Warsaw girls and the locals drew a good crowd, and the play was hotly contested. The return game will be played in Warsaw on Friday of this week. Probably the annual game with the Keene girls will take place during this month.

The Thursday half-holidays have been rather half heartedly observed in the village, as last week a tour of Queen Street revealed nearly as many open stores as closed stores. The number of people on the street was very few, as the proclamation had gone forth that Thursday was the half-holiday.

The steel work on the Canada Cement Company's local plant is proceeding at a steady rate of speed and has already altered the appearance of the buildings considerably. A gang of specially skilled men have this job in hand and the work is going on well.

The S.S. and Parish excursion of St. John's Church is planned for Monday, June 30, and will be held to Stoney Lake. A committee has the matter in charge and a good time is promised.

Mrs. H. E. Moore was in Whitby last week attending the jubilee celebrations of Whitby Ladies' College.

Miss Olive Dunford left on Tuesday for Viamede, Stoney Lake, where she will spend the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Northey were at Balmy Beach last week enjoying a brief holiday.

W. L. Ianson, of "Viamede," was in the village on Monday on business.

Mr. J. C. Strickland opened "The Victoria" at McCracken's Landing, for the season, last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Hunter and Miss Marjorie Laing, left last week for a two weeks' outing at Sandy Point, Clear Lake.

Mrs. Wakeley, of Agincourt, is visiting Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Tanner in the village.

Mr. and Mrs. R. J. McWilliams motored to the village on Sunday, and attended the decoration day celebrations of the I.O.O.F.

Russell Brooks, of Youngs point, was in the village on Sunday visiting friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Watson left last week for McCracken's Landing where they will remain for the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. John Blewett left last week for their summer home at Burleigh Falls.

Mr. W. A. Elder, of French River, who has been renewing acquaintances in the village after an absence of forty-one years, has returned home.

Mrs. W. J. Northey, who has been in Nicholl's Hospital for the past three weeks, has returned home. She has made satisfactory progress after her recent serious operation.

R. C. Strickland, who spent the past six months in the village, has gone to Mount Julian, Stoney Lake, where he will spend the summer.

Rev. C. Adams, chaplain of the Navy League of Canada, was in the village last week for a few days.

Mrs. R. S. Robertson, of Little Britain, is the guest of Dr. and Mrs. N. E. Moore.

Miss Jean Erskine, of the Peterboro Normal School, spent the week-end in the village.

Clark Dixon, of Odessa, was in the village last week visiting numerous old friends.

Miss Mildred Bailey was successful in passing her second year Arts examinations at Toronto University.

Mrs. J. H. Sherin was in Whitby last week attending the anniversary celebrations at Whitby Ladies' College. She also visited friends in Toronto.

Rev. P. L. Jull returned last week from Owne Sound where he was a delegate to the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church of Canada.

MAKING AMENDS.

In the course of a stroll I recently saw a gentleman sitting on a city park bench, a beautiful collie crouched at his feet, a Boston man writes. I spoke to him, saying: "There is something wrong with a man who does not care for a dog." He laughingly replied: "Whatever that something may be, it is not what is the matter with me, or with you, I'd judge, sir." This was the opening to a rather long dog conversation between us, in the course of which he told me a story, which is worth passing on.

He said that many years ago his home, with his parents and brothers and sisters, was in a rambling old house in the outskirts of Cincinnati. The house was surrounded by a deep veranda, overlooking rather neglected grounds. The rooms opened from one to another, bungalow style. There was no upper story. Towards noon the family, excepting the mother, were on the veranda, apart from the rest of the family, smoking.

The mother came through the front door, disturbed saying that Towser—a non-descript house dog—had taken the beef tongue, which was to be cooked, from a table on which it had been left. Just then the gentleman saw Towser sneaking around a corner. The dog came up the veranda steps, looking guiltily. He, no doubt, had heard the accusation. From his demeanor it was so evidently just that he was punished.

The punishment ended, Towser passed to the lawn, skirted the house, went to an edge of a side yard, where there was a patch of raspberry vines, growing in rich loam, began pawing, unearthed something, and brought it, and deposited it in the lap of one of the sisters. It was the tongue which had confessed and made amends.

CHIEF OBJECTS KLAN REGALIA BEFORE JUDGE

Boy Tells of Shooting Episode in Klan Riot Case Now Before Courts.

MANY WITNESSES

The Kluxer Robe Examined by the Presiding Judge—Regalia Admitted.

EBENSBURG, Pa., June 20.—Five men and a woman sat silently together in the County Courthouse last Wednesday and listened to the testimony of the thirty-sev witnesses called by the State in the Klan riot case.

As witness after witness presented evidence involving Klansmen in the fatal outrage at Lilly, April 5, the members of this group recorded the testimony in notebooks. To most of the 800 persons in the courtroom these six were known, but it was not until two of them were called to the stand that the others learned they were the six ruling powers of the Invisible Empire in Pennsylvania.

The Klan officers, W. B. Souser, self-termed "presiding officer of the Klan in Johnstown," and Ambrose Berkebile, Johnstown, identified by Klan counsel as the "big man in the Klan," proved reluctant and reticent witnesses.

While Souser was on the stand, District Attorney Weimer wrung from him a few remarkable statements about the financial intricacies of the hooded organization. Then, with dramatic suddenness, Weimer walked up to the witness. From a small bag he drew a white gown and a stiffly starched white hood.

"Are these the regalia of the Klan?" he asked.

"Yes," stammered Souser.

Regalia Admitted as Evidence.

Souser turned pale, stammered something inaudible, then looked appealingly toward the Klan counsel table. Percy Allen Rose, chief Klan counsel, sprang to his feet and presented objections.

Judge Finletter, of Philadelphia, smiled, upheld Rose's objection, then asked for the robe and hood.

"I have never seen this before," he said. "Let me examine it."

The robe had a blue and red insignia on the front, while a single red tassel was the only decoration of the hood. The regalia was admitted as evidence, but Souser, much to his gratification, was not required to 'try them on.'

Souser then was requested to look at the forty-four defendants, twenty-eight of them Klansmen.

"Point out those that you know," Weimer said.

Souser named four or five, then declared he knew no one of the remaining.

"Is there anything in the obligations you take as a Klansman," Weimer asked, "that does not permit you to identify a Klansman?"

Hesitating before replying, Souser was rebuked sharply by Judge Finletter, who ordered him to answer.

"I don't just recall. The obligation is so long, and I didn't memorize it," the Klansman said.

The next question, put in a sarcastic voice by the Attorney, was: "Do you know if there is anything in that Klan obligation which makes it desirable fo one Klansman to have a forgetful memory when testifying against a fellow Kluxer?"

"No," Souser answered.

Question of Finance.

"Is there any reason why you can't tell the Court which of the defendants are Klansmen?"

"It is the financial standing of the members that I don't know."

"What do you mean?"

"Well, if a Klansman doesn't pay his dues, then he is suspended and he isn't a klansman any more."

Berkebile's testimony was even less informative. According to the District Attorney, Berkebile had "dodged" a court subpœna for more than a week, and it was only that morning that he had been caught unawares.

Berkebile had never been mentioned in connection with the case, and his appearance on the stand proved a surprise. His answers were evasive, and the District Attorney showed his displeasure by turning him over to the defence for cross-examination. The defence asked no questions and he returned to his seat.

The Commonwealth, having questioned thirty-seven witnesses last Wednesday, and thirty-one on the first two days of the trial, has built up an apparently convincing case on the charges of riot, affray and unlawful assemblage against the accused. Mr. Weimer said that the Commonwealth would complete its case early the following day.

"We have proved that there was a riot," he said. "We have proved that members of the Klan and Lilly residents participated in that riot. We have proved by personal identification of the numerous witnesses that virtually every defendant was seen in the vicinity of the riot on April 5. To-morrow we shall rest our case, confident of success."

Attorney Rose, of the defence, when informed of the plans of the Commonwealth, said it was probable the defence would not summon any witnesses, but would depend on "the weakness of the prosecution," as its best defence.

A twelve-year-old Lilly boy, who was shot twice in the Klan riot on April 5, provided the most damaging testimony against the Klan defendants.

The boy, Francis Appaluccu, described the shooting of Frank Miasco, one of the three killed in the riot.

His testimony contradicted that of prior witnesses. Miasco, he testified, had turned the water hose as the Klansmen returned to the railroad station after their demonstration on the hill.

"A big Klansman, all in white," he testified, "then rushed out and knocked Frank down. Then this big Klansman shot Frank, then he started to shoot into the crowd."

Percy Allen Rose, chief Klan counsel, surprised by the sudden shift in the testimony, cross-examined the boy at length without being able to break down his story.

Appaluccu, who was in the midst of the fighting, was shot in the side and leg, he testified.

Rose, in a second cross-examination, asked: "Were you not with Miasco and helping him hold the nozzle?"

"No, sir, I was not," the boy replied.

"That's all," Rose thundered. The boy glared angrily at the defence counsel and started to leave the stand, but was recalled by Judge Finletter for further questioning by the Court.

Boy's Testimony Confirmed.

Charles Henley, an aged Lilly shopkeeper who followed Appaluccu on the stand, confirmed in large part the boy's testimony.

"I saw a big Klansman break from the robed ranks," he said. "Then I saw a stream of water played on the Klan ranks. Then this big Klansman jumped at the man holding the hose nozzle. Then I went into my store."

Henley explained that his store is opposite the railroad depot. His home was riddled with bullets, he testified, and at least four men who were in his store and on his porch were injured.

District-Attorney Weimer, by skilful questioning, brought out that the bullets must have come from the Klan ranks, because of the location of his house.

Joseph Ritch, of Lilly, was next called. In broken English, Ritch, who lives near the Lilly depot, said all he knew was that the shooting started and he was shot in the leg, while he was on the porch.

John McCool, who lives near Piefers Hill, where the Klan burned the cross, testified that after the Klansmen had burned the cross several explosions were heard.

"My house is about 700 feet from the hill, but the force of the explosion was so strong that it broke three windows," he said.

Charles Dougherty, of Lilly, shot in the fray, was next called to the stand. He was shot in the side, he testified, as he ran into the Healey store during the fray.

While the struggle for the nozzle was going on, he said, some one in the Klan ranks shouted: "Ready, aim, fire."

Two shots were fired into the air, he testified, and then a steady stream of fire came from the railroad coaches.

To the Hills of Smiling Spain

SUNNY SPAIN from time immemorial has furnished the world with certain tit-bits in the way of natural products and pastimes.

The Spanish dance, full of fire and dash and lurking passion—red and black always running through the picture — the toreador, the lady of the mantilla — these are the more spectacular conceptions.

Men and women with well-fed donkeys gathering olives and almonds and peanuts and tinkling along mountain roads to the market place however are more typical of the real Spain.

Moir's men have gone into Spain, to the Southern slopes where the almonds are at their best, and contracted for the choicest nuts with ancient dons in their haciendas, and for the most toothsome peanuts from the growers — kernels that roast with a flavor no others seem to have.

Thus does Spain contribute of her best to the excellence of Moir's Chocolates.

You taste of the golden fruits of many lands in a single box of Moir's.

Spain

The Celt, the Andalusian, the Roman and the Vandal all have played a part in the history of Spain. Culture and barbarism have been commingled in the history of this nation; Despite the onslaughts of many conquerors down to Napoleon, the race, because of an intense patriotism, has never been held under the heel of foreign domination.

Party of British Financiers is Near Grain and Shipping Trade.

VANCOUVER, B.C., June 20.—(Canadian Press).—That the British group of financiers reported in a Canadian Press despatch from London as having commenced preliminary negotiations for the acquisition of the Pacific Great Eastern Railway from the British Columbia government, are financial interests closely in touch with the grain and shipping trade, was stated here by Captain MacKenzie, a government candidate in Vancouver. The announcement from London, he said, was the culmination of two and a half years of negotiations, and was the real object of Hon. T. D. Pattullo's trips to London during that period.

FARMER PARTY IN CONVENTION

New Party Reached Nominations in St. Paul—Duncan McDonald Named.

ST. PAUL, Minn., June 20. — (Canadian Press). The new Farmer-Labor party reached the nomination stage late yesterday. Alexander Howatt placed the name of Duncan McDonald, of the United Mine Workers of Illinois, before the convention.

P. Peterson, a Minnesota dirt farmer, offered Lafollette as a candidate. He withdrew it when William Mahoney, of St. Paul, repeated the word that reached the convention on Wednesday night that Senator Lafollette would publicly repudiate an endorsement by the new party.

The nominations were closed, and without waiting for a vote of any kind, Charles E. Taylor, chairman, declared McDonald the unanimous choice of the convention. The farmers kept their seats through the demonstration.

William Bouch, of Sedro Woolley, Washington, a fruit grower, was nominated for vice-president by acclamation, the Minnesota farmers joining in the demonstration.

Some Walked Out.

W. J. Taylor, of Nebraska, and about twenty farmer delegates, walked out of the convention late last night. They left unobtrusively. Six delegates from that State remained. Taylor said five of them were Communists.

GERMANY SEES A BETTER DAY

At Present Germany is Rapidly Recovering From Her Fall and Winter Starvation.

BERLIN, June 19.—Germany is rapidly recovering from her fall and winter "starvation."

Unemployment is now considerably less than in England, and is rapidly getting down to a pre-war standard. In Berlin it is now no greater than before the war.

Stability of the rentenmark has made it possible for the cities to get sufficient foods from he country and from abroad. Last fall and winter, the cry of starvation was in part due to poor distribution, partly to the fact that the junkers would not accept the sliding paper mark, and partly to the fact that the industrial situation threw many out of work.

There was a cerain pinch for a few months, but Germany's wealthy did not cart for their own as they could have. That is admitted, even by professional child feeders.

No that nearly everybody is again at work, the starvation cry is diminishing. It has also grown dimmer since the Dawes report showed Germany is intrinsically sound, and can again come to the front if given a brief breathing space and a temporary financial lift.

Child feeding continues in the schools, as there are admittedly many kiddies suffering from a chronic undernourishment. Whether this admirable work can be continued during the vacation period is in question.

But there is no longer the extreme anxiety that was felt last fall. The German is pront to exaggerate his woes, especially since the war, and he saw the winter through extremely dark spectacles.

However, the rentenmark has completely changed the national viewpoint. The housewife can now buy and she can also save.

Moreover, the prospect of a real reparations settlement, even if it brings with it severe burdens, is proving a relief. Most Germans are now saying, "We will again have a chance to work and to save; the Dawes plan will make it possible for use to get out of the mire and to become again self-supporting and self-respecting."

Belleville, and Brantford, and partially in Montreal. In the west, at Calgary, Edmonton, Saskatoon, and most of the large centres, there was no indication of a strike and he was given to understand that opinion was not unanimous among the workers. He had received no word from Vancouver or Victoria, where the intimation that the strike had been postponed had been received relatively much earlier than in the east. In Montreal the mail was being moved and everything was going except at one postal station.

In the maritime provinces, except at Moncton, there was no intimation that the postal workers intended to go on strike.

Must Carry On

The Minister said that his personal sympathies were strongly with the labor but he felt that it was the government of Canada which must carry on business. (This statement was received with general applause in the chamber.)

He said that he had told the men's committee that while he sympathized with them until they declared a strike after that he had exercised all the ingenuity he possessed to carry on the postal service. As to whether the men who had gone out would be given their jobs back, he said that "while the light holds out to burn, the vilest sinner may return," but that this could not be continued indefinitely The mail service must be kept moving and he was going to take every legal means to move it.

R. C. Hocken (Conservative, West Toronto), in reply to whom Mr. Stewart had made his statement, asked further whether the men taken on in Toronto had been guaranteed their positions.

Mr. Stewart replied that a notice had been posted in the Toronto Post office that those who had left their work would be considered out of the service .The new men had, of course, been taken on temporarily, as was required under the civil service act, but they would have to be protected.

Deplores Hasty Action.

"The public will deplore the action of the postal employees at Toronto and a few other points in going out on strike at the very time their representatives in conference with the committee of the Cabinet here had instructed them to defer action for 24 hours until an important concession made by the government could be considered."

This was the statement made last night by Hon. Charles Stewart, acting postmaster-general, in further reviewing the present situation.

"The government," he said, "had no official notification from the postal employees federation that the schedule of salaries named by the civil service commission was not satisfactory. Press despatches howe-ver indicated that it was not, and that an order to strike at five o'clock on Wednesday would be given. Immediately on learning of this the Minister of Labor, by telephone, asked the employees executive, to come to Ottawa for further negotiations. They conferred with a committee of the cabinet and the government agreed that the bonus, the elimination of which the postal workers objected to, would be continued in every case where the salary recommended by the civil service commission was less than the salary and bonus previously received This was to continue until the civil servants' salaries were adjusted, at which time the government agreed to meet the postal employees and to discuss the whole situation fully.

Offer Considered Fair.

"If it developed that in their opinion inadequate salaries or other matters needed adjustment, the government was prepared to recommend to parliament that adjustments be made.

"That I consider a very fair offer," added emphatically the acting postmaster-general, "and I am very sorry that the hasty action of some of the postal employees disregarded the advice of their executive to withhold action for 24 hours until this could be considered.

"In case there has been some misunderstanding between the employees and their executive as to calling off the order to strike, the government has fixed a limited time within which the men may return to work. The door is still open. In the meantime, it becomes my duty to take immediate steps to ensure the forwarding of the mails. This I propose to do as efficiently and as rapidly as possible. Undoubtedly there will be inconvenience to business interests and to public, but we trust there will be no real distress. I still have hope that the postal employees will ,upon mature consideration, decide that their best interests will be served by returning to work, and be willing to adjust matters by negotiation rather than by hasty action in striking and attempting to tie up this most important service to the people of Canada. If better judgment does not prevail then I will fill the place of the strikers and maintain a complete service. I do not anticipate that there will be any difficulty in doing this. Already we have hundreds of applicants for positions vacated by the strikers."

Strikers Already Discharged

OTTAWA, June 20. — (Canadian Press).—Following a meeting of cabinet council yesterday, it was announced that arrangements had been reached betwen the post office department and the civil service commission whereby men taken on to replace strikers will be retained in the service, if found satisfactory.

Hon. Charles Stewart, acting post master general, states that Postmasters, acting under instructions, have already begun to take on men.

"Does the order issued last night under which postal employees who did not return to work by ten o'clock this morning .are .discharged from the service still hold good?" Mr. Stewart was asked.

"Yes," he replied.

Mr. Stewart stated that, up to the close of the cabinet meeting, no word had been received from the executive of the postal federation as to whether a general strike order would be issued or not.

Drop Salary Increases

MONTREAL, June 20.—(Canadian Press).—By common consent the Dominion postal strike was taboo at the Canadian Postmasters' Association conference which continued here yesterday.

A telegram was received prior to the opening of the session that the postmaster general would receive a delegation from the association at a conference on Friday afternoon at Ottawa, when various subjects looking to the betterment of the postal service would be gone into.

Various motions looking for increased salaries to postmasters in the smaller centres throughout the Dominion were voted down, the concensus of opinion being that the time was not opportune to ask this, in view of the present financial condition of the exchequer at Ottawa.

COUNTY COUNCIL FIX ASSESSMENT

Equalized Assessment Raised at a Meeting Held Yesterday

The county's equalized assessment was raised by $188,499.00 by an increase of 2 per cent. in the fixed assessment made at yesterday afternoon's session of the County Council.

On convening in the afternoon, Council adjourned and went into committee on equalization and assessment, with Mr. W. A. Anderson in the chair.

The fixed equalized assessment is now greater than the local by $82,-139.00. The Council found it necessary to raise the assessment as the fixed equalized assessment must be equal to or greater than the local assessment of the municipalities, according to law.

In the absence of Warden M. Coughlin, Mr. H. B. Rye presided.

Mr. Thos. Sullivan, of Douro, addressed the Council. Mr. Sullivan complained of a county road that angled through part of his farm, and suggested that the county buy a piece of his property for road allowance.

On motion of Messrs. Anderson and Strickland, the matter was left in the hands of the chairman of the County Roads Committee, the Reeve of Douro, and the County Road Superintendent.

A communication was read from the Mothers' Allowances Commission, asking the county to appoint their nominees to the local board for the year 1924-25.

On motion of Messrs. B. Middleton and W. A. Anderson, the present members of the Local Mothers' Allowances Commission, Miss Tanner, Lakefield, and Mr. C. J. Darling, Warsaw, were re-appointed.

School Section 16 of Otonabee appealed to the County Council under the provisions of Section 17 of the Public Schools Act against a by-law passed by the Township Council of Otonabee, making certain boundary alterations between School Sections Numbers 16 and 10, Otonabee.

The boundaries were changed, as children living within the territory in dispute, and formerly belonging to School Section 16, was closer to School Section Number 16. School Section 16 do not wish to lose the territory, and have made this appeal as a result.

Mr. E. A. Peck, county solicitor, explained that it was optional to the county to allow the appeal to proceed, and that if they considered it proper, to grant the appellant's request, then the Council should appoint an arbitrator to sit in conjunction with the County Judge and County Public School Inspector.

Messrs. Smithson and Anderson, the Otonabee Reeves, stated that they had acted arbitrarily throughout and were of opinion that a board of arbitrators should deal with the matter. A resolution to this effect was passed and, on motion of Messrs. Smithson and Anderson, Mr. W. J. Porter, of Otonabee, an ex-Warden of the County, was appointed to act as the county representative on such board.

The Council adjourned and went into committee of the whole on county property, with Mr. John Scott in the chair.

Mr. Scott read the report of the Grand Jury, recommending certain alterations and repairs to the Court-House, and mentioned certain repairs to the roof which the janitor had reported.

A committee was appointed with power to act, to investigate and make necessary repairs.

Tenders for coal were opened, and Messsr. H. B. Taylor & Son, the lowest bidders, were awarded the county fuel contract.

The decree, awarded to Vergil James Montani from Florence N. Montani, was signed by Supreme Court Justice Wagner who heard the divorce testimony two weeks ago.

WOMEN ARTISTS TURNED BANKERS

Company Owned by Two Sisters is Ranked Amongst the Foremost in the Country.

CLEVELAND, O., June 20.—Lillian wanted to be an actress.

Clara, her sister, wanted to be a musician.

And they turned out to be bankers!

Why they turned their talents from art to finance is the story behind the founding of the Woman's Savings & Loan Co. here, which now numbers 1500 local women depositors and stockholders.

After her graduation from high school, Miss Lillian Westropp went to New York, enthusiastic about a stage career. She "landed" and in a year was playing leads.

Meanwhile, Miss Clara Westropp, in Cleveland, was studying and teaching music.

But family opposition to Lillian's work grew so strong that the young actress decided to give up her stage career—at least temporarily. About the same time, her sister decided music was paying poor dividends and took up bookkeeping on the side.

To mitigate her disappointment Lillian started the study of law. The first year of practice was so difficult that she had little time to spend in regrets. Instead, she built up a successful clientele while her sister was gaining business experience keeping books.

Both girls made up their minds that in business the biggest opportunities are closed to women, so when a friend came to Lillian with a woman's savings and loan proposition, she was immediately interested. It took her three months to get the company started. At the end of this period Clara Westropp became the company's secretary and chief stock salesmen. In one year she sold $500,000 worth of stock.

Men knocked the venture from the start and at first even women hesitated to trust their business affairs to members of their own sex.

But the two sisters found themselves going ahead, and today, after three years, their company ranks among the most successful of its kind in the country.

"Women must be pioneers and carve out their own success. When they do that, men will stand by them and help them advance—not before."

REGRET BRITISH DECISION

Australians Express Opinion That Verdict on Preference Is Not Final.

MELBOURNE, Australia, June 20 — (Canadian Press Cable, via Reuter's).—Federal Premier Bruce, while regretting the decision of the British House with regard to the preference resolutions, expresses the opinion that the narrow majority shows the decision is not final, though it must be accepted for the present.

Premier Bruce welcomes the intimation from Philip Snowden, Chancellor of the Exchequer, that the British Government is now prepared to endorse the appointment of an Imperial Economic Committee, which could consider the matter of marketing and distributing Dominion produce.

Matthew Charlton, leader of the Federal Labor party, while regretting the decision of the British House regarding the preference resolutions, says he realizes that it is a matter which concerns the British people. "We have no right to criticize the conduct of Britain's internal affairs."

The Melbourne Age says: "The little-England supporters of the British Labor Government take a regrettably sordid and narrow view of Imperial relations."

WERE NOT DOUKHOBORS

Sect in Saskatchewan Denies That Participants in Fight Belonged.

SASKATOON, Sask., June 20.—(Canadian Press).—Unqualified denial that any of the persons involved in the killing of Alex Perezowski and fatally injuring Mike Regina, near Veregin, Sask., on Monday, are Doukohobors, was made yesterday by P. G. Makaroff, Saskatoon barrister. Mr. Makaroff said the Doukhobors in the Veregin district were highly incensed at being described as attending a dance and engaging in a free-for-all battle with fence posts, when their religion calls for non-resistance and bars dancing. He said that all of the thirty or more persons involved in the fight were Calicians or Ukrainians, not of the Doukhobor faith.

ROUMANIAN RULERS WANT ALLIE'S AID

Rival Claims For Possession of Bessarabia Most Serious Menace To-day To Peace of Europe.

By HENRY WOOD

GENEVA, June 19 (United Press)—In the recent visit of King Ferdinand and Queen Marie to the League of Nations and the principal powers of the Allies, European political experts profess to see Roumania's preparation for a showdown with Russia on the question of Bessarabia.

The possibility of the latter questitutes, according to these experts, tion only being settled by war con the most serious menace to European peace existing today.

And in the event of such a war, Roumania would be obliged to count upon one of two things, either full support of the League of Nations or the armed suport of the principal European nations of the Big Entente.

It was for the purpose of placing Roumania's position on this question squarely before the League of Nations and squarely before the Big Entente that the Roumanian rulers are declared to have undertaken their recent tour of the European capitals.

That Roumania would prefer the full support of the League of Nations is said to be indicated not only by the prestige of his visit to Geneva and the unmistakable declarations which he made there relative to Roumania's position in the League, but also similar declarations of league support exchanged with King George of England in their formal public greetings.

King Ferdinand declared while in Geneva:

Claims Bessarabia

"Bessarabia was assigned to Roumania, after a full expression of its population to that effect, by the treaty signed at Paris, October 28, 1920, between England, France, Italy, Japan and Roumania. Roumania stands for the integral and loyal respect of existing treaties, and she intends to call on the League of Nations, should the occasion arise, to carry out its obligations under the covenant for the maintenance of her rights and territory."

In the event Roumania makes this appeal to the League, it is conceded that it will create the most serious test to which the League has ever been subjected and it is because of the uncertainty of what the League might do under such circumstances, that King Ferdinand is said to have made the tour to Paris and London to see what the joint signatories of the treaty which assigned Bessarabia to Roumania, might be disposed to do if the Soviets push the question to a showdown of arms

In the event of Roumania's appeal to the League it is pointed out that the covenant provides when such apeal is against a state not a member of the League that the Council shall first invite that state to accept regular League obligations for the settlement of the difference.

No question exists in any one's mind as to what Tchitcherine's reply would be to the League's invitation that the Soviets accept the obligations of League membership.

With Russia's refusal known in advance, the Council would then be obliged to enforce against Russia the provisions of Article 16 for an economic and financial blockade.

Blockade Futile

Unfortunately for the League in this moment, Russia has virtually no financial or economic relations with anyone and has demonstrated for a number of years past that she can get along very comfortably without outside financial and economic relations.

All that the Council could then do would be to recommend under Article 10 that the members of the League take military and naval action against Russia in support of Roumania. But here again, Article 10 provides that all the Council can do is to make a recommendation and it is then for the leaguers themselves to decide whether or not they wish to carry out the recommendation.

As a consequence in the final analysis of an eventual appeal of Roumania to the League of Nations, the principal European members of the League would have to decide for themselves whether in pursuance of their obligations under the covenant and upon recommendation of the League Council, they might wish to go to Roumania's support.

According to International experts, King Ferdinand probably assured himself during the course of his visit to the European capitals that enough of the big powers will respond to the appeal of the League not only to save Roumania, but to save the League itself.

KEEP THESE IN MIND.

The so-called pep in lots of motors is nothing but a too limber accelerator. When an accelerator is too sensitive, as is the case when no provision is made for steadying the foot, it's a very simple matter to make the engine jump. You could do the same with any motor by suddenly pulling the hand control all the way down, but you wouldn't.

Tapping the muffler now and again helps to dislodge some of the carbon from its inner sides which is partially blown out by racing the engine just a little.

A little oil on the carbureter controls will do much to save wear and consequent air leaks. This applies to the shaft of the throttle valve, the rods or plungers for the auxiliary air or gas valves and to the accelerator and hand throttle control assembly. These parts frequently appear lubricated merely because they are covered with gasoline or kerosene from the carbureter, which is just another way of saying they are sadly in need of real lubrication.

REDUCTION OF ROAD MILEAGE

Due for Discussion By County Council in Open Session.

GRANTS SOLICITED

At Thursday's session of the County Council the recommendation of the County Road committee were dealt with and deputations from the G.W.V.A. and Peterboro Poultry Association were heard.

Mr. Rye presented his report as Chairman of the County Roads' committee, touching upon the matter of reducing the mileage of the roads which have been assumed as County Roads in the County.

The chairman stated that one or two inspections had been made not included in his report, the results of which Mr. Middleton would report.

"I believe the Department has established and has in operation at the present time an advisory board and there is to be a meeting of that Board in July," said Mr. Rye, "at which the representatives of the municipalities in the County Road system will meet, and put forth their views. It will make it easier for us to deal with the Department."

The Chairman's report was received on motion of Messrs. Curtis and Brown and tabled in parliamentary style. Mr. Rye's report is as follows:

This I believe is the first report of this nature (that is, a report of the Chairman of this Committee.

I trust you will not infer that I am presumptious from the fact that the matter of lessening the mileage of the County Road system is under consideration.

You appointed a Committee composed of Messrs. County Solicitor, Superintendent of County Roads and myself to draft a bylaw revising the County Road System to be sumitted to the Council for consideration at this session.

After listening to Mr. Muir the Chief Engineer of Highways who addressed this Council on February last and endeavoring to eleminate certain roads consistent with the expressed opinions of the various members of this Council at that time, we placed in the hands of the Clerk such by-law, that has been drafted by the Solicitor.

We your Committee believe that the Department of Highways will approve of the same in the main although such Department may suggest further eliminations.

We will welcome and be gratified to hear any references to said by-law as to being satisfactory or a suggestion that would be beneficial to the conduct of the carrying into effect, the expenditure of monies appropriated for highway purpose.

I would respectfully solicit all to make an honest endeavor to bring the mileage of the Highway System to a limit that would enable the Superintendent and Committee to accomplish the very best results.

After reading his report, Mr. Rye read by-law No. 1139, the original County Road by-law, passed in 1920 introducing eight townships into the County Road system. Since that time four subsidiary road by-laws have been passed adopting certain roads as County roads.

The Department of Highways has advised the County to reduce the mileage on the County Roads which has been already assumed, being of opinion that the present assumption of the County is too large an undertaking.

In response to this suggestion a committee was appointed by the Council with Mr. Rye as chairman for the purpose of making recommendations of the roads to be abndoned. Mr. Rye read the amended list as recmmended by the committee.

This amended list will be dealt with in open Council and a revising by-law, cancelling the five previous road by-laws and constituting the roads recommended by the Committee as comprising the County Road system hereafter. If this by-law is accepted at this session, it will be forwarded to the Government for approval and if approved, it will be confirmed at some future session.

Asked For Grant.

Mr. Harry Lush, as representative of the Peterboro Poulty Association appealed to the Council for assistance. "The scope of the Association extends throughout the County and we depend on the farmers for a large portion of the exhibits," said Mr. Lush. In the course of his address Mr. Lush spoke of the educational value of the Poultry Association and mentioned the Guelph Conference, which is being held next week to discuss the improper sale and importation of American second grade eggs into Canada. "Our work is continually up hill and I trust you will see your way clear to make us a liberal grant," he concluded.

This matter was referred to the finance committee.

Mr. Sidney Whatley addressed the Council on behalf of the Great War Veteran's Association and said that "he thought it was a just matter of reminding the Council and the Association would receive the usual grant of $50.00." Mr. Whatley pointed out that the work of the association extended beyond the city as they looked after the disabled and widows in all parts of the County as a link to the Pension Board. In thanking the members Mr. Whatley stated that the veterans in general would appreciated any assistance that the County might give.

This request was also referred to the finance committee.

Britain Will Pay the Hitherto Unpaid Chairman of Shipping Committee.

LONDON, June 20.—(Canadian Press Cable)—When introducing the board of trade estimates in the house of commons yesterday Sidney Webb, president of the board of trade, said that owing to the development and importance of the imperial shipping commitee it had been decided to pay the hitherto unpaid chairman of the committee Sir Halford Mackinder £2,000 a year.

Trade conditions, said the minister, are considerably more promising than at the same date last year. There had been a wonderful increase of imports mainly of the principal raw materials on which British commerce depended. Exports also had increased. Coal and steel production in Britain had reached pre war figures.

Lloyd George expressed the opinion that the prospects for a settlement of conditions in Europe were good in view of the fact that the Dawes report dealing with the reparations question was almost certain to be put into operation.

VANCOUVER, B.C., June 20.—(Canadian Press).—All political parties in British Columbia with the campaign now completed, yesterday were putting in the finishing touches on their organization to get out the vote. The polls will eb open from 8 a.m. o 7 p.m. today. It is estimated that with four parties concentrating on bringing out the vote the largest poll ever recorded in the history of the province will be registered. In Vancouver it would occasion no surprise if between forty and fifty thousand ballots were cast out of the fifty eight thousand on the list.

VOTERS OF JAPAN GAINING CONTROL

The People of Japan Have Had a Little Taste of Power This Spring.

(By Frank H. ztedges.)

TOKIO, June 19. — Out of the elections of this spring in Japan has emerged one salient fact which here after can not be overlooked in attempting to gauge the possible line of action that this Empire may follow. The people have had a taste of power.

No matter how much the elder statesmen and bureaucrats may interfere, the 2,800,000 qualified voters of Japan have discovered that what they say and do influences the affairs of State.

For fifty years, or virtually ever since the opening of the nation to the Western World, they have been told by a handful of party leaders, that this was so, or at least that it might be made so if the people only wished it. They listened to such statements, but scoffed at them.

Here was Yukio Ozaki, for instance, the veteran liberal leader of Japan, telling them that this was true, but against his statements they saw the late Prince Ito, the late Prince Yamagata, Prince Saionji and Prince Matsukata continuing to play their old game of clan politics and directing affairs of State.

The recent elections were revelations. The people of Japan were surprised, very much surprised, when they saw that by their votes they had made it impossible for Premier Viscount Kiyoura, the choice of the Genro and the bureaucrats, to continue in office beyond 25th June at the latest, the date of the convening of the extraordinary session of the Imperial Diet.

Premier Kiyoura must go and it is not the Genro but the people who have decreed this.

There is not as yet a full realisation on the part of the electorate of the power that it possesses, but there is the dawning of such a consciousness. It will grow and reach maturity. Never again will it be possible for a group of men close to the throne to say this shall and that shall not be done.

In the future, if the Genro is to control, and it may yet for a considerable time, it can do so only by manipulating the electorate to its own ends.

BOGUS DOCTOR USES GOLF AS BLIND FOR ROLE OF RAFFLES

Daring Thefts All Over England Revealed When Adventurer is Trapped in Country Hotel Working New Job

Raffles, the hero of E. W. Hornung's famous novel, was the gentleman cricketer who visited country houses and spent the passing hours in robbing his hosts. Charles Wadsworth, now 42, substituted golf for cricket, and found his skill as a player quite a considerable asset in the role of society crook. Because he was a well-educated, good-looking fellow, who dressed with taste, and called himself a doctor, he succeeded in imposing upon a great many people. Had some of his victims known, however, that the "Doctor" had been convicted twice in January last they might very well have been reluctant to play with him. Early last March, Wadsworth wrote to the Army and Navy Co-operative Society, asking to be permitted to open an account. He gave his address as South Side, Clapham Common, and stated that he was Flight-Lieut. George Brookman, of the Royal Air Force.

In due course he received a membership card, and a few days later he called at the Stores and handed in a cheque for £10 as a deposit. Immediately he had done this he went to various departments and ordered a suit case, together with a good many articles of clothing, valued in all at £26 10s. He paid for them with a cheque, subsequently found to be valueless, and was permitted to take the goods away. When the cheque came back the police were notified, but by this time the offender was out enjoying himself on country golf links. With his suit of plus fours, a bag of clubs, which had evidently seen good service, and some very engaging manners, he played golf for the better part of a month with some of the best-known people in the country.

He would go to an hotel in the neighborhood of a famous course, book a room, and then make the acquaintance of people who were also golfing. Most of the time he called himself "Dr. Brookman," while he was also "Dr. Wadsworth" and "Dr. Davidson." Nobody suspected him, for he spoke and acted like a gentleman, and played golf as though he was a scratch man. When funds ran short he had a very simple method of replenishing the exchequer. He would watch one of his golfing friends out of the hotel, and then go up to his room and steal. Usually he also took a bag, and put that in his own bedroom to delude the hotel servants into thinking he was STILL STAYING IN THE PLACE.

But what he did do was hire a car and drive off to the railway station. In Norfolk and Suffolk the "Doctor" had a right royal time. At a Cromer hotel he cultivated the friendship of an elderly man and his daughter, with whom he went golfing every day for a week. Usually the "Doctor" dined with the couple after teaching the father to play. All went well for the week, when the matter of the "Doctor's" bill obtruded itself. So one night at dinner the "Doctor" excused himself and went upstairs. There he passed to the bedrooms of his newfound friends, and stole all the woman's jewellery and a set of valuable cuff links belonging to the father. Then he walked off to the station, caught a train to Norwich, and had disappeared before father and daughter had the slightest idea that anything was wrong.

In Huntingdon, where he stayed for some few days at the George Hotel, he stole a silver chain bag and purse valued at £27 from a lady whose acquaintance he had made on the links. This was in January last, before he had gone to Clapham Common. Following Huntingdon, the "Doctor" went to the Angel Hotel, in Northampton, still in possession of his golf clubs. There he utilised his chances to steal a suit case and its contents, including a cheque book, valued altogether at £17. For the better part of a month he played golf all over the South of England, and there were many well-known men whose acquaintance he made at various clubs who had not the slightest idea that their affable companion who played so well was an ex-gaol bird, living on his wits. The tale the "Doctor" told sounded very plausible.

He explained that he was a medical man with a big practice in London, compelled to give up work after a nervous breakdown. Some of his victims though it more than a little strange that the "Doctor" should play such wonderful golf if his nerves were bad. He would go round in bogey without turning a hair, and his putting, especially if there was a wager on the game, was something to marvel at. The "Doctor" informed all and sundry that he was a member of the Royal and Ancient, and also belonged to Coombe Hill, Royal St. George's, returned marked "Refer to drawer." In February he turned up at a hotel at Sidcup. He stayed a few days, played golf regularly, and then mysteriously disappeared. When he departed a pocket-book belonging to one of the other guests, containing £12 10s., went with him. He was next traced to Clapham Common. He stayed only a short time, and when he went, after obtaining the suit-case from the Army Co-operative Society, he gave a worthless cheque for his bill. Then the "Doctor" made his appearance at that fashionable little seaside resort, Frinton-on-Sea. He played golf over the local course with a number of people whom he met in the hotel, tried to borrow money from them, and, being unsuccessful, flitted out, owing the hotel £3 10s.

The same day he had the impudence to go to another place in Frinton, where he stayed just long enough to cash a cheque for £7 7s. On April 17, calling himself "Dr. Brookman," he turned up at Chalfont St. Peters, Bucks, still carrying his bag of clubs. He had a few games of golf, but aroused suspicion by being found prowling around the hotel. The manageress had him watched, and as by this time his description had been circulated by the police the local constabulary were communicated with. Insp. Neal called at the hotel to interview him. Nothing could have been more disarming than the manner in which the "doctor" received his visitor. He had a long story to tell, and was careful to explain that he had not practised as a doctor in this country to any extent.

Most of his life had been spent in the Colonies, and he had come to England for a golfing holiday. It all sounded very interesting, but the inspector was not convinced. He told the "Doctor" he had better go to the police-station with him, because he answered the description of a man who was wanted for a series of thefts all over England and Scotland.

On their way to the station the suspect grew confidential and informed the inspector that his real name was not Brookman, but "Dr. Charles Wadsworth, M.D., M.R.C.S." The inspector wanted to know where he had obtained his degrees, and by saying that they were American diplomas. Other information he volunteered was that he had practised at Harrow-road, Walkey, Sheffield. The police in that town were communicated with, and, to the "Doctor's" mortification, they wrote back saying that the individual who lived at the address in Harrow-road was a greengrocer. In the meantime Inspector Neal ascertained that the "Doctor" was wanted all over the country, and eventually he was handed over to Det.-Sergt. Loader, of Streatham.

The "Doctor" was indignant at the suggestion that his golf had been a blind for the role of Raffles, and the idea that open confession was good for the soul did not commend itself to him. However, the police preferred to keep him in custody while they got him identified by a few of his numerous victims. They discovered that he had stolen hundreds of pounds worth of jewellery and promptly pawned it, besides giving dozens of worthless cheques. So eventually the "Doctor" appeared before the Recorder at the Old Bailey, where he pleaded not guilty to the charges against him.

He defended himself with ability, which could only come by long practice, but the jury found him guilty.—Sergeant Loader mentioned that Wadsworth was a mystery man. Although there was no trace of him being a doctor, he had undoubtedly received a first-class education and mixed in very good society. In June, 1920, at North London, he was sent to prison for a month for stealing money from a girl. The following month, at Marylebone, he was committed for another three months for obtaining money by false pretences, while in January, 1922, at Derby he received 12 months' hard labor for passing worthless cheques. Brought up on a Home Office order in the following February, he got another 12 months, to run concurrently with his previous sentence, on other charges of obtaining money by fraud.

At Southport, in May, 1923, he got six months for stealing an attache case from an hotel, while at Derby in January, 1924, he received a nominal sentence of one day for obtaining £10 by false pretences. At Grimsby, nine days later, he was bound over under the Probation of Offenders' Act for a similar offence. Immediately after getting out of this trouble he recommenced his career as a society thief. "I swear," dramatically exclaimed prisoner, addressing the judge, "that if you grant me clemency, this will be my last conviction."

His operations will be curtailed for some considerable time, because he was sentenced to penal servitude for three and a half years as a plausible and dangerous rogue, who had indulged in a perfect orgy of frauds. The "Doctor" bowed politely on leaving the dock and went below looking rather sorry for himself.

Eight Ways of Stopping Sneeze In Polite Society

To tickle the soles of your feet, puff out your cheeks, press on the eyeballs, contract the forehead and eyebrows, are various ways of gracefully stopping a sneeze suggested to Dr. Paul Farez, of Paris, who has written a monagraph on the subject.

Other methods advocated by the doctor are contracting the lips as much as possible and blowing hard, rubbing the jaws, pressing the upper lip with a finger, or stretching out the neck.

He believes that the blowing hard method will become a recognized form of good breeding to prevent sneezing.

Scientific experts, says Dr. Farez, have shown that sneezing is by no means such a ready source of infection as people usually think, and that it is far better to enjoy a good sneeze than to stifle it. Polite society, on the other hand, continues to think otherwise, he adds.

Woman Doctor is Elected to Medical Council in Britain

Dr. Christine Murrell is the first woman to be elected a member of the council of the British Medical Association.

She was one of five people nominated for four places as representatives of the Metropolitan Counties' Branch.

The voting was conducted on the single transferable vote system, and on the first count Dr. Murrell headed the list. She was, consequently, the first of the five nominees elected.

Dr. Murrell is one of the many distinguished medical women who have trained at the London School of Medicine for Women. She is also a well-known worker in other spheres.

During a critical period of the war she was chairman of the executive committee of the Women's Emergency Corps, and she is president of the Women's Election Committee.

ICE CAP, 10,000 FEET THICK TO CRUSH THE WORLD.

Another Ice Age is coming, under which the present world will disappear.

Dimitri Loanovici, a Rumanian engineer, has written to the United States, British, Danish, and Canadian governments, declaring that an ice cap 10,000 feet thick will crush Greenland and alter the position of the world's axis. He does not mention when the disaster will occur.

He suggests that he shall be authorized and financed to build a huge dam across Fury-and-Hecla Strait, between the Bay of Boothia and Fox Channel, thus turning the Arctic current northwards, and allowing the warm Gulf Stream to reach Greenland and melt the ice.

RADIO DIAGNOSIS TEST BY DOCTORS

Heart-beats of Patient Heard 200 Miles Away

The first attempt in England to diagnose symptoms of heart trouble by wireless has been made by Dr. Ticehurst, of St. Leonards, Hastings, who "listened in" from his home to a patient's heart-beats at Cardiff.

This wireless diagnosis is said to have been partially successful, and the experiment may be repeated later.

One of the assistants at the Cardiff Broadcasting Station was taken ill, and as he suffers from heart trouble and desired to get advice from his family doctor (Dr. Ticehurst) at St. Leonards, an arrangement was made for his heart-beats to be broadcast, in an interval which would not interfere with the ordinary broadcasting program.

Dr. Harrington, of Cardiff, used his stethescope over the man's heart, and the microphone was placed close to it. Meanwhile, Dr. Ticehurst, himself an enthusiastic wireless amateur, who owns a valve set, listened-in to his patient at a distance of nearly 200 miles.

The heart-beats were heard, but the microphone used was one of an old pattern, and it is thought that with more modern apparatus better results would have been obtained.

Miner Blows Up Home and is Only Victim of Folly

The house of George Binnie, a miner, of Dennyloanhead, Stirlingshire, was wrecked by an explosion of gelignite. Binnie was killed, his body being shattered to pieces, but the 14 other occupants of the house escaped with minor injuries.

Binnie is alleged to have blown up the dwelling while his wife and family, together with the aged grandmother, were asleep.

Several were injured, and a daughter jumped from a window as the staircase was blown away.

It is alleged that Binnie had previously attacked his wife with an axe.

Members of the family were injured by falling plaster and woodwork. Windows were blown out and holes made in the roof.

SUFFER PAIN IN AMPUTATED LIMB

Interesting medical opinion on the question of pain was given at Bridgend, Somerset County Court, in the course of a compensation case — His honor pointed out that he had come across cases where persons who had had a limb amputated suffered pain during a change of weather at the end of the limb amputated.—Two of the medical witnesses testified that persons who had had a leg amputated sometimes had pain in the amputated part. The impulse was carried to the brain and connected by the person with the amputated limb. What caused that impulse of pain they could not say. There was no pathological reason for it.—His Honor: This man had pain like pain from neuritis on typical neuritis days.—The man himself explained that after the loss of his fingers he could feel pain shooting from them.

FASCISTI LIMITED LATEST COMPANY

"British Fasciti, Limited," is the title by which England's black shirts are now officially known, the body having been registered at Somerset House as a limited company.

This does not mean that Fvitish Fascists will be daily quoted on the Stock Exchange under Italian securities, or possibly oil, and that they will rise and fall according to the state of the Communist poll.

"We only want to legalize our position," said Mrs. Alma C. M. Wroughton, joint secretary to the British Fascisti said. "We are limited by guarantee, not having a share capital, and the guarantors are the members of the council.

"We are entirely constitutional, and it is ridiculous to say that we are a secret society or that we practice revolver shooting in Chelsea cellars."

GOLD SOVEREIGNS IN RUBBISH HEAP

He took off the lid and found inside 82 sovereigns and six half-sovereigns in gold.

The coins date from 1871 to 1912.

Wright has handed them over to the police.

HORSE BEATS MAN WITH LOT TO SPARE

R. J. Stephenson, the farmer, who started on his horse from Trafalgar-square in an endeavor to reach York before George Cummings, the walker, won the match. He completed the journey in 43¼ hours.

He stated that by midnight of the day he started he was 11 miles from London, and after a rest at Grantham he went on to Selby, another 72 miles.

"I have never used a whip on the horse, and it has walked a lot.

"Cummings is a grand fellow, but I think it is foolish for any man to try and compete against a horse."

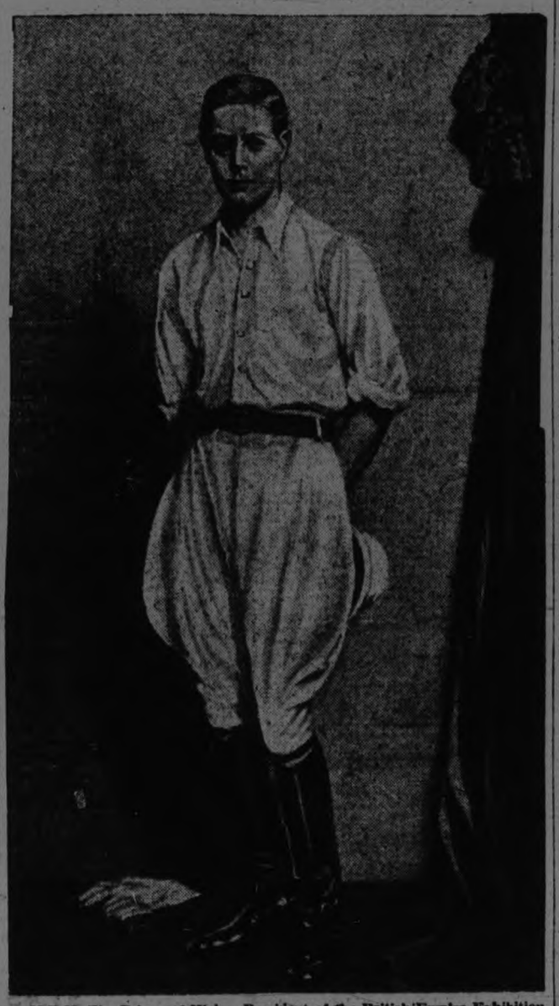
MANY HAPPY RETURNS



H.R.H. The Prince of Wales, President of the British Empire Exhibition, Ambassador of Empire and Canadian Rancher, reaches his thirtieth birthday on the twenty-third of this month, having been born on June 23, 1894. The portrait of him in polo kit reproduced here was painted by Mr. John St. Helier Lander, for "The Illustrated London News," which presented it to the Manchester City Art Gallery. The artist has been asked to paint a replica of the head and shoulders for the Queen.

PANDEMONIUM AT MUSIC FESTIVAL

Welsh Choir Dissatisfied With Award, Sets Up Howl

Booing, cat-calls, singing, and general disorder on the part of a Welsh choir disappointed with the decision of the adjudication held up the Empire Musical Festival at the Crystal Palace.

The disturbance took place while women's choirs were competing. The manager of the Crystal Palace appealed in vain for quiet, and eventually the adjudicators were compelled to leave their table.

Mr. Cyril Jenkins, the eminent composer, who was one of the adjudicators, said that the unfortunate incident was the worst example of unsportsmanlike conduct he had encountered.

Such an attempt to break up a festival by choirs dissatisfied with the judgment given, he said, was unique in his long experience of musical festivals.

POOR MISS 1924

"Swollen Ankles, Flattened Toes, Misshapen Calves"

"It is enough to make one weep," said Dr. Ethel Benthom, Labor candidate for Islington, at a meeting at Highbury, "to see the bulging, swollen ankles, the misshapen calves, and flattened toes of the high-heeled girl of today. It is an exception to find an adult foot that is not more or less deformed."

HIS DEATH KNELL.

James Mainwaring, the sexton at Grappenhal, Cheshire, collapsed and died when ringing the bell for a funeral at the parish church.

TOO OLD AT 31 EDICT IN LONDON

No workman is to be engaged on Wood Green Urban District Council, London, staff whose age exceeds 30 years, except ex-service men, for whom the age limit is to be 35.

Labor members strongly opposed the decision.

They argued that although the council might save on its superannuation scheme, the poor law relief burden would be correspondingly heavier in respect of the older men, who would be unable to get jobs.

Drum Contest in Ireland Followed By Free Fighting

Crowds watching rival Orange drummers competing for a £5 wager, at Castlecaulfield, Co. Tyrone, were dissatisfied with the referee's decision. A free fight followed.

When the police intervened, both parties combined and drove the constables to barracks. It was not until reinforcements arrived that the beleaguered police were able to venture out.

Many persons have now been arrested including several special constables.

REAL-LIFE ALICE IN LOOKING-GLASS

Girl Whose Writing Has to Be Read in Mirror

A case of "Alice Through the Looking-Glass" in real life has been discovered by Dr. H. H. Haward, of Northwich, Cheshire, in a girl patient who finds she can most easily write looking-glass writing with her left hand.

She is a very sharp and healthy child, and when she writes to her school friends they have to use a looking-glass to read it; but she uses her right hand when she must, and has passed her examinations with good results, including bookkeeping, since leaving school.

"She can now write with both hands simultaneously — by the left looking-glass writing, by the right ordinary; the left hand works twice as quickly as the right."

The girl is now 17. Her five brothers and sisters are normal writers, but one of them tends to be left-handed.

ENOUGH OPIUM TO KILL 14,000, SEIZED

For being in possession of 9¾lb. of opium, Ah Song, a Chinese, at Cardiff was find £10, with the option of 3 months' imprisonment, and recommended for deportation.

It was stated that the opium was enough to provide 70,000 doses and contained sufficient morphia to kill 14,000. He also had in his possession a loaded automotic pistol.

Frail Craft Perched On Edge Of Rapids Gave Baronet Thrill

While fishing above the Falls of Assaroe, which plunge over a 30ft. high cliff at Ballyshannon, County Donegal, Sir Basil and Lady Brooke, of Brookeborough, County Fermanagh, had a narrow escape.

Their boat was swept by the current towards the rapids. Just above the Falls the anchor caught in the rocks and held the boat. Ropes were thrown to secure it against the force of the river, and messengers hurried to Beleek, about 3 miles upstream to close the sluicegates and lower the river.

Lady Brooke took off her boots and some of her clothing so that if she were carried over the falls she might have a chance of escape. For two hours the boat hung on the edge of the cliff until the force of the stream abated sufficiently to allow of the rescue of Sir Basil and his wife.

BAND CONDUCTOR USES NO MUSIC

Says Program is Memorized by Director in Charge at Wembley

MUSICAL MEMORY

Lieut. Adkins Reads Score Over and Knows It by Heart

Thousands of people who have listened to the massed military bands of 1,000 performers in the Stadium at the British Empire Exhibition have been amazed to discover that no music score is ever used by the conductor, Lieut H. E. Adkins, director of the Royal Military School of Music.

The explanation is that Lieut. Adkins possesses an abnormally developed "musical memory." After once reading a score he "knows the music by heart," He said to a reporter.

I began memorizing when I started my career as a bandmaster in 1913. It has now become natural to me, and it does not cost me the least effort. Recently I memorized Mr. Gustav Holst's very difficult work, "The Planets," after hearing it performed once at the Queen's Hall and then reading it over in the military band score.

When I am standing in the midst of the massed bands I am able to visualize pages of the music being played. I memorize the whole of each day's program. My usual practice is to prop up the scores before me on a table at home and concentrate on them. In a short time the pages are, as it were, printed on my memory.

CIRCULAR FORMATION.

Lieut. Alkins himself conceived the idea of placing the bands in circular formation for ease of control. "It is the first time," he said, "that massed bands have been placed in this way. The ordinary method being to arrange the performers in the pattern of a horse-shoe or in a semi-circle."

The 600 performers who form the rings are provided with numbers and all are able to take their places in the great "Catherine Wheel" within five minutes.

In addition to the 600 instrumentalists there are 100 drums and pipes and a corps of 300 drums and fifes.

Lieut. Adkins is himself able to play every instrument used by a military band.

At the end of each performance at Wembley he is very fatigued physically, and on reaching his dressing room he jumps into a hot bath and afterwards into a cold one.

CELEBRATE VICTORY.

An ancient custom begun in the 14th century to celebrate the English victory over the Scots at Neville's Cross, near Durham, in 1346, was observed by the Dean, clergy, and choir of Durham Cathedral, who ascended to the top of the Central Tower and sang anthems. John Nutton, a lay clerk, was one of the party for the 51st time.

THUMB PRICK AT OPERATION FATAL

Evidence at the inquest on Dr. Forbes Fraser, C.B.E., the distinguished Bath, Somerset, surgeon, showed that death resulted from a prick on the thumb while he was performing an operation. Poisoning supervened.

Dr. W. G. Mumford said these cases were by no means rare among surgeons—it was one of the risks the profession ran.

SCHOMBERG PENSION WILL BE COMMUTED

A Treasury minute has been issued providing for the final commutation of the perpetual pension given in 1695 to the Duke of Schomberg. The minute must lie for 30 days on the table of the House of Commons before it can be given effect to.

The pension was originally £4,000, but successive commutations have reduced it to £350 (net), which, since the dukedom and direct line have long been extinct, is paid to Major W. S. Gosling.

This gentleman, it is proposed, will receive £7,560, as 21 years' purchase of his pension, and the pension will then disappear.

The original Duke of Schomberg, to whom this pension was granted, was the second in command in William III's army in 1688, when James II was driven out. He commanded in Ireland until the King came over. He died at the battle of the Boyne.

WEATHERWISE TREES FORECAST SUMMER

Farmers of Dursley, Gloucestershire, are preparing for the summer, which begins, according to the calendar, on June 21, to be one of mixed sunshine and rain.

They are basing their expectations on the behaviour of two elm trees in the district which are considered to be unfailing weather prophets.

If the leaves show white the summer will be dry. If the leaves show green, the summer will be wet, says local legend. This year the leaves are mingled green and white.

In the spring before the drought two years ago the leaves were quite white.

GAS STRIKE OVER.

Although the Dublin gas-workers' strike is over and 700 men have returned to work the city is still without gas, and a week will elapse before the supply can be restored.

Dublin Cabman is Heir to Estate of £80,000, Says Court

Wm. Brown, a Dublin cabman has become entitled to real estate valued at £80,000 as the result of an application to the Chancery Court in Dublin.

He has proved himself heir-at-law to the late Mrs. Jane Isabella Lewis, whose husband, Mr. Harvey Lewis, was High Sheriff of Kildare and an M.P.

Mr. Brown has been a "jarvey" for 52 years. The Master of the Rolls made an order for the immediate payment to Mr. Brown of £250.

NATURE POET IS DEAD IN ENGLAND

The death has taken place at Colchester of Hugh Stannard, formerly of Woodford and well-known as the author of nature poems, including the "Cycle of the Seasons."

Seventy-four years of age, he had been a chorister in Colchester and Woodford Congregational Church choirs for over 60 years.

DEVASTATING FLOODS MAKE NEW LAKES IN WEST OF ENGLAND

Torrential Rains Bring Darkness to Cities and Ruin of Crops in Country Districts—Worcester and Hereford Very Badly Hit

Worcester with its electric light and power cut off, and many hundreds of houses surrounded by water, and swans swimming in the streets—

Chains of lakes miles wide in the Severn basin; hundreds of acres of crops damaged in the Vale of Evesham—

Tamworth, in Staffordshire, isolated on three sides, and some of its streets under water; torrential rains in Northern England—

These are some of the outstanding features of the floods which have invaded great areas of Great Britain. At least five lives have been lost.

To understand the greatness of the disaster which has befallen the Western Countries, it is necessary to bear in mind the size of the basin of the Severn.

On the western side it stretches from the slope of Plinlimmon, Montgomeryshire, and on the eastern side from the high ground at Naseby, whench the Avon runs westerly.

From these extreme points of the base of the great triangle which forms the Severn basin, the waters converge at Gloucester.

The main rivers are the Avon on the east and the Teme on the west, with the Severn in the centre. Besides these there are countless small streams and brooks which feed them. And the great volume of water pours down from Gloucester into the Bristol Channel.

With ordinary rainfall the rivers and streams are capable of carrying off the storm water as it comes; that is, if the ground is not saturated and can absorb part of the water. But during the past week both these conditions were absent.

There was an extraordinary rainfall, while the ground was as full as it could hold from previous downfalls.

The records of rainfall are extraordinary. A competent observer at Malvern gives it at 4.24 in. for the 24 hours.

At Stourport the gauges indicated 3.6 in. in 24 hours, and at Worcester 2.36.

RIVER'S 19 FEET RISE.

There is, therefore, no wonder that the Severn rose 19 feet during one day.

A hasty run round the district has revealed an extraordinary state of affairs.

Great chains of lakes, in some cases miles wide, have been formed from Warwick, Tewkesbury, Tenbury, to Worcester.

From Shrewsbury to Gloucester roads are under water.

Many bridges have been destroyed.

Growing crops and gardens have been ruined.

Livestock has been rescued with difficulty, and in some cases with danger to the rescuers.

Many hundreds of houses have been surrounded by water, and in some cases the occupants have been driven to the upper floors.

The glorious old abbey of Tewkesbury, with its magnificent tower, stood overlooking the wide-spreading floods of the Avon and Severn, while all the low-lying streets of the town were under water.

FLOODS STILL RISING.

That other abbey church at Pershore looked upon a similar scene, where the Avon had overflowed, in orchards and garden abundant crops of asparagus and strawberries were dying beneath the waters.

Along the great Vale of Evesham, the market garden of the Midlands, hundreds of acres of valuable crops have been spoilt by the raging torrents pouring over them, and the pity of it was that there never was a fairer promise of an abundant crop.

In all the low-lying streets beside the Severn the houses were surrounded by water, and their inhabitants were being supplied by boats.

The mortuary in Worcester which lies near the Severn, was unapproachable, although a body lay there awaiting burial.

An unusual sight was witnessed of swans calmly swimming down submerged streets of the city.

The electric light works, which are near the Severn, are flooded, and the electric lighting of the town has been cut off. Power is supplied from this station to the tramways. They, too, have been stopped.

Inhabitants have been notified that the water supply of the city will have to be reduced.

At the same time there have been no casualties. The poorer class of the community who have been injured by the flood are being helped by the Corporation and the inhabitants, and are being given every assistance in their time of trouble.

WEIRD NOISES OF HISSING GHOST

Inhabitants of Dudley Stirred Up Over Antics of Spectre

The prosaic manufacturing town of Dudley, Worcestershire (population at last census 55,908), is being visited by a ghost, which is causing great alarm to timid people.

In a certain house, at the dead of night, it is said, weird tappings have been heard, pictures on the walls have been shaken and chairs have been transferred from one side of a bed to the other by some supernatural agency.

Worse than this, there has been an uncanny hissing noise, causing the blood of those who heard it to freeze in their veins, and their hair (if any) to stand on end.

The occupants of the house called in a clergyman, presumably to lay the ghost. (This cannot be done by a layman.) He is wisely maintaining an open mind on the matter until it is cleared up.

One individual who boldly went to find the why and wherefore declared that £10 will not induce him to sleep in the bed again. There are no offers.

Many theories are advanced to account for the presence of the ghost. Years ago there lived near the spot a man who assisted the common hangman in his duties, and it is said that he lent an article of clothing to the tenant of the house, who never returned it. The ghost is now believed to be in search of it.

In the meantime the ghost is having a week-end holiday.

GIANT ORGAN IS PUT UP AT WEMBLEY

To complete the wonder of the Empire Stadium the biggest portable organ in the world has been erected in the centre of the stand opposite the Royal Box at Wembley.

The organ, which cost £10,000, weighs 30 tons, and contains over 3,000 pipes, the largest of which is 32 ft. in height and the smallest ⅝ in. It is a five manual instrument with 75 stops, and over 85 miles of electric wire has been used in the action, which is electro-pneumatic throughout.

The work of erecting the organ was fraught with many difficulties. It had to be hauled up an incline 200 ft. long to a height of 80 ft. Two cwt. of 4-in. nails were used in the construction of the platform on which it stands, and twelve gross of 4-in screws. There are 5,000 electric contacts.

EARL HANDS OVER ESTATE TO SON

In a letter to Folkestone Town Council, the Earl of Radnor intimated that he had transferred his Folkestone estate to Viscount Folkestone, his eldest son).

In future the Viscount, who is 28, is to be Lord of the Manor.

Lord Radnor's family seats are Longford Castle, Salisbury, and Cliff House, Sandgate, Kent.

Last November Lord Glanusk, Lord Lieutenant of Breconshire, transferred his estates by deed of gift to his son and heir, the Hon. W. R. Bailey, and announced he was going to live in his fishing box.

At least ten peers have had their lands transferred to limited liability companies.

LIVERPOOL DOCK LABORER ARTIST

Sister Bought His Work for Trifle to Help Him

The exhibition of modern art at Liverpool contains examples from the brush of a dock laborer named Robinson, who is almost entirely self-taught.

"I gave him a pencil long before he was 10 years old," said his sister, Mrs. Parkins, of Davidson street, Liverpool, "and he would draw familiar objects with ease and faithfulness of detail."

Mrs. Parkins has been the principal patron of her brother's art.

"Whenever my brother could find the money he would buy paints and canvas," she added, "and go out to some of the beauty spots of Liverpool and sketch. I have invariably bought his work for a few shillings in order that he might get more material to carry on his painting.

"A few years ago he had some training at a school of art, but it was a hard struggle for him to pay the fees."

One individual who boldly went to find the why and wherefore declared that £10 will not induce him to sleep in the bed again. There are no offers.

Many theories are advanced to account for the presence of the ghost. Years ago there lived near the spot a man who assisted the common hangman in his duties, and it is said that he lent an article of clothing to the tenant of the house, who never returned it. The ghost is now believed to be in search of it.

In the meantime the ghost is having a week-end holiday.

Three Sets of Twins In Kentish Woman's Flock of Twenty-two

Sixteen boys and six girls, including three sets of twins, represent the family up to date of Mrs. Lucas, of Baltic road, Tonbridge, Kent, who has given birth to her twenty-second child. Her first husband died in consumption. Her present husband is an engine mate earning £2 ($9.00) a week, and one son gives her $1.50 a week. There are ten children at home, the eldest aged nine, and the bread bill (for eight or more loaves daily) varies from sixteen to eighteen shillings. (about $4.00).

BOY CONJURER, WHO TRICKS MERCHANTS

An innocent-looking boy of 14 has found a way of getting his money's worth—and a little extra—according to the story told of him at Willesden.

His practice, before the police took charge of him, was to buy some trifling article, offering the shopkeeper a Treasury note.

On getting his change he would turn his back to the counter, flick a florin up his sleeve, and show the shopkeeper the money in his hand, demanding another 2s.

He was remanded to a place of juvenile detention.

PICTURES IN JAIL TO BRIGHTEN LIFE

Water colors and oil paintings have been supplied to Halloway Gaol to cheer up the prisoners' surroundings. They were the gift of Miss Edith M. Tann, of Farnham, who has also been given permission to send other to the Borstal Institution at Aylesbury.

"My idea," she says, "was that each prisoner should have a beautiful picture in his own cell, but whether the authorities will agree I don't know. It may be they will only allow the pictures to be exhibited in a sort of common room.

CASTLE FOR PUBLIC.

Paul In Possession

By RUBY AYRES

Copyright, 1924, by The McClure Newspaper Syndicate

The story thus far:—

When John Collinge died, he left behind him his adopted daughter, Wanda Griffin, a headstrong, passionate, and overbearing girl, and his son Paul, with whom he had quarrelled, and who had gone abroad.

After the death, Bertram Lindsay, the family lawyer, tells Wanda that Paul is coming home before the reading of the will, which, as she expects to be Collinge's sole heiress, somewhat mystifies her.

Paul arrives unexpectedly and Wanda hates him at once, because he shows plainly that he will not be ruled by her.

The will is read—and Wanda learns that she has been disinherited, on account of a quarrel she had had with the dead man, and that Paul is the heir

Later that night Paul, going back to the inn where he is staying, hears Wanda speaking at an upstairs window in her bedroom to Clare Garnet, her one friend. She is speaking of Paul and the reading of the will.

"I was silly to lose my temper," she says, "but it was such a shock. Of course, the best thing would be to marry him."

TODAY'S INSTALMENT.

VII—PAUL FINDS WOMEN STRANGE.

Old John Collinge was laid to rest in the ugly family vault two days after his son's return.

The fact that he had been hated and feared by everyone did not deter the entire village from turning out to follow him to the grave; and though Wanda shrank from the many curious eyes that seemed to watch her, Mrs. Garnet apparently enjoyed her position of chief friend and consoler.

She walked from the church to the grave with her arm round Wanda, though the girl was not at all in need of support, and now and again she applied a delicate lace handkerchief to the corner of her eyes.

Wanda stood beside her, straight and stiff. She was very very pale, but there was no other sign of emotion in her face and the thought kept going through her mind; "Nobody cares. I wonder if anyone will care when I die. How awful not to be loved! How awful for nobody to mind!"

She looked at Paul, who stood bare-headed, a little distance from her, and again she was struck by the great likeness he bore to his father.

"Only he's better-looking—kinder!" she thought, and then checked the thought ashamedly, bringing her mind back with an effort to the present.

"Dust to dust. Ashes to ashes—"

The polished elm coffin—what a length it looked!—was carried into the vault, and Paul took a step forward, then stopped.

Well, it was all over; he stood for a moment, his fine head a little downbent, then he drew himself up and turned away.

Mrs. Garnet touched Wanda.

"You would like to take a last look, dear?"

She was a woman who always tried to do the correct thing. As Wanda took a reluctant step forward, she thrust a bunch of white roses into the girl's hand.

"They were his favorites, you remember," she murmured sentimentally.

Wanda looked at the roses, startled, then quite suddenly she burst into wild tears.

Paul stopped, glanced at her, then with a half shrug of his shoulders, moved on again.

"Hysteria," he thought contemptuously. "What a woman to have to live with!"

He was glad to get back to the house. The grey loneliness of his father's burial place had depressed him.

"I hope to heaven I don't have to lie there," he thought, as he followed Mr. Lindsay into the library.

It was Mr. Lindsay who broke the silence.

"Miss Griffin seemed very upset," he said.

Paul smiled rather grimly.

"Upset because she has lost Grey Chumley, perhaps," he submitted.

"I think you are a little unjust to her, Paul," Mr. Lindsay protested.

Paul made no answer; he had no belief in the sincerity of Wanda's tears.

"I've no doubt she thought to cry and make a scene was the right thing to do," he said contemptuously.

Mrs. Garnet came in to give them tea.

"Wanda has a headache. She is lying down," she apologised.

She looked very pretty and womanly as she sat by the little table, and Paul watched her with a sense of pleasure; he liked this gentle, rather old-fashioned type of woman; Wanda's wilfulness and independence exasperated him.

When Mr. Lindsay had gone, Paul moved his chair a little closer to Clare Garnet's.

"What does Wanda mean to do?" he asked bluntly.

Mrs. Garnet shook her head.

"I do not know at all. I have tried to advise her, but she will not listen—even to me—and I believe Wanda is fond of me."

"She is lucky to have you for a friend," Paul said.

Mrs. Garnet flushed with pleasure.

"She is very headstrong and wilful," she murmured.

Paul moved restlessly.

"She will have to make some sort of plans for herself," he said again "She cannot stay here. It would not be right, for one thing, would it?" he submitted with a half smile. "I mean—of course, as long as you are kind enough to stay it is all right, but we cannot expect you to consider us indefinitely."

Mrs. Garnet smiled; she had a very pretty smile, and a little dimple in one cheek.

"I am only too pleased to stay," she answered. "Wanda will feel leaving Grey Chumley very much, I am afraid."

Paul frowned. "I daresay she will, but if a thing has to be done, it is better faced as soon as possible. Besides I am not particularly anxious fo to remain."

"She is certainly very difficult," Mrs. Garnet agreed. She stretched out a white hand. "Will you have some more tea?"

"Thank you. No sugar this time, please."

She gave a little remorseful exclamation.

"Did I sugar it before? I am so sorry. I will not forget again."

"It doesn't matter," Paul said nonchalantly.

He sat silent for a few moments, staring before him with frowning brows, and Mrs. Garnet watched him sympathetically.

"I shouldn't worry too much," she said at last. "Things will come all right. It is early days yet to approach Wanda with regard to plans, but she can be managed."

Paul laughed at that.

"Oh, I shall be able to manage her all right," he agreed confidently. "I should like to see her presently, if you will tell her."

"I will tell her now," Mrs. Garnet said; she rose at once, hesitated, then came over to where he sat, and laid a white hand on his shoulder. "Be kind to her, Paul."

He raised startled eyes at the unexpected use of his Christian name, and the color deepened a little in his brown face.

"Oh, I'll be kind to her," he promised gruffly.

He looked after her in a puzzled way as she left him.

Women were strange creatures, he thought; certainly he had never seen two who made a greater contrast than Mrs. Garnet and Wanda.

WHAT PULLS POPULATION?

By ROBSON BLACK
Manager Canadian Forestry Assocn.

Brought up as we are on public speeches that identify the getting of population with the opening up of "farms" it sometimes takes us by surprise to learn that the forest is, in large sections of Canada, the best agent of immigration we have and as regards millions of acres is the only member of the family of resources that can provide human sustenance. We have talked of population for so long in terms of prairie acres that we have entirely overlooked the fact that on eighty per cent, of the area of Canada there are no farming possibilities; forest growth, and forest industries alone can attract people. We have equally forgotten that the deforesting of great areas of Ontario, Quebec and New Brunswick has exiled from those districts and the Dominion large bodies of population. In our hurry to greet new batches of immigrants we have neglected to consider the problem whereby hundreds of once prosperous, well populated Canadian towns and villages have decreased in population or closed up shop altogether because of the disappearance of the forests, representing their reason for existence.

A vivid and authoritative instance of this depopulating process has come to the notice of the present writer. Here is an Ontario district known as the Madawaska river district. Fifty years ago lumbering on the Madawaska and Bonnechere rivers was at its best. Twelve companies and individuals were then operating. In 1873 and 1875 they took millions of feet of pine and rafts of timber to Quebec. At that time they considered nothing less than fifteen inches and up, and all clear stuff. Later on they took it down as low as eight inches. The square timber was all hewn by hand.

Thriving and populous towns came into existence and rapidly expanded. One of the towns had two hotels, three stores, two blacksmith shops and a population of five hundred. It has now one general store, two hotels, one sawmill and a population of about fifty. Another of the towns had four hotels, eight stores, three sawmills and a population of about eight hundred. It has now two hotels, four stores, a power plant and a population of about three hundred. Another town had in 1903 a population of several hundred, the exact number not being known, five stores, three hotels (worth fifteen thousand dollars) and two hundred thousand logs in the annual drive. In 1923 the population had dwindled to sixty, with three stores, two hotels (worth four thousand dollars) and one-tenth the number of logs in the drive.

In non-agricultural areas, the permanence of population is directly measured by the permanence of "timber crops;" and the outstanding foe of timber crops is the human-set forest fire.

COBOURG NEWS

COBOURG, June 20.—The town council has let a contract for a lavatory at Victoria Park to M. Jex & Co. The contract price is $1,609.

Appealed Against Decision

The Imperial Accident and Guarantee Company of Toronto has appealed against the decision handed out by Mr. Justice Logie in the case of the town of Cobourg versus the above-mentioned company, whereby the town of Cobourg was awarded nearly $1,800.

Raised 775.

The self-denial appeal made by the Salvation Army here was very successful. Including the tag day, returns, which have just come in in full, show that $775 was raised for all purposes.

Barrie—Winn.

The marriage took place on Saturday at Elmview, Hamilton Township, the home of the bride's brother, Mr. Bert Winn, of Miss Sadie Alida Winn and Mr. Thomas Barrie, of Port Hope. Rev. J. E. Griffith officiated. The marriage was quiet, only immediate relatives being present. The bride wore white crepe de chine, and was given in marriage by her brother. She was unattended. Among the guests present was Mr. Norman Montgomery, Brighton, the bride's uncle. After the wedding luncheon Mr. and Mrs. Barrie left for Midland and other points, the bride wearing a tailored suit of brown. They will take up residence near Port Hope.

The Lowest Temperature Yet Reached.

The Bureau of Standards, Washington, D.C., recently announced that the nearest approach to the absolute zero temperature which has yet been attained has been recently achieved by Professor H. Kamerlingh Onnes, of the University of Leyden, Holland, says the Scientific American.

The record temperature of 272.18 below zero Centigrade, or, as the physicists express it, .82 degrees absolute, was reached by the Dutch scientist in an unsuccessful attempt to solidify liquid helium. The temperature is equal to approximately 485 degrees below zero Fahrenheit. At this temperature the liquid helium showed absolutely no tendency to solidify, according to the report of Dr. Onnes, who expressed the opinion that helium may remain a liquid even at the absolute zero. This temperature, 273 degrees below zero Centigrade denotes the entire absence of heat, or, expressed in more scientific language, the entire absence of atomic or molecular motion.

Every gas has been liquefied and solidified except helium which has never been reduced to the solid state in spite of years of effort. Dr. Onnes, in his recent attempt, evaporated the liquid helium in the most perfect vacuum attainable, the pressure at the surface of the liquid being only thirteen thousandths of a millimeter of mercury, or about one sixty-five thousandth of an atmosphere. A battery of twelve glass and six iron Langmuir vacuum pumps connected in parallel was used to obtain this result. The previous attempts to solidify helium having produced a temperature of 1.05 degree absolute. Dr. Onnes undertook his latest attempt with the utmost refinement of technique and he was successful in getting the lowest temperature ever produced by man.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

CUTIE SAVES THE CORN CROP

When Mister Crow left Mister Bags' store in such a hurry, he bumped pell mell into Cutie Cottontail, who had come in for a bag of candy.

"Polite, isn't he!" remarked Cutie, for instead of saying "Excuse me," Mister Crow had said "Get out of my way!" rudely.

"I'm afraid he'll get into trouble yet," said the fairyman, shaking his head. "He came to find out when Farmer Jones was going to plant his corn, and when he discovered that it was already in the ground he could not wait to get away to eat it up."

"What do you want to buy, Cutie?" asked Nick. "I'll wait on you."

"Ma gamme a nickel," said Cutie. "I want a nickel's worth of candy. I'll pick it out."

The little rabbit boy pressed his nose down against the glass case and looked over all the goodies.

"Gimme a cent's worth of those black lickrish balls," he said, "an' a stick of chewing gum—that kind in the pink paper, an' a strawberry lolly pop, an' a cent's worth of chocolate drops, and a cent's worth of marshmallows."

When he was going home he passed the cornfields just as Mister Scare Crow arrived, flapping his wings in great excitement over the good news he had heard.

Mrs. Crow had just told him that she had made a discovery that day. Not only had Farmer Jones planted his corn, but it had started to grow.

"Ha, ha, ha!" screamed Mister Crow, lighting on the fence with a great commotion. "Here's where I have a feast right now. Look at that old scarecrow out there — the silly thing! Anybody would know that old gun of his is only a stick and hasn't got any bullets in it. In all the years I've lived here, he has never shot it once. Who's afraid!"

So he set to work and started to pull up the green corn shoots, gobbling them down as fast as he could.

Cutie Cottontail came along and stopped. Then he sat up on his hind legs and ate his candy. First he ate his marshmallows, then he ate his chocolate drops, then he ate his licorice balls, then his chewing and his lollypop he stuck in his pocket.

That left the little red and greed striped bag empty.

By this time Mister Crow was over near the place where the scare-crow stood pointing his gun, but he stopped eating long enough to call out. "Mister Smarty gave a party, and nobody came but an old black crow, and that's me. Well, your party is very nice, thank you, Mister Crow, and I'll come again." Then he went on eating.

Cutie sat there watching Mister Crow, and thinking that he'd better be getting home pretty soon so his Mama wouldn't be worried.

"I'll blow up the bag and get!" he said to himself.

So he twisted the top of the bag together, leaving only a teeny weeny hole—and then he blew into it as hard as he could. When it was good and tight he went bang! The bag blew up like a cannon.

Mister Crow gave one wild scream and flew off as hard as he could go.

"The old scarecrow shot me after all!" he gasped. "Never let any of the children go near that field, Carrie. Our lives are in danger. It was only a miracle that I escaped. Dear, Dear, Who'd have thought it"

Cutie Cottontail hopped home, not knowing that he had saved Farmer Jones' corn crop. At least he never said anything about it.

FABLES ON HEALTH

Out came the ancient palm fans as soon as the hot days came, and all the members of the Mann family soon were frantically waving.

Had everyone asked why, the answer very probably would have been: "To keep cool, of course!"

Which seems like a very reasonable answer.

But the real hygienic value of the hand fans is that it keeps air from stagnating; it provides an artificial means for keeping the air in motion.

When there is no natural movement in the air it should be kept in motion by artificial means. Hence, the electric fan and even the hand fan has a distinct hygienic value.

Air should never be allowed to become stagnant, and stagnant air is particularly noticeable in the hot weather.
